Morton Grove man reports granddaughter escaped Oklahoma bombing

By Rosemary Tirio

Fate can be cruel, and fate can be kind. No one knows that better than Milton Langer, a Morton Grove resident who ran for Village Trustee in the April 4 election and lost.

Scarcely two weeks later, fate turned around and handed Langer a piece of good luck so heartening that it made the national news and provided a moment of relief to a grieving nation.

At about 9:30 a.m. on the morning of April 19, his son Erich, 35, phoned Langer from his Oklahoma City home to let his father know that his 18-month-old granddaughter had not been involved in the terrorist car bombing at the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building.

Langer said he had not yet heard about the bombing, which occurred at about 9:04 a.m. "I was fortunate, I was told before I would have heard the news," he said.

Langer would have had cause to fear the worst. Granddaughter Erin attended the day-care center in the Federal Building the Monday and Tuesday before the attack and would have been there Wednesday, had it not been for a twist of fate.

Erin's dad Erich works as a Wildlife Specialist for the Department of the Interior. His job requires him to commute to Tulsa from Oklahoma City, a 200-mile round trip. Because of the great distance, Erich works a 10- or 12-hour day and has a day off each week. This week, Erich chose to stay home Wednesday, and Erin was safe at home with her father.

by Bud Besser

Buglebits . . .

There are certain moments in all our lives when we remember where we were at the time of a certain event. When President Kennedy was killed we were delivering newspapers to Birchwood and Milwaukee Avenues when we first heard the president had been shot.

When radio news reported bombs had been dropped on Pearl Harbor many of us Chicago football fans were listening to the beginning of the game between Chicago's Bears and Cardinals.

The recent fifty year anniversary of the death of President Franklin Roosevelt brought back memories of April 12, 1945. I was sitting in the rear of a five by five army truck which was bringing troops back to a rest camp outside Namur, Belgium. When we drove through several small villages in Luxembourg and then Belgium, flags of these foreign countries were draped at half-mast. We were deeply moved by this recognition from countries which had only recently been freed from the Nazi yoke. It was one of our first reminders how closely linked we were with countries in Western Europe. The World War I song, "Over There", was no longer applicable. "Over there" and "over here" were one and the same.

Salary adjustment approved for Library employees

by Kathleen Quirsfeld

A 2 percent salary adjustment will soon be in the wallets of some of the employees at the Niles Public Library. Trustees approved the salary structure increase, to take effect on July 1, at the Board's meeting on April 19.

The increase is actually a salary adjustment that is a cost-of-living measure to keep these employees within a minimum salary range and keep them competitive with other similarly classed employees at other libraries. The salary structure has not increased in two years.

The adjustment will be made at the time of their individual annual performance reviews.

The Trustees approved an additional employment perk for part-timers. Employees who have worked in a part-time capacity 20 hours or more per week for 10 years or more will be entitled

Park Board continues to plan programs with Dists. 63 and 71

by Kathleen Quirsfeld

The Niles Park District, working in conjunction with school districts 63 and 71, is getting closer to completing an "operative programming assistance" proposal to create programs for Niles school children.

Board President Elaine Heinen stated that Superintendents John Jekitt and Jerry Krewer were drawing up the final plans that would become a part of District 71's five year plan.

"This will be the coming thing," Heinen said at the Board's April 18 meeting, "the Niles Park District working with the schools. But the District is not going to pay all the expenses," she said, "the schools will have to give some of the expenses."

Let the gardening begin

Senior raises 200 violets

A notice on the corridor bulletin started a procession of Residents to the second floor Social Room. They had to see to believe that Frances Fekieta developed a garden center with 200 pots of African Violets. They found all the tables and window sills covered with plants.

Frances turned her attention toward plants because she was always a gardener at home. Sister Mary Presentine tendered a Hibiscus plant to about three feet. Frances adopted the "Hibiscus" and with tender, loving care helped it to reach the ceiling now, with a five-inch flower on top.

Haupt-Yehl House offers a walk through Morton Grove history

by Joseph W. Zurawski

The grandchildren would say, "You can't have this house taken down. That's all there is to it. You just can't."

The daughter recalled, "My mother always took care of the house. With six of us, and then the grandchildren, I guess it would have gone to pieces on the inside. There was always order." Today, that convincing faith of those grandchildren and the loving attention of the grandmother who cared for the house for most of the 88 years she lived there, is reflected in its preservation as the Morton Grove Historical Museum.

Dorothy Yehl fills in many of the details of how this house, this home reflects the history and development of Morton Grove. Dorothy Yehl was born in the house when it stood at 6025 Lincoln in 1902. Yehl remained at that location for some 76 years. Today, Dorothy Yehl lives with her sister, Magdelene Yehl Brod, in Skokie. The house, today the Morton Grove Historical Museum, is located at 6240 Dempster St.

Cleaned the glass chimneys to make them shiny

Some of the earliest memories Yehl has of the house were of how her "mother...taught (me) to clean the glass chimneys with a piece of paper to make them shiny."

The toilets were outside with a pump that "would often freeze in the winter." There was a large cistern in the basement "so that all the rain water could be retained."

The washing machine had a wheel "we had to turn for fifteen minutes." Mom Yehl would then rub clothes on a washboard and "boil them, so they would be sure to be white. Many times in the winter, she would hang some of the clothes on the outside line to freeze stiff as a board."

Refrigeration? Yehl says a "deep hole was dug in the earthen floor of the basement. Milk and butter were then placed there and securely covered."

Although doctors would visit the home in emergencies, "for ordinary ailments," says Yehl, "(mother) had her own remedies. For instance, mustard plasters for chest colds. These were made from mustard and flour formed into a paste, put between a cloth, and placed on our skin until it got red."

However, "She was always careful not to burn. For sore throat she would put a cold cloth around the neck, covered with a warm cloth, and give us Tonsil-

Dedication of the Haupt-Yehl residence as the Morton Grove Historical Museum. The former home was moved to its present location in Harter Park. The project cost $50,000, which was raised by the Historical Society.

lene, a most bitter potion. It just curled your tongue. For anything that looked like an infection, she would scrape from a bar of American Family, add sugar, make a paste and put it on the sore. It never failed to help."

Tea was used for colds. Elderberry flowers were found in the woods, dried, saved in a tin and boiled whenever necessary.

The honeymoon was in Waukegan
 There were many other treasured memories. "My mother could get out there and hitch up a horse just as fast as my father could...She was on a runaway three different times," including her wedding day. "They went to Waukegan..." Yehl remembers her mother later telling her, "for their honeymoon. That was a big thing."

A man from the greenhouse where her father worked volunteered to take the newly-married couple to the station in Evanston. The horse on which mom was perched proved to be a runaway. Yehl's mother, "got herself together and jumped off" before her new husband and his friend could re-act. Yehl says her mother "used to love to tell that story."

Yehl recalls her father worked from six in the morning until six in the evening for $30 a month.

High blood pressure, kidney failure in African Americans

African Americans who have high blood pressure are six times more likely to develop kidney disease than Caucasian Americans. Despite this fact, no research has been conducted investigating the link between elevated blood pressure and the loss of kidney function in African Americans - until now.

Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center, in conjunction with the University of Illinois Medical Center and Cook County Hospital, is part of the Chicago West Side Hypertension Consortium that is participating in the African American Study of Kidney Disease and Hypertension Trial. The seven-year study will focus on the impact of blood pressure reduction, through antihypertensive medications, on slowing the progression of kidney disease and preserving kidney function in African Americans.

Funded by the National Institute of Health, 20 centers across the United States are involved in the trial. The west side consortium is the only site in the Chicago area conducting the study.

"There appears to be an ethnic predisposition to hypertension and renal disease among blacks. It's borne out in any study you look at, but nobody knows why," said Dr. George L. Bakris, associate professor of preventive medicine and internal medicine, and principal investigator of the study at Rush. "This study won't tell us why, but it will get at the steps we should take to prevent the progression of renal disease."

"Other studies have looked at renal disease in African Americans, but they're always a subgroup and the analysis is done after the fact. This is the first prospective clinical trial that will evaluate the effects of controlling blood pressure on slowing the progression of renal disease in African Americans."

To be eligible for the study, volunteers must be between the ages of 18 and 70, African American and have high blood pressure. Once accepted into the study, participants will receive free medical care, high blood pressure medication and transportation to and from the medical center for the duration of the trial.

For more information about the African American Study of Kidney Disease and Hypertension Trial, call Dinah White, project coordinator at (312) 942-2068.

Contact Lenses: The new 1-day lenses

by Dr. Michael Wodis

Total disposability has come to contact lenses. Two manufacturers have released lenses that are to be inserted in the morning, worn, and then discarded that same night.

The disadvantage, of course, is cost. At a little less than $2 a day, replacements add up. However, many people will be using these in addition to their regular contact lenses, for swimming, traveling, camping weekends, or serious partying.

Studies show these lenses have a lower complication rate than other lens types.

Forest Health Systems schedules anxiety disorder screenings

Forest Health Systems will participate in National Anxiety Disorders Screening Day on Wednesday, May 3, offering free anxiety screenings from 5:30 to 8 p.m. at two locations: the Forest Clinic, 1717 Rand Rd., Des Plaines, and the Forest Health Systems Adult Day Program, 665 Tollgate Rd., Suite D, Elgin.

The screenings will include an overview of anxiety disorders, a written self-evaluation form and brief, confidential consultation with a clinician.

According to the National Institute of Mental Health, anxiety disorders are the most prevalent mental illness in the U.S., affecting nearly a quarter of the adult population at some point in life. Anxiety disorders include panic disorders (which send thousands of people, who think they are suffering heart attacks, to emergency rooms each year), agoraphobia, other phobias relating to specific objects or situations, obsessive compulsive disorder and post-traumatic stress disorder.

Some fear and anxiety is normal in every day life, and can even be useful, helping to keep us alert in stressful or potentially dangerous situations, points out Apollo Solecki, M.D., director of Forest's Panic and Anxiety Disorder program. But for some individuals, unexplained fear or anxiety reaches a level that reduces or eliminates productivity and significantly intrudes on the individual's quality of life.

National Anxiety Disorders Screening Day has been designated to educate consumers about the disorders, help sufferers find treatment and destigmatize psychiatric illnesses.

Treatment, which includes medication, cognitive-behavioral therapy or a combination of both, is highly effective for most disorders. Left untreated, panic or anxiety disorders can escalate into agoraphobia, as the sufferer increasingly restricts his or her activities. Other risks are major depression and alcohol dependence (as an individual self-medicates to overcome fear and the fear of fear).

Registration is not necessary, but to assure adequate staffing, anyone wishing to attend a screening is asked to call the Forest Clinic, (708) 635-4100, ext. 224 or the Forest Adult Day Program in Elgin, (708) 695-9732.

Under Construction — Rebuilding Hearts.

"You shouldn't tell a person how bad his condition is unless you also tell him how much better he can be," explains Dr. Noel D. ## Unnerved by Diabetes by Edward Hsi, M.D.

A patient of mine had chronic nerve damage from poorly controlled diabetes mellitus. We talked and he said years ago he failed to learn that diabetes was linked to severe nervous system disease. My experience was the contrary, as I knew diabetes is the highest cause of peripheral nerve damage in developed nations. Neuropathy results from damage and loss of nerve fibers possibly due to chemical injury or vascular disease. Nerve damage is related to the higher the blood sugars over time. About 15 percent of all diabetics eventually show signs of peripheral neuropathy.

Diabetics are prone to nerve entrapment such as carpal tunnel syndrome. Others present with paralysis of muscles that control eye movements. Most often, diabetic patients complain of numbness. This begins with a loss of sensation of position sense, so that a person may not be able to recognize if a toe is pointed up or down. Later a numbness covers the entire hand or foot like a glove or stocking. A burning sensation starts at the soles and may progress until the whole leg is involved. Later, even the hands and arms may hurt. This severe pain often fails treatment for pain and requires increasing doses of narcotics. Control is quite difficult, and pain is even worse at night than during the day for some. Sleeping becomes irregular and lifestyles dramatically alter. Wounds and injury to feet can occur with little or no sensation, leading to the development of non-healing foot ulcers.

Other nerves may be involved, affecting people in various ways. Some people develop muscle weakness as motor nerves die. Hands or feet may weaken and atrophy. Much more serious is the loss of autonomic or involuntary control of daily functions of life. Loss of autonomic nerves affecting blood vessels cause dizziness with position changes. Because blood pools in our lower body with gravity, the cardiovascular system compensates by increased heart rate and arterial wall tension. These are controlled by a complicated series of unconscious nerve signals to compensate and increase blood flow to the head upon standing. When these autonomic nerves disease, this elaborate control is lost resulting in a condition known as postural hypotension or orthostasis.

Autonomic nerves also give signals to control the rate of digestion of food. When these nerves are injured, diabetes get disordered transport of food through the stomach, small intestine, and colon. Gastroparesis is the disorder of delayed emptying of the stomach. This results in wide swings of blood sugars as food erratically exits the stomach. Symptoms may be a sense of feeling full after only a small amount of food.

Nausea and vomiting may result, and the emesis may contain food eaten hours earlier. Diabetic enteropathy occurs when small bowel and colon transit of food become irregular. Diarrhea may alternate with constipation. Bowel incontinence occurs when the rectum is unable to sense, and control the passage of feces through the rectum and anal canal.

Urinary retention increases the likelihood of a urinary tract infection in diabetics. Because of sensory nerve disease, the urge to urinate is lost, even in the bladder if very full. Motor strength is also decreased, resulting in decreased bladder contraction. This neurogenic bladder may lead to life threatening bladder and kidney infections. Additionally in men, impotence may result four to five times more commonly than non-diabetics.

Recent studies indicate that the stricter the control of blood sugars, the lesser the chance that neuropathy can result. Because diabetic neuropathy remains untreatable, prevention is the best medicine.

7168 W. Dempster - Morton Grove

(Lonore Plaza) (708) 470-0215

New Cafe San Remo menu from all over Italy

Cafe San Remo offers a homey atmosphere and live entertainment on weekends, along with spectacular dishes from all over Italy.

Brand new on the restaurant scene is the Cafe San Remo, which opened April 18 at 7168 W. Dempster in Morton Grove. The cuisine is Italian, the atmosphere casual. "The people in jeans and tee shirts--I don't want to scare them off," says Chef and owner Mike Kaleel (not to worry, his mother is from Naples). Kaleel has been chef at some of the primo Italian restaurants in the area, including Tuscany, the Italian Village, Pronto and Salvatore's. No wonder Cafe San Remo's menu features over 25 types of pastas from all over Italy along with chicken and seafood specialties. From the Umbria region comes Spinach Artichoke Ravioli, spinach ravioli stuffed with artichokes. Tortellini Panna from the north features cheese-filled Tortellini, pancetta mushrooms, peas and onions served with a cream sauce. Penne Arrabiata, literally "angry pasta," is a hot and spicy dish made with chili peppers, garlic, tomatoes and basil. An entree from Central Italy is Pollo Bella Vista, chicken breast baked in tomato sauce with egg plant, artichoke hearts and plenty of mozzarella cheese. Pollo Vesuvio, chicken breast seasoned with garlic and herbs and served with potatoes is another favorite entree. Filet Vesuvio gives the vesuvio treatment to filet mignon for an unusual and delicious dish, also served with potatoes. Zuppa di Mare combines shrimp, scallops, calamari, mussels, clams and fish with mushrooms and toasted peppers in marinara sauce served over pasta. Come summer, Kaleel says he will have gelati for dessert. Cakes and tortes, including canoli and tiramisu will head the dessert list year-round, along with the ever-popular spumoni ice cream. A full line of Italian and domestic wines is available, along with imported Italian beers, such as Moretti and LaRossa. Of course, Espresso and Cappuccino will complete your Italian experience at the Cafe San Remo. Kaleel describes the decor as a home setting. "How you would do your own home--low-keyed and comfortable. And so are the prices. Pastas top out at just $7.95, while chicken dishes range around $8.95 and Filet Vesuvio is $13.95.

And if delicious Italian food at moderate prices in a pleasant and homey atmosphere are not enough to get you out to try Cafe San Remo, perhaps the entertainment will. Friday and Saturday evenings, you can enjoy Italian karaoke with some English karaoke thrown in for good measure and lots of sing-along favorites. Lunch is served at Cafe San Remo Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The restaurant re-opens at 4:30 p.m. for dinner and closes at 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday hours are 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. For more information or to make reservations, call Mike at (708)470-0215.

Barbershoppers meet Wednesday nights

Children's Choir to present musical

Everyone's favorite musical will be center stage as the St. Paul Of The Cross Music Department proudly presents The Voices of St. Paul Children's Choir in the Broadway hit musical "Joseph And The Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat." The production takes place on Thursday, May 4, and Friday May 5 at 7:15 p.m. in the junior high school hall, 140 S. Northwest Highway, Park Ridge. The musical is directed by Kevin Long and choreographed by Carol Marchetti. Joseph had prophetic dreams and was given a coat of many colors by his dotting father, Jacob. Joseph's brothers became so jealous of his prophecies and his magnificent coat that they sold him into slavery in Egypt. There he rose from the lowly status of house slave to become Pharaoh's principle advisor. Come and join everyone for Andrew Lloyd Webber's musical fantasy taken from the biblical story of Joseph and his brethren. Tickets are $2 and can be purchased at the door or at the school office, 825-6366, weekdays between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Seating is limited and tickets go very fast. For more information, contact Kevin Long at (708) 825-6366.

The performance will be comprised entirely of the requests received. In addition, there will be a drawing for vintage Jim Post albums. Women and Cancer symposium at Evanston Hospital

"Women and Cancer: What's New in Prevention and Treatment," a free, half-day symposium, will be held on Saturday, April 29, from 8:30 a.m. to noon in the Frank Auditorium of The Evanston Hospital, 2650 Ridge Ave., Evanston. The symposium is sponsored by The Institute for Women's Health and the Kellogg Cancer Care Center at the Evanston and Glenbrook Hospitals.

The symposium will feature physicians from the Hospital's staff who will talk about the latest developments in the understanding, diagnosis and treatment of many cancers that affect women. "Knowledge of the facts will enable you to become a partner with your physician in making sound health care decisions," says Linda Holt, M.D., obstetrics and gynecology, assistant professor at Northwestern University Medical School, and Director of the Institute for Women's Health at The Evanston and Glenbrook Hospitals.

Cynthia Bartholow, M.D., internal medicine, an instructor at Northwestern University Medical School, and an assistant investigator with the Women's Health Initiative will open the program with a lecture on "Hormones, Diet and Cancer." The Women's Health Initiative is a major national research study designed to answer important questions about the role of hormone replacement therapy, diet and vitamins in the prevention of cancer, heart disease, stroke and osteoporosis. Bartholow will talk about the kinds of scientific evidence researchers are hoping to find, and how it may affect women.

Arthur Hoffman, M.D., internal medicine, will follow with a talk on "The Mind-Body Connection." Hoffman will talk about self-healing, a little known, yet powerful weapon against disease. The program will then break into two concurrent sessions, each featuring three specialist physicians discussing various types of cancer. Following the lectures, the audience will have the opportunity to discuss their questions with the physicians.

Pre-registration is required for the symposium and can be made by calling (708) 570-5020. The symposium is not for women only - men are welcome too.

Madame Jehan Sadat to speak at spring event

Columbus Dr., Chicago.

The program begins with a reception at 11 a.m., followed by a fundraising luncheon at 11:30 a.m. Reservations are required.

Mme. Sadat started a women's emancipation movement in her village of Talla, and was responsible for the passage of the Egyptian Civil Rights Law, which resulted in more rights for the country's women. Having said that "there can never be democracy until women are as free as men," she is greatly concerned with the implementation of family planning programs, and is the founder of the Arab African Women's League.

Niles West student named Golden Apple scholar

Niles West High School student Tracy Sloan of Morton Grove (shown being crowned homecoming queen at the Niles West homecoming celebration held earlier this school year) was recently named as one of 60 high school seniors from throughout the state to be selected as a Golden Apple Scholar. Sloan, the daughter of Niles West physical education teacher and 1992-'93 Illinois Teacher of the Year Judi Sloan, will attend either Eastern Illinois University or Illinois State University in the fall, where she hopes to major in elementary education.

Niles West High School senior Tracy Sloan of Morton Grove was inspired to become a teacher by two important individuals in her life: Juli Wicinski (nee Main), a teacher at Park View Elementary School in Morton Grove, and her mother Judi Sloan, a Niles West physical education teacher and 1992-'93 Illinois Teacher of the Year.

Notes Tracy, "I just want to influence the lives of lots of children, in the same way that so many teachers, like Ms. Main and my mother, have influenced me." Sloan will receive help in achieving that dream from the Golden Apple Foundation, an organization which honors excellent teachers throughout the state and sponsors aspiring young teachers such as Sloan as Golden Apple Scholars.

Sloan is one of 60 high school seniors from throughout the state to be selected for the program, which includes mentorship, education and financial assistance. Throughout her college career, Sloan will receive guidance from an award-winning teacher mentor. Each year she is in college, she will attend the Summer Apple Institute, which will include teaching assistantships, seminars and field trips to provide diverse classroom experiences. In addition, financial assistance is given to students who make a five-year commitment to teaching in Illinois.

"I've always wanted to be a teacher, ever since I was really little," said Sloan, who ultimately hopes to teach at the second grade level. "I love little kids, and I'd love to be able to positively influence young children."

She will attend either Eastern Illinois University or Illinois State University in the fall, where she hopes to major in elementary education. At Niles West, Sloan has been extensively involved with athletics, playing on the volleyball and basketball teams and participating in track. She is captain of the volleyball team and was recently named Most Valuable Player (MVP). She has also been named to the All-Conference Volleyball team for the second year, and was recently designated a Scholar Athlete in volleyball. Scholar Athletes must maintain a minimum of 3.0 average on a 4.0 scale for academic work for at least seven semesters, and also must have played in the sport in which they are named for at least two years. In addition to these athletic and scholastic accomplishments, Sloan was also elected this year by her fellow students as the Niles West homecoming queen.

Cory Gorman, a southpaw 205 average, member of the Old Orchard B'nai B'rith bowling league at Classic Bowl in Morton Grove, bowled a perfect game March 22, becoming the first southpaw to do so in the league's 36-year history.

Two other 300 games have been bowled, but by right handers, according to Shelly Biales, league secretary and Rich Rubinstein, the league's co-historians. They both saw it occur.

It was after the fifth strike that Cory felt he had found the "magic line" to the strike zone and proceeded to strike through to the 11th ball which was only a fraction high but still solid enough for the pins to topple. On the 12th ball, all the league bowlers stopped to watch the final ball.

Cory took a small breath, deepened his concentration on the magic line and stepped off. Moments later, the ball released, a shout from the rear "you got it!" and sure enough the pins flew off the deck and all were gone! Shouts of joy and hand clapping followed the spotlight was on Cory for his perfect game. He deserved it. His games 176-300-218.

Cory Gorman had recalled that in 1985, as a senior at Maine East High School, he also bowled a 300 game and a 711 net series in their league. It was the first 300 and over 700 series that the league had severed in their history.

Cory is considering coming back next season as a right hander and bowling another 300. He enjoys the spotlight!

Christmas in April

More than twenty volunteers from the Glenview State Bank are joining forces with Christmas in April Metro Chicago this month to donate their time and talents to repairing the home of a Glenview resident. Christmas in April, a nationwide program, is an all volunteer effort that repairs and rehabilitates the homes of elderly, disabled or lower income people, allowing them to continue living safely and securely in their own homes.

The project is a year-long planning process that culminates in a one-day barnraising event on the last Saturday in April...April 29 this year. Initiated in 1973 in Texas, Christmas in April went national in 1988 and has grown to 137 affiliates covering 380 cities in 40 states.

In the Chicago area this year 36 homes will be renovated involving over 2,000 skilled and unskilled volunteers. Seventeen homes each in Englewood and Robbins, and two in Glenview have been selected. Individual corporations provide the funds, necessary services and materials; skilled tradespeople provide their expertise. Homes to be repaired are selected by Christmas in April from referrals by social service and government agencies and local churches.

Peter Sorapanu, Executive Vice President of Glenview State Bank and one of the volunteers said, "We proud to be a financial supporter of Christmas in April.

Our employees are enthusiastic about helping one of their neighbors. It's a perfect project for a local bank like Glenview State Bank that has such deep roots in the community. We'll be there early on April 29 and plan to stay all day. All we ask for is good weather so the outside work can be completed!"

Governor suspends plan requiring businesses to carpool

Gov. Jim Edgar suspended a federally dictated program requiring employers in northeast Illinois to institute carpools and other measures to reduce the number of people driving to work.

"The Employee Commute Option carpool program is a costly federal mandate that, by the federal government's own admission, produces little environmental benefit," the Governor said.

"The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has set mixed signals on whether we should take the program seriously, and Congress is now considering legislation to remove the mandate. So, it makes no sense for Illinois employers and state officials to proceed with this ill-conceived program," Edgar said.

"For some large employers the carpool program may be useful, but it should be their decision. We have encouraged carpooling where it makes sense and the use of public transportation as a part of our efforts to clean our air," the Governor said.

"But the federally mandated program has been an unqualified disaster in California, where it has done virtually nothing to help the environment," Edgar said.

"There are more effective ways to meet air quality standards imposed by the federal Clean Air Act, and other efforts we have undertaken are moving us significantly in that direction. Since 1990, when the new air standards were established, Illinois has reduced air pollutants by 30 percent."

The Governor praised Rep. Donald Manzullo (R-Ill.) and Rep. Dennis Hastert (R-Ill.) for their efforts in battling the expensive and ineffective federal mandate. Manzullo is the chief sponsor of the legislation to eliminate the mandate.

Illinois was in the process of implementing the federal carpooling program that would have required some 6,000 businesses in northeast Illinois to document their plans for implementing the federal law known as the Employee Commute Option program. Firms employing more than 100 persons were required to reduce by 25 percent the number of employee car trips to work.

The state was responding to a federal threat that it would lose a portion of all of its federal highway construction and repair funds if it did not follow the mandate.

Illinois was in the process of implementing the federal carpooling program that would have required some 6,000 businesses in northeast Illinois to document their plans for implementing the federal law known as the Employee Commute Option program.

Niles Arrests

Police observed a brown Dodge van without a front plate pull out of an alley near a tire store in the 8700 block of Harlem Ave. and head south on Harlem April 20.

The officer pulled behind the van and ran a registration check which revealed that the license plate was registered to a 1980 Toyota. The officer stopped the vehicle and asked the driver, a 40-year-old Chicago man, for a driver's license and proof of insurance. The offender was only able to produce a traffic citation.

A check revealed that the offender's license was suspended, and he was taken into custody. The officer observed 17 tires in the vehicle, which the offender admitted taking without permission from the tire store.

The van was towed and the tires were inventoried. The offender was transported to the Niles Police Department and charged with theft, driving with a suspended driver's license, improper registration, having no insurance and no front plate.

He was held pending a $2,000 bond. A court date was set for May 4.

Sheriff receives funding to expand attack on gangs

Cook County Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan has received a federal grant to hire 13 police officers to bolster the ranks of the Sheriff's suburban Gang Crimes Narcotics Unit.

The Cook County Board has approved the Sheriff's grant request, which will pay the way for the Sheriff to receive a $975,000 grant from the federal government to partially fund the hiring of the new officers.

"Our Gang Crimes Narcotics Unit is making a real impact in suburban Cook County and these additional officers will boost our ongoing efforts to crack down and prevent the spread of gang activity," Sheahan said.

The 13 new officers, who will begin training in April, will expand the size of the Gang Unit to 43 officers. Since Sheriff Sheahan created the specialized unit in October of 1991, suburban gang arrests by the Sheriff's Police Department have more than tripled.

Last year, Sheriff's gang officers made more than 1,200 arrests in suburban Cook County.

Funding for the expansion will be provided by the COPS AHEAD program, which was created by President Clinton in the 1994 Crime Bill. According to Sheahan, efforts are currently underway to obtain additional funding for more officers.

"The Sheriff's Office received the funding after presenting a proposal to the U.S. Department of Justice that outlined the Sheriff's plan to combine community policing efforts with street level gang intervention.

"We will be sending our gang officers throughout Cook County to meet with teachers, parents and community groups in an effort to get their input on how we can more effectively fight gangs and prevent crime," Sheahan said.

"Community Policing has a proven track record for reducing crime and getting citizens involved on a local basis to make their neighborhoods safer. We intend to get more citizens involved in our county-wide effort to fight gangs."

Billboard campaign promotes violence prevention

Cook County Board President John Stroger recently announced the joint efforts of the Cook County Bureau of Health Services, the Patrick Media Group, and Vitner's Snack Foods in launching a new anti-violence media campaign through a series of ten billboards promoting peace.

Stroger said, "I would like to thank Patrick Media for their donation of these billboards and Vitner's Snack Foods for its sponsorship. It's through partnerships like these, between the public and private sector, that we can continue to promote positive change in our communities."

The billboards are part of the Cook County Bureau of Health Services' comprehensive approach to violence prevention. The billboard portrays the true story of a father whose son was shot to death last year. The father is consoling his remaining youngest son. The message is "Enough Tears. Stop The Violence."

"Due to the increase of gunshot victims in our trauma unit, we decided that there was an overwhelming need to address violence and its impact on the health of the residents of Cook County," said Ruth M. Rothstein, Chief of the Cook County Bureau of Health Services. "We established a Violence Prevention Task Force to prevent and treat victims of violence through community based prevention, acute care, long term care and rehabilitation. This initiative is one of many steps we are taking against this epidemic."

The billboards started going up in Chicago on March 15.

Reduce risk of brake failure

Brake failure is the most common cause of mechanical-related traffic accidents. To reduce the risk of brake malfunction, have your vehicle's brake system checked regularly by a qualified mechanic and be alert for any signs of brake deterioration.

Q. How often should I have my brakes checked?

A. Every 15,000 miles or after driving more than 18 months without a brake inspection. If you do a lot of in-town driving in stop-and-go traffic, you should have an annual inspection.

Q. What is the life expectancy of my brakes?

A. Front brakes on front-wheel-drive vehicles last from 15,000 to 22,000 miles. Rear brakes on these vehicles last about 30,000 miles. The life expectancy for front and rear brakes on rear-wheel drive vehicles is about 30,000 miles.

Q. What are some warning signs of deteriorating brakes?

A. Brake pulsation or a reduction in holding power or pressure; Needing to push the brakes to the floor to completely stop; Scraping sounds or surging when approaching a stop; Pulling to the right or left when braking.

Q. Are there any other signs to be aware of?

A. Most vehicles have a warning system that emits a loud squealing noise when brake pads are wearing thin. If you hear this noise while driving (not braking), have the brakes looked at soon. When the squealing noise stops, the brake pads have worn off completely and you are driving metal against metal. Total failure of the braking system may occur.

Morton Grove Criminal Damage

Person(s) unknown used a hammer type tool to break the driver's side car window on a 1990 Dodge Shadow, while it was parked in the 8000 block of School sometime between 7 p.m. April 13 and 10:15 a.m. April 14. The vehicle belongs to a 41-year-old Morton Grove woman.

All the doors in the car were locked. Entry was not made into the vehicle and nothing appeared to be missing.

Assault

A 22-year-old Morton Grove woman was having a verbal dispute with her sister when her sister's 32-year-old boyfriend of Glenview began yelling obscenities at the victim at 6:30 p.m. April 13.

The offender ran up to the victim shaking his fist in her face and said that he will kill her. The victim then picked up the offender's tennis equipment and threw it out the front door, ordering the offender to leave her house.

The offender began screaming violently at the victim and chased her from the house for at least half a block.

Burglary to Garage

A 51-year-old man, wearing a red knit cap and a dark ski jacket and pants, was seen inside a 22-year-old Morton Grove woman's 1989 Suzuki Sidekick which was parked in the 6600 block of Hazel at about 3:40 a.m. April 22. The offender was rummaging through the contents of the vehicle, according to a neighbor who witnessed the incident.

Police found a man matching the description of the offender crouching down in the bushes of a yard in the 9000 block of Neenah. The suspect was taken into custody and brought back to the home of the witness, which resulted in a positive identification.

The offender admitted taking frozen items which included four steaks, one package of sausage, raspberries and other miscellaneous items from an unlocked garage five to six blocks from the place of arrest. The offender said that he did not take anything from the Suzuki motor vehicle.

According to police, seven months ago, the offender was released from Joliet Prison where he was serving time for a burglary to the home of a Morton Grove judge.

The offender is still on parole for another seven to eight months. Police approved a felony burglary charge and a court date was set for May 10.

Injury from Fire

An 18-year-old Morton Grove man and a 20-year-old Skokie man were smoking inside a garage in the 8500 block of Mason at 1 a.m. April 20. A fire started when the 18-year-old tossed his lit cigarette onto the ground.

As he and the other subject attempted to extinguish the fire, the 18-year-old tipped over a fuel can, causing the fire to spread rapidly. During that time, the victim's hair caught fire and burned the back of his neck.

While speaking to the victim and the witness, police detected an odor of alcohol on their breath. The witness related that they each had had two beers.

Burglary to Auto

Unknown offender(s) used an entry tool to gain access to a 22-year-old Norridge woman's 1993 Chevrolet sometime between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. April 17. A cellular telephone valued at $100 was taken from a compartment on the driver's inside door.

The victim's vehicle was parked in a private parking lot in the 5800 block of Dempster when the incident occurred. The vehicle was locked and no entry marks were observed.

Battery

A 26-year-old Morton Grove woman brought her clothes to a dry cleaners in the 6700 block of Dempster at about 4 p.m. April 22. A dispute started between the customer and the manager of the cleaners, a 45-year-old Skokie man, over the business policy of prepaying at the time of drop-off.

The customer decided she did not want to patronize the establishment and asked to have her articles of clothing back so she could take them elsewhere. The manager explained that he was too busy and told her to rummage through the clothes bin herself.

As the customer sifted through the bin, the manager became angered at the way she handled the clothing. He grabbed her at the elbows and proceeded to shake her and push her away from the clothes bin.

The victim fled the store and called the police. After arriving at the scene, police observed that the victim had red welts on her arms. Photos were taken as evidence.

The offender was placed under arrest for battery and transported to the Morton Grove Police Department. The offender posted ten percent of his $1,000 bond and was released. A court date was set for May 8.

The offender is still on parole for another seven to eight months. Police approved a felony burglary charge and a court date was set for May 10.

Carroll defends hit and run victims

State Senator Howard Carroll (D-8) is defending the rights of hit and run accident victims by sponsoring legislation that will expand the Crime Victim Compensation Act. Senate Bill 582 will allow victims or their families to obtain funds from the Victim Compensation Fund if they were killed or injured by a hit and run driver.

"This legislation was spurred by the needs of one of my constituents," said Carroll. "Her mother was killed by a hit and run driver and the daughter received no money from the Victim Compensation Fund to bury her. I sponsored the legislation after this tragedy was brought to my attention."

The Victim Compensation Fund provides money to victims or their families if the person was injured or killed as a result of a criminal act. Currently, victims of certain crimes of violence such as murder, rape, assault or DUI victims, may receive up to $25,000 from the Victim Compensation Fund. The money issued to compensate for lost wages, funeral costs, and medical and hospital debts. In Illinois, the compensation money paid to victims is funded two-thirds by the federal government and one-third by the state.

"The money can in no way compensate for their losses but it will ease some of the financial burdens associated with tragedies," Carroll said.

"This legislation will allow victims of car accidents to benefit from this fund" said Carroll. "The Attorney General will investigate victims' claims for validity. There will be tight controls on the documentation of the losses. If the Court of Claims agrees with the Attorney General, the victim or their family will receive compensation."

"In this instance, the victim was killed by a motorist who fled the scene of the crime. When the daughter contacted my office, we realized that if the mother had been killed by a gun, she would have received compensation," said Carroll. "The law was distinguishing who should receive compensation based on the instrument of death. I felt this was unjust and that's why I've chosen to expand the law to compensate people who are killed by hit and run motorists."

"The money can in no way compensate for their losses but it will ease some of the financial burdens associated with tragedies," Carroll said.

Carving: A Hobby With Rewards

You could almost smell the aroma, however, upon closer look the beautiful rose being carved is wood. Cliff Oscarson from Park Ridge is shaping the delicate petals, sitting next to him is John Demuth.

A Des Plaines resident is turning a block of basswood into a stunning statue of St. Anthony, while Dorothy Kramer from Glenview is carving the cutest Santa you ever saw. Carving is learning to hold the wood in both hands and guide the knife along the surface with the end result, a piece of sculpture. It's a low cost type of hobby with rewarding conclusions.

It's the first Monday of the month and The North Suburban Carvers are meeting at St. John's School in Mount Prospect. The members start to gather at 6 p.m. with conversation, carving and companionship. The club provides an extensive lending library with books and instructional videos covering all types of carving such as "In The Round", relief, chip carving, caricature, carousel and acanthus carving.

Lincolnwood Library sponsors Literary Fest

The spring event will be held at the library, 4000 W. Pratt Ave., Sunday, April 30 from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Raffle winners buy into 'Wings of Song' again

Mrs. Claire Smith, of Northbrook, outsold everyone last year by selling the most chances to the NSO's "On Wings of Song" raffle. Mrs. Smith recently caught up with last year's grand prize winners, Leonard and Carol Finckle, of Northbrook, and sold them what they hope will be another winning chance to the 1995 "On Wings of Song" raffle fundraiser. Raffle tickets are available NOW through the Northbrook Symphony office or from any board member for $25 for a book of six chances or $5 per chance.

American Airlines is once again helping the NSO "tune up" their major fundraiser of the year by co-sponsoring the raffle: American Airlines has generously provided a pair of round trip tickets to any American European destination AND a pair of round trip tickets to any American destination in the contiguous United States. One victorious winner will have his/her choice of a big screen TV or personal computer; AND, the remainder of the lofty prizes are weekend getaways, restaurant certificates and theater or concert tickets.

have a rough couple of weeks ahead of them. Bulls' fans expect their favorites to sweep through the upcoming series against Charlotte, New York or Indiana and then Orlando. But more sophisticated fans are wary the Bulls no longer have a Bill Cartwright to beat up the opposing centers and no Horace Grant to capture the offensive rebounds. The Bulls should have an offensive feast in the upcoming games. But if they can't stop centers Mourning, Ewing and McNeal, and can't get second shots after rebounding, Michael Jordan's late-season return will go for nought.

We wonder if Cubs and Sox baseball fans feel as ambivalent as we do about the upcoming season. We've waited 60 years for the White Sox to win a world championship. Last year was the first time they had high expectations of winning the top prize. So what happened to our 60 year expectations? Zilch. The ballplayers picked up their gloves in mid-season and turned their backs on all of us fans. And the owners, seeing a chance to break the baseball union, closed the door on the fans who've fed them all through the years.

Will we go back? We don't know. But for the present we're staying away from major league parks. And we're not turning on the T.V. to watch baseball nor supporting the sponsors of the television broadcasts. It's our small protest to a game which may have passed our way and now has passed away.

Former Secretary of Defense, Robert McNamara, has written memoirs of his years in the Kennedy and Johnson administrations in which he admits the Viet Nam war was a mistake. Since he was one of the architects of our war policies during the sixties he is now submitting himself to an anguishing self-flagellation over his part in that war. It's excruciating watching him take abuse from people whose wounds from that war are still open.

The next step is for the Archdiocesan Finance Council to vote on the proposal. The Real Estate Committee of this Finance Council unanimously recommended that the property be sold to Northridge. After the Finance Council votes on the Northridge proposal, the Cardinal will make a final decision about his property.

The Niles community has expressed its support for this move. Northridge's purchase will help maintain a tradition established in Niles by the Archdiocese at this campus location. Previously a seminary, the buildings are already in place for the school, which offers a highly regarded academic curriculum for boys, grades six through twelve.

Northridge Preparatory School, and their joint venture partner, Pontarelli Builders, want to purchase the site from the Archdiocese. The campus-like setting of this site has existing buildings designed for a library, gym, chapel, school rooms, and athletic playing fields. The majority of the school buildings will remain in place. "The space is ready to be occupied, and there is room for us to expand our existing student body from 210 to 350," said Ferris. A portion of the property will be developed as a residential condominium campus.

"The Park District could not take care of all of these students that are in these programs," she said "We will have a fee that will be charging them."

Heinen said that Recreation Supervisor Sandy Dixon has developed a preliminary plan for the Park District to provide before and after school care for District 71 students.

In other business, Commissioner Rick Sheridan told the Board that the presidents of all golf leagues met on March 27 to review all fees, changes, upgrades at the Tam golf course. March 31 was the start of the golf season. Sheridan also noted that 90% of the administrative fees from golf leagues scheduled to play at Tam have been received.

Iceland's annual "Theaters On Ice" production is scheduled for March 19, 20 and 21. Curtain Call will feature 190 skaters. Tickets are on sale now.

Registration for spring programs was up seven percent from last year for recreation programs, Commissioner Myrna Breitman said. Summer registration and day camp registration are also up. Sales of pool passes are slow now, but the cool weather was the reason.

boards and commissioners. Larry Reiss and David Hersh both received three-year appointments to the Appearance Commission. Robert Karas a three year appointment to the 911 Committee, and Max Litter a two year appointment to the Police Pension Board.

The Board passed an ordinance authorizing some inter-department budget transfers. According to Trustee Jim Karp, "This did not involve any supplemental appropriation, the transfer was simply between accounts." Trustee Ronna Brenner announced that the non-emergency police and fire department numbers listed on a magnet that is being distributed is incorrect. The correct numbers are: Police 470-5208 and Fire 470-5226.

The Board approved a shortened summer meeting schedule. They will meet only once a month during the summer, June 12, July 17 and August 14. If something big comes up, they will call a special meeting in addition to those regularly scheduled.

Current Library Board members, President Ted Przyblo, Trustees Irene Costello, Richard Barnat and John Hanna were recently elected to new terms and were sworn in at the April meeting. The terms will officially begin May 8.

Przyblo was retained as president. Avis Gibbons was elected vice president by the members present, Costello as secretary and Barnat as treasurer for the coming term.

An agreement entered into by the Niles Public Library and the Steve Larson and Associate Municipal Consultants, Inc. for financial advisory services related to financing the library expansion was approved by the Board.

These outside financial consulting services are required by the library for three phases of its current and future development plans.

In the first phase, Larson and Associates is currently assisting the Niles Library with ways it can work within the tax cap limitations on materials and services. Projections on what the library's operating expenses, including personal materials and utilities, will be five and ten years down the road are provided to the library by the firm.

Phase Two kicks in if the board decides to go to a referendum to increase the levy. If that happens, Larson and Associates will be the referendum consultants.

Phase Three will commence if the referendum does pass and if the library sees a need to expand. At that time, Larson and Associates will help the library sell bonds. Neither of these decisions has yet been made, Przyblo stressed.

In other matters, revision of certain job descriptions, renewal of video performance motion picture licensing contracts (permitting the library to show videos) and renewal of service agreements of Hewlett Packard printers were approved by the Board.

A meeting was scheduled for April 26 for discussion of the long-range plan.

when the bomb struck killing 87 people, including a dozen children in the Federal Building day-care center.

Langer added, "My son would have parked in the same spot or close to the spot where the vehicle with the explosive was parked, right under the day-care center."

Langer said that his son and daughter-in-law, Corey Lamb, 30, chose the day-care center in the Federal Building shortly after Erin was born in November 1993, because of its convenient location. Lamb, an architect, worked in the downtown area at the time, and the Federal Building was close enough to her office to allow her to go there a couple of times a day to nurse her infant daughter. Erich is a federal employee, so the couple was eligible to enroll Erin in the day-care program.

Langer said he was interviewed by Channel 2 News and appeared on Thursday on the 4 p.m. news broadcast and again on the Bill Kurtis news at 10 p.m. He said his son and daughter-in-law, with Erin in their arms, were televised from Oklahoma City on the Day One program and other news broadcasts.

Langer said he has no quarrel with fate. He'd rather be a happy granddad than a winning candidate any day of the week.

Letters to the Editor

Tam Golf Course fees increase

Dear Editor:

As a resident of Park Ridge, I have always admired the city of Niles for the amenities it provided its residents. That was until I recently heard of the golf fees increase at the Tam Golf Course. I have golfed there for many years with both Niles residents and those from other locations. The Course has been well kept and has been convenient to many who live on the northwest side of Chicago and nearby suburbs.

I have golfed only on weekdays - at least two and sometimes three days per week. Seldom have I seen golfers other than senior citizens. The proposed increase will create a hardship on retirees. Although my friends and I intend to continue golfing at Tam, I'm afraid we will not be able to golf as often as in the past. I am sure the increase will also affect the residents from Niles.

Become an organ donor

Dear Editor:

Some of us cast ballots in the recent elections, but all of us can elect to vote for life! Right now - we all can cast our votes to support organ and tissue donation for lifesaving or life-enhancing transplantation. The "ballot" is an organ/tissue donor card (like the one on the back of the driver's license). I really feel strongly about spreading the word about organ and tissue donation.

Right now there are more than 2,000 people waiting for heart, kidney, liver, lung, pancreas and

I have been told the reason for the fee increase was to cover the cost for the new clubhouse. If plans for the new clubhouse are to increase revenues, over and above the loss from seniors with limited disposable incomes, then the project will be worthy. After all, the fewer players, the less maintenance is required. In the opinion of many Niles residents that have spoken to me about the change, they would have preferred a tent with toilet facilities and lower fees.

Even if the new clubhouse resembles the Taj Mahal, the Course is still nine holes. It appears that the mistake of converting the original eighteen holes Country Club to a nine holes Course is being compounded.

Disappointed,

heart-lung transplants in our area. Hundreds more are waiting for the gift of sight through a cornea transplant. Many, many people are waiting for bone, skin, or heart valve transplants. Even though the primary elections are over, the need for donated organs and tissues continues. Vote today to give someone life someday. Be an organ and tissue donor. Be a lifesaver.

Tornados, windstorms and floods

Northern Illinois is entering the season when it is subject to the ravages resulting from these dismal freaks of nature. Homeowners can't prevent such events, but they can minimize the damage.

The Professional Remodelers Association of Illinois (PRA) suggests the following procedure. With camera in hand, go through the home, room by room, as follows: Stand against one wall and take a picture of the opposite wall. Do it again, taking a picture of each wall in each room, until the home has been completely photographed.

Next, said Millie O'Brien, PRA Managing Director, "Collect all personal items, such as: antique furniture, books, dishes, silver, plants, clothing, TV's, radio's, VCR's and any other objects of value and photograph all of them. Buy an inventory record book and use it to list all items photographed. Where possible, include in the book the receipts for the purchases. Indicate the value of each item and the date of record. The PRA recommends these records be kept in either a fireproof box or bank safety deposit box.

If the unexpected occurs, the homeowner has a full, complete record of family belongings to support the insurance claim. "Finally," concluded Ms. O'Brien, "If the homeowner should require a contractor, he or she may phone the PRA office at (708) 292-6541 and ask for it's member book, at no charge, which will provide names of qualified remodelers who have been approved by the ethics committee.
