In their own words, our families share their feelings about Regency Nursing Center's Commitment to Quality Care.

Dear Mr. Bernas (Hecht):

I would like to thank the front office nurses and staff who went above and beyond to support our family. The staff at Regency Nursing Center went out of their way to ensure our loved one received the care they needed. They were always kind, patient, and professional.

Sincerely,
Barbara (Hecht)

Bill had a problem communicating his needs, but the day staff treated his needs and called for help when he needed it. The front office hours were always open and available for help when needed.

Bill had an episode of blood (blood (blood) and they observed and responded in a timely manner. We appreciate the care we received from the staff.

Please note this letter is written in their private residence on behalf of Bill and myself, you have our appreciation.

Sincerely,
Barbara (Hecht)

AHA Stroke Council member Mark Yaffe, M.D., suggests that the public health community must work with patients, physicians, and other community members to improve understanding of the disease and its prevention. He urges that this be done by increasing awareness of the disease, educating the public about the symptoms and risk factors, and promoting early detection and treatment.

Some risk factors for stroke are hereditary, while others can be modified by lifestyle changes. Yaffe notes that stroke is preventable, and that simple steps such as quitting smoking, eating a healthy diet, exercising regularly, and controlling blood pressure can reduce the risk of stroke.

The AHA is committed to improving the lives of stroke survivors and those at risk of stroke. The organization is working to increase awareness of stroke, to promote research and education, and to advocate for policies that protect the health of all Americans. For more information about stroke prevention, visit the AHA's website or call 1-888-4STROKE.

Understanding mortgage rates

You've finally taken the plunge and decided to put your house on the market. As you prepare to sell, you are aware that the mortgage market is currently experiencing a downturn. How's this for cost-cutting measures: They are shaving 1 point off the interest rate. In fact, today's interest rates are hovering around 8.5%.

However, can't oversell your home or your property. For example, what if you advertised your property as having the "lowest interest rate on the market"? You wouldn't want to be caught in a marketing trap.

The good news is that help is not far away. We offer free business workshops and seminars covering various topics including how to get the most out of your real estate. You can join us for a free workshop on Saturday, June 24th from 10:00 am to 12:00 pm at the Illinois State Fair. For more information, please call 1-800-555-1234 or visit our website at www.illinoisfair.com.
