

From the Left Hand

by Bud Besser

Many years ago there was a program on the airwaves called the "Answer Man." We thought we might counter that idea by starting a column called "The Question Man."

....Does anyone recall a park being taken away from a neighborhood and moved several blocks away?

....How many parents would be happy having their children cross Milwaukee Avenue at Touhy Avenue to get to the new park right next to their homes?

....Who is in charge of setting priorities in Niles? Why would the village fathers (and mother) build a new village hall and a luxurious recreation center and then contend Niles needs a new public works building now? Since the village already had an adequate village hall and the seniors have good recreation facilities, why weren't the public works needs satisfied first?

....What's going on at the library? Not only is it being "improved," but the previous library building is being destroyed. If we were to add the costs of original building plus subsequent improvements and now add the new costs of the present improvement, what would the total cost of the library building be?

....While nobody seems to be

Dry cleaners reports 155° Friday temp.

Area residents may have been sweltering last Friday as temperatures hovered in the mid to high 90's. But it was sixty degrees hotter in the work area of Crystal Cleaners, 6717 Dempster, where the wall thermometer registered a high of 155 degrees.

Officials of the cleaners said the high temperature, caused by the boiler and pressing equipment, eventually tripped automatic shut-off mechanisms, which temporarily shut down their dry cleaning equipment.

Board's unanimous vote approves transfer of Joz Park to Touhy / Harlem

Village seals fate of Jozwiak Park

by Kathleen Quirsfeld

At 10:20 p.m. on Tuesday, July 22, the fate of Jozwiak Park was sealed by the Niles Village Board.

By unanimous vote, amid the jeers and the rousing displeasure of the crowd who had gathered at Village Hall, the Board approved the transfer of Jozwiak Park to a new parcel of land donated by a developer at Harlem and Touhy Avenues.

Over 140 people attended the Board's meeting on Tuesday night. Most were Niles residents who streamed into the Village Hall before and during the several presentations that were given.

Alan Davis, the park architect, unveiled the blueprint for the new park and supplied specific details of the property, such as how much parking would be available, where the access entrances and exits would be, and where the ball fields would be located.

A burglary and car theft ring may have been broken July 16 when two Chicago men were arrested while stripping a car on the city's Northwest Side.

The vehicle the men were stripping had been reported stolen from Lincolnwood, according to Sgt. Dan Gorris of the Lincolnwood Police Department.

The two arrestees, Sergio Gonzalez-Salazar, 26, and Ivan Rodriguez, 24, are suspected of being part of a ring that has prowled the north suburbs looking for vehicles they want to steal, Gorris told the Chicago Tribune.

Legion to hold Blood Drive

In cooperation with Life Source, the Morton Grove American Legion Post #134 will hold a blood drive at the Legion Memorial Home, 6140 Dempster, on Thursday, Aug. 7 from 3 to 8 p.m.

Walk-ins are welcomed, however, if donors wish to make an appointment, or obtain further information, they may phone Tad Kimura, (847) 965-4730. Blood is always necessary for replacement in cases of accidents, surgery, etc. The summer months are particularly stressful and blood is in shorter demand.

The Legion cooperates with the village and Life Source periodically throughout the year, having begun their own blood donor program many years ago. They now also obtain blood for the veterans at the Hines VA Hospital from time to time.

Donors only need to be in good health and not have had surgery themselves recently nor donated blood less than 6 weeks previously.

Citizens Utility Board urges all those concerned to attend the forum and be heard.

The telephone industry insists that we need either a new area code or mandatory 11 digit dialing for all calls, even though we are only utilizing 12 of the available 40 million phone numbers in the Chicago metropolitan area. The Citizens Utility Board has analyzed data provided by the phone industry and has determined that neither industry proposal is necessary. The CUB analysis shows that our present pool of phone numbers will last a minimum of 11 more years.

The CUB plan commonly referred to as "The Phone Number Conservation Plan" would force the phone industry to account for the numbers they have been given and to share excess phone numbers with other companies. CUB is concerned that both industry plans would cause undo hardship for consumers and business owners alike.

The phone industry plans will divide communities, eliminate any geographic association with an area code, cost local businesses millions of dollars, force mandatory 11 digit dialing for ALL phone calls and will only last a couple of years before a new area code is needed again.

For further information regarding the Skokie forum or the CUB plan please feel free to call the Citizens Utility Board at (312) 263-4282.

The bikes were donated by Target and Coca-Cola.

This was the 2nd annual 4th of July youth safety tent sponsored by the Niles Healthy Community Partnership, in conjunction with the Niles Optimist Club and the Northwest Italian American Society. The Healthy Community Partnership is composed of representatives from government, Lutheran General Hospital, the park district, school districts, businesses, library and Niles residents. For the past two years, the Partnership has been working on projects designed for the betterment of the whole community.

CHOLESTEROL SCREENING

Cholesterol is a soft, fat-like substance found in every cell in the body. Most of the body's cholesterol is made in the liver, the rest comes from animal fat in foods. Egg yolks, meat, poultry and dairy products all contain cholesterol. Everyone needs some cholesterol, but not too much. Eating foods low in animal fat is one of the best ways to lower cholesterol. Cholesterol screenings will be offered from 9 to 11 a.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 5 in the Flickinger Senior Center. The quick and simple test will give an accurate total blood cholesterol measurement in just three minutes. For Morton Grove seniors (age 65+) there is a charge of $3. For those under 65 or for non-residents the charge is $4.

LUNCH BUNCH MOVIE

Following the regular Senior Nutrition Site lunch on Wednesday, Aug. 6, "The Best of Lawrence Welk" will be shown at 1 p.m. in the Flickinger Senior Center. Lunch is provided for those who make a reservation. Seniors who do not come in for lunch can still come for the show. The movie for Sept. 3 will be "Breakfast at Tiffany's." For information about the lunch program call the Morton Grove Senior Hot Line at 470-5223.

The cost of the trip is $525/single, $380/double, $370/triple and $350/quad. Depart the Prairie View Community Center on Sunday, Aug. 10 at 7:30 a.m. and return around 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 12. For more information call Catherine Dean at 965-1200.

PRE-RETIREMENT PLANNING

People aged 58 to 63 are increasingly unable to afford or access private health insurance, remaining without coverage until they become eligible for Medicare at age 65. This problem is likely to grow as employers reduce healthcare coverage for workers. In 1985, three-quarters of workers in medium and large firms could continue their health coverage after retirement; in 1993, only half of this segment of workers could do so. Proposals to raise the Medicare eligibility age could mean that retirees over 65 will face similar problems in the future. If the eligibility age were raised to 67, an estimated 200,000 Americans would become uninsured. Of the 10% of Americans aged 58 to 63 who are uninsured, 85% belong to at least one of four vulnerable groups: low-income individuals, people with little or no work experience, displaced workers, and people with disabilities.

This information is taken from a new Commonwealth Fund report, "Uninsured Older Adults: Implications for Changing Medicare Eligibility." To order a copy of the report, call the Commonwealth Fund at (888) 777-2744.

 For more information about these senior services and recreation programs, call the Morton Grove Senior Hot Line at 470-5223, or the Prairie View Community Center at 965-1200. To receive the "Seniors in Morton Grove" newsletter, send $2.50 to the Morton Grove Park District, 6834 Dempster Street, Morton Grove, IL 60053.

Dale Lind to perform ORT benefit concert

On Wednesday, August 20, three generations of singing Linds will perform a benefit concert for Willow Hill Chapter of Women's American ORT, an organization for rehabilitation through training. Some 260,000 students are presently enrolled in ORT's 800 technological and vocational schools around the world, supported by membership chapters across the United States.

This special event will take place at the Robert E. Sang Theater in the Wheeling High School located on Elmhurst Rd. (Rte.83) and Hintz Rd. in Wheeling at 8 p.m.

Performing with Dale, will be his daughters, Joanna and Allison Lind, accompanied at the piano by Dale's son Cary, father of the girls.

Dale, an original member of the famous Lind Brothers, has appeared in every major theatrical medium from night clubs, vaudeville, movies, radio and television to musical comedy and recordings. At the age of 10, he became a Victor recording artist and later with his brothers, performed with many of the great stars such as Danny Thomas, Danny Kaye and Alan King. Dale who is also a renowned cantor, leads the Sons of Joshua Congregation during the high holiday services at the Skokie Holiday Inn on Touhy Ave.

Both girls started as soloists in their grandfather's choir when each became 6 years old. When Joanna was 8, she became a member of the Chicago Lyric Opera Children's Choir and sang with them for 7 years. During that time, she also appeared in principal roles The Magic Flute with the Chicago Opera Theater and in other local productions - Shakespeare's The Tempest and Joseph and His Technicolor Dreamcoat. Now 17, Joanna will be entering Northwestern University in the fall as a musical and vocal performer.

At the age of 7, Allison, now 13, also became a member of the Lyric Opera Children's Choir where this season, she will be appearing in La Boheme. In 1995, she had the honor of singing a solo in the opera Fedora with Placido Domingo and Mirella Freni. Homeless project during construction continues

Every fourth Sunday, Congregation B'nai Jehoshua Beth Elohim's, (Glenview), kitchen is usually a buzz with activity as 500+ bagged lunches are prepared by congregants of every age for distribution to the homeless, but major renovation has moved that activity to Brown's Chicken in Northbrook.

Thanks to Brown's owner, Sandy Silvers, the homeless will continue to receive the lunches. Community residents are invited to join with the congregation in this worthwhile effort by dropping off sandwiches they have prepared, or by helping in the preparation of sandwiches.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

On July 10, 1997, The Bugle, published an article by Bud Besser concerning the arrest of "of a Niles college girl who allegedly strangled her newborn child." The article calls for "compassion" and minimizes the fact that an infant was killed minutes after being born. Mr. Besser seems to think there is some sort of excuse or moral justification for this act. There are other alternatives to murdering your newborn and in this case none of those options were selected. The defendant in this case was a high school honor student who was accepted at one of the most prestigious universities in the United States. Mr. Besser's common sense appears to have been clouded by the defendant's "background of excellence and past accomplishments". Maybe his heart should bleed for the little girl who was strangled to death instead of the one who killer.

There is absolutely no excuse for the crime that was committed. The defendant deserves neither sympathy nor compassion. She deserves only punishment. The child is buried as "Baby Jane Doe #26" in a section of a cemetery in Riverside, California, called the Garden of Angels. It is reserved for unidentified baby homicide victims. Perhaps a visit there would change Mr. Besser's perspective. The defendant's family, while appearing to support her, has done nothing to have their granddaughter moved to a more suitable, and less anonymous, burial site.

The defendant in this case had choices. She made her choice and must now pay the price and face the consequences. Mr. Besser should stop his whining and sniveling about the defendant and remember the victim who never even had a chance to start to life.

Very truly yours,

Detective S. Hales, Detective P. D'Elia, Detective L. Judd, Officer A. Andrade, Detective H. Beardsley, Detective Y. Villegas, Officer R. Garcia, Detective C. Oarra, Detective P. Leberknight, Detective I. Frizzell, Detective K. Jackson, Officer S. Toledo, Officer S. Shy, Officer G. Granillo.

Editor's Note:

We asked for "compassion" after hearing stories the young lady's family would likely be moving from the community and her sister was verbally abused by her peers who chided her about the defendant's action.

Nobody condones what she did. But we don't agree with you that "the defendant deserves neither sympathy or compassion. She deserves only punishment". Punishment alone will not prevent this from happening again.

That bleeding heart, as well as the "whining and sniveling" is more than fifty years old. What we witnessed in Europe in the 1940's convinced us punishment is not the only avenue for improving the world. Matter of fact, every weekend throughout the year there's thousands of men/women standing on altars asking their listeners to "turn their cheek" as they seek what we asked for - "compassion". And we might add, "understanding".

Ryan seeks to protect traffic safety system

Secretary of State George H. Ryan went to court recently seeking to stop five suburban Chicago communities from undermining state highway safety efforts by issuing municipal traffic tickets that are not recorded on an offender's driving record.

The five communities - Schaumburg, Northfield, Kenilworth, Hanover Park and McCook - all treat a variety of traffic offenses as city ordinance violations called "compliance tickets," "administrative tickets" or "P-tickets." As ordinance violations, the offenses are not reported to Ryan's office, allowing offenders to bypass a state system that provides mandatory fines and drivers license suspensions for serious or habitual offenders.

Ryan asked Attorney General Jim Ryan to file the complaint only after all five communities ignored repeated warnings to end the practice or face legal action. The Attorney General's office first declared the practice unconstitutional in a 1992 opinion, which was reaffirmed by Jim Ryan's administration in 1995.

"I am pushing this issue out of concern that efforts at the state level to identify and punish unsafe drivers are being thwarted by communities who see these tickets primarily as a way of raising local revenue," Ryan said.

"P-tickets are letting untold numbers of habitual offenders stay on the road. They also have the potential to allow dangerous offenders, such as school bus drivers who blow railroad crossings, to escape appropriate action."

Ryan said he was particularly concerned by ticketing practices in Schaumburg and Northfield. Both communities' ordinances allow tickets for nearly 80 state offenses, including illegal transportation of alcohol, attempting to beat an oncoming train and failure to bring a school bus to a full stop at a railroad crossing.

When such offenses are not recorded on driving records, Ryan said, unsafe school bus drivers and drinking drivers could escape suspensions, and drivers who ignore crossing signals could evade a $500 mandatory state fine.

Blowing a railroad crossing is considered a serious offense for school bus drivers, whose licenses are canceled if they are convicted of two serious violations in a 12-month period.

More generally, many drivers with P-tickets may be escaping an automatic loss of driving privileges triggered when a motorist piles up three traffic tickets in a one-year period.

Ryan said he sympathizes with community leaders' reluctance to eliminate a key revenue source. However, he noted by failing to write traffic offenses as violations of the Illinois Vehicle Code, the communities also are draining revenues away from state and local agencies that collect a portion of those fines.

Ryan's office is not among the agencies receiving revenue from traffic tickets.

Drivers facility named in honor of Roger McAuliffe

Secretary of State George H. Ryan joined friends and family of the late state Rep. Roger P. McAuliffe in dedicating the Chicago North drivers license facility after the popular 12-term legislator from the city's Northwest side.

McAuliffe, 58, died last July in a boating accident near Eagle River, Wisconsin. Ryan said the most appropriate lasting memorial to McAuliffe was to rename the facility, which is located at 5401 N. Elston Avenue. McAuliffe, a former Chicago police officer, was manager of the facility between 1970 and 1972; prior to beginning a 24-year career in the House of Representatives. A plaque inside the lobby of the facility will commemorate McAuliffe's life and career.

"Today's dedication of this facility in Roger's memory is only a small token of our affection and appreciation for Roger's many years of service," Ryan said. "This facility - which is here to serve the needs of the people - is now a symbol of Roger's life and work."

Ryan was joined at the dedication by McAuliffe's children: Michael, Kathleen, Suzanne, Colleen and Ryan. Michael McAuliffe was elected to his father's seat, representing Chicago's 14th District, in November.

Ryan also thanked McAuliffe's colleagues who sponsored the resolution in the General Assembly that re-named the facility: House Republican Leader Lee A. Daniels, R-Elmhurst; Rep. Ralph Capparelli, D-Chicago; Rep. Skip Saviano, R-Elmwood Park; Rep. Dan Burke, D-Chicago; and state Sen. Walter Dudyecz, R-Chicago.

Arndt named to Dean's List

Sharon K. Arndt of Niles was named to the Dean's List at DePaul University for the Spring Quarter.

Public warned about phoney police officers

A group of at least 30 untrained men who were claiming to be an "auxiliary police" force has been disbanded thanks to legal action taken by the Cook County Sheriff's Office. But Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan is urging Cook County residents to continue to be on the look out for groups and individuals who illegally pose as police officers.

Sheahan sued an organization that called themselves the "Cook County Auxiliary Police" earlier this year, claiming that the group had no legal authority to form a police force. According to Sheahan, the group's members carried police badges and weapons despite never undergoing any formal police training.

"Police officers must undergo state certified law enforcement training before they can carry a badge and gun," Sheahan said. "The members of the Cook County Auxiliary Police did not meet these standards and were in violation of state law."

According to Sheriff's investigators, the "Cook County Auxiliary Police" membership was made up of business men, security guards, and other private citizens, few of whom had any police or firearms training. On at least one occasion, a member of the "Auxiliary Police" was arrested for impersonating a police officer.

Last month, a Cook County circuit court judge ordered the group to disband and turn their badges over to the Sheriff's Office.

Sheahan said that law enforcement agencies have received other reports of private citizens posing as police officers in recent months. In some cases, motorists have been pulled over by individuals who are impersonating police officers.

"If you are pulled over by an unmarked car or approached by someone claiming to be plainclothes police officer, ask for a current photo identification card," Sheahan said. "It is the best way to protect yourself from someone who might be posing as a police officer."

Additionally, Sheahan is warning citizens throughout the county to beware of over-the-phone solicitations from callers claiming to represent police agencies and organizations.

The Cook County Sheriff's Office has received numerous complaints about telephone solicitations by individuals seeking cash donations for various police anti-drug efforts. In some cases, the individuals making the calls have illegally claimed to be Sheriff's deputies.

Police and fire departments throughout the county have reported receiving numerous complaints regarding similar unauthorized solicitations. Those making the solicitations often identify themselves as members of law enforcement agencies.

"Con artists often prey on the good will of their victims by claiming to represent charities and crime fighting organizations," Sheahan said. "They have managed to steal millions of dollars from honest citizens by simply using a telephone as their weapon."

While some police unions and law enforcement groups hire telemarketing firms to conduct fundraising campaigns over the phone, sheriff's deputies and most law enforcement officers from other agencies are strictly forbidden to make any solicitations for donations while acting in an official capacity.

"You should be suspicious of any caller that asks for money," Sheahan said. "No matter how legitimate or worthy a cause might sound, never make a cash donation based solely on a phone conversation with an unfamiliar caller."

Theft

The 20-year-old manager of a Lockport construction company reported that when he came to work July 24 at 6:45 a.m., he discovered that unknown offender(s) had removed an orange and white Bob-cat skids-loader and the yellow trailer it was on from a construction site near Oakton and Prospect.

The equipment was valued at $15,000. The victim was notified July 25 that the trailer was recovered.

A 65-year-old retired Niles resident of the 9200 block of Woodland Drive reported July 25 that he discovered a shortage while balancing his checkbook July 21 and traced it to six missing checks which had been paid to his 36-year-old daughter's landlord.

The victim believes that his daughter removed the checks when he was not home, as the daughter has a key to the victim's duplex home and frequently visits. The total amount of the checks was $2,305. The victim wishes a follow-up investigation and will sign complaints if restitution is not made.

Two Chicago Police officers contacted the Niles Police Department around 7:10 p.m. July 25 after they witnessed and attempted to apprehend a man described as 6 ft. tall with long black unkempt hair who fled from the food store in the 5600 block of Touhy Avenue with numerous packages of meat.

The witnesses cornered the offender at a nearby garden nursery store in the 5800 block where the offender buried the meat in a gravel pile and ran.

Niles police confiscated the meat valued at $119.76 and returned it to the store.

Burglary

A 22-year-old Niles resident reported that unknown offender or offenders pushed in a window air conditioner located in a living room window to gain access to his townhouse in the 7800 block of Nordica Avenue between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. July 17.

A Toshiba VCR valued at $600 and a TV/VCR valued at $645 were removed.

Theft of wallet

The 47-year-old mother of an 11-year-old Chicago girl reported that the girl placed a junior leather purse on a bench in a junior fitting room in the department store at 220 Golf Mill Center and left the room. When the victim remembered that she left the purse, she returned to the dressing room to find that unknown offender(s) had removed her wallet valued at $5 that contained $30 cash and a retainer valued at $70.

Stolen motorcycle

A 27-year-old Niles laborer reported that unknown offender(s) removed his red 1992 Honda CBR 600 Motorcycle from a parking lot in the 7800 block of Caldwell Avenue sometime between 9 p.m. July 24 and noon July 25.

The victim told police the motorcycle was paid for and keyless.

Stolen bicycles

Two 14-year-old males had their bicycles stolen when they were in a restaurant in the 9100 block of Milwaukee Avenue around 1:15 p.m. July 25.

One youth who lives in the 9000 block of Huber lane had a 20" GT Free Style purple and black bicycle valued at $300 stolen. The other youth living in the 9900 block of Huber lane had a yellow 20" Dyno Compe bicycle also valued at $300.

When the youths exited the restaurant they discovered both bicycles missing.

Burglary to auto

A 22-year-old student reported that unknown offender(s) used a hard object to shatter the driver's side window of her blue 1987 Nissan Pulsar while it was parked on the west side of the alley behind the 7800 block of Nordica sometime between 9 p.m. July 26 and 9 a.m. July 27.

A cassette case containing 50 to 60 cassette tapes valued at approximately $500, notebooks and college papers, and the passenger side power mirror valued at $150 were removed. The offender(s) used a cutter-type tool to cut the wires of the mirror.

The victim suspects a male subject also living on Nordica who has been bothering her for a date and has made numerous statements to the victim when she refused.

Criminal damage to auto

A 23-year-old Niles man reported that unknown offender(s) used a hard object to break the windshield of his brown 1986 Nissan Pulsar while it was parked in the 8200 block of Dempster Street sometime between 11:30 p.m. July 26 and 7 a.m. July 27.

The cost to repair the damage was estimated at $300. No entry was gained to the vehicle.

Public indecency

While on routine patrol Niles police observed a 36-year-old Chicago man exposing himself as he stood near a brick wall looking into the swimming pool in the 9700 block of Dee Road around 12:37 p.m. July 27.

The offender was placed under arrest and transported to the Niles Police Department where he was charged with public indecency and given an Aug. 15 court date. Bond was set at $1,000.

Found property

A fanny pack containing $912.04 was found in the restaurant in the 9100 block of Golf Road around 8 p.m. July 27.

Police were able to determine that the item belonged to a Bloomingdale man who owns a tanning salon in the 6700 block of Dempster in Morton Grove.

Police went to the salon and contacted the victim who advised them to leave the item with an employee of the salon.

Criminal damage to property
The 57-year-old maintenance supervisor of the school in the 8900 block of Ozanam reported the fourth broken window in the past three weeks occurred July 23 around 7 p.m.

A wire reinforced safety glass window in an alcove on the south side of the school near the playground was broken when unknown offender(s) apparently broke up a piece of blacktop and threw it through the window.

A special watch has been requested.

The Dead Sea

For thousands of years, people have flocked to the Dead Sea, the world's saltiest body of water at the lowest point on earth, for its unique qualities. Even in ancient times, the Dead Sea was known for its healing properties. The people who lived by its shores supplied Dead Sea compounds to the likes of King Solomon, Cleopatra, King Herod, and the Roman Empire. Aristotle and Pliny the Elder wrote of the water's beneficial effects. Today, the sea's healing properties have earned widespread recognition due to the salts and minerals it contains. Thousands come each year seeking relief. Many come simply to rejuvenate their bodies and spirits in the Dead Sea waters, mud and thermal springs. Now, you can enjoy this soothing and reviving experience at home with Jeunesse's Minarelle product line, rich in ingredients from the Dead Sea.

Weekend Getaways

The trend in vacations is to escape more one, two, or three-day mini-vacations instead of week-long vacations, travel experts say. They're easier to plan, and require less packing! Here are tips from experts at Kampgrounds of America (KOA) on preparing for your next weekend getaway.

1) Decide where you want to go. It doesn't have to be far, but it should involve a change of scenery -- the beach, mountains, or a nearby point of interest or attraction.

Paramount opens season with gala

Don't miss the Friends of the Paramount Arts Centre's 9th Annual Gala starring Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme! This Grammy and Emmy Award-winning "first couple" of American popular music, will bring their stylish mix of contemporary hits and enduring standards to the Paramount on August 8 at 8 p.m. Black tie attire is optional.

Steve and Eydie are, indisputably, two of the finest singers in show business. Together, they create stage magic through their unique blend of musical virtuosity and natural comic timing. A Gala champagne reception in North Island Center with an elegant buffet of assorted hors d'oeuvres and desserts, courtesy of Hollywood Casino Aurora, follows the performance. Entertainment will be provided by popular local musicians, Dave Sandee and Judy. In addition, Unistaff Temporary Service is donating commemorative mugs for Gala guests.

Tickets for the Gala starring Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme are on sale now for $85, which includes the performance, post-performance reception, and a $35 donation to the Paramount. For tickets or additional information, call Melissa Striedel at (630) 264-7203.

New Arthritis exercise video

The Arthritis Foundation announces the release of a new exercise videotape, "Pathways to Better Living with Arthritis and Related Conditions." This 52-minute videotape program is divided into five parts that can be done separately to provide a variety of routines, or together for one complete workout. People with various types of arthritis and related conditions including fibromyalgia, osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis and osteoporosis can benefit from this program, according to the Arthritis Foundation.

"This state-of-the-art program includes breathing techniques, stretching exercises, an aerobic section, and a total-body relaxation sequence," said Dr. Elaine Adams, Medical & Scientific Committee member. "Exercise provides substantial benefits for everyone and can be especially useful in reducing pain and enhancing joint mobility in people with various types of arthritis."

"Pathways to Better Living with Arthritis and Related Conditions" features people who represent different age ranges and levels of physical activity, making the tape also appropriate for those who choose to perform most of the program seated. Another benefit of this videotape program is that no special equipment is needed to perform the exercises. Cost for the Pathways videotape is $29.95 ($22.50 for Arthritis Foundation members), plus $4 shipping and handling. To order, call the Arthritis Foundation toll-free at 1-800-207-8633 and ask for item # 730-9050.

Support group for cancer care givers

The spiritual aspects of cancer care will be discussed at an August meeting of the Progressive Care cancer support group. The meeting will take place on August 4 at 7 p.m. in the Progressive Care office located on ground floor of the Resurrection Professional Building, 7447 West Talcott Avenue.

The special guest speaker at the meeting will be James Brammeier, Pastor of St. Andrew's Lutheran Church in Park Ridge. Rev. Brammeier will discuss the spiritual aspects of coping with cancer from a caregiver's perspective.

Progressive Care is an oncology practice which is sensitive to the emotional and spiritual needs of patients. The cancer support group, led by Cindy Forster, Psy.D., helps to promote overall well-being and recovery. The group meets on the first and third Monday of each month at 7 p.m. and is open to patients, family members and friends.

For more information on the Progressive Care cancer support group, call 773-775-0013.

Arthritis Coping Education program

The Northwest Chicago/Suburban Arthritis Coping and Education (A.C.E.) Program will hold its next meeting on Wednesday, Aug. 6, at 7:30 p.m. at Advocate Medical Group, S.C., 6000 W. Touhy Ave., Chicago.

Robin Lacey, Ph.D. specializes in adult psychology at the Professional Building next to Lutheran General Hospital at 1775 Dempster in Park Ridge. Depression, geriatrics, pain management and women's issues are her specialties. Because arthritis not only affects the stricken person, it also affects the way members of the family have to learn to cope with the disease. You are welcome to bring your family members along to enlighten them about how they can become more understanding about how you are trying to handle the chores of daily living when you are having difficulty with your arthritis.

The A.C.E. (Arthritis Coping and Education) concept is designed to improve public understanding and to provide assistance to those with arthritis, the nation's number one crippling disease. All meetings are free and are open to the public. There is ample free parking in the lot behind the building and the building is accessible. CALL 773-763-1800 for reservations.

What Happens to Fatherless Children?

I have concerns about a recent front page story regarding U.S. Rep. Henry Hyde's (R-Illinois) proposal to enlist the IRS in collecting back child support from deadbeat dads. What the government should be doing along with collection efforts, is more aggressively enforcing court-ordered visitation, which should help increase the efficient flow of support payments on time and in full.

According to a U.S. Census Bureau report entitled, "Child Support and Alimony: 1989" and released Oct. 11, 1991, it was reported for the first time that fathers without visitation or joint custody pay only 44.5 percent of child support owed, but fathers with visitation pay 79.1 percent of child support owed. Moreover, fathers with joint custody pay 90.2 percent of child support owed. The report was based on income by mothers having custody.

While I agree that we, as a great nation of people, must protect our children and their futures by properly securing financial resources for them, I do not believe money is the sole answer. As an attorney fighting for fathers' rights, I understand and see the daily responsibilities that come with parenthood. However, children should also be entitled to two loving parents, not just one.

Unfortunately, this country is turning into a fatherless society, where almost 40 percent of children who live with their mothers haven't seen their father in at least a year. The negative statistics continue to grow for fatherless children. For example, 72 percent of all teenage murderers grew up without fathers, 60 percent of rapists were raised in fatherless homes, and 80 percent of adolescents in psychiatric hospitals come from fatherless homes. I discuss this information extensively in my new book Fathers' Rights (Basic Books), where I examine the legal rights and remedies fathers have at their disposal to protect their children.

Part of America has lost focus of how much children emotionally value their father's love and the pain some children experience in becoming fatherless. While money is important, it can not replace a dad on special occasions like Father's Day, baseball and volleyball games, school graduations and birthday parties. What good is financial child support without emotional child support? I make no excuse for non-custodial parents (women and men) who intentionally neglect their children financially. They deserve every collection effort made available to law enforcement officials. However, we should not collect child support in a vacuum without equal enforcement of visitation rights.

Let's not lose focus on this issue and remember that not all non-custodial fathers are deadbeat dads, just as not all custodial mothers are malfasant moms. A father's love for his children is just as important as a mother's love. However, the growing trend of interfering with court-ordered visitation and parental alienation is frightening. It's unfortunate but it happens quite often and children should not have to suffer emotionally along the way. While giving fathers more access to their children is not the entire solution to the problem it's a great start.

Loyola's experts offer tips for healthy summer

Barbeque Precautions

Char-broiling food over open flames can create cancer-causing substances on the surface of the food, according to Gail Sommerfeld, clinical dietitian, at Loyola University Medical Center, Maywood, Ill.

"Eat charcoal-broiled foods in moderation and avoid overcooking them to minimize any potential cancer risks," said Sommerfeld.

The fat from the "charred" food drips onto the burning coals and promotes the formation of the potentially cancer-causing chemical called benzopyrene. Benzopyrene is found in the smoke that deposits onto the food being grilled.

To reduce the levels of cancer-causing chemicals in food, Sommerfeld suggests that grillers should trim away excess fat from meat, minimize splatterings onto the coals, cook meat well above coals to lessen the likelihood of charring, avoid breathing smoke when grilling, and scrape away any char-black portions of the meat before eating.

Avoid Sports and Exercise Injuries

Many people use summer to shed their seat on the couch and become active outside. However, is the sudden jump into fitness fanaticism healthy or should these warm weather warriors take a more gradual approach to an exercise routine? Dr. Jerold Stirling, assistant professor of pediatrics and orthopedics at Loyola University Medical Center, suggests that the answer involves a combination of knowledge, correct equipment, proper conditioning, and plain old-fashioned common sense.

"To avoid injury—either the traumatic kind, which results in broken bones or torn tendons, or an injury as a result of overuse of a part of the body—people first need to be knowledgeable about the activity or sport in which they are engaged and use the proper equipment," Stirling said.

Proper conditioning is another key factor. Sports and exercise enthusiasts should loosen and warm the muscles through stretching exercises before participating in an activity, Stirling advised.

When injuries do occur, people tend to take medication, such as an anti-inflammatory drug, or simply attempt to ignore the pain.

Be aware that excessive amounts of anti-inflammatory drugs and other medications should not be taken without consulting a physician. "If you become injured, do not ignore the pain; pain is a sign of injury," said Stirling.

Sweatin' to the Oldies Wisely

Of the many environmental factors that can impede safe and effective exercise, heat stress may be the most life-threatening. Taking the proper precautions when exercising in the heat is essential to a person's health and performance, said Dan Larson, exercise specialist at Loyola University Medical Center.

The most important preventive measure is to make sure that joggers and other exercise enthusiasts drink plenty of liquids before, during, and after their activities. In humid conditions, a person loses a considerable amount of water through sweat; replacing water is essential to prevent heat-related injuries, Larson added.

"Type of clothing is another key factor."

"Wearing light-colored clothing that is also light-weight will enable your body to release heat more effectively. Dark-colored, heavy clothing tends to absorb and store heat rather than release it, he said." Another suggestion is to wear a hat or sunglasses for added sun protection.

Larson also advises exercising in the morning before 10 a.m. or after 6 p.m. in the evening to avoid extreme heat and humidity. "The more extreme the conditions, the more demand and stress placed on your system," Larson said.

Get Enough Sleep and Still Enjoy Summer

For those who use the daylight hours to go, go, go, and then find themselves unable to fall asleep at night, here are a few tips from Dr. Keith Veselik, medical director of Loyola's Primary Care Center at Darien (Ill.), to improve the chances of a full night's rest:

- Complete exercising three hours prior to sleep
- Minimize intake of caffeine late in the day
- Avoid overuse of over-the-counter medications
- Choose a light snack over a heavy meal before bedtime
- Avoid taking naps during the day
- Reduce alcohol consumption
- Choose a room temperature that is comfortable for you to relax completely

Veselik also recommends creating a normal behavior pattern before attempting to fall asleep. "An example of a normal behavior pattern would be to watch the late night news, brush your teeth, go to bed and fall asleep.

For more information about any of these topics, or to arrange an interview with a Loyola health care professional, please call Sampalis at 708-216-6813.

The Edison Institute - A Living Tribute to Henry Ford's hero

As an automobile industry pioneer, Henry Ford surely qualifies as a hero in many people's minds. But Ford himself had a hero in Thomas Edison.

The two men first met in 1896, when Ford - then chief engineer for the Edison Illuminating Company of Detroit - was one of three Detroit delegates to a national meeting of Edison Illuminating Companies. Awestruck, Ford took a picture of his hero, explains William Pretzer, educational programs team leader at Henry Ford Museum & Greenfield Village. That photo now is on display in the museum.

Ford would later say that Edison's encouraging remarks at that meeting fueled his resolve to keep experimenting with the gasoline-powered internal combustion engine automobile. That same year Ford successfully ran his first "horseless carriage," the Quadricycle.

Years passed before Ford and Edison met again, this time as two icons of American ingenuity. The men formed a fast friendship that lasted until Edison died in 1931.

Two years before Edison's death, Ford opened an innovative educational complex in Dearborn, Mich., naming it The Edison Institute, after his hero and friend. It was a fitting tribute to an inquisitive man who believed in learning by doing. Unlike other museums of that time, the institute was no mere collection of dusty artifacts. And unlike other education facilities, it was not a place for rote memorization of textbook facts. Ford instead envisioned a lively place where visitors would actively engage in hands-on and minds-on learning - a place that would inspire others to change the world as Edison had.

The centerpiece of the complex, known today as Henry Ford Museum & Greenfield Village, was a reconstruction of Edison's unique research and development facilities at Menlo Park, New Jersey. Although most of the original buildings had deteriorated, Ford salvaged what could be found and had the rest reconstructed in Dearborn in 1928, sparing no expense. Determined to make the reconstruction as much like the original Menlo Park complex as possible, Ford even had seven railroad cars of

New Jersey soil brought to the Dearborn site.

The Edison Institute was dedicated on October 21, 1929, the golden anniversary of the practical incandescent light. At the dedication, Edison himself - then 82 - reenacted the final moments of his successful light bulb experiment, as Ford, President Herbert C. Hoover and Edison's former laboratory assistant Francis Jehl looked on. Households across the nation listened as a radio announced described the reenactment. Just before Edison lit the bulb, the whole nation was asked to turn out their electric lights and sit by candlelight or kerosene lamp, in recognition of Edison's great contribution. Visitors to Henry Ford Museum & Greenfield Village can see the very bulb that Edison lit in the reenactment.

County approves temporary ice rink at Caldwell Woods

The Recreation Committee of the Cook County Board of Commissioners recently approved a cooperative partnership with the Chicago Park District and the Cook County Forest Preserve District will jointly develop an ice skating facility at the Jensen Slides winter sports area. To gauge its use and popularity, the rink will be a temporary installation for one year. The Chicago Park District will be responsible for the day-to-day operation and maintenance of the rink and its immediate area.

"I have received a lot of feedback from residents of the 9th District in favor of this ice skating rink," said Commissioner Peter Silvestri, (9th District). "The rink, coupled with the new Wheelan Aquatic Center, will afford recreational opportunities that are close to home. I am delighted to see these significant improvements at Caldwell Woods come to fruition."

Taking over a leased car? Have it checked carefully

If you've watched car advertising on TV in recent years you're aware of increased emphasis on leasing vs. buying a car. What began as a business practice now has become popular among the general public. In addition to certain tax benefits, there is a lower investment "up front" and you can turn in the vehicle at the end of the lease.

The lease contract calls for a lessee to have proper maintenance performed on the vehicle. If you're taking over your own car when the lease expires, you already know how it's been used and maintained.

Most off-lease vehicles have relatively low mileage with factory warranty remaining. Others, with the more appealing prices, may have been longer leases. Unless the lessee opted for an extended warranty no coverage remains at turn-in time.

The higher the mileage the more important it is for the buyer to be sure what he or she is buying. While the new car dealer may sell the vehicle with his own warranty it is wise to examine carefully the terms. Many a used vehicle owner has discovered, to his dismay, that the needed repair is not covered.

For this reason, the Car Care Council suggests the buyer have a higher mileage lease car, as with any other used car, carefully inspected by a qualified technician.

Even a newer car, says the Council, may have undiscovered wear or damage that could show up after the car has been driven for a short time. One shining example is the vulnerable CV joint, a rubber boot that covers the flexing joint that delivers power from the transaxle to the wheels. Another is brake pads which, through abnormal use, could be worn.

The Council offers a pamphlet, entitled "AN ANNUAL PHYSICAL FOR YOUR CAR" that lists some of the more important areas under the hood and around the car to be checked.

For a free copy, send a stamped, self addressed envelope to Car Care Council, Dept. SRE7-XI, One Grande Lake Drive, Port Clinton, OH 43452. Check out the Council's Web site: www.peoplevision.com/carcare.

Cutting The Red Tape

by Robert W. Brock
IRS District Director

The Internal Revenue Service strives to provide fast, courteous, quality service, but sometimes taxpayers are unable to resolve their tax problems. When these unfortunate situations happen, we have the Problem Resolution Program (PRP) to snip through that "red tape".

Most tax problems can be resolved by a phone call or by responding to a notice. PRP steps in after you've tried your best to solve your problem through the normal channels available to you and have failed. I know from the personal experiences of friends and acquaintances that the program works.

There are many types of problems that come to PRP. Some result because of a lack of communication and some because the system isn't working. Sometimes problems are created because IRS employees fail to do what they tell taxpayers they'll do. For example, if an IRS employee tells a taxpayer they'll get an answer in 30 days, but months later the taxpayer is still waiting - that's a problem.

PRP cases include missing refund checks, duplicate social security numbers, and lost or misapplied payments. PRP case workers also watch for systemic problems and report them so they can be fixed.

Taxpayer Advocates have the authority to issue a Taxpayer Assistance Order (TAO) when they learn that a taxpayer is suffering, or about to suffer, a significant hardship because of the manner in which the tax laws are being administered. Issuing a TAO allows the Taxpayer Advocate to suspend action - such as a lien against property or a levy against financial resources - and review the taxpayer's account to relieve unintended results. Or, in other situations, the hardship may result unless immediate action is taken by the IRS, such as expediting the processing of a refund.

The TAO is not intended to bypass provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and enforcement action alone is not a hardship.

You can ask the Taxpayer Advocate to intervene in a hardship situation by submitting a Form 911, Application for Taxpayer Assistance Order to Relieve Hardship, or a letter outlining the hardship. When PRP receives the application, they immediately arrange for enforcement actions to be suspended and review the situation.

If you have a problem with the IRS that you've been unable to get resolved through normal channels, call our toll-free number, 1-800-829-1040, and ask to have your case referred to PRP. Please have all your records available when you call so the person taking the information can provide our PRP office with full details.

When marriages fail

Home may be where the heart is, but when homes and hearts break apart, the family home sometimes is less a haven and more a source of stress and conflict.

"While the home is rarely the direct cause of divorce, it often exacerbates pre-existing problems in the marriage," says University of Illinois architecture professor Kathryn Anthony.

"Following the divorce, some parents and children still have a strong emotional attachment to the home they inhabited while the marriage was intact. For some, losing that home can cause severe grief resembling the loss of a loved one."

These are just a few of the observations Anthony reports in "Bitter Homes and Gardens: The Meanings of Home to Families of Divorce," published in the spring 1997 edition of the Journal of Architectural and Planning Research. Anthony, who is chair of the U. of I.'s Building Research Council, based her conclusions on two studies. In the first, she reviewed case histories at the Center for the Family in Transition in Corte Madera, Calif., and interviewed members of the center's research and clinical staff. That preliminary study formed the basis for the second, in which Anthony interviewed 58 parents and children receiving assistance from two divorce-support organizations in St. Louis.

Anthony's initial investigation revealed that "the physical housing environment can be problematic before, during and after divorce." Further, she found that children often experience similar problems with housing transitions, while parents' experiences differed, depending on whether they had custodial or non-custodial rights and whether they remained in the family home or were forced to seek new housing. Topping the list of problems reported by children was lack of privacy and inability to form friendships in new neighborhoods. For custodial parents who remained in the family home, "concerns about upkeep, maintenance and money problems were typical," Anthony said.

Among the key findings from the second study:

- For women and children who moved, living standards dropped; however, living standards declined for men as well.
- Mothers' levels of satisfaction with post-marital homes was close to what it had been in the marital homes, while children were less satisfied with their mother's and father's current homes.

- Following divorce, moving and house-hunting were the two greatest sources of stress for both mothers and children.

Anthony said architects can play an important role in aiding families in transition. Possibilities include "purpose-built housing" with onsite counseling and day-care services, and greater flexibility in architectural and interior design.

During Brookfield Zoo's annual Teddy Bear Picnic on Saturday and Sunday, August 2 and 3, bear fans can pose with a life-size cutout of Teddy Roosevelt, the 26th president of the United States and teddy bear namesake. Other bear-tous activities taking place from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day on the zoo's East Mall and along the Bear Grotto walkway include a Teddy Bear Parade at 1 p.m. followed by a Teddy Bear Showcase, where everyone is a winner, and a Quickwell Clinic for teddy bears that are in need of some tender loving care. In addition, volunteer educators will test guests' bear IQs at . Guests can also get the bear essentials about teddies from Danielle L. Pita Hut: Mediterranean flavor on Milwaukee Ave.

by Rosemary Trilo

And now for something a little different. You've had it all - burgers, hot dogs, fried chicken, pizza, tacos - fast food, we call it. But have you tried Mediterranean fast food? Now you can. The Pita Hut at 9001F Milwaukee Ave. brings distinctly different Middle Eastern flavor to the Niles landscape.

Shish Kabob made of the finest beef or skinless boneless chicken that has never been frozen and then marinated 24 hours to ensure tenderness; Shawarma, slices of thin seasoned roast beef cooked slowly on a revolving rotisserie and seasoned with lamb and spices; falafel, ground chick peas mixed with green onion, garlic and spices and then deep fried to a golden turn; and a very excellent hummus, a sauce of pureed chick peas with tahini sauce, olive oil and seasoning - these are some of the delicacies we tasted on a recent visit.

Host and owner Sabry Megeed said, "It's fast food, but we are trying to make it a nice fast food restaurant. Everything here is home made." Billed as an "Eat-In or Take-Out" restaurant, the Pita Hut also caters parties for all occasions.

Oakton offers marketing classes

Whether you're considering a marketing career or already in the business and would like to hone your skills, Oakton Community College can help you achieve your goals. Registration for fall classes is now in progress.

Following are two of the fall classes offered at the Des Plaines campus, 1600 E. Golf Road:

Sales Management (MKT 211) is designed for the new or existing sales manager or anyone aspiring to become one. The class focuses on contemporary methods of recruiting, selecting, motivating and training a sales force. Establishment of sales quotas, defining sales territories and implementation of sales programs are presented. Coping with new computer information and automation are also discussed. The class is offered Wednesday evenings from 6:30 - 9:20 p.m., Aug. 25 - Dec. 16.

Marketing Strategies for the Internet (MKT 265) is a new course offered for 12 weeks on Tuesdays, Sept. 23 - Dec. 9. Students will work in a computer lab to evaluate and design web sites on the Internet in an effort to promote a company using an interactive format.

For more information, contact Sue Cisco, chairperson, Marketing Department, (847) 635-1872.

They had just supplied four whole stuffed lambs for a party in downtown Chicago.

Megeed and his wife emigrated from his native Egypt in 1991 after the Gulf War. He studied restaurant and hotel management in college and worked at the Palmer House some years before opening the Pita Hut last May 5.

The attractive menu explains every dish clearly in English. Indeed, 70 percent of the Pita Hut customers are Americans. The restaurant seats about 25. Sixty percent of his business is carry-out trade.

After your tasty meal you can choose a delicious Middle Eastern pastry like the outstanding Kenafee, shredded wheat stuffed with sweet cheese and honey and served warm, that we enjoyed during our visit. Accompanied by a small cup of Turkish coffee, it was a truly memorable dessert treat.

And speaking of coffee, the menu features several varieties of the popular espresso and cappuccino coffees.

The Coffee Corner portion of the restaurant, which opened July 20, features the delicious and exotic flavored gourmet coffees along with doughnuts, bagels or pastries for just 99 cents. Open from 5 a.m. to 11 a.m., commuters can stop for an early or mid-morning treat to start their day.

Prices at the Pita Hut are very modest, ranging from $1.50 for appetizers to $6.95 for the combination meat dinners. For modestly priced, nutritious and delicious lunch or dinner, why not try something different. You'll be surprised and delighted with what you find at the Pita Hut, which is open from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday. As host Megeed said, "In here you feel like you are home."

IRA contributions must be in the form of money, such as cash, check, or money order. The most that can be contributed for any year is $2,000 or the amount of your taxable compensation, whichever is smaller. For tax years beginning after 1996, in the case of a married couple filing a joint return, up to $2,000 can be contributed to each spouse's IRA, even if one spouse has little or no taxable income.

Crate & Barrel to retain Northbrook headquarters

Gov. Jim Edgar joined with the founder of Chicago-area retailer Crate & Barrel to announce that the firm will retain its corporate headquarters in Northbrook, creating 80 jobs and retaining 150 full-time positions.

The company also will invest about $6.3 million dollars to construct and equip a 800,000-square-foot warehouse distribution facility in Naperville, creating more than 160 jobs and retaining more than 50 others.

"Crate & Barrel is an Illinois success story," the Governor said. "Growing from a small business to a 70-store national chain, Crate & Barrel is an example of how Illinois' excellent business climate has helped small businesses thrive. At the same time, our emphasis on worker training has given Illinois a competitive edge over other states when a company such as Crate & Barrel considers relocating or expanding."

Li. Gov. Bob Kustra, who helped negotiate the assistance package that resulted in the Crate & Barrel project, said Illinois' willingness to provide worker training funds was a key factor.

The state will provide up to $514,000 for worker training through the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs Industrial Training Program.

answering questions we wonder if the library people could tell the people who pay the bills how much the monthly rental is for the temporary building on Caldwell Avenue? And why was it necessary to move from the permanent building during construction? The best and most beautiful library building in this area, the Skokie library building, had made major improvements while patrons continued using the building.

....What is the annual cost to taxpayers of the new park district building alongside Little Tam golf course? The plus-million dollar building cost taxpayers for the initial purchase plus improvements. It burdened taxpayers additional dollars by taking the building off the tax rolls when it purchased a private industrial building.

....Would any park people be able to assess what the cost of the non-used space in this building is? Adding the loss of taxes and the cost of additional personnel to run this building plus the costs of heating and maintaining a much larger building, what are the costs to taxpayers in additional dollars?

....Is Niles, "where people count" using the wrong numbers? Why would the village and park board want to build a youth park at the extreme end of town across the street from a city of Chicago park, developed in the middle of a condominium area which is inhabited by older residents? Why would they want baseball fields with night lights in an area where older people will live? What reaction will the older residents have when the noisy night games are being played as late as 11 p.m.?

....Why would the park board buy a primary recreation building on the outskirts of the village in a non-residential area where it is not accessible to most children in the village?

some entertaining performers," stated Ghida Martorano, Assistant to the Village Manager.

The Maxwell Street Klezmer Band (nine instrumentalists-vocalists) plays the music of America's Russian-Jewish immigrants with a combination of traditional folk music and more recent tunes. The music itself is lively and upbeat with a twinge of influence from the blues. Originally from Eastern Europe, Klezmer was the music of wandering self-taught Jewish musicians who would show up to play at births, weddings, and deaths.

Enzo Incandela, an Italian soloist, will be giving his second performance at the Leaning Tower Plaza. Incandela and his accompaniment brought the entire crowd of 500 plus people at the dedication of the Leaning Tower Plaza on June 26, 1997 into a dancing and clapping frenzy in his first performance.

"The opportunity to host concerts such as these is one of the reasons we renovated the Plaza of the Leaning Tower. It provides a relaxed, park-like setting in which people from Niles and around the region can come out and enjoy musical and cultural performances," said Martorano.

The two performances are free, open to the general public, and will take place at the Niles' Leaning Tower. The site is located at 6300 W. Touhy Avenue and can be found to the east of the Milwaukee/Touhy intersection. For further information please contact the Village of Niles at (847) 588-8000.

abuse, three counts of child pornography and two counts of aggravated criminal sexual abuse by the Lake County Sheriff's Dept.

Niles police launched an investigation of Mitsui after an employee of the auto parts store turned in an alleged pornographic photograph depicting a man identified by the informant as Mitsui with a then 14-year-old girl, reportedly the daughter of a close friend of Mitsui, police officials said.

A spokesman for the auto parts store last week denied that the photo is pornographic and alleged that the informant broke into Mitsui's locker to obtain it.

Lake County stepped into the case after being notified by Niles officials. Lake County Sheriff's Dept. Detective Rick Eckenstahler said that his agency would not have been successful without the help of the Niles police. Members of the Lake County Child Advocacy Center conducted the investigation.

Eckenstahler said that the photo was taken in July of 1996 when the girl was in Mitsui's charge. Video tapes were also found and confiscated by Lake County officials, Eckenstahler said.

Village seals fate ...

the Public Services Department gave the need for a larger public works facility.

Pilat's presentation, accompanied by a slide presentation, showed the over-crowded conditions at the various public works facilities throughout the Village.

Tim Possinell, Commissioner of the Niles Baseball League, told the group that although his League was not endorsing the swap, after meeting with the Mayor and other representatives, in his opinion, the needs of the Baseball League would be met at the new park.

"During the meeting, we discussed our needs, a major need for two ball fields, with lights that would be left on until 11:00 or 11:15 p.m., a safe environment for the kids with a buffer zone with the Harlem Avenue Park, adequate parking, access to fields currently enjoyed at Jozwiak Park.

"After seeing various park layouts, and it was presented to us that it would fulfill the needs of the baseball league that we currently enjoy at Jozwiak if we could get a guarantee that it will be the same as we have now."

Following these, approximately 15 people, all Niles residents, who had signed in at the door to speak, were called up one at a time by Mayor Blase to voice their opinions.

Each person spoke of his or her reactions to the proposal. Most petitioned the Board to reject the idea, while two or three spoke in favor of the plan, citing the necessity for a new Public Works facility and the inadequate sanitary facilities currently at Jozwiak Park as their reasons.

When finished, each speaker was cheered and applauded by the crowd.

Several members of District 71 presented positions. Clifford Drexler and John Lombardi both stated they were dissatisfied with this proposal.

Gene Zeluski, Superintendent of District 71, spoke of a referendum posed to the people of Niles.

"The voters supported $6.9 million for the costs. The District did not come to the Village for additional money.

Former Park Board Commissioner, Bud Skaja, reminded the group that the Park Board had grappled with this issue last year. He was cheered from the crowd when he said, "We voted against what we thought was a bad concept. I would still vote no."

Prior to the meeting, an information handout was prepared and made available to all who came to the meeting. A "Letter to the Editor," written by Mayor Blase, was among the materials.

In this letter, Blase had explained the need for the Public Works facility and the reasons for the proposed transfer of land. It was also noted that the Village would stand to save $3,000,000 if it could build a new Public Works facility where the old one currently stands.

The 41-year-old mother of the Chicago boy, otherwise known as the complainant, was quick to leap into the fray and pull the offender away from the victim.

When police arrived, the offender's father told them that the complainant had slapped the offender in the face. Police could find no evidence on the offender's face to support the allegation, however.

The complainant refused medical attention for her son, and no charges were filed in the case. The report was made as a matter of record, but not a world record-yet.
