Oakton nursing program accredited

by Susan Klingman

Oakton Community College (OCC)/MONNACEP has received accreditation for its continuing education program for healthcare professionals from the American Nurses Credentialing Center Commission on Accreditation.

A certificate, declaring the MONNACEP program "a provider of continuing education in nursing," was presented to Barbara Rizzo, Director of MONNACEP, during the regular meeting of the OCC Board of Trustees on May 16, 1995.

The accreditation, which is good through the year 2001, was awarded after an in-depth self-study and evaluation of the program. It is a distinctive honor for Oakton, as only one other community college in the state has achieved this status.

Oakton is also participating in the Illinois Articulation Initiative, a collaborative effort among the Illinois Community College Board (ICCB), Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE), and participating community colleges, public universities, and pri-

District 219 may privatize driver's ed

The Cook County tax cap imposed by the tax cap have forced the Niles School District to trim its budget severely. The first area to feel the pinch will be the driver's education program. The Board voted 5-2 May 22 to apply for a modification of the Illinois State Board of Education rules so that the district would be allowed to contract for some of its driver's education services. The savings could be as high as $200,000 if the Board contracts

Expanded facility pushes out Village & Park meeting site

Niles Police Dept. targeted for renovation

by Kathleen Quirsfeld

Summer is definitely construction season. The sounds of saws and hammers and heavy earth moving equipment are everywhere. Now those sounds can be heard at the Niles Police Station, Milwaukee and Touhy Avenues. For it's their turn to get a much needed refurbishing. This project is one that will benefit both the people of Niles and the officers and support staff who work there.

Progress on the remodeling and renovation, which began in May, is going well, said Deputy Chief Jerry Sheehan. According to the architect, Burnidge Cassell & Associates of Elgin and MTI Construction Services, Inc., of Elk Grove Village, construction will be completed in late September or early October as planned. The construction of the station is expected to be done in phases. Phase one of the construction is the demolition of the old Council Chambers area and the assembling of several much needed police facilities in that space. Of primary importance is the move of the Record Section to this area. The Record Station restructuring needed to be done first so that the moving of the records could be done as quickly as possible, Sheehan said. The police will definitely benefit by the addition of the extra room that was once home to

by Bud Besser
Buglebits....

The Tribune had a feature story in Monday's edition about graduates renting stretch limousines to drive them to their graduation ceremonies and to after-graduation parties. The story concerned the "growing significance of adolescent rites of passage." It noted "style-conscious teens" are into buying two dresses for graduation and having their hair done" as the youngsters and their parents are pushing adulthood ever earlier onto these children.

The graduates the article referred to wasn't high school graduates. It was 13-year-olds graduating from grammar school.

Paul, an old friend of The Bugle, has been a favorite of ours for many years. Paul's love for Maine East High School has no bounds (he was a student there as well as a teacher).

In bygone years we've seen Paul take on the school board many times fighting to keep the school open when there was discussion of closing the oldest school in the district. Another time he sent out postcards to thousands of Maine residents asking them to send

Low-Cost wills at Niles Senior Center

Eligible senior citizens are offered low-cost will preparation services through the Senior Citizens Will Program, Friday, June 16, at the Niles Senior Center. Advance appointments are required and will be scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon that day.

An attorney from The Chicago Bar Association Lawyer Referral Service will provide free consultations about wills to seniors who register for the service. At a client's request, the attorney will also prepare a simple will for a reduced fee. The cost for drawing up a will is not more than $50 for an individual ($75 for a couple).

Durable Power of Attorney and Living Will forms are available free of charge. A Durable Power of Attorney allows a senior to designate another person to make property or health care decisions in the event the senior becomes physically or mentally unable to do so. A Living Will allows an individual with a terminal health condition to express his or her desire to have death-delaying procedures withheld or withdrawn.

Seniors may complete the Durable Power of Attorney and Living Will forms themselves, or they may hire the attorney to help fill them out and explain the various options available on the forms. The fee for the attorney to provide legal advice about a Durable Power of Attorney is $75 maximum for an individual ($125 for a couple). The charge for a Living Will is no more than $50 for an individual ($75 for a couple).

To be eligible for the Senior Citizens Will Program, a client must be age 60 or over. Annual income must not exceed $15,000 ($20,000 for a couple); and assets, excluding a home and personal car, should be worth no more than $30,000.

The Senior Citizens Will Program is sponsored by The Chicago Bar Association, the Suburban Area Agency on Aging, the Chicago Department on Aging, and the Cook County Legal Assistance Foundation.

Appointments for the Senior Citizens Will Program must be scheduled in advance. To register, call the Niles Senior Center at (708) 967-6100, ext. 376.

Jayne Barry of Morton Grove was selecting items at the Morton Grove Historical Society for the third grade class she was preparing to teach the following day.

Earlier in the day, Barry shared with us the contents of an actual treasure chest-yes, it looked exactly like the ones you read about when you were eight years old.

Some time ago the chest belonged to a Willie McGarland of Humboldt, Iowa. Willie died when he was ten years old. Years later, his father, a doctor, invited Barry, a nurse at the time, to "help him clear out his apothecary shop," says Barry. That's where Barry discovered the chest.

There were several books in the chest. Two of them attracted more than our casual attention. One was a spelling book used by young Willie when he probably was about nine years old. We double-checked, triple-checked to verify these were the exercises taken by Willie and his classmates.

Reprinted below are one of the "easier" lessons to be studied as a "warm-up" for the more difficult lessons that follow. Look no further and have someone give you either column after you have them promise you will have them spell the other column.

OK, for those who got less than two wrong, you might be ready for an advanced list of spelling words given in early elementary school in 1875.

Lesson 99. Lesson 100. It is time to buy a dictionary and promise it will become your ever-ready companion?

What? You never were that good in spelling. Next week we warn you so you can get prepared, we'll give you a geography test from the "introductory" book for elementary students.

Rockwell honored at Bradford Exchange

By T.J. Brown

Norman Rockwell received another posthumous accolade Saturday as he was inducted into the Bradford Exchange Plate Artist Hall of Fame along with four other artists.

"This ceremony is to recognize the artists who made a large contribution to collectors plate artistry," Bradford Exchange public relations director Ginny Sexton said.

Charles Frace, Thomas Kin-kade, Sandra Kuck and Lena Liu were also inducted Saturday.

Rockwell was represented by his second son, Thomas, who made the trip to Niles from his Poughkeepsie, N.Y., home to accept the award on behalf of his late father.

"I think my father would be eventually pleased to see that his work is still enjoyed and collected," Thomas Rockwell said. "That's the major reason why he worked."

Several visitors came to the Bradford Exchange Saturday to pay homage to Rockwell. "His paintings make you feel so good to look at," Lincolnshire resident Helen Palmquist said. "Each picture tells a story."

A Rockwell buff, Palmquist brought several of Norman Rockwell's works as well as books written by Thomas Rockwell about his father.

Best known for his Saturday Evening Post magazine covers, Rockwell's works have been featured on Bradford Exchange plates since the mid-1970s.

Rockwell's paintings are most identifiable with 20th Century America, because his paintings depicted rather ordinary and identifiable scenes to most Americans.

"His life wasn't extraordinary," Thomas Rockwell said. "Most of what he did were of scenes of ordinary situations."

According to his son, Rockwell's favorite work was said Rockwell was never really was done for a war bond drive. Rockwell chose simple scenes to depict freedom of speech, freedom to worship, freedom from fear and freedom from want.

At first he wondered what he should do, Thomas Rockwell said. "He thought of grand war scenes for some of them. But he was at a war rally in Arlington, Va., [the Rockwells' hometown at the time] and decided that should be the scene for freedom of speech."

But while his son said the "Four Freedoms" collection was Rockwell's favorite work, he also said Rockwell was never really

Skokie to host Oklahoma City benefit

Neil Diamond, Elton John and Garth Brooks will appear on the lawn at the North Shore Hilton in Skokie on Saturday, July 15, noon to 5 p.m. to benefit the victims of the Oklahoma City bombing.

Impersonator Steve Richards and his Superstar Tributes Band will perform in three 45-minute programs during the afternoon featuring the songs and music of the famous entertainers.

Admission to the picnic and concert is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 10. All proceeds will benefit Oklahoma governor Frank Keating's Victim and Family Relief Fund.

The public is encouraged to bring their own picnic fixings, although some food and refreshments will be on sale.

Clowns and face painters will be on hand for added entertainment. Plans also call for a giant raffle of merchandise and certificates donated by area merchants.

For more information, call (708) 729-7333.

$700,000 approved for 207 Technology Plan

Although Phase I of the Long Range Technology Plan for Maine Township High School District 207 failed to win approval at the May 1 board meeting, the board did approve parts of the plan at a cost of about $700,000. Phase I of the plan had been projected to cost $3,277,762.

Instead of replacing nine computer labs district-wide at a cost of $1,143,870, three labs will be replaced at a cost of $381,300.

Other aspects of the plan that were okayed include a listening language lab at Maine East at a cost of $120,410, five computers for each learning resource center at a cost of $48,000, a mini-computer to handle the library Dynix system at a cost of $130,174, and an additional technical support person at a cost of $55,000.

Other parts of the plan rejected by the board include additional VCR/Monitors and laser disc players for each building at a cost of $33,129, scanners to assist with assessment at a cost of $13,805, a node for internet at a cost of $70,544, and the installation of a district-wide backbone that would network computers across the district at a cost of $1,925,284.

First of America named leading bank in lending

First of America Bank Corporation has the best record in the nation for small business lending according to an analysis of federal banking records by the Wall Street Journal. Nationally, First of America outranked 33 other U.S. banks with assets of more than $20 billion in small business loans.

Locally, First of America Bank reports that 94 percent of total commercial loans in the Lake, Cook, DuPage and Will Counties are considered small business loans - loans that are under $1 million.

"Our strategic focus has always been community banking and the report findings on small business lending demonstrate our continuing commitment to that philosophy," stated Regional President Nancy L. Singer. "We work directly with local companies to support their business development and expansion in our community, which creates jobs and wealth in northeastern Illinois."

Beginning two years ago, banks were required to file information about their small business lending activity to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. An analysis of these reports by the Wall Street Journal indicated that many of the big banks that claimed to be advocates of small business were exaggerating their small business performance.

The federal banking report data from June 1994 indicates that First of America Bank Corporation reported $2.3 billion in small business loans which accounts for over 57 percent of the corporation's domestic loans. In comparison, Citicorp had $1.8 billion in small business loans on its books. That is 22 percent less than First of America Bank which has one-fifth of Citicorp's total assets. Chase Manhattan's small business loans accounted for less than 10 percent of its $9.4 billion in domestic business loans.

First of America Bank Corporation, headquartered in Kalamazoo, Michigan, has $17 billion in loans and $20 billion in deposits and serves over 3.2 billion households in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Florida.

Antique Club Flea Market

Members of the Old Things Antique Club of Park Ridge look over some of the many items to be sold at the group's 21st annual flea market, to be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, June 10, in Hodges Park. From left are Terri Thomssen, program chairman; Harry Monroe; Diane Stolpa, president; Sylvia Hohoff, co-president elect; Susan Boyajian, co-president elect, and Carolyn Monroe.

The 21st annual flea market of the Old Things Antique Club of Park Ridge will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, June 10, in Hodges Park, uptown Park Ridge.

Antiques, collectibles, white elephants, books, furniture, jewelry, junk and used household items will be offered for sale by the club's members.

Their wide variety of interests ranges from primitives, kitchen-ware, glassware, china, pottery, toys, dolls, postcards, pens, picture frames, prints, clocks, silver, insulators, world's fair and railroad items to such modern collectibles as advertising memorabilia, commemorative plates and collector bottles, and they are happy to share their knowledge.

Virtually anything new or old is sold at flea markets, but at the Old Things market, the emphasis is on items of antiquarian value. This gives people interested in these items an opportunity to look, learn and perhaps buy an underpriced treasure in a market fair atmosphere.

In the past, the group has contributed furnishings to the Park Ridge Historical Society and books on antiques to the Park Ridge Library, and has made cash contributions to each.

Rain date for the flea market is two weeks later, Saturday, June 24.

SJB Golden Agers plan summer fun

The healthy, heady tulips are standing at the ready! So, too, are the Golden Agers of St. John Brebeuf, who are gearing up for the warm weather.

Club President Robert Bianchi asked Joseph Lucas to open the club's May business meeting with a prayer.

Frances Pawelek, club secretary, read the minutes of the prior meeting.

Treasurer Steve Bochenek presented the financial report.

Carl Ferina reminded members of the following upcoming trips and activities: Mississippi Belle - June 21; Holy Hill, July 12; Picnic, July 25.

If club members wish to volunteer their services for the picnic, contact Dorothy Warman.

Felix Jach reported on the club's 20th anniversary party held recently at Mr. Peter's. Members who attended enjoyed a most delightful time. The food was excellent and the music kept everyone's toes-a-tapping. Thanks, Felix, for a job well done.

Sunshine Lady Millie Licitra asked members to welcome a new club member, Teresa Kapka.

Members were happy to see Margaret Miller at the meeting. Stay well Margaret!

Anniversaries for this month are being celebrated by the following couples: John and Magdalena Bohn, 44 years; Chester and Veronica Bonk, 50 years; Barney and Rose Majewski, 58 years.

On April 30, Bill Wasmund celebrated his 80th birthday and also the 50th anniversary of his marriage to Mary. The festive fete was held at Giovanni's restaurant with 55 guests joining in the two celebrations.

Laura Barreto, granddaughter of Virginia Landaver, was married at St. Peter's Church in Skokie on April 29 to David Baran. The wedding party included five bridesmaids, a flower girl and a ring bearer. The reception was held at the Fireside Inn. The happy duo took a Caribbean cruise for their honeymoon.

Rose and Barney Majewski welcomed a grandson, Ethan Van DeWelde, into their family in November of 1994. Ethan lives in Lansing, Michigan.

Averill Buerstetta, granddaughter of Bill and Eleonore Brit, received the second-place award for her science project at the University of Illinois at Champaign. Because the sponsoring organization is financially depleted, no more competitions will be held.

Edward Miller, son of Helen Willer, and his wife, Bonnie, were vested on April 30 as Sir Edward C. Willer, Knight of the Holy Sepulchre, and Lady Bonnie Lee Willer, Lady of the Holy Sepulchre. His Eminence Joseph Cardinal Bernardin presided at the Mass and ceremony in the presence of His Eminence Giuseppe Cardinal Caprio. Twenty-one additional priests participated in the Mass. This solemn occasion took place in Cleveland, Ohio, at the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist. The ceremonies were held two days under the auspices of the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem. Helen Willer was very happy to have attended and witnessed the great honor that was bestowed upon her son and his wife.

Moins, Grandmas and Great-Grandmas all celebrated a merry-merry Mother's Day! Now it's Dads, Granddads and Great-Granddads turn to enjoy the festivities of a fabulous Father's Day.

Think taxes when negotiating a divorce settlement

Breaking up a marriage can be taxing - both emotionally and financially. Adding to a couple's burden are complex tax laws that each party must carefully consider if the couple is to reach an equitable settlement. The Illinois CPA Society offers the following overview of important tax considerations.

Marital Status Equals Filing Status
Your marital status on Dec. 31 determines your filing status for federal income tax purposes. If your divorce is final before the end of the year, the IRS considers you single for the entire year.

That means you can't file a joint return with your ex-spouse even if you were married for the first 364 days of the year.

Is it Alimony, Child Support, or a Property Settlement?
Payments that qualify as alimony are deductible by the payer, regardless of whether he or she itemizes. The recipient must report the payments as income. Child support, however, is neither deductible nor taxed.

To qualify for the deduction, alimony must be paid to or on behalf of a former spouse in cash, by check, or by money order, and must be required by a written divorce decree or separation agreement. Also, the payer must be the one obligated to make the payments. Only the amount stipulated in the agreement is deductible or taxable. Amounts paid in excess of the agreement will be deemed nondeductible gifts. Other rules also apply, so check with a tax adviser to be sure you can claim a deduction.

To make certain that child support payments don't slip through under the guise of alimony, the IRS holds that if any payment, regardless of how it may be classified in the divorce decree, is reduced based on a contingency relating to a child, that reduction is treated as child support from the outset and is not deductible.

If you're planning to detect alimony on your 1994 tax return, you must include your ex-spouse's name and Social Security number on your tax return. This requirement is designed to ensure that if you're claiming a deduction, your ex-spouse is reporting the same amount of income.

Who Gets the Exemption?
While both parents may contribute to the support of a child, only one can claim the dependency exemption for the child. The law generally gives the exemption to the custodial parent named in the divorce decree. If neither parent is named, the IRS considers the custodial parent to be the one who provided a home for the child for the greater part of the year.

JUNE 8 SIZZLING SINGLES

Aggravated Battery

A 23-year-old teacher and her 15-year-old student were injured May 31 around 12:10 p.m. on the lawn outside Metropolitan Prep School, 7155 N. Harlem.

The victims were standing with a group of students when a blue 1995 Pontiac driven by a 26-year-old Des Plaines man and carrying an 18-year-old Chicago man and a 17-year-old Chicago youth as passengers drove up on the sidewalk. Three of the car's occupants exited the vehicle and ran up to the 15-year-old student who was standing beside the teacher.

The teacher identified herself several times as a teacher and placed herself between the victim and the offenders.

When Niles police responded to a 911 report of a fight in progress on the Touhy Ave. side of the school, they found approximately 30 people on the lawn near the RTA bus shelter. The teacher was bleeding from the nose and mouth and the east pane of glass in the RTA shelter was shattered.

The 15-year-old Glenview student and other witnesses reported that the battery against the teacher and student. The teacher-victim identified the 18-year-old Chicago man as the subject who punched her in the hip and lower abdomen area and shoved her while attempting to strike the 15-year-old student victim.

The three passengers claimed that the student threw a bottle at their car precipitating the confrontation. However, witnesses reported that they did not see any bottles thrown at the car.

The 18-year-old Chicago man verbally admitted punching the student victim in the mouth and said he may have made physical contact with the teacher victim.

The 18-year-old Chicago man and the 18-year-old Skokie man were each charged with one count of battery. All four offenders were charged with mob action.

Burglary from autos

A 51-year-old Niles man reported that a radar detector, a garage door opener and $14 in assorted change were stolen from the 1995 Dodge Intrepid and 1985 Volvo, which were parked in his driveway between 10:45 p.m. June 1 and 6:30 a.m. June 2. Both autos were unlocked.

Missing Youth

The 45-year-old mother of a 16-year-old youth reported her son missing June 2 at 9:44 a.m. He was last seen at 9:30 p.m. May 31.

The youth had called his mother to say that he was coming home, but never showed up. School officials said that he had not attended classes at Maine East High School during the time he has been missing. Friends in Park Ridge, Forest Park and Morton Grove have been contacted but without success.

The missing youth is described as 5 feet 8 inches tall weighing 140 pounds and having yellow/brown hair, hazel eyes, a light complexion and thin build.

Missing Juvenile

A 37-year-old employee of Lutheran General Hospital reported her 13-year-old daughter missing at 12:30 p.m. June 2 after not hearing from the girl since 7:30 that morning.

The girl's mother went to the Des Plaines residence of one of the girl's friends at 11 p.m. but was told that the girl had been there briefly after school but had left at 4 p.m. The Cook County Sheriff's Police were contacted and checked the residence at 12:30 a.m. the next morning, but the missing juvenile was not there.

The girl was last seen wearing a black dress and black shoes. She is described as being 5 feet four inches tall, having blond hair, blue eyes and weighing 125 pounds with a slim build.

Theft, Attempted Suicide

The 23-year-old Loss Prevention Agent at the store at 7801 Waukegan Road reported around 2 p.m. June 2 that a 31-year-old Chicago woman suspected of shoplifting and in possession of a 10-inch stainless steel knife was being detained in the store's security office.

When police arrived, the loss prevention agent said that the offender had concealed a Barbie Doll valued at $5.78 under her jacket and exited past the point of purchase without paying for it.

The store agent stopped the offender in the lobby and escorted her to the security office where she sat on a bench and pulled the knife from her purse. The security agent said she did not attempt to use the knife on him, but he grabbed her wrist and removed the knife from her hand and secured it in a drawer.

The store agent said that the suspect was crying and rambling on about past experiences and family problems. She admitted wanting to inflict bodily harm on herself with the knife. A friend who was with her said she had done similar things in the past.

The offender was taken into custody and transported to the Niles Police Department for processing. A July 20 court date was set.

Because of her unstable condition throughout the booking process, police transported the subject to Lutheran General Hospital for psychiatric evaluation.

Suspicious Activities

The 36-year-old district manager of a cookie company at 579 Golf Mill reported that a 24-year-old Niles man who was employed there May 4 was to have made a $205 bank deposit on May 22, but the bank has no record of a deposit made by the employee. On May 25, the employee was to have made a $265 deposit, but the deposit was short by $113.

The suspect has terminated his employment with the company.

A 46-year-old woman reported that when she and her 15-year-old daughter were walking to school at about 8:20 a.m. June 2, a rusty black Cadillac in beat up condition containing three men stopped in front of them. The passenger in the rear seat exited the vehicle and said to the 15-year-old victim, "Come here."

Both women ran to a neighbor's house, and the vehicle fled southbound on Waukegan Road.

The victim requested a special watch from 7:45 a.m. to 8:25 a.m.

Poolside thefts

In separate but almost simultaneous incidents, two women patrons of the swimming pool at 7877 Milwaukee Ave. reported their property stolen while they left their chairs at the pool to check on their children's welfare.

A 40-year-old Des Plaines woman reported her purse had been taken, the cash removed, and the purse and remaining contents thrown in a trash container in the women's locker room.

A 41-year-old Park Ridge woman reported a beeper was removed from her purse.

Coalition calls for increased safety belt use

In recognition of National Buckle Up America Week, May 22-29, the Illinois Coalition for Vehicle Choice (CVC) is urging everyone to help prevent needless highway deaths and injuries by pledging to use safety belts on every trip.

"The statistics on safety belts have been in for some time, and the message is clear: Safety belts are our most effective weapon in the fight to minimize the risk of death or serious injury in automobile crashes," said Sean McManamy, Illinois CVC coordinator. "Properly used, safety belts can double your chances of surviving a serious crash."

According to NHTSA, safety belts saved 5,344 lives in 1994 and more than 40,000 lives since 1983. In 1993 alone, NHTSA reports, safety belts saved Americans more than $11 billion by preventing highway deaths and injuries.

Despite the convincing evidence for safety belt use, many Americans still have not made safety belts part of their routine, according to McManamy. "The government estimates that today about 67 percent of Americans regularly use safety belts. While this is an enormous improvement over the 11 percent who buckled up regularly in 1982, it still leaves one-third of the nation's motorists unnecessarily at risk."

Many of these motorists are "part-time" belt users, buckling up usually only on longer trips, in bad weather or on the highway. CVC joins NHTSA in its call for "part-time" belt users to use safety belts on every trip. "Many fatal crashes occur close to home, at moderate speeds and on roads familiar to the driver," McManamy said. "It's important that we make drivers aware that wearing safety belts is for everyone in the vehicle on every trip." CVC emphasizes that it is especially important to buckle up in small cars because research shows these occupants have twice the fatality risk of occupants of large cars.

CVC also reminds Americans that motorists are required to use safety belts in 48 states including Illinois. "Using your safety belt is using your head," McManamy said. "It can save you the hassle and expense of a ticket, and more importantly, it can save your life. Make safety belts a part of your driving routine, and encourage your passengers to buckle up as well."

The Doctor's Bag:
My Aching Stomach
by
Edward Hsi, M.D.

It's ulcer season again! Every spring and fall my friends remind me of the likelihood of seeing ulcer patients. You know, it's that gnawing discomfort under the ribs and above the navel when you're hungry. It seems that eating food or taking more antacids help relieve the pain felt by these ulcer patients. Ulcers occur in either the stomach as gastric ulcers, or in the first part of the small intestine as duodenal ulcers. Men seem to be twice as likely as women to suffer this disease. Those people immediately related to a family member with duodenal ulceration have a threefold increase in risk for ulcers themselves.

Since ancient times, histamine release from allergic exposures has caused runny noses and watery eyes. This is due to binding of our body's histamine to receptor sites in our respiratory tree. Another receptor is present in our stomachs, known as the Histamine-2 (or H-2) receptor site. No, your stomach doesn't run, but it does increase secretion of hydrochloric acid. Voilà, more acid causes more ulcers! Obviously too simple to be the whole picture! In fact, acid secretion is due to a complex series of neural and hormonal signals. Nonetheless, medical myth and legend have noted a seasonal increase in acid induced digestive disease.

Recent understanding of patients with recurrent ulcer disease has linked the presence of a bacterial infection in Americans. Today, cultures of gastric linings for Helicobacter pylori are routinely done during upper G. I. endoscopy. If present, not only are patients treated with acid reducing medications, but also with antibiotics in an effort to eliminate this bacterial growth. Interestingly, in some parts of the world, H. pylori seem to co-exist in the stomach of most normal people without causing ulcer formation.

Other factors clearly play a role. Cigarette smoking increases duodenal ulcers by 33-100% and delays healing in all ulcer types. Caffeine and similar compounds found in chocolate are mild stimulants for increased acid production. Alcohol probably should be avoided since it causes gastritis by its presence in the stomach. Aspirin, non-steroidal or steroid based anti-inflammatory medications all cause a breakdown of the prostaglandin chemical barrier that protects the stomach wall. This increases acid damage leading to possible ulceration for some patients while on these drugs. Patients suffering from chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, cirrhosis, or chronic renal failure are all more prone to ulcer disease. Finally, stress does play a role, although the degree to which this is important is difficult to pinpoint. After all, not all people react to stress with gastrointestinal symptoms.

Finally, yet another piece of ulcer myth needs to be put to rest. There is no such thing as an ulcer diet. Bland or milk rich diets fail to improve the rate of healing of ulcers. Avoid any foods that increase discomfort. This varies from person to person and includes everything from oranges to chicken. What is important is that patients refrain from aggravating symptoms with any particularly intolerable type of food.

The mainstay of treatment remains acid neutralization. An ever increasing number of medications can be prescribed for inhibiting and preventing acid secretion. Other types of therapy strengthen the normal barriers to acid damage of stomach linings. The types of medications given depend on several factors that your doctor must assess.

After all this, stress has never bothered me. Although with all these different facts about ulcers, am I just starting to feel a tiny headache coming on?

Northwestern seeks patients for study

Researchers at Northwestern University Medical School need patients for a study of pupil dilation as a potential non-invasive test for Alzheimer's disease.

The test will assess pupillary responses to a very dilute solution of tropicamide eye drops. Tropicamide is a medication commonly used by eye doctors during eye examinations.

Study participants should be between the ages of 40 to 90, have no history of glaucoma or previous eye surgeries and be in one of the following categories: (1) have a clinical diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease; (2) have a history of dementia but not Alzheimer's disease; or (3) are healthy and have no neurologic disease.

Participants will take a paper-and-pencil test to assess language, attention and memory skills. The total study time will be two to three hours.

M. Marsel Mesulam, M.D., the Ruth and Evelyn Dunbar Professor of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences and a professor of neurology at the Medical School, is the principal investigator for the study at Northwestern.

Summer courses in Financial Markets, Trading

The Financial Markets and Trading Program (FM&T) at the Illinois Institute of Technology's Stuart School of Business will host an on-campus, four-week summer program in financial markets and trading for students in high school and college.

The program offers an introduction to market terminology, new financial products, basic mathematics of the financial markets and how companies use financial products to reduce exposure to a turbulent economy.

Classes are held from July 10 to Aug. 4 at the Stuart School's Chicago campus, 565 W. Adams St., Chicago. Applications must be received by June 15.

The program is designed for students with abilities in mathematics and science and an interest in financial markets and trading, but who would not otherwise have access to the field.

Participants in the summer program have the opportunity to apply their knowledge of math and science, raise their understanding of a growth industry with high-quality jobs, and establish contacts in the industry.

A highlight of the program is the FM&T Project competition, in which students invest $100,000 in "play money" to create a portfolio of investments, then apply their quantitative skills to develop the portfolio.

Students also experience the intensity and excitement of the industry through visits to the major Chicago exchanges -- Chicago Board of Trade, Chicago Board Options Exchange, Chicago Mercantile Exchange and the Chicago Stock Exchange -- as well as large investment companies, banks and brokerage firms' trading rooms and other Chicago market firms.

The program is open to students at any level between the end of their junior year in high school and the beginning of their senior year in college. Applicants must have taken a minimum of two years of high school mathematics and science courses.

Summer program officials encourage applications from African American, Hispanic, Native American and female students and other qualified students seeking basic information about financial markets and trading.

The four-week summer program is an adjunct to the Stuart School's Financial Markets and Trading Program, which leads to a master of science degree.

For more information on the summer program, contact Shirley Wright at the Stuart School of Business, (312) 906-6541.

Distance learning coming to District 207

And the walls came tumbling down -- classroom walls that is because of a new concept called distance learning which will come to District 207 next year.

Through a partnership grant with Oakton Community College, District 207 has been awarded $200,000 which will help pay for two distance learning sites -- one at Maine East and one at Maine West. The $200,000 will pay for two rollabout units that include monitors, video cameras and microphones. As part of the partnership District 207 will remodel classrooms to house the equipment, provide staff, and pay communications fees at a cost not to exceed $75,611, according to action taken by the Board of Education at the April meeting.

According to Suzanne Millies, assistant superintendent for instruction, the distance learning classrooms will benefit the district in six ways. Distance learning provides an efficient way to teach low enrollment classes by using one instructor to teach students at several sites simultaneously. It can also make college level course available for students who have outgrown the District 207 curriculum.

By making college level tech prep courses available, District 207 students can begin a tech prep program with college credit while they are still in high school.

Faculty will have easier access to staff development and professional growth opportunities as well as to resources and expertise of faculty on the various college and university campuses. Finally, it will be an opportunity for District 207 to be one of the first high schools in the Chicagoland area to participate in the Telecommunications Network.

Nine sites have been established for the first phase of the Telecommunications Network. They are the College of Lake County, Graylake campus; William Rainey Harper College; Palatine; Oakton Community College; Des Plaines; Northeastern Illinois University, Chicago; DePaul University, Loop and O'Hare campuses; National Louis University, Chicago and Evanston campuses; and the Illinois Student Assistance Commission, Deerfield.

Eight sites will be established next year. They are the College of Lake County, Waukegan campus; Oakton Community College, Skokie campus; Northeastern Illinois University, Center for Inner City Studies and a proposed Great Lakes site; DePaul University, Lincoln Park campus; National-Louis University, Wheeling campus; Northwestern University, Evanston campus and Medical School.

EVENING CLASSES

Home Schooling: A different approach to education

Preparing our children for adulthood so they are able to function as mature contributing citizens able to make career decisions and have the education necessary to function in a rapidly changing society puts additional emphasis on the way we educate our children. Many parents are choosing Home Schooling as their way of achieving their goals.

What is Home Schooling? Why do people home school? How does one home school? When do you start home schooling? What happens if you start to home school your children and then decide to return them to a formal public or private school?

It is estimated that one percent of children are home schooled in the United States today. And, that percentage is growing. Some estimate that growth will level off at about five percent after a few years.

But, why do people decide to take their children out of school? What happens to children when they are home schooled? Do they really learn as much at home as they do if they attend a formal structured school?

Do you need a college degree to educate your children at home?

Washington students raise money for ecology

To find out how to raise money for a cause, just ask Washington School's Fourth Grade classes. Recently, the students went into the business of selling baked goods to the student body in order to raise money for conservation causes. They observed the principles of a free market economy by choosing the business they wanted and by deciding how to make the highest profit when the supply decreased.

With the help of parents who baked, those who supervised the selling, Mrs. Simon, Mrs. Azra, Ms. Yonan, Mrs. W...

Skolnick and Mrs. Dacosta, and the fourth grade teachers, Mrs. Ginzburg, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Weinfeld, and Mrs. Richer, the students earned $483. Besides their earnings, they learned some principles of a free economy, and applied math skills by working as cashiers.

The proceeds from this event were divided evenly and sent to the following ecology and conservation areas: Elsa Wild Animal Appeal; Greenpeace; Center for Marine Conservation; and Earthforce.

An awards presentation immediately follows the Tournament. Entertainment will continue on the lake during tabulation of scores prior to presentation of awards. The Judges will score each act according to their flow, execution, difficulty, and spectator appeal. In addition, they will judge the dock and equipment personnel, the pick-up boat crews, site adaptability, creativity, announcing, tow boat driving, showmanship and the overall show.

The value of fairy tales

The following are excerpts from The Uses of Enchantment: The Meaning and Importance of Fairy Tales by Bruno Bettelheim, one of the world's most renowned child psychologists. These specific selections were chosen to help you understand the deeper meanings hidden within fairy tales and the reasons why they exist as cultural and artistic phenomena. We hope this will provide you with keener insight into fairy tales, dispel some myths about this art form and demonstrate how practical solutions to life, for children and adults alike, can be drawn from their meaning.

For a story to hold the child's attention, it must entertain and arouse the child's curiosity. But to enrich his life, it must stimulate his imagination; help him to develop his intellect and clarify his emotions; be attuned to his anxieties and aspirations; give full recognition to his difficulties, while at the same time suggesting solutions to the problems which perturb him. In short, it must at one and the same time relate to all aspects of his personality - and without ever belittling but, on the contrary, give full credence to the seriousness of the child's predicaments, while simultaneously promoting confidence in himself and his future.

In all these and other respects, of the entire "children's literature" - with rare exceptions - nothing can be as enriching and satisfying to child and adult alike as the folk fairy tale. True, on an overt level fairy tales teach little about the specific conditions of life in modern and mass society; these tales were created long before it came into being. But more can be learned from them about the inner problems of human beings, and of the right solutions to their predicaments in any society, than from any other type of story within a child's comprehension. Since the child at every moment of his life is exposed to the society within which he lives, he will certainly learn to cope with its conditions provided his inner resources permit him to do so.

Just because his life is often bewildering to him, the child needs even more to be given the chance to understand himself in this complex world with which he must learn to cope... He needs a moral education which subtly, and by implication only, conveys to him the advantages of moral behavior, not through abstract ethical concepts but through that which seems tangibly right and therefore meaningful to him... The child finds this kind of meaning through fairy tales.

The delight we experience when we allow ourselves to respond to a fairy tale, the enchantment we feel, comes not from the psychological meaning of the tale (although this contributes to it) but from its literary qualities - the tale itself as a work of art. The fairy tale could not have the psychological impact on the child were it not first and foremost a work of art.

Free entertainment lined up for Chamber's Lakefest '95

One of the main attractions at the Chamber's 12th annual Lakefest, June 23, 24 and 25, is the free entertainment. The Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce & Industry has scheduled seven outstanding musical groups to appear during the 2 1/2 day festival at Lake Park, Lee and Touhy in Des Plaines.

"The Michael Newmark Orchestra" (top 40s) will kick-off the live music portion of the festival on Friday, June 23 from 6 to 9 p.m.

"The Detours" (50s through 80s rock) will open the bandshell entertainment on Saturday, June 24 from 1:15 to 3 p.m. "Jump in the Saddle" (country) will follow from 3:45 to 5:30 p.m. "The Ron Starr Show" (oldies and Elvis) will perform from 6:15 to 9 p.m.

On Sunday, June 25 from 1:15 to 3 p.m. "The Blooze Brothers" (blues and swing) will be featured. "Crossfire" (country western) will follow from 3:45 to 5:30 p.m. "The Legends" (60s rock) will wrap up the Fest from 6:15 to 9 p.m.

In addition to the musical entertainment, the Barefoot Hawaiians will return this year to entertain visitors. Their performances will be both Saturday and Sunday from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Bandshell. This excellent revue consists of professional entertainers from Hawaii and other parts of Polynesia. From the soft sway of the hula to the pulsating beat of the Tahitian drums, it is a spectacular display of the cultures of the South Pacific. The Barefoot Hawaiian dancers capture the audience with their beautiful smiles, fast-moving hips and authentic and intricate costumes.

Another highlight of festival goers is the Ski Broncs waterski team. They will perform at 2:30 and again at 5:30 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday. Barefoot tricks, pyramids, flagline and chorus line spectaculars, ski jumps and somersaults, and many more exciting and thrilling acts are included in the Ski Broncs hour long show.

Lakefest '95 also provides carnival rides and games, arts and crafts, food vendors, petting zoo, children's entertainment (magic show, puppet show, sing-along, storyteller, clown show and "Little People" show). On Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., a "Classic Car Show" will again be held at the north end of the park.

30-year legacy going strong at Gale Street Inn

"Of all small businesses established in any given year, you can safely assume that 50 percent will have gone under by the end of the fifth year." Wendy Webster of the National Restaurant Association was quoting a statement by the Small Business Administration, and a well known fact of life to many former entrepreneurs.

What, then, accounts for a restaurant that not only stays afloat but actually grows and prospers for 30 years in essentially the same location and with only two different owners?

Jefferson Park's Gale Street Inn at 4914 Milwaukee Ave. was started in 1965 by George Chioles. Twenty years later, it was bought by the late Harry Karzas who had run several restaurants and bars in the South Loop before moving up to the Northwest side. Son George Karzas, who now operates the popular dining spot with his mother Helen Karzas as his partner, said his father bought the Gale Street Inn for her, "so she would always have something."

The main specialty of the Gale Street Inn is, of course, the "tender, fall-off-the-bones barbecued ribs" for which the restaurant has been known throughout the city for its 30 years. When the Karzas family took over the Inn, "we didn't touch the rib recipe," we didn't mess with the ribs at all," Karzas said. And it's a good thing they didn't. The Gale Street Inn ribs have won the Restaurant Industry's Silver Platter Award seven times and were voted among the top three best ribs in the city an equal number of times, including 1994. They are in the running again this year, and Karzas is waiting to hear if his restaurant will be among the 70 restaurants chosen from 300 applicants to participate in next summer's Taste of Chicago. The Gale Street Inn has been at the Taste twice before, and Karzas thinks they have a very good chance of being included again this year.

In addition to a faithful neighborhood clientele ("without the neighborhood I'd be nowhere," Karzas said) many commuters using the Jefferson Park transportation hub just across the street make the Inn a regular meeting and stopping-off place. Karzas says the Inn gets good business from the happy hour crowd after train time and the many husbands and wives who meet there for dinner after work.

A restaurant as old as the Gale Street Inn holds memories for many old customers who have moved away and are no longer regulars, but who still return occasionally to reminisce. On weekends, Karzas said, many people come back from the suburbs "to remember what they ate as a child. I invite everyone to come back and see how we haven't changed," he said.

While maintaining the original prize-winning rib recipe, the restaurant has bowed to the changes in American palates. Karzas said the trend has been toward healthier, low cholesterol, low fat menu items, and the Inn has kept pace with a "lighter side" section on the menu and several specialties that attract the more health-conscious customers. Fresh fish, a variety of pastas and "salmon that gets great comments" are among them.

Chef Javier Cisneros directs four line cooks to produce the restaurant's popular fare. He studied at the prestigious Kendall College's School of Cooking in Evanston and worked at Don's Fish Market in Skokie before coming to Gale Street two years ago. Cisneros said he is trying to educate customers and "broaden their tastes for seafood and pasta dishes," which he considers his specialties.

To satisfy his customers' taste for the famous ribs as well as their desire to eat lighter, healthier dishes, Karzas has come up with some creative rib combinations. Ribs may be ordered with chicken, shrimp, crablegs, fish and pasta. Dessert specialties include an "excellent" bread pudding, key lime pie and cherry or apple pie a la mode.

The Gale Street Inn is a "kid-friendly" restaurant with a special children's menu of grilled cheese, spaghetti, ribs, and chicken with french fries priced at $3.25. On Friday nights and Sundays, tableside magician Rick Davidson makes balloon animals and amuses kids and adults alike. Sundays feature an all-day dinner menu of what Karzas terms "comfort food—pot roast, roast turkey—we have mom's cooking on Sunday," he said.

And speaking of mom, that would be Helen Karzas, who comes in three times a week to make sure the place is looking fresh, bring in fresh flowers and greet customers. "It's always nice to see our great steady customers," she said. Her son and business partner describes her as "the greatest hostess in the city of Chicago. She treats guests as if they were in her own home," he added.

Karzas describes the cozy decor, with exposed brick, dark paneling and a bar that customers say has a "ski lodge feel to it," as classic neighborhood contemporary. The restaurant was enlarged 15 years ago when it was moved across the street to make room for the Jefferson Park Terminal. Eight years ago it was completely redecorated. Private dining rooms for groups of 15 to 45 are also available for wedding rehearsal dinners, showers, and parties of all kinds.

The bar is also keeping up with changing tastes by offering trendy beers from the micro breweries around the city in addition to six premium domestic handles on tap. A new slush machine provides a variety of what Karzas terms tropical and topical drinks. They change the flavors and names of the drink creations to match the season or occasion. The Mayflower, Spring Green and April Showers are among the current offerings.

Another trendy touch is the jazz and big band music that can be heard in the background. "It enhances the ambience," Karzas said.

Karzas said his customers are "savvier" than they used to be. "They know what's out there, and they notice the difference between sauteing and frying, broiling and grilling. That knowledge keeps us on our toes." With his 40 employees, Karzas said his emphasis is on improving the already good service. The son of the late Harry Karzas, past honorary director of the Illinois Restaurant Association, George Karzas said, "The least I can do is carry on his legacy of being a great host."

The Gale Street Inn is open seven days a week, until 10:30 p.m. on weeknights and midnight on weekends. Free parking is available in the TCF Bank lot just north of the restaurant.

Holocaust speakers at Awards Ceremony

Twins Ida and Adam Paluch were recently reunited after more than fifty years. Placed with different non-Jewish families in Poland for safety during the Holocaust, they owe their lives and eventual reunion because individuals chose to act in their behalf. They will address the audience gathered for the Holocaust Memorial Foundation of Illinois Holocaust Arts & Writing Contest Awards Ceremony, Sunday, June 11, at 1 p.m. taking place at the Legion Memorial Home, 8212 Lincoln Ave., Skokie.

The program salutes the efforts of over 500 Illinois school children, grades 5-12, who participated in this year's contest, submitting poetry, essays and artwork devoted to the theme "One Person Can Make a Difference."

In addition to the Paluch's, program participants include Jacqueline Gorell, Mayor, Village of Skokie; Erna I. Gans, President, Holocaust Memorial Foundation; Bernard Schutz, Liberator of Lansberg; American Veterans of Skokie Post No. 320; and Russian Liberators and Veterans.

SCORE rates high with successful business

"SCORE has been totally invaluable to us. There is no way we could put a dollar value on their advice." This is according to Bernie Erickson, President of Graphix Unlimited, Bremen, Indiana.

SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) is the volunteer counseling service of the Small Business Administration and thinks Erickson's hard work, diligence and planning has much to do with his success. But SCORE does appreciate his comments, and wishes him continued success.

If you are thinking about starting your own business or have questions about running your current business and would like free counseling from SCORE, stop in at the downtown Chicago office, 500 W. Madison, Suite 1250. Counselors are available from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., five days a week. Suburban counseling is also available. Call (312) 353-7724, for locations and times.

Ameritech to dabble in long-distance

Q Ameritech's trial entry into long-distance services "is an opportunity to demonstrate in concrete terms that our presence in the long distance market would be a positive force for competition and decidedly in the public interest," said Richard C. Notebaert, Ameritech chairman and chief executive officer, in a speech recently to the National Association of State Utility Consumer Advocates (NASUCA).

The U.S. Department of Justice recommended to U.S. District Court Judge Harold Greene on April 3 that Ameritech be allowed to offer long-distance services on a trial basis in Illinois and Michigan, the first such recommendation since 1984.

"For several years, we've understood that a fully competitive market would best serve the public and also, that a variety of forces were inching our industry in that direction," Notebaert said. "We knew we had two choices.

We could try to hang on to the status quo and go kicking and screaming down a road we viewed as inevitable. Or we could embrace competition. We could become an advocate of free and open markets. And we could help define the process."

That's how Ameritech came to be the industry's leading advocate of full and free competition, he added. When Ameritech first proposed its Customers First plan in 1993, "No one had even discussed the possibility of opening up long distance. Our proposal initiated many of the provisions now included in both the Department of Justice waiver and proposed legislation," Notebaert stated.

"In our view, as long as our industry's regulation prevailed, we were a mature business with limited growth potential. But with deregulation and free and open competition, we could be part of the tremendous growth and contribution that the communications industry has the potential to make in the future. And we went for it," Notebaert said.

He credited the "visionary leadership" of regulators in the upper Midwest with making a more fully competitive market possible. "What's before us at Ameritech—as a result of the DOJ trial waiver P is a challenge. Nothing is being handed to us except the opportunity to fail or succeed based on our abilities to satisfy customers needs. Frankly, I'm convinced we're up to the challenge."

Great American Main Street Contest winners

Jeffrey L. Cardella, the Niles investment representative with the financial-services firm Edward D. Jones & Co., has announced the five communities recognized for revitalized downtowns or business districts.

Jones and the National Trust for Historic Preservation's National Main Street Center, co-sponsors of the inaugural Great American Main Street Awards program, presented awards to Clarksville, Mo.; Dubuque, Iowa; Franklin, Tenn.; Old Pasadena, Calif.; and Sheboygan Falls, Wis.

The five award-winning communities were honored during the May 15 opening session of the 1995 National Town Meeting.

them back to protest the removal of the beautiful old trees that rest on the Dempster Street campus. And even though the school board was his boss and overseer, Paul would get up at board meetings and give the board literal "hell" for considering cutting down the trees and closing the school. His one-man crusades saved the school and the campus.

Paul had Hillary Clinton, his former student, come to school and address the student body. Because of pettiness and inner-school politics, some of the muggety mumps at the school did not take too kindly to Paul's taking the lead in bringing the first lady to the school.

Mr. Carlson is the kind of teacher who, 20 years later, still remembers the names of his former students and never fails to ask how they're getting along. And he was always the first teacher to reach in his pocket and give extra money to students who needed to buy lunch or their yearbook when they found their pockets short-changed. Paul has never forgotten his students. It would be nice if some of them would remember him now.

In the suburb of Hawthorn Woods there have been several cases of cancer reported on Seneca Street. While scientists discount its significance, we've had two similar incidents in our communities in past years.

Ten or fifteen years ago Morton Grove residents, whose homes backed up to the high tension electric lines, contended an abnormal amount of cancer cases took place among those residents.

the thirteen public universities, forty-nine community colleges, and thirty four private colleges and universities have agreed to participate in this program. This means that any OCC student who completes the core curriculum will be able to transfer to any of more than 90 Illinois schools and be granted full course equivalency.

By the end of the 1994/1995 school year, each participating institution will identify the courses in their programs that meet the general education requirements. By the end of 1997, a computerized data base of all available courses will be running at each participating institution. Oakton plans to have the full implementation of the general education core curriculum in place for its 1998/1999 catalog. In the year 1999/2000, the core curriculum will be completely reviewed.

Dr. Trudy Bers, Senior Director of Instructional Research, Curriculum and Strategic Planning and Professor of Political Science, is the OCC coordinator for the Articulation Initiative, and serves on the Communication Panel.

Joyce E. Kanlan

Navy Senior Chief Petty Officer Joyce E. Kanlan, daughter of Elmer Kanlan of Skokie recently returned to Norfolk, Va., after completing a six-month overseas deployment aboard the aircraft carrier USS Dwight D. Eisenhower, which included duty in the Persian Gulf off Iraq and in the Adriatic Sea near Bosnia-Herzegovina.

The majority of Illinois' higher education institutions; twelve of Commonwealth Edison refuted the implication and scientists through the subsequent years have found no evidence of any link with cancer.

Twenty-five years ago seven students attending St. John Brebeuf school came down with leukemia. Federal officials from the Disease Control Center in Atlanta came to Niles as did many other scientists from all over the United States. Again, no conclusion was ever reached concerning this outbreak. Many years later a New Jersey politician came to our office and we advised him in his study of the outbreak. His community in New Jersey had a similar outbreak and he personally sought answers to the problem.

So long as there are clusters of illnesses in small confined areas, people will continue to believe such clusters are not chance happenings. But as far as the public has been told, there are no scientific indications such clusters are abnormal.

Many years ago Commonwealth Edison hosted a press tour through their nuclear power plant in Zion, Illinois. At the end of the tour we saw a huge pool where the spent rods of nuclear waste were stored. It seemed inconceivable then that the country which could create atomic energy and learn to land on the moon could not solve the means for permanently storing nuclear waste.

In 1982 Congress ordered the Energy Department to create a disposal facility by 1998. Despite spending millions of dollars a permanent facility is still at least fifteen years away from fulfilling the Board proposals also addressed issues regarding the salary schedule, extra duty stipends and leaves. "We want to pay fair and reasonable salaries," said Alper. "Yet our salaries have gone far beyond the norms of the districts around us, and these surrounding districts are among the most highly compensated in the State. What we're proposing is to maintain the status quo until the market catches up to District 219. This would freeze the salary schedule and steps, but grant raises for our teachers due to lane movement."

time for teacher collaboration and planning. The Board proposals also addressed issues regarding the salary schedule, extra duty stipends and leaves. "We want to pay fair and reasonable salaries," said Alper. "Yet our salaries have gone far beyond the norms of the districts around us, and these surrounding districts are among the most highly compensated in the State. What we're proposing is to maintain the status quo until the market catches up to District 219. This would freeze the salary schedule and steps, but grant raises for our teachers due to lane movement."

The Board of Education also proposes flexibility in the use of outside individuals or agencies. "The Board is committed to more than simply addressing issues such as salary and benefits in this negotiation," states Alper. "We will need creative thinking on the parts of all to find the best alternatives for a future of decreasing finances and increasing enrollment. We are aware that staff cannot be creative when job security is in jeopardy. Therefore, coupled with its request for differentiated staffing, the Board is guaranteeing that no individual who is actively employed in the District on or before July 1, 1995, would lose their job as a result of employing other people or agencies."

The chief negotiator for the Board of Education is Ted Clark of Seyfarth, Shaw, Fairweather and Geraldson. In addition to Clark the Board of Education negotiating team is comprised of Superintendent Markavitch and Board members Sanford Alper, Sam Borek, Gail Stone and Saul Weiner.

Further negotiations will be held Wednesday, June 28.

Congress' mandate.

There are presently 73 nuclear power plants in the United States. The reactor sites are running out of room to store the waste.

A permanent repository in the Yucca Mountains in Nevada has been studied for years at a cost of several billion dollars. Budget-minded Congressmen are now considering abandoning the project and starting all over again. Temporary storage sites will have to be created to alleviate the accumulation of toxic nuclear waste now at the 73 plants.

For more than a dozen years utility customers have paid 11 billion dollars into a fund to find a permanent storage home. More than $4 billion has been spent on studies and research. Illinois customers have been among those in thirty states who have contributed to this fund.

There's an urgency to solve this problem. And there's a commitment by Congress to complete this task by 1998. The Yucca Mountain facility should be pursued and the remaining $7 billion in the collected fund should be made available to complete this task.

Sweeping the nuclear waste problem under our collective rug is an act of procrastination...and one which could be dangerous to our health.

Community organization guide available

Attempting to track down the current address and telephone number for one of Chicago's more than 100 community organizations can be difficult. However, a complete and current listing of these neighborhood-based, multipurpose groups has been made available through the Institute of Urban Life at Loyola University Chicago.

For the past 22 years, The Directory of Community Organizations in Chicago has been produced and updated annually by the institute. The 1995 edition features the names, addresses and telephone numbers for 136 organizations, ranging from the Action Coalition of Englewood to the Wrightwood Improvement Association. The directory includes the names of the organizations' presidents/executive directors and a large map of Chicago's 77 communities.

The Directory of Community Organizations in Chicago can be purchased directly from the Institute of Urban Life for $2.50 (add $1 for mail orders). All orders must be pre-paid; send a check or money order to: Institute of Urban Life, 10 E. Pearson, Suite 101, Chicago, IL 60611. For further information, call the institute, at (312) 915-6666.

monthly meetings of the Park, Village and Zoning Boards. In addition to the Record Section, a men's and women's locker room and a fitness center will be built there. At present, the officers use a small, and rather inadequate room in the basement to help stay in shape.

Remodeling of the north side of the current station, facing Milwaukee Avenue, will include a "sally port" which will expedite and centralize operations for arresting officers. After an officer has made an arrest, he or she can drive in to the sally port and take the arrested individual into the station from there.

Once that work is completed, the cells, lock-up and booking room will all be located at one central area in the station. Currently the booking room is down the hall where the cells are now located.

Plans to remodel administrative offices are also part of the construction design. For example, the lunch room also serves as the roll call room. The current office of the record supervisors will be turned into a lunch room. That construction is part of Phase Three and will commence later this summer.

The idea is to separate the civilian personnel from the operations personnel which will make for a more secure area, Sheehan stated. At present, the loss of the Council Chambers meeting hall has left the Village, Zoning and Park Boards scrambling around to find suitable places to host their monthly meetings.

For the month of May, the Park Board's meeting was held at Ballard School, Ballard and Cumberland, the Zoning Board conducted their meeting at the Trident Center, 8060 Oakton, and the Village Board convened at the Village Board.

Volunteers sought to plant Chicago's newest wetland

Turtles, fish and migratory birds will soon have a luxurious new home on Chicago's north-west side, as the Department of Environment begins an ambitious planning program at its North Park Village Nature Center.

Over the past two months, the Center's two-acre pond system has been expanded to six acres, the invasive cattails once covering 80 percent of the marsh now claim only 20 percent, and the water features themselves were deepened and regraded to provide habitat for dozens of wildlife species.

The task of planting the alders, willows, arrowheads, rushes, dogwoods, duck potatoes and hundreds of pounds of seed will fall to the Volunteer Stewardship Network, a group of dedicated volunteers recruited in association with the Nature Conservancy. Over the next eight weeks, nineteen workdays are planned. Tasks will include planting, weeding, general maintenance and the installation of a weather station with temperature and rain gauges.

Information about volunteering is available from the Nature Center at 744-5472, or from volunteer coordinator Susan Wolfeld at (708) 242-5190. The 68-acre North Park Village Nature Center, Chicago's only nature preserve, is located at 5801 N. Pulaski.

lage Hall, 7160 N. Milwaukee. out all four of its driver's education positions.

The district is facing a deficit that is projected to reach $1.5 million in two years, according to a report in the Chicago Tribune. However, many argued against the proposed move for privatization of driver's education saying that private vendors would not maintain the high quality of the existing program.

Critics of privatization also cited the importance of the program. "In many courses, you can turn the pencil around and erase the mistake," said Raymond Krakik, a driving instructor at Lake Forest High School and executive secretary for the Illinois High School and College Driver Education Association.

There is not one course that (students) will utilize on a daily basis besides driver's education," said Brent Johnson, an instructor at Hinsdale Central High School and state coordinator for SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving).

Niles may be the first school district to cut its driver's education costs by utilizing the recent legislation designed to relieve financially beleaguered school districts.

While cuts are planned for the driver's education program, the board earmarked about $3 million to be spent over the next three years for technology that officials say is needed to keep the district competitive with other north suburban districts.

District Supt. Vickie Markavitch argued for the computers and other equipment for Niles-North and West High Schools. "As good as we are as a school system, this is an area where we are very much behind our neighbors," Markavitch said.

Cost cutting is likely to be high on the agenda in the negotiations already underway between the district and the union that represents its 300 teachers. The current contract expires this summer.

Seniors offered low-cost wills

Eligible senior citizens are offered low-cost will preparation services through the Senior Citizens Will Program Wednesday, June 14, at the Skokie Office of Human Services. Advance appointments are required and will be scheduled from 9:30 a.m. to noon that day.

An attorney from The Chicago Bar Association Lawyer Referral Service will provide free consultations about wills to seniors who register for the service. At a client's request, the attorney will also prepare a simple will for a reduced fee. The cost for drawing up a will is not more than $50 for an individual ($75 for a couple).

Durable Power of Attorney and Living Will forms are available free of charge. A Durable Power of Attorney allows a senior to designate another person to make property or health care decisions in the event the senior becomes physically or mentally unable to do so. A Living Will allows an individual with a terminal health condition to express his or her desire to have death-delaying procedures withheld or withdrawn.

Seniors may complete the Durable Power of Attorney and Living Will forms themselves, or they may hire the attorney to help fill them out and explain the various options available on the forms. The fee for the attorney to provide legal advice about a Durable Power of Attorney is $75 maximum for an individual ($125 for a couple). The charge for a Living Will is no more than $50 for an individual ($75 for a couple).

To be eligible for the Senior Citizens Will Program, a client must be age 60 or over. Annual income must not exceed $15,000 ($20,000 for a couple); and assets, excluding a home and personal car, should be worth no more than $30,000.

Appointments for the Senior Citizens Will Program must be scheduled in advance. To register, call the Skokie Office of Human Services at (708) 933-8208. The program is usually held the second Wednesday of each month.

Sheehan presents check

Commissioner Nancy Drew Sheehan of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago presented a check recently to Marilyn D. Altman, Associate Campaign Director of the Jewish United Fund of Metropolitan Chicago.

The check, which was for $2,000, represented a donation from Masrow Financial who participated in the most recent bond sale by the Water Reclamation District. Commissioner Sheehan joined with other commissioners to donate the funds that would have been used for a dinner for the underwriters involved in the bond sale, recognizing that money would be much better used for the Jewish United Fund charitable purposes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Nilesite wants to thank honest boy

Dear Editor:
Something nice happened over the weekend! A very nice young man brought back a bicycle helmet that had been lost by my son. At the time, I was so shocked at his kindness, and the person who drove him to our home that when I asked him if I could give him something, he replied, "no, that's all right!"

I felt that honesty like this, and the parents of this boy deserve a note of gratitude. Also, I would like him to return to our house and be recompensed for a job well done! I hope he reads this and will return. He knows who he is.
