Buglebits.....

The Nick Blase Center? How about naming the new village hall-recreation center after Niles' 35 year village president? That's the word which is coming down the village pike. Not just Nick at Nite. Nick in the daytime and Nick in the nighttime. His name carved, engraved, seared, ensconced above the entrance to the new hall.

If Nick can hang in there for ten more years he may have the longest running active public official's act in the country. But one more year, five more years or on into the twenty-first century, Nick's name will be with us well into the 2000's.

There's an irony in naming the public building after Nick. Several of us were beating the drums to name the Public Works Building after former director Eddie Bacher. But Nick and his friends did not think well of the idea. The late trustee, Ang Marcheschi, who often voiced Blase's opinions, knocked down the idea to have a Bacher Building in Niles. He believed there were many Nilesites who contributed to the village and perhaps a plaque listing these contributors would be more fitting. The then village board, in lock-step with Marcheschi and Blase, supported their feelings.

MG residents oppose bike trail proposal

By Rosemary Tirio

While the very earliest stages of a feasibility study are being initiated, foes of a proposed bike trail are lining up to express their concerns that such a trail will attract unwanted visitors and make their property vulnerable to burglaries and other crimes.

Such concerns were voiced by Morton Grove residents, particularly those whose property abuts the proposed trail, at the July 15 Village Board meeting.

Harry Gilmore of Civiltech Engineering, the firm conducting the study, made a presentation at the meeting.

Village Administrator Larry Art countered the objections by saying it was his understanding that bicycle paths are used by the physical fitness set, not gang-bangers and burglars.

Gilmore said that the concerns did not surprise him and suggested that a fence constructed along the trail to separate it from private property might be added to the plan.

The proposed trail would run from Dempster Street to Lake Cook Road through Morton Grove, Glenview, Golf, Northbrook and Deerfield. The trail will link Chicago to several suburban train stations.

Park reiterates stand on non-resident fee hike

by Kathleen Quirnsfeld

At its July 17 meeting, Niles Park District Board Myrna Breitzman reacted strongly to a letter she received from a non-resident who disapproved of the 10% increase in fees for non-residents for Park District recreational programs.

As it currently stands, the Park District must treat non-residents in a different class than residents for payment of programs.

The staff recommended the fee structure and the board approved the increase and the philosophy behind it," Breitzman said.

"(The) recreation department had to cancel numerous programs in the past and some never got off the ground because of a lack of participation. The 10% philosophy is sound and we are trying to get uniformity throughout the Niles Park District."

Breitzman indicated that this policy will stand until a time when the staff feels it needs to be

Two time Gold Medal winner to be honored with retired Olympians

Niles Gold Medalist heads for Olympics

By Rosemary Tirio

With little fanfare, a sprightly Niles grandmother will leave her home July 29 for O'Hare Airport where she will board a plane for Atlanta and the much-anticipated Olympic Games.

Some may think it an unusual destination for a grandmother, but then Ann Rogers Kelly is a rather unusual grandmother. After all, not everyone's grandma holds two Olympic Gold Medals in the 400-meter relay.

When she arrives in Atlanta, the former Annette Rogers will receive the VIP treatment reserved for the retired Olympians who have gathered from around the globe to celebrate the centennial year of the Olympic Games.

Ann Rogers won back-to-back Gold Medals in 1932 and 1936. She proudly recites her record: "I was the only girl to win back-to-back gold medals 'til 1988."

Her record was broken by a German girl during the year that the U.S. boycotted the games. "I was really upset about it [the boycott]. We never should have boycotted," she commented.

Annette Rogers was just 16 and living in the Rogers Park area of Chicago when she first became involved in the Olympics. Her coach at the Hay Elementary School playground had her competing in various activities throughout the summer. During July, the activity was track and field. Annette won both the high jump and the 100-meter run.

Her coach took her to the Olympic tryouts, which were held at Northwestern University's Dwyer Stadium in Evanston. She came in second in both the 100 meter and the high jump, and so qualified to compete in what must be every young athlete's fondest dream, the Olympics.

She recalls that the 1932 Olympic Games were held in Los Angeles. That was the year the late "Babe" Didrikson came in first in the javelin throw and the 80-meter hurdles. "I'm so blessed to think that I'm still around," she said.

In 1936, when the Games were held in pre-World War II Berlin, she was on the same U.S. team as the legendary Jesse Owens who captured the gold in the 100-meter run and the 200-meter run.

After her stunning Olympic victories, Ann Rogers settled down to the life of a Northwestern University co-ed. She graduated as a physical education teacher in 1937 and taught for 32 years in the Chicago Public Schools. She taught for the last 16 years of her notable career at Lake View High School, where she retired in 1976.

She had been teaching only a few years when she met Pete Kelly, also a P.E. teacher in Chicago schools, at a teachers' party. The couple were soon wed. In 1954 they moved to a house in Niles where they raised their two sons and daughter, and where the grandparents of four still reside.

New "Magic" touches to NPH's 101 annual picnic

On Sunday, Aug. 18 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Norwood Park Home, 6016 N. Nina Ave., will host its "101 Annual Picnic." The NPH "Annual Picnic" has been a community tradition for the past 100 years. Held on the beautiful premises that surround the home, the 101st picnic will continue to be a special tradition for the entire community but with some new twists. Enjoy all day entertainment ranging from a magic show for all ages to the Jesse White Tumblers.

Enjoy your favorite foods such as hamburgers, bratwurst and hot dogs, or go right to the ice cream booth to purchase your favorite cold dessert. This year, Norwood Park Home will have special games for children including a Moonwalk, ball crawl, and tube crawl. Clowns, face painters and other characters will entertain the children, and adults can enjoy some of their old favorites such as "Sausage Wheel," and the Norwegian delicacy Flotegrot. Best yet, do not forget to purchase raffle tickets for a chance to win valuable prizes.

Raffle tickets are available for purchase directly from the Home or by contacting the NPH Development Department. Tickets are sold for $1 each or a full book of 6 for $5.

While you're walking around, stop by the NPH volunteer booth. Sign up to volunteer or get a free gift of appreciation. Take a free personal tour around the Home or NPH information including a 1996 highlights calendar.

Proceeds from the picnic will be put towards the operating expenses of our non-profit home. As the cost of healthcare continues to rise, donations from the general public become increasingly more important.

For more information or to volunteer your assistance, with this year's picnic, call (312) 631-4856.

St. Matthew names new administrator

Rue Anne Harris has been named administrator of St. Matthew Lutheran Home, a skilled nursing facility in Park Ridge and a program of Lutheran Social Services of Illinois (LSSI). Harris fills a position left vacant by Scott Swanson, who is now director of Wagner Health Center in Evanston. Harris assumed her new position on June 20.

Harris, a Wheaton resident, is a licensed nursing home administrator and has been administrator of several nursing facilities in the Chicago area over the last five years. These include Lexington Health Care, Integrated Health Services and Healthcare Retirement Corporation. Harris holds a bachelor's degree in Health Care Administration from DePaul University and brings with her a background in business and law.

"I am honored to be a part of the nursing team at St. Matthew," Harris says. "I hope to develop systems that establish St. Matthew as the provider of choice."

Students take Driver's Ed privately and in schools

by Christine Minerva and Tracy Marvin

"High school courses are much more of an in-depth process of skills and mental learning situations rather than just learning skills," remarked R. "Oz" Osborne, a driver education teacher at Maine West. "We as instructors, try to have each student use mental scenarios to become safe drivers. I feel very confident in passing my students because I feel their mental, emotional and psychological skills are way past those of students from any commercial school."

Community Driving School is one of many commercial driving schools in the Northwest suburbs. It consists of 18 classroom locations and has been in operation since 1967. Each year about 12 courses are offered at each school complete with a textbook, handouts and quizzes.

"We are the largest driving school in the state," explained Community Driving School representative Jeff McGinn. "Our biggest customer basis is the teenager, but we also teach adults and handicapped. We have a curriculum approved by the Secretary of State to inform students on various aspects of driving and provide a whole spectrum of knowledge on driving on the road. We teach good safe defensive driving habits."

The average cost for a teenager enrolled in a driver's education course is around $325. Generally the course will run for five weeks with students present three nights a week. During the summer, the course is cut down to four weeks with students attending four days a week.

"You are allowed more individual time with the instructor and are able to travel greater distances in one driving session," said Community Driving School summer student Katlynn Kaluzny.

Former Community Driving School student and licensed driver Brian Budzicz said, "One advantage to taking driver's education privately is that it takes up less of your time and it's more convenient because you can choose when you want to go. Another advantage is that you are getting more individualized teaching because there are less students in your class."

During sophomore year of high school, teens across America anxiously await the day when they will earn the key to more freedom: a driver's license.

Before a teenager can legally drive, he or she must undergo extensive training in a state regulated

Five local exchange students left O'Hare airport on Saturday, July 13 for their trip to Pisa, Italy. Pisa, a Sister City of Niles, had five host families anxiously awaiting the arrival of their guests. As has been the story during past student exchange visits, friendships will be formed that will last for many years. The students are due to return to Niles on August 4.

Niles other Sister City, Nafplion, Greece sent 6 exchange students from their city to visit Niles for two weeks. They are staying with local families and being given tours of the village along with local sites surrounding the Niles community.

Maine OKs 'Ronald Reagan Highway' designation

The Maine Township Town Board recently agreed to designate the township's portion of Northwest Highway as Ronald Reagan Highway.

The honorary designation was approved earlier this year by the Illinois General Assembly, and now is under consideration by the various towns that have jurisdiction over sections of Northwest Highway. Maine Township considered the designation at the request of State Sen. Walter Dudyecz, who sponsored the legislation in the senate.

"This is a fitting tribute to a true son of Illinois, Ronald Reagan, who became the 40th President of the United States of America," Dudyecz said.

No address changes or costs are involved for government agencies that adopt the honorary name. The new designation will be indicated by markers to be put up by the Illinois Department of Transportation at the beginning and end of Northwest Highway.

Telephone's influence through the decades

When Alexander Graham Bell first invented the telephone in 1876, he probably did not envision that more than a century later his creation would be enhanced by conveniences such as Voice Mail, Caller ID, 3-Way Calling and pagers.

He was, however, aware that his invention would change forever the way people communicate with one another.

Ameritech, a company which is on the cutting edge of communications technology, is celebrating the 120th anniversary of the first phone call. Since that historic first call, the telephone has in one way or another touched the lives of everyone linking them to family, friends and work associates.

Ameritech provides phone service to over 11 million households in its five-state region - about one in ten of these homes has two or more lines.

Perhaps when Bell predicted great changes in the future, he was talking about the blend of new technologies, user acceptance and political forces that now shape the telecommunications landscape.

As the 1996 Telecommunications Act opens local and long-distance markets to full competition, wireless and digital technology signal the future.

Here are some interesting facts about some of the most popular communication products available today:

• Ameritech Voice Mail and Caller ID services enable customers to receive incoming messages while they are on another line and identify callers before answering.

• Automatic Callback returns the last call missed by dialing a two-digit call.

• Call Forwarding automatically transfers calls to another phone number.

• Distinctive Ringing designates a specific ring for up to ten incoming phone numbers.

• Three-Way Calling brings conference calling to the home.

By the year 2000, experts predict we will scribble notes on handheld communicators and send these messages anywhere in the world - regardless of their location.

New Nursing Facility for Resurrection Health Care

Construction began this week on Resurrection Life Center, a 162-bed nursing facility, being built by Resurrection Health Care at 7370 W. Talcott Ave. Completion is expected in July 1997, according to Tom Capobianco, Senior Vice President of Finance for Resurrection and Project Director.

The 81,000-square-foot facility is being constructed on a nearly 6-acre parcel of vacant land located just east of the Sisters' Provincial Home and south of Resurrection Retirement Community. The architect for the project is Loeb Schlossman & Hackl of Chicago, and the construction manager is Power Construction Company of Rolling Meadows.

Resurrection Life Center will offer 65 skilled care beds, 35 intermediate care beds, and 62 sheltered care beds, with the skilled level requiring the most nursing care and the sheltered level a minimum of care. The facility will feature all private rooms and include therapy areas, activity rooms, dining rooms, a chapel, a beauty and barber shop and an enclosed courtyard.

Resurrection Life Center is designed to serve two distinct populations. The 90 beds on the first floor are designated for men and women from Catholic religious congregations and priests in the Chicago area, and the 72 beds on the second floor will provide long-term care for residents of Resurrection Retirement Community.

Projected long-term care needs for more than 500 residents of Resurrection Retirement Community whose average age is 82 also prompted Resurrection

A new theory of how cells work

Changes in the electric field of proteins called ionic channels appear to be how they regulate what goes in and out of cells. In the March 1 issue of the Journal of Membrane Biology, Dr. Robert Eisenberg, chairman of the department of molecular biophysics and physiology at Rush University, provides a hypothesis that proteins utilize changes in their electric fields to regulate what goes in and out of human cells.

"Until this point, most biologists have thought that the electric field of the protein remained more or less constant, but it cannot," Eisenberg said. "Physicists tackled this problem when developing transistors. Biologists must now explore this concept so that we can understand how proteins work." That understanding may provide the information that clinical scientists need to treat or prevent a number of diseases.

Health Care to move ahead with this unique facility. Resurrection Life Center will provide these residents convenient access to long-term care on the same campus as the residential units.

"With the opening of the new nursing home across the street from Resurrection Medical Center, we will be in a unique position of being able to offer residents of our retirement community a full continuum of health care services on a single campus," noted Joseph F. Toomey, President and Chief Executive Officer of Resurrection Health Care, in his remarks during the ground breaking ceremony. Residents will have convenient access to skilled nursing care, acute care, emergency and outpatient care, home health care, and physician offices.

Keeping your sinuses in check

Each year, hundreds of thousands of work and school days are missed. The reason? More than 35 million Americans suffer from sinusitis - an infection of the nasal cavities above, below and behind the eyes.

"Everyone is a candidate for sinusitis. It affects more than 35 percent of adults over age 45, and even occurs in children as young as six months of age," explains Dr. Arnold Gutman, M.D., allergist.

Untreated colds, allergies, even infected gums, can develop into sinusitis. Sinusitis can also result from inflammation of the tissues lining the sinuses from chronic exposure to cigarette smoke, dust and pollen, or other airborne pollutants.

To determine if you are at risk for sinusitis, complete this checklist:

- I have seasonal allergies that linger.
- I seem to have recurring colds that don't go away completely.
- I am often exposed to pollution and smoke.
- I talk cold/allergy medications, but I still have symptoms.
- I experience unexplained headaches or facial pain.
- I often have unexplained toothaches.
- I have a dry, persistent, non-productive cough.

If you checked two or more of the above, you may have sinusitis, which requires physician supervision and rigorous treatment.

There is no single medication that cures sinusitis, because effective treatment must achieve three goals:

1. Control infection. A course of appropriate antibiotics sterilizes the sinuses and frees them of infection.
2. Reduce swelling and clear the sinus openings. Decongestants (e.g., Syn-Rx®) reduce mucosal swelling and promote draining of the nasal passages.
3. Ensure that sinuses stay unclogged and infection free. Corticosteroids lessen and/or inhibit inflammation of the nasal cavities; expectorants are beneficial in removing excess phlegm or mucus.

"While we treat sinusitis, it is also key that the underlying conditions, such as allergies or asthma, also be treated to ensure that sinusitis doesn't recur, or become a serious, chronic problem, requiring surgery," said Dr. Gutman.

If you think you may be suffering from sinusitis, make an appointment with your physician for a check-up.

Keep your eyes covered

Doctors have been warning sun worshipers to protect their skin from the harmful ultraviolet (UV) rays of the sun, but what about safeguarding the eyes? Exposing eyes to sunlight for long periods of time without proper protection can cause cataracts or even skin cancer on the eyelids, said Dr. David Dries, assistant director of Loyola University Medical Center's Burn and Shock Trauma Institute, Chicago.

To avoid this danger:
• Buy a proper pair of sunglasses. Some sunglasses shield light, but do not protect against UV rays. Make sure the sunglasses are marked with the UV protection sticker. Most children's sunglasses do not offer UV protection.

• Avoid applying suntan lotion around the eyes. The lotion can cause irritation if it gets into the eye, especially in children.

• Wear wide-brimmed hats. This is an especially critical practice for children who usually refuse to wear sunglasses.

If planning to go to a tanning booth this summer, take special precaution to wear sunglasses or other eye-protection. Tanning-bed lights specifically use UV light.

For more information or to arrange an interview with a Loyola health care professional, call Nivinger at (708) 216-3200.

OCC grad named to Academic Team

Oakton Community College honor student Christopher Labno, who recently graduated with an associate of arts degree, was named to the All-Illinois Academic Team for Community Colleges.

Labno's 3.9 grade point average also earned him the William Koehnline Scholarship (named for Oakton's first president), in the amount of $500 which can be used at a four year institution.

Based on his academic achievements, one would think that this Park Ridge resident has always been a scholar. However, he admits that he was not the student he is today at Maine South High School until his senior year in 1992-93 when he earned straight A's.

In spite of this remarkable finish, Labno says he wasn't ready to take on the rigors of a four year institution. A high school counselor, who saw promise in him, recommended that he try Oakton's Honors Program. "It will keep you sharp and get you prepared for a four year school," Labno was told. "I needed a safe place to build and to explore and Oakton was the right choice."

Labno, who currently works as a math tutor for instructional support services at Oakton, has also been a member of the national honor society, Phi Theta Kappa, since 1994.

Labno plans to pursue a career in government services (criminal psychology or other related fields). He will attend Lake Forest College in the fall and major in English and psychology. After receiving his undergraduate degree, he will attend graduate school or enroll in law school.

Dean's List

Trevor Wright of Morton Grove has been named to the 1996 spring semester Dean's List at Mount Union College.

Wright, son of Richard and Lynn Wright of Morton Grove, is a junior sports management major and a 1993 graduate of Milton-Union High School. At Mount Union, he has been a member of the men's soccer team, Sigma Alpha Epsilon national fraternity, Alpha Lambda Delta honorary, Gamma Sigma Alpha honorary, and the Subcommittee on Gender Relations.

He has served as treasurer of Sophomore Service, Vice President of Blue Key honorary and Greeks Promoting the Mature Management of Alcohol, and president of Sports Management Club and Natural Highs. He has previously appeared on the Dean's List and in Who's Who Among Students in America's Colleges and Universities, and was the recipient of the Dr. Perry King Scholarship.

Local athlete at Marian College

With the end of the 1995-'96 school year, Marian College of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, would like to recognize the following student-athletes.

Jon Marks, was a member of Marian's first varsity hockey team this past year. Marks, a freshman from Morton Grove, (Niles West High School) was a center and right-winger for the Sabres and led the team in scoring with 18 goals and 33 assists for 51 points. He also tallied five power play goals for the Sabres who were 14-9-2 in their first season.

Omar Salvador, a senior from Chicago (Niles Notre Dame High School), was a starting point guard for Marian's mens basketball team. He started all 26 games averaging 3.6 points and 2.4 assists per game for the Sabres who were 9-17 overall.

Burglary

A couple residing in an apartment in the 8600 block of Milwaukee Avenue returned home from a vacation in Mexico to find that an unknown person(s) had broken into their home and stolen belongings valued at approximately $2,630, including their 1988 Ford Escort.

The burglary occurred between 10:30 p.m. June 29 and 2 a.m. July 19. The unknown offender(s) kicked in the front door of the apartment and removed a VCR, two gold rings, a typewriter, a telephone/answering machine, a leather jacket and the keys to the couple's car which were left in a purse in the bedroom of the apartment. The offender(s) then exited through a back door which was found open and removed the car from a parking space in the rear of the apartment building. A wallet and credit cards in the purse were untouched.

Theft

A male employee of a retail store in the 8300 block of Golf Road reported that an unknown suspect removed a Casio Digital camera from a display in the camera department where it had been secured to a cable by a head bolt.

The theft of the camera valued at $699.97 occurred between 5 p.m. July 17 and 5:45 p.m. July 18.

A Compaq laptop computer and accessories valued at $4,774 was removed from an office area in the 7300 block of Melvina Avenue June 20. Between July 3 and July 8, another Compaq computer and accessories valued at $4,777 was removed from the same office building.

The 27-year-old manager of the restaurant at 322 Golf Mill reported that $650 in cash was removed from the top shelf of a filing cabinet sometime between 9 p.m. July 15 and 9 a.m. July 16.

The complainant told police that only three managers have keys to enter the store after closing.

Theft of purse

A Park Ridge secretary reported that an unknown youth described as being around 16 years of age and wearing a green sport coat over a black shirt and pants entered an office in the 9100 block of Greenwood and asked for a job application.

The suspect, who was standing by the glass sliding window of the reception area where the victim had her purse, was told by office personnel that there were no openings.

The offender was not observed taking the purse, but left a trail of items from the purse as he walked away from the scene.

By the time the victim noticed her purse was missing, the offender had walked down the stairs and exited the building via the back door, which was left open. Some contents of the purse were found in the stairwell between the first and second floors.

Two co-workers of the victim gave police information about the incident and say they can identify the suspect.

Theft from auto

A fellow employee was returning from her lunch break around 2:30 p.m. July 17 when she witnessed a 16- to 20-year-old male suspect leaving the scene of the victim's car carrying what she thought were hubcaps from the parking lot in the 7800 block of Milwaukee Avenue. The suspect entered the passenger side of a two-door black Honda and the vehicle drove away.

The victim found that all four of the hubcaps on her 1995 Plymouth Voyager were missing. The total value of the hubcaps was estimated at $400.

Stolen auto

A dark blue 1991 4-door Ford Explorer XL belonging to a 33-year-old self-employed Glenview man was stolen from an auto center in the 9600 block of Milwaukee Avenue where it was being serviced between 11 p.m. July 17 and 10:30 a.m. July 18.

The owner of the car service business notified the vehicle owner that the recently purchased vehicle had been stolen. The service business owner had the keys to the vehicle and found no broken glass where the vehicle had been parked.

Stolen bicycles

The sons of a 41-year-old business owner left their Schwinn BMX bicycles valued at $1,500 in the backyard of their home between 8 p.m. and 9 p.m. July 18.

When they returned, the bikes were missing. Police recovered one of the missing bicycles in an alley behind the home.

Car fire

A neighbor of a 39-year-old man living in the 8000 block of Lyons Street heard a popping sound around 12:30 a.m. July 19 and looked out his window and saw a red plastic cup with blue flames next to the left rear driver's side tire of the victim's 1987 Chevrolet Nova.

By the time police arrived, the car was completely engulfed in flames, which spread to the driver's side of a 1987 Oldsmobile Cutlass owned by a 42-year-old man residing in the same area.

Another witness reported that he heard three loud popping sounds, which police theorize may have been tires exploding from the fire. Police took photos of the charred cars and Niles Fire Department investigative officers conducted a thorough investigation of the incident.

Deceptive practices

A vice-president of the bank in the 7800 block of Milwaukee Avenue reported July 12 that a man cashied a check made out to himself on an account for which he had by unknown means obtained the correct account holder's name and account number and had typed the information on the check. The check was one of three checks drawn on the account in this manner. It was the only one cashed in Niles.

The Illinois Identification card used in the transaction is registered to a 38-year-old Calumet City man described as 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighing 210 pounds. Bank officials said they have the offender on a videotape and will sign complaints.

Theft by deception

A 51-year-old supervisor in a business in the 7800 block of Caldwell Avenue reported that an unknown offender or offenders obtained her credit card number and placed numerous calls to a 900 service phone sex line called Real People. So far, the calls have added up to a bill of $1,283.

The calls originated from three phone numbers in the Chicago-land area. One number was traced to a pay phone at the victim's place of business. It is unknown to whom the other two numbers are registered.

The victim has canceled her credit card. She believes one of the employees at her place of business is the offender. A follow-up investigation has been requested.

Sheriff's "Swap Crews" cleaned up Northbrook

Labor crews from the Sheriff's Work Alternative Program (SWAP) worked in Northbrook in June as a public service to the taxpayers of Cook County.

The SWAP Program is made up of non-violent offenders charged with DUI and other misdemeanor crimes who "swap" jail time for a community service sentence. Under the supervision of specially trained sheriff's deputies, the crews work throughout the county on a variety of public works projects such as cleaning parks, viaducts and streets.

"SWAP" provides our communities with a free labor source and it helps to combat jail crowding and the costs associated with that problem. It also provides tough yet meaningful rehabilitation to the offenders by allowing them to pay their debt to society in a productive fashion.

For further information about SWAP, call (708) 865-4960.

Strategies for financing a college education

With so much talk on the need to save astronomical amounts to fund a college education, it's easy to lose sight of reality. If you haven't yet socked away a huge fortune for that purpose, don't despair. Financial aid and the creative use of your own resources may see you through, suggests the Illinois CPA Society.

Look first to Uncle Sam
 Uncle Sam provides nearly 70 percent of all educational loans and grants, making the federal government the best place to start to seek aid. Some loans, such as Parent Loans for Undergraduate Students (PLUS) and unsubsidized Stafford loans, are available to anyone who demonstrates that he or she will be able to repay the loan. However, most federal aid is based on demonstrated financial need. To determine if you qualify for aid based on financial need, you'll need to fill out a financial aid form (FAF), which requests information about family income and expenses, assets and liabilities, and the number of children presently in college. This data is used to calculate the expected family contribution (EFC), which is the amount authorities judge your family should be able to pay. The gap between the EFC and the cost of tuition is the amount of aid for which you generally qualify (some schools don't fill the entire gap). In recent years, some parents have become concerned that the money they have saved toward their child's education may end up hurting their chances for financial aid. This is not necessarily true, particularly if your income is high. That's because your EFC is based more on your income than on your assets. So, if your income is high, you will be expected to make a sizeable contribution to your child's education, even if you have no savings, that makes a savings cushion your best defense.

Readjust your finances to increase aid

When it comes to the information you submit on your financial aid form (FAF), you must be truthful and accurate. But there are some perfectly legal ways to structure your finances to qualify for more financial aid.

First of all, think twice before you put savings or investments for college expenses in your children's names. Colleges generally expect a family to use no more than 5.6 percent of the parents' assets each year to pay college costs, but as much as 35 percent of those assets can be held in the child's name.

Repositioning your savings and investments is another strategy you can use to minimize your wealth as measured by the financial aid system. For example, to calculate your net worth, the system recognizes some forms of wealth as assets, but not others. Bank accounts, stocks, bonds, and mutual funds count, but the cash you accumulate in qualified retirement funds, insurance, and annuities does not.

Borrow from yourself
 Your home and retirement plans are other resources you may be able to use to obtain cash for college costs. Home equity loans give you the advantage of deducting the interest you pay on up to $100,000 of home equity debt. Your retirement plan at work might be another source of college cash, but CPAs caution you about withdrawing funds prematurely and risking penalties, as well as diminishing retirement savings you may need later on. A better option is to borrow funds from a qualified retirement plan, such as a 401(k) or Keogh plan.

Put in the proper perspective, a college education is like any other major expense. It's nice to be able to pay for it up front in cash, but sometimes, it's just not possible. And if you're willing to go into debt to buy a new car that might be reduced to rust in ten years, borrowing to meet college expenses is certainly a worthwhile endeavor, as long as you have a strategy for paying off the debt.

Edward Jones: Equity Investing: General Information When To Sell Your Stock

Buying stocks is relatively easy. Knowing when to sell the stock can be difficult, and is not a decision that should be taken lightly. Experienced investors know that trite phrases such as "cut your losses" can trivialize the selling decision. The same careful analysis that went into buying a stock investment might be reduced to rust in ten years, borrowing to meet college expenses is certainly a worthwhile endeavor, as long as you have a strategy for paying off the debt.

Changing Fundamentals
 Investors should consider selling an investment when it becomes clear that a company's situation has changed since the initial purchase decision. Although this is easier said than done, a useful exercise is to write down on a piece of paper three reasons why the stock was initially purchased. If one of those fundamental factors has changed significantly, or seems irrelevant today, you should consider selling the stock. A good example of this philosophy would be if you bought stock in a company because you thought the company had strong management. If the management of the company has changed, you may want to re-evaluate your investment decision.

Stock Priced Above "Fair Value"
 As a shareholder, you own a stake in the company in which you invested. In the long run, your returns are inextricably linked to the company and its performance as measured by earnings and dividends. However, there are times when a stock may be trading well-above its fair value, or the price it should sell for, given the company's current prospects for growth. While analysts use sophisticated methods to try to determine this fair value, a general rule of thumb is that if a stock's price-earnings ratio is significantly above 1.5 times its estimated five-year earnings-per-share growth rate, the stock may be a candidate for sale. Estimated five-year earnings-per-share growth rates for hundreds of companies can be obtained from your local Edward D. Jones & Co. investment representative. Establishing a Tax Loss

 The third reason for selling a stock, which many investors have overlooked in the past, is to establish a tax loss. There are times when, despite the fact that a company has a bright fundamental outlook and the stock is attractively priced, investors may wish to sell the stock to establish a tax loss.

Ameritech joins White House on policing efforts

In conjunction with a Presidential initiative to crackdown on crime, Ameritech Cellular Services joined the Cellular Telecommunications Industry Association (CTIA) to announce today a national crime fighting effort called: Communities on Phone Patrol (COPP). Ameritech's Cellular Patrol community volunteers from Bloomington, Illinois and Detroit, Michigan joined President Clinton and other volunteers during the COPP program inauguration in Washington.

COPP is a national expansion of successful local neighborhood patrol programs. President Clinton announced the COPP program goal to mobilize one million citizen volunteers for neighborhood patrol groups equipped with cellular phones. D.C. Ameritech's Cellular Patrol joins the COPP nationwide effort with a head start. Since 1994 Ameritech has donated over 1,000 cellular phones, 200 pagers and countless hours of free airtime to 24 Midwestern communities.

The Ameritech Cellular Patrol has helped Bloomington residents "take back their streets." Through the use of the donated cellular phones and pagers residents have provided the Bloomington Police vital information that has led to the shut-down of three crack houses, multiple DUI arrests and approximately 20 other felony convictions since the program was implemented in August, 1995. Ameritech has donated a total of 33 cellular phones and 25 pagers to the Bloomington Police Department. The Cellular Patrol in Bloomington consists of 12 neighborhood watch groups.

Instant communication available via a cellular phone is crucial to reporting a crime, accident or providing basic communication in times of disaster or emergency. Through Cellular Patrol, Ameritech Cellular provides free cellular telephones and/or pagers, with access limited to emergency telephone numbers, to law enforcement agencies for distribution to neighborhood watch programs. A free Cellular Patrol Handbook is also available to teach volunteer groups how to patrol their neighborhoods safely, interface properly with the police and keep records of crimes they report.

Dudycz earns perfect rating from business group

Assistant Senate Majority Leader Walter Dudycz (R-7th, Chicago) has earned a perfect rating from the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB) for his 1995-96 voting record on small-business issues.

Of Illinois' 59 State Senators, only 26 received a 100 percent rating, according to the NFIB's Illinois Voting Record.

"The NFIB represents the interests of thousands of small businesses, which are an important source of jobs in the Illinois economy," Dudycz said. "Lawmakers have faced several tough business issues like tort reform during the last two years and I am pleased that the NFIB regards my votes as being supportive of small-business owners and their employees."

The NFIB rated Illinois legislators on issues that include tort reform, workers' compensation reform and unemployment insurance tax relief.

Social Security

Request a Social Security Card via Internet

Need to replace your Social Security card? If you have a personal computer and access to the Internet, you can apply electronically and get your card sooner than in the past.

More than 12 million people each year write, visit, or telephone the Social Security Administration (SSA) to replace a lost card, ask for a name on a card, or apply for their first card. After they complete the application form and mail it to Social Security, SSA mails the requested card.

Using Internet-Now you can use Social Security's Internet server to get the application form right at your personal computer, shortening the request process by about two weeks. The form is available both in English and Spanish. It's another example of how the Social Security Administration is improving public service through technology.

Here's how to use this service: If you use an Internet "web browser," connect to the Social Security Administration Internet site at the address <http://www.ssa.gov>. Select "forms" from Social Security's "home page." Then select "SS-5" or "SS-5-SP" (Spanish version), the electronic versions of the application form. Download the file to your computer.

If you connect to the Internet through "anonymous ftp" rather than through a web browser, use the address <ftp://pub/ssa.gov>. Change directory to pub/ssa.gov and download the file SS-5.PDF, using binary transfer protocol, to get the English version.

To Print A Form- To read and print the form at your personal computer, you'll need a copy of the Adobe Acrobat Reader software, version 2.0. This software is available free of charge from the Adobe Internet server, www.adobe.com. After you've installed and used the reader software to print the application form, complete the form and take or mail it, along with the required identifying documents, to the nearest Social Security office.

You can access Social Security's Internet server by direct connection from your PC, or through an online service to which you subscribe, such as CompuServe, America On-line, or Prodigy.

People who don't have Internet access can request a paper application form by calling Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213. Phone lines are busiest early in the week and early in the month, so if your business can wait, it's best to call at other times. If you have a touch-tone phone, you can call at night and on weekends and holidays, 365 days a year, to request that the application form be sent to you. Or, you can call or visit your local Social Security office to get a copy of the application form.

Disabled? Cash benefits while you work

by Nancy Dowell
Social Security Manager
Des Plaines, IL

If you are receiving Social Security disability insurance benefits or disability payments under the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program and attempt to work, you may be able to earn some money while continuing to receive benefits. The rules are designed to make it easier for disability beneficiaries to test their ability to work on a permanent basis without losing their benefits in the attempt.

If you receive Social Security disability insurance benefits, you are generally entitled to 12 months of work during which your earnings will not affect your benefits. This includes a trial work period of nine months while you test your ability to work on a regular basis and a three-month grace period before benefits stop.

A trial work month is any month in which your earnings are more than $200. If you are working in your own business or profession, the trial work period would be any month in which your earnings are more than $200 or you spend more than 40 hours in your business. The trial work months need not be in a row, but they must take place within a 60-month period to be considered part of a trial work period.

At the end of the nine-months of trial work, we review the work to see if it was substantial. Generally, if average monthly earnings are $500 or more, the work is considered "substantial gainful activity," the measure we use to determine if you can work. The amount of earnings used to determine substantial gainful activity increases annually for the blind, periodically for the non-blind disabled.

In addition, Social Security provides for a 36-month period of entitlement to benefits following a successful trial work period. For any month you cannot work, or if your earnings drop below $500, your benefits can be started up again without a new application, disability determination, or waiting period. All you have to do is notify the Social Security office that your earnings have dropped below $500.

Under SSI, cash benefits also continue, but a different work test applies. As your earnings go up, your SSI checks go down and eventually stop. Some earnings are not counted in figuring whether a person qualifies for SSI. First, we exclude $20 of income of any kind; then we exclude $65 of earned income, and one half of the amount of earnings you have over $65, for a total exclusion of $85 if your only income is earnings. If all your income is from earnings, you can earn up to $1,025 before all of your SSI payment is eliminated.

Volunteers needed for Home Delivered Meals Program

In mid 1970's, the Village recognized the need to provide meals for homebound residents. Out of this need the Home Delivered Meals Program was established. The first year the program provided meals which were cooked in the office and delivered to 13 residents. Today the meals are prepared at Rush North Shore Medical Center and provided to over 100 residents.

The volunteer drivers are an integral part of this program. They are the eyes and ears of the program and many times the only contact our residents have with the outside world.

Three of our drivers have been with the program since its inception on June 21, 1976. At a June Village Board Meeting, Mayor Jacqueline Gorell and the Board of Trustees personally honored Strid Cohen, Leone O'Rourke and John Maita for their 20 years of service to this invaluable Village program.

We are always in need of volunteer drivers. Commit a minimum of just one hour per week to this vital service. The meals are delivered Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Businesses are encouraged to adopt this program by splitting delivery times among their employees. Please help us keep this program alive. Call Kim Miller at the Village of Skokie Office of Human Services (933-8208) to become a member of the team.

Solutions to common garden problems

Scraggly ground cover, boring flower beds and shady areas are problems for most weekend gardeners.

Choose plants that are suitable for the environment in your garden. For example, 'Purple Wave' petunias present a new option as ground cover in full sun areas. Petunias might sound ordinary enough, but this petunia offers a new look for your garden landscape.

In open areas that need ground cover or require several plants, the All-American Selections (AAS) winner 'Purple Wave' petunia is a stunning color that makes an impact in the landscape. What makes this plant so unique is that it will rapidly fill up to one square yard of garden space, making it an excellent alternative to perennial ground cover that can look scraggly after a few years. 'Purple Wave' also makes a beautiful hanging basket display or an accent to existing shrubbery.

According to Healy, 'Purple Wave' has proven to be an extremely weather-hardy variety, holding up better than the average petunia in the warmest July weather and in wet conditions.

Other Gardener's Choice varieties offering excellent garden show are the 'Madness' and 'Fantasy' petunias. Both provide beautiful accents in gardens, pots and window sills, and require minimal maintenance. 'Madness' petunias have larger flowers than the 'Fantasy' varieties, and they have proven to be dependable plants, providing the largest selection of colors and petal patterns of any petunia variety.

The 'Fantasy' petunias are new varieties with great "flower power" - the ability to produce a continuous abundance of flowers. This is a small-flowered petunia best suited for containers.

When planting petunias, a good design tip is to inter-plant the different varieties by size, color and flower power to create varying effects. Petunias all grow well under similar conditions and can create a dazzling layered effect that will draw the eye.

'Rosebud'™ impatiens have beautiful flowers resembling miniature roses. In moderate light and adequate moisture conditions, 'Rosebud' impatiens can perform as massed garden accents or specimens plants. They are available in a range of colors to meet any design needs.

No matter what plants fill your garden, you can look for ways to simplify routine maintenance. If daily watering is a concern, save empty two-liter bottles or plastic milk containers and poke some holes in the bottom of them. Fill the bottles with water and set them in the pots or on the ground next to the plants. They will slowly "water" your garden over time.

To make the best of your floral selections and garden design, create decorative interest all year long. When you use potted flowers as individual displays, design them so the pots can be rotated throughout the season to accent different areas around the deck, porch or lawn. It will create a different effect each time they are moved. This is an easy attention-getter, and creates the illusion of gardening grandeur.

Water, electricity don't mix

A summer thunderstorm can bring flooded basements. If you find water in your basement, remember the basic fact that water and electricity don't mix.

A great potential for risk of injury from electric shock exists if your body completes a path for electricity.

Don't be fooled by the nonobvious; the water may be covering an extension cord on the floor, covering the motors in dryers, furnaces, refrigerators, or covering an electrical outlet - so don't think that the potential for danger is not there simply because it cannot be seen. Water may have worked its way into contact with the electrically "live" parts of such equipment and is itself electrically alive.

The first thing that must be done is to shut off all electrical power, if the power can be shut off without going into the wet basement. Place all switches or breakers in the distribution panel in the "off" position. If you don't know how to do this, or you have to go through the water to reach the main panel, call your local fire department. They know how to deal with the possibly lethal combination of water and electricity.

Will rubber boots protect you? Not always. Wearing boots or other protective equipment may not be the answer to wading through water to reach a panel. Water can work its way through very small holes or cracks in protective footwear or clothing and may contact parts of your body and complete a path to ground.

After the water has subsided, allow a drying out period before using any of the electrical equipment, and send any water-logged appliances to their manufacturer's service center for reworking. If you have to clean any piece of equipment, but sure that the equipment is disconnected from the source of electricity by pulling the plug or opening the circuit breaker or switch.

walking in the water and turning on lights or touching electrical equipment. Under no circumstances go barefoot. Remember that both feet implanted in water provide a complete conductive path for electricity to go to ground through your body.

Club, now has a park named after him at the south entrance of the village on village property on Milwaukee Avenue. And now Nick will be so honored at Oakton Street and Waukegan Road.

We've always favored naming public parks and schools and buildings after noteworthy citizens. When Oak School was named in pre-Bugle days we thought there were many teachers who might be honored by placing their name on the school, similar to the Melzer School. Certainly such a naming was preferable to honoring an anonymous tree.

When 18 year park commissioner Jack Leske retired we were upfront in our support to name a park or building after Jack. But someone on the park board must have had a bad night before attending the meeting which "honored" Jack. The board named the TAM parking lot the Jack Leske Parking Lot. It was not one of the park board's finer hours.

At least 20 years ago the Grennan Heights Fieldhouse was named for the late park commissioner, Lou Schreiner. We thought that was a fine idea. And when long-time superintendent Clarence Culver died, we favored naming Niles South School after Clarence.

While few people have used the name, we worked with a group of residents to push for naming the present village hall for the late village trustee and village manager, Ken Scheel.

We think Nick Blase Center is an equally fine idea. Nick has served for 35 years while receiving only a token $3,000 stipend annually from the village. He's been a great administrator who has served the village with distinction.

None of us would be naive enough not to recognize neither the $3,000 nor serving 35 years selflessly was what Nick is all about. He has exploited the job for his own personal gain more than any public official in Niles' history, as well as public officials in neighboring suburbs.

New residents of Niles would contend this writer is just a wise acre if he suggested Nick Blase's name included two vertical lines through the "s" ($) when they hear his name in marble. So we won't mention it.

There are stories coming out of Bubbapalooza, Georgia that the scamming and overcharging has gotten out of hand. We've got it third hand the great free enterprise system has turned into anarchy as cash has become the primary language there. We've been told cash is king and contracts have become meaningless in doing business during the Olympics.

One story we heard Sunday concerned a thousand young people who were scheduled to work the kiosks around the stadiums. But after they arrived, there were no jobs for the teens and they were sent back home.

We were reminded only a few years ago the Olympics had just a few sponsors paying about $4 million for their support. Now there are more than 100 companies paying $40 million each for the privilege of sponsoring these international events. Our third-hand reporter said Bubbapalooza has become a madhouse.

In Bob Woodward's best seller, Choice, he notes when President Clinton was elected he was our sixth president in one generation. During the twentieth century we have averaged three presidents per generation.

Trustee Ronne Brenner suggested investigating whether the other bike trail that runs through the village along the North Branch up to the Botanic Gardens in Glencoe has caused any security problems to residents.

Other concerns voiced by residents included maintenance and lighting of the path as well as its effects on drainage into yards along the route.

Similar meetings will be held in Glenview and Northbrook. Construction of the 10-foot-wide path would cost Morton Grove $250,000. Glenview would have to pay $1.2 million and Northbrook $1.5 million, according to estimates presented by Gilmore. The study was proposed by ed driver's education course. Students have the option of taking the course privately, or as a class at a local high school. The state of Illinois requires that all high school students take at least the classroom portion of a driver's education course.

Maine Township High School West in Des Plaines is one of many area high schools that offer Driver Education as a semester course during the school year and as a six week course over the summer. Students pay between $11 - $25 for books as well as a $30 fee beginning in September. The state of Illinois reimburses $117 per student and additional costs are paid for by the school. Students must participate in a minimum of thirty classroom hours and spend six hours behind the wheel in combined driving and simulation. The course puts a great deal of stress on safety and focuses in on smart decision making skills. Students that achieve at least a "B" grade in both the classroom and behind the wheel have the option of taking their driver's license test with their instructor at school.

Renee Passaglia, a junior at MaineWest, recently completed the summer driving class. "I felt really comfortable in the car. I felt that I got a lot of experience. I thought the teachers were really friendly, too. We all got a lot of individual attention."

"Taking driver's ed. at school was cheaper than taking it privately," said Stacy Foreman, also a junior at Maine West. "I considered taking driver's ed. privately because I might have been too young (to take it at school), but I got in. The teachers were really caring. It seemed that if I took it privately, the teachers might not have been as caring. They would have just wanted your money."

Both students claim that having plenty of friends in the same class was very positive. "It was really good to have my friends cheering me on in the car, especially when we first started driving," explained Passaglia.

Students may start driving at Community Driving School at the age of fifteen, which gives them a year of practice before taking the license test. The classroom portion of the course consists of thirty hours. Each student is also required to drive a total of six hours and view six hours of observation.

"Most high schools have simulators," said McGinn. "They use four hours of simulators to equal four hours behind the wheel. The mandate of six hours behind the wheel is watered down. The simulators are not a good means of learning how to drive. The real advantage is in the car and that's where the students learn."

now-defunct shop, each were charged with one count of cruelty to animals, a misdemeanor. The case will be heard at the Circuit Court in Skokie Aug. 5.

The couple, who have not attempted to claim the animals, lost custody of them when Niles Police Chief Raymond Giovannelli issued a release nullifying their ownership. The hospital was thereby allowed to put the kittens up for adoption, according to Niles Animal-Control Officer Ernie Passarelli.

The animals were found July 1 in the closed and junk-filled pet shop by the landlord, Laszlo Klinko, who called the fire department when he discovered the animals still in the shop. A hamster and two kittens died of dehydration after being rescued.

Gerald and Mary Ann Susalski of Schaumburg, owners of the trail would be more than eight miles long.

The plan would also require that bridges be built over Golf Road and Waukegan Road. Gilmore said that funding for the bridges would likely require combined contributions from state, federal and local sources.

George Armbruster, a trustee of the Village of Golf who attended the Morton Grove meeting, said Golf residents opposed the trail, which would run along the border between Golf and Glenview. He described the bike trail as an accident waiting to happen and predicted disastrous effects on the village, which, he said, has no resources to patrol the trail.

"We had been following the policy - telling (employees) to look for the signs of abuse and neglect, but never had a formal policy."

President Breitzman announced to the Board that she is in favor of setting up guidance rules for Commissioners who serve on Park District Board Committees.

"We, as a Board, have to come to an agreement as to what the role of a Board Member is on a committee and we will be doing that in the near future. I have a draft of what I feel is the role and I will be presenting this to all our Commissioners, and we can go over it, add to it, change it, but we will come to an agreement before any positions are handed out."

doned her athletic training, which is apparent in her youthful appearance and vigorous step. She said she works out at the Leaning Tower YMCA a few times a week where she does aerobics and also rides the bikes and lifts weights in the "High Tech room."

This will be only the second time that the former track great has returned to the Olympic Games. She attended a reunion in Los Angeles in 1984.

She said she plans to spend about a week in Atlanta, which she fears will be "too humid and hot." She will attend the relay race finals and the volleyball and basketball competitions.

Royster said. "She told us how to identify a child who has been abused, psychologically, physically and sexually."

Royster further stated that the Park District employees are bound by state law to make observations and identify these children who they suspect might be abused or neglected and report them to their supervisors.

Sara Welker told The Bugle that the Maine-Niles Special Association of Special Recreation (M-NASR) had just passed their policy regarding this and the Board decided to adopt a similar policy.
