Construction brings change, growth to OCC

by Susan Klingman

Things are changing, and growing, at Oakton Community College (OCC). When considering construction at (OCC), the new Ray Hartslein Campus, being worked on in Skokie, generally first comes to mind, but a lot has been happening at OCC's De Plaines Campus as well.

The Board of Trustees toured the new Des Plaines facilities before the Board meeting on Dec. 13.

Faculty at OCC are very excited to move into their new second floor faculty offices, which have been completed.

The carpet has been laid in the additions, also making them ready for use, as of the start of the new semester.

One especially exciting addition is the new Child Development center. It includes an outdoor, walled playground, windows facing the play area, that also provide a great source of light to the center, and a kitchen. Young children from surrounding communities attend programs in the child development center, which are run by OCC students.

Area merchants said 1994 sales were good; expect better 1995

Merchants report strong holiday sales

Unlike Santa's full bag, local businessmen said the Christmas season was a mixed bag for sales. However, most agreed 1994 was a good business year and expected 1995 to be as good or slightly better than 1994.

Sears' manager Bill Koenig said Christmas sales were "very, very strong" at his store and thought the Golf Mill Shopping Mall also did very well. He said the remodeling at his store the past year enhanced the sales' increase. He said it helped increase Christmas sales in the apparel and cosmetics departments. He contended the local Sears store had a better Christmas than other Sears stores in his district.

Koenig emphasized the remodeled sections of the store did very well contributing to the strong finish in 1994. He said he had confidence 1995 would continue to show improvement.

Fred Minelli, co-owner of Minelli Foods on Milwaukee Avenue, said the end-of-the-year Christmas business "was a very nice season." He said Minelli's had a fine year and he expects 1995 to be a better year.

Herman Halperin, owner of Holiday Luggage on Dempster Street in Morton Grove, said the Christmas season was not very good. He said he attributed the slow sales to the Nordstrom's opening in the Old Orchard Shopping Center. But he was optimistic about 1995 expecting the new year to be as good as 1994 and perhaps even improving "by a couple of points."

First National Bank of Niles' senior vice president Chuck Barbaglia said 1994 was a good year. He expected 1995 to be "a tougher year" though it might well be another good year. He said it depended on the federal government, whether rates (interest) would go up and on the tax rates for the coming year.

Alert Television's Marty Keller said the Christmas season was "pretty good," certainly as good as last year. He was optimistic about 1995 expecting a couple of new products to help lift sales.

Doerner Jewelers owner, Michael Doerner, spoke with guarded optimism. He said the Christmas season "was O.K.," perhaps

Markavitch named District 219 Superintendent

Dr. Vickie Markavitch has been chosen by the District 219 Board of Education as the new superintendent of Niles Township High Schools. She replaces Dr. Errol Frank, who resigned in February of this year.

"The decision to hire Dr. Markavitch brings to a close a year filled with great change and tremendous opportunity," stated Board President Sanford Alper. "This is a year in which we appointed two new principals and hired over seventy new teachers and administrators. These individuals have brought a bright educational spark to our already wonderful staff at the district, and we believe that Dr. Markavitch will add her experience, knowledge, insight and leadership skills to our educational team."

Dr. Markavitch received her Ph.D. in Educational Administration from Michigan State University. She received her B.A. in Elementary/Secondary Education from Michigan State University and her M.A. in Special

Niles Fire Department receives keys to new ambulance

Niles Firefighters received the keys to a new 1994 GMC "Topkick" heavy duty truck chassis style ambulance. The unit was a rechassis built by the Excellence Inc. company of Madison, Alabama, using the old module. It is fully equipped and is in service at Station 3. The unit is diesel powered, rechassised onto a heavy duty chassis for longer use and better maintenance. It replaces a 1987 Ford Unit.

Thanksgiving for homebound seniors a success

Meals on Wheels Illinois (MOWI) provided delicious holiday meals, cards, gifts and friendly visits to homebound seniors in suburban Cook County during the Thanksgiving holiday. Assisted by a small army of volunteers, the MOWI program brought holiday cheer to over 150 seniors unable to be with family and friends. And although the meals and presents were appreciated, the company provided by the volunteers was the true gift.

Meals on Wheels Illinois has been providing holiday meals to isolated, homebound seniors in suburban Cook County during the Thanksgiving holiday. The Illinois Association of Area Agencies on Aging, the MOWI program is organized in suburban Cook County by the Suburban Area Agency on Aging. The Area Agency expresses its sincere appreciation to the agencies who provided comfort and cheer to isolated, homebound seniors in suburban Cook County during the Thanksgiving holiday. The Area Agency also thanks the Colgate-Palmolive Company for donating personal grooming products which were included as gifts in each MOWI holiday package.

The MOWI program also provides holiday meals to homebound seniors during the Christmas and Easter/Passover holiday seasons. Unfortunately, without increased interest in supporting the MOWI program, this year's holiday programs are in jeopardy. Fundraising efforts for MOWI are centered around the sale of Holiday greeting cards. For each donation of $30, the Area Agency will send a pack of 10 attractive greeting cards. Of course, a donation in any amount is appreciated (for each $3 donated, the donor receives one holiday card). For an additional charge, cards may be imprinted with a special message and name of the donor.

Each tax deductible meal donation touches seniors in a meaningful way, during an often very lonely season of the year, and all proceeds realized from MOWI sales go toward the actual costs of the meals served. Administrative expenses are never included. Call Linda Brennan at (708) 383-0258 with questions, or to request an informational brochure/order form.

Forest Preserve District makes Christmas clean-up fun

It's that time of year - unfortunately, it's time to pack-away the Christmas ornaments and the lights and dispose of the Christmas trees. The Forest Preserve District of Cook County has the perfect way to ease the holiday clean-up so that it will be fun and beneficial to the environment.

During January 7, 8, 14 and 15, people can drop off their Christmas trees from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the District's nature centers and then enjoy some of the special exhibits and programs offered there.

"We are giving county residents the chance to do something environmentally sound with their old Christmas trees while at the same time have some fun," said Cook County Board President John H. Stroger, Jr. "The Forest Preserve District plans on recycling the trees. We believe strongly in recycling and we try to do this with as many products as possible."

N.P.D. professionals to attend conference

A delegation of park board commissioners and professional staff from the Niles Park District will be among the nearly 3,500 park and recreation officials receiving training at the 1995 Joint Annual Conference of the Illinois Association Park District (IAPD) and the Illinois Park and Recreation Association (IPRA) to be held Jan. 26-29.

"This conference is an opportunity for board members and professionals from all districts throughout the state to discuss problems and solutions and receive advice from authorities in the many areas of parks and recreation, and gain insight into the issues affecting our districts," said Timothy Royster, Executive Director.

The conference schedule includes more than 60 workshops, panel discussions and sessions on a wide range of educational workshops including at-risk youth, crime, park funding, senior programming, and recent legal and legislative developments. These sessions will help local park district officials determine what they need to do to meet both the letter and the spirit of the new laws, by improving the recreation they provide to its residents.

"The range of problems facing park boards, including ours, is so broad and the issues so complex, that none of us can afford to face it alone," said Elaine Heinen, Board President. "The annual conference is a great experience to learn new information from the experts."

Over twenty professionals from the Niles Park District will be attending the Annual Conference in downtown Chicago.

Hospital donates to Drop-in league

Lutheran General Health Systems recently donated funds to the Maine Township Youth Drop-In Center to help support the center's new winter basketball league.

Presenting a check to the center was Community Relations Director Tom Higgins. The funds will be used to buy much-needed equipment for the basketball league, said James Galdikas, Director of the Drop-In Center.

Youths ages 10 through 14 already are practicing for the start-up of the co-ed league. Play began Jan. 3, with three games to take place each Tuesday starting at 7:15 p.m. After 10 weeks of regular play, an all-star team may be selected to play against other groups in the area, Galdikas said.

"We did this because there are so many kids in here playing basketball every night," said Drop-In Center volunteer Mitch Sorell, who helped launch the league. "The kids are really responding to it in a positive way."

Sixty-six youths are signed up for the league so far, Sorell said. Adult volunteers are needed to help once the season begins. Among the positions that need filling are assistant coach, timekeeper, referee and score-keeper. Volunteers are welcome for one night or every night.

For more information on the league, or to volunteer, call 823-0650. The Drop-In Center is located in the Stevenson School building at 9000 Capitol Drive, Des Plaines.

Youth volunteers recognized

Receiving the youth volunteer Medal of Honor from Laurie Roche, Director of Community Services, are (Left to Right): Alexander Head of Evanston, Colleen Welborn of Rolling Meadows, Daniel Johnson of Arlington Heights, Laurie Roche, Russell Benko of Park Ridge, Anne Kelleher of Park Ridge, and Ryan Worrell of Palatine.

Cook County Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan's 9th Annual Medal of Honor Ceremony, held Dec. 3, recognized local youths who were awarded for their volunteer service.

Ellen Lanigan of the Youth Services Department, and coordinator of the ceremony, stated: "Each year our staff devotes a large amount of time to organizing this ceremony because we feel it is crucial for all young people to have a sense of community to feel they have an investment in the future. There is no better insurance against juvenile delinquency."

Recipients were anxious to share their thoughts on volunteering. Mark Lorkowski, a volunteer with the Streamwood Law Enforcement Post #48 stated, "We can make a difference in today's world. All that is required for us to do is provide the right guidance and show people we care for each other."

This spirit truly reflects the motivating force behind this special group of teens who want to make a difference in the lives of others.

Teen Drop-In Gym

The Skokie Park District invites teens to stop by Old Orchard Junior High on Fridays from 7 to 9 p.m. to participate in our Drop-In Gym program. Call Sandy at 674-1500, for further information.

Statement by Supervisor Mark Thompson

The Circuit Court has heard and decided the lawsuit filed by Trustee Regan Ebert against Administrator Pam Andersen and myself. The suit sought to obtain copies of the names and addresses of the members of the Maine Township Seniors, Option 55 and One + Options, which are all programs of the township's Adult & Senior Services Department. Judge Thomas P. Durkin ruled that, based on a trustee's authority to audit the accounts of the township, Trustee Ebert must be provided her own copy of these lists.

Her right of access and her right to inspect these lists has never been in dispute, only whether she is entitled to have her own copy. While I am disappointed with the outcome, I accept and will abide by the court's decision. Judge Durkin has an excellent reputation on the court, and I feel we were given a fair hearing. The township has had a long-standing policy that the senior lists were not to be given out to anyone, including the Supervisor, to protect the privacy of the seniors and other members. The confidentiality of the names and addresses has been of great concern to the seniors and other members, and the township always promised to respect their wishes. New members were told that their names and addresses would not be given out. As Supervisor, I am duty-bound to abide by the policies set by the township, and I acted in conformance with these policies. I also did not want to violate the trust that the seniors and other members placed in us. Further, the law was silent on whether Trustee Ebert was entitled to the copies she demanded. I, therefore, feel that the course of action I took in declining to provide Trustee Ebert with her own copy of the lists was legally, morally and ethically correct. I note that, after Judge Durkin made his ruling, he stated that I acted in good faith in the position I took. Along with the right to possess a copy of the senior lists also comes the heavy responsibility of not misusing them. Judge Durkin made clear that he based his decision on a trustee's authority to audit the accounts of the township and that copies of the lists should only be used in furtherance of the audit function. He further stated that if Trustee Ebert misuses the lists for political, commercial or other improper purposes, then it is up to the voters to punish her. I urge Trustee Ebert to live up to her oath of office, and I urge the voters to hold her accountable if she does not.

City helps seniors connect with family

In partnership with Southwest Airlines and Teletop Communications Group (TCG), the city of Chicago is helping low-income senior citizens connect with family members during the holiday season. The Chicago Department on Aging selected ten senior citizens to travel anywhere in the United States to visit relatives, as part of the 14th Annual Southwest Airlines, "Home for the Holidays" program. Also, TCG a local telecommunications company will provide senior citizens the opportunity to call out of town relatives, free of charge. "During the holiday season people want to be with their families and loved ones. It is wonderful that these Chicago-based companies are helping the elderly make that important connection," said Mayor Richard M. Daley. The Chicago Department on Aging received more than 100 applications from Chicagoans age 65 and older, documenting their economic need and expressing heart-felt desires to visit with relatives in other cities. Ten applicants with demonstrated economic need, each were chosen by the Chicago Department on Aging, the Chicago Housing Authority, and the Suburban Area Agency on Aging. A reception was hosted for the winners by the Chicago Department on Aging on Wednesday, Dec. 7. The Southwest Airlines program has made a happy holiday for 80-year-old Boris Soroka, of Chicago's northeast side. He will use the airline tickets to visit his 83-year-old sister, who is severely ill, in Los Angeles, California. Soroka has not seen his sister in seven years. Buses will pick-up senior citizens from CDoA's five senior centers and provide transportation back to the center. For more information call the Chicago Department on Aging at (312) 744-4016.

Teens should look to public H.S. for entertainment

Dear Editor: Diane Lanz am a candidate in the April 4 election for Park Board Commissioner. Unlike the minority of this town who focus on children and teens feel tax dollars are not balanced on adults, seniors and ethnics.

If cheap has no bearing on public or private education then public school aged parents should look to public high school for teen entertainment. This is not the responsibility of childless adults. Children and teens are not the priority of this town. A teen lounge is totally unnecessary with sports and high school activities. Parents who feel otherwise are not structured parents.

If this town is a community my efforts as commissioner will be focused on cultured, informative activities and entertainment, necessities for adults.

Sincerely yours, Diane Lanz

Remember to Buckle Up!

Robin and the Holiday Spirit

We the public sometimes berate the postal service.

I answered the phone during the holiday. It was Robin our mail carrier telling me I had a Priority letter that was too large and stuff to fit into the mail box. I asked him if he could bring it upstairs as I had to stay off my feet. Robin said he would.

Later, to the knock on my door-it was Robin in his Santa hat and a red & white sequined, striped necktie.

He looked so delightful, I couldn't resist and asked if I could take his picture.

He not only kindly brought my letter, but he also brought Holiday Joy and Spirit to my doorway.

Sincerely, Mrs. Evelyn Feddersen

Officer charged with reprisal

Dear Editor:

This afternoon, Sunday, Dec. 11, a Niles police officer ordered his evening meal from Gigio's Pizza which is located next to our shop in Civic Center Plaza. He pulled his cruiser into the parking lot and parkaded in the striped utility area immediately adjacent to the handicapped parking spot. I opened my front door and asked the officer if he planned to park in the handicapped loading area. His response was that the striped area was not part of the handicapped parking space. Then he went into the pizzeria, got his dinner, and left.

I placed a call to Watch Commander Katsoulis at Niles Police Department to complain of the officer's actions. About 15 minutes later, the original police officer returned to the shopping center, this time parking in front of the dumpster and not immediately in my line of vision, and ticketed two cars registered to my family for not having current Niles vehicle stickers. He did not check plates or ticket any other vehicles in the entire Civic Center Plaza parking lot. He did, however, remember to put a "dummy" ticket (the back of his ticket book) under the wiper of the truck registered to the owner of Gigio's Pizza (who also lives in Niles, and who also does not display a current Niles vehicle sticker on his truck).

A second call to NPD brought Watch Commander Katsoulis out for a visit. He insisted that I return the tickets to him, saying that they had been issued under "improper" circumstances. He also (appropriately) reprimanded me for not having the vehicle stickers and told me to get the stickers on Monday.

I hope the officer will realize that his interactions with individual citizens help shape public opinion about the whole police department. Maybe he will use this incident to work on his public relations skills, and to remember that his Niles Police Department star does not act as an exemption badge for our laws or common courtesy.

By the time this is printed in the next edition, all vehicles registered to my family will have appropriate city stickers. I appreciate the fast, fair treatment by Watch Commander Katsoulis, and believe that he is a more accurate example of the fine officers that make up our local police department.

And in closing, for those of you who don't have current vehicle stickers-get 'em today!

Sincerely, Becky Ash

The Niles Police Department-re

On Dec. 11, this department received a citizen's complaint against an officer from Mrs. Becky Ash. The nature of the complaint is reflected in the letter sent to your newspaper. The matter was looked into by the officer's superiors and he has since been disciplined.

A record one million raised for diabetes research

On Friday, Dec. 2, the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation raised close to one million dollars for diabetes research at its Chance of a Lifetime Gala. The benefit was held at the Chicago Hilton & Towers, 720 S. Michigan Avenue.

This annual event, the largest single fundraiser of its type in the Chicago Metropolitan area, attracted over 3,000 supporters. Guests feasted on a variety of dinner and dessert buffets, danced to the Michael Lerich Orchestra and bid on hundreds of upscale auction items.

Chicago Bear, Jay Leeuwenburg, now 25 and a juvenile diabetic since age 13, drew the names of the lucky sweepstakes winners. A couple from Glenview opted to take an $80,000 Grand Prize instead of the new Bentley from Continental Motors; a couple from Chicago won a $9,000 mink coat donated by Marshall Field's and a man from Glenview will be taking a trip to London, provided by Hilton Hotel and American Airlines.

Among the items auctioned were a 1993-94 autographed Bull's team basketball and a framed Michael Jordan autographed White Sox Jersey; both items sold for $5,500 each.

The success of the evening was made possible by the thousands of Chicago area ticket purchasers and the generous sponsorships from AON Corporation, Edsal Manufacturing Company, Computer Discount Warehouse, Messer Financial, Metro Metals,

State Farm Insurance and Steel Coils, Inc. The evening was emceed by WBBM-TV's Jay Levine and Mary Ann Childers.

Parking lot battery

An 18-year-old Park Ridge man was struck under the left eye by a 19-year-old Glenview man Dec. 28 around 9:25 p.m. in the parking lot of the Best Buy store in Golf Mill. When police were notified, the Niles dispatcher advised that the offender was entering a green Buick and possibly exiting the lot.

The officer dispatched to the scene observed a green Buick exit the lot and go southbound on Greenwood St. at a high rate of speed. The officer stopped the vehicle at 229 Golf Mill and took the driver into custody. The offender was identified by the victim at Best Buy as the subject who had battered him. The offender was charged with battery and will appear in court Jan. 23.

Possible fraud in same-name game

A 36-year-old Niles pharmacist has named a suspect who has the same last name as the pharmacist but is no relation. The pharmacist says the suspect has been using his last name to solicit money from businesses to help defray medical costs for the treatments his son is receiving for a terminal illness. Businesses are contacting him, the pharmacist says, because his phone number is listed in the telephone book, while the suspect's phone number is not. The victim will track any incoming calls for the Niles Police Department.

Phone harasser nabbed

A 34-year-old Niles man reported receiving three harassing phone calls Dec. 27 between 9:15 p.m. and 10:15 p.m. The victim, who has received numerous harassing phone calls in the past, used a phone trap to trace the calls to a 34-year-old Antioch woman who is the ex-wife of the victim's brother.

Revoked license

Project Red Ribbon to increase drunk driving awareness

by Secretary of State George H. Ryan

This is the season for holiday celebrations and family get-togethers. It also is the season when drunk drivers bring tragedy to an otherwise happy time of year. Between Thanksgiving and New Year's Eve last year, there were 4,092 traffic fatalities nationwide, with 1,746 alcohol-related.

Q. What is Project Red Ribbon?

A. A nationwide Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) campaign to increase awareness about drunk driving. The campaign runs all year long, with increased emphasis during the Christmas holiday season. By tying red ribbons to their car's antenna, the driver's door handle or side-view mirror, motorists make personal pledges to not drive drunk and remind others to have a safe holiday season.

Q. Where can I get a red ribbon?

A. From MADD-Illinois and at Secretary of State driver and vehicle facilities. This year, my office plans to distribute 150,000 red ribbons to Illinois drivers.

Q. Can I wear the ribbons on my clothing instead of my car?

A. The MADD red ribbons campaign serves as a moving reminder to not drink and drive. Therefore, the ribbons are to be displayed only on vehicles.

Gas prices dip but remain higher than last year

Gas prices in Illinois and Northern Indiana took a downward turn for December. However, the sale of reformulated gasoline (RFG) by the Jan. 1, 1995 deadline may cause a spike in prices, especially in the Chicago area, according to the AAA-Chicago Motor Club's December Fuel Gauge Survey.

In Illinois outside of Cook County, average self-serve pump prices dropped 3.5 cents per gallon since November, or a total of 8.9 cents per gallon since September. Currently, a gallon of self-serve unleaded regular averages $1.176, also the lowest since last June.

In Chicago and Cook County, average pump prices fell by 1.8 cents per gallon during the past month, or a total of 6.5 cents per gallon since September. A gallon of self-serve unleaded regular currently averages $1.250, the lowest since last July. As of Nov. 28, 1994, the national average for self-serve unleaded regular was $1.153 per gallon, down 1.3 cents since November.

Computer Petroleum Corporation (CPC), which surveys local gas prices for AAA-CMC, says some stations already are reflecting RFG price increases which range from 4 to 6 cents per gallon. CPC says supplies are good and the transition to RFG appears to be smooth.

Compared to a year ago, average self-service prices are currently 13.1 cents higher in Chicago and Cook County, 9.4 cents higher in Illinois outside of Cook County, and 3.6 cents higher in Northern Indiana.

Road improvement projects awarded

The Illinois Department of Transportation has awarded road improvement contracts valued at over $75.6 million for various projects throughout the state.

The total value is for 85 projects on which bids were submitted during the Oct. 7 bid letting.

Among the projects is: Cook County FAU Route 3514 (Talcott Road) District 1, 1.48 miles of bituminous surface removal and resurfacing with bituminous concrete surfacing, pavement reconstruction with bituminous concrete pavement, and traffic signal improvements on Talcott Rd. from Oakton St. to Dee Rd. in Park Ridge. Di Paolo Company, Glenview, $2,471,828.

Cook County FA Route 307 (Ill. Route 64) District 1, The basis, the amount originally paid for the property, is used to calculate bridge repairs on the existing structure carrying Ill. Route 64 (North Avenue) over Des Plaines River in Elmwood Park. Summit Construction Co., Inc., Skokie, $354,955.

Think taxes when negotiating divorce settlement

When negotiating a divorce settlement with your spouse, there is a third party you can't afford to forget, the IRS. The Illinois CPA Society points out that many of the decisions made as part of a divorce settlement directly affect your taxes. To be sure your financial settlement is equitable, and that Uncle Sam doesn't profit unduly from your decisions, be sure to consider the tax consequences of your actions.

Property Settlements
In most states, the assets accumulated during your marriage are treated as contributions by both spouses and property is split equally upon divorce. How and when you decide to split this property can affect your tax liability.

What Happens to the House?
The largest asset of most couples is their home. If you and your spouse are age 55 or over and the value of your home has appreciated, you may be able to exclude up to $125,000 of the gain from taxes. If your gain is more than $125,000, it's generally wise to wait until after your divorce to sell the house.

If you both retain ownership of the home, you and your former spouse may each qualify for the $125,000 exclusion. On the other hand, if you sell the home before you are divorced, you would receive only one $125,000 tax exclusion on a jointly filed return. Married individuals who file separately may each claim only $62,500 in exclusions.

If you are under age 55, you'll face different tax issues when it comes to selling your home. If you split the proceeds from the sale, you can defer taxes on the gain if you buy a new residence within two years of the sale date. Tax law allows each former spouse to take advantage of this tax deferral. Just be sure that your new home costs at least as much as your portion of the profit on the old home.

However, CPAs point out that in order to defer tax on any profits from the sale of your home, the home must qualify as your "principal" residence. Generally, this is the residence you physically occupied for most of the year. If you moved out of the home you shared with your spouse and lived elsewhere for most of the year, you may be liable for taxes on your portion of the gain.

Pensions and Retirement Funds
Normally, withdrawals from a pension plan are taxable, but in the case of divorce, you can roll over part or all of the funds to your spouse without paying taxes. To divide a pension, a court must issue a Qualified Domestic Relations Order. This court order does not apply to Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs). IRA funds can be transferred tax-free by a written divorce decree or a document related to the divorce. The recipient must deposit the money in another IRA within 60 days or pay taxes on the amount.

Understanding the Tax Basis
When transferring any assets, such as stocks, bonds or real estate, it's important to understand the tax basis of the property also changes hands. The basis, the amount originally paid for the property, is used to calculate gains and losses when the property is sold. This means that if you receive appreciated property as part of a divorce settlement, you are responsible for paying tax on the appreciation that occurred before the transfer as well as after. Keep this in mind if you plan to sell property you receive as part of a divorce settlement.

Alimony and Child Support
Alimony payments are deductible by the ex-spouse who pays them and taxed as income to the one who receives them. To qualify for the deduction, alimony must be paid in cash and be required by a written divorce decree or separation agreement. Unlike alimony, child support payments are not deductible. To prevent you from classifying alimony as child support, the IRS has stringent rules in place. In general, if an amount specified in the decree is reduced upon a child reaching a certain age or completing school, that payment cannot be claimed as alimony.

Exemptions For Children
Generally, if you are the custodial parent, you are allowed to claim a tax exemption worth $2,450 in 1994 for each dependent child. The exemption can be transferred to the noncustodial parent if you sign a Form 8332, Release of Claim to Exemption for Child of Divorced or Separated Parents. Keep in mind that the exemption phases out when income exceeds certain amounts.

Take Time To Negotiate
CPAs caution you against rushing any divorce negotiations. Take the time to be sure the settlement provides you with the financial security you need. Under the tax law, property can be transferred between former spouses without any tax consequences up to one year after your divorce decree. If you need tax advice regarding your divorce, keep in mind that you may be eligible to claim a tax deduction for fees paid to a CPA or another tax advisor.

YMCA creates ultimate family adventure

Chicago-area families and other groups can now tackle the challenges of the great outdoors at a convenient indoor location, thanks to the new Family Adventure Center at the Latof YMCA, 300 E. Northwest Hwy. in Des Plaines. The center will celebrate its grand opening on Sunday, Jan. 8, with a free public Open House from noon to 4 p.m.

The unique facility features cutting-edge program stations for every age group including a 17-element high ropes course suspended 20 feet above the ground, a dramatic holding cave where participants traverse the walls and ceiling and a 24-foot-high vertical climbing wall. The center houses a high-tech Fit Stop for adults and children that showcases the latest in sophisticated "entertainment" equipment.

Mazing Kids, an exciting play maze proves physical and mental challenges for small children. The center features two attractive party/conference rooms with a variety of program package options. The Latof YMCA's Family Adventure Center is the first of ten such facilities that the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago will open at city and suburban Ys over the next five years.

Two years in development, the $300,000 Family Adventure Center supports the Metropolitan YMCA's new family focus. Committed to becoming Chicago's leading family service organization, the YMCA is creating new initiatives that build, strengthen and enrich the lives of today's diverse families.

Located on the second floor of the YMCA in what was previously a large gymnasium, the 6,000 sq. foot center is enhanced with graphics and banners that carry messages of confidence, encouragement, determination and personal best. The facility is decorated in bright tones of green, purple, orange, yellow and blue.

Every component of the Family Adventure Center is programmed with an instructional curriculum that fosters communication and teamwork. Families, schools, corporations and other groups can book the facility for parties and special team building programs, or register for YMCA courses on the various elements. Friday nights are reserved as an open time for individual family use. In addition, The Fit Stop and Mazing Kids have open hours throughout the week.

Participants should call the Latof YMCA at (708) 296-3376 for information on reservations, schedules and fees.

Simply purchase a small stuffed animal of any species or gender. Being as creative as you wish, knit an ensemble that depicts your pet's personality. Your Precious Pet can be sporty, sassy, frilly or rugged. Whatever the look, your pet will be cherished and loved by the child who receives it.

Bring or send your pet to The Knitting Guild of America's 1995 National Convention site. You do not have to attend to enter or to win. Entries will be displayed for all to enjoy, and at the end of the Convention, your Precious Pet will be given to community organizations that work with abused children in the Chicago area.

Pets will be judged in a variety of categories including "Best Pet". Winners will be announced during the Saturday evening banquet, Mar. 25, 1995 and prizes will be mailed to the winners. If you are not attending the Convention and wish to participate, send your Precious Pet directly to the resort. Address it to: TKGA Precious Pet Contest, C/O Pheasant Run Resort, 4051 E. Main Street, St. Charles, IL 60174. Entries must arrive no earlier than Mar. 20 and no later than Mar. 24.

Eliot, Marge Piercy, Sylvia Plath, Ogden Nash and Gwendolyn Brooks. The class meets on Fridays from 9 to 11:50 a.m. and is taught by Beverly Friend, professor of English, at Oakton.

Russian Literature in Translation (EGL 290 002, Touch-Tone code 0112) focuses on the background of great authors and content of Russian short stories from Pushkin to present day authors. The class meets on Wednesdays from 9:30 a.m. to 12:20 p.m. and is taught by Elizabeth Birg. Tuition is $32 per credit hour for persons under 60 and $16 per credit hour for persons over 60 who live in-district. The tuition is $98 for persons over 60 who do not live in-district. A $15 registration fee is required for each semester for persons under 60, and no registration fee is required for in-district persons over 60. All fees are subject to change.

The Mayor's Forum discusses critical issues

How does local government work? What is the difference between a "Village" government and a "City" government? Do voters get better representation in a "City" compared to a "Village"? How do our local governments cooperate? Is it possible for them to cooperate more and save additional taxpayer money and improve service levels? What are the areas in which our local governments are in conflict?
What is the story on O'Hare, where more runways a good thing, or would more runways degrade the quality of life of affected suburban residents? And then there is the question of the new Metra Line scheduled to run on the Wisconsin Central tracks through Des Plaines, north to Antioch. And how about SWANCC?
These and other questions are posed and discussed on the TCI channel 33 show, Plain Speaking, Saturday, Jan. 7 through Jan. 31. Host Bill Blaine interviews the following mayors of three of our local communities discussing these and other questions: Gerald "Skip" Farley, Mayor of the Village of Mount Prospect; Sheila Schultz, Mayor of the Village of Wheeling; and Ted Sherwood, Mayor of the City of Des Plaines.
According to Bill Blaine, the Plain Speaking show, The Mayor's Forum, is part of an on-going series of programs designed to highlight subjects of community interest providing information so that citizens can more actively participate in civic affairs.
Plain Speaking is seen on TCI channel 33 on Mondays, 9 p.m. Tuesdays 9:30 a.m., and Saturdays, 2 p.m.

New library chairs

Thanks to the Friends of the Library, there are no ifs, ands, and buts about it. The new chairs mean comfort.

The Friends have replaced all the chairs used by the public with sled-based, sturdy ones, guaranteed to last a long time and cost $200 each.
