

From the Left Hand

by Bud Besser

Princess Diana came down the pike (Dempster Street) last summer. She drove through Niles and Morton Grove from O'Hare Airport heading for Northwestern University in a posh Rolls Royce.

We were heading home from the office when we noticed several people were lining up along the curb. We pulled into Kappy's restaurant's parking lot and found out who was driving by. We were surprised at the number of people who had come out to watch the princess pass by.

This weekend, we were even more surprised at the reaction of people to her death. We were sitting at a table playing a rummy game at 10:45 p.m. Saturday night when we heard the report about the car accident in Paris. Within minutes our San Francisco daughter called to tell us about the accident.

The following morning our next door neighbor told us his 37 year old son, a doctor, was very upset about Diana's death. Here's a man who deals with life and death every day. He was dismayed so young a woman would be wasted by the accident.

Another neighbor, a young man, was also surprised.

Sewer Televising -Get the scoop-

Inspecting sewers may be not the ideal job to some people, but for the Niles Public services sewer crew, it's just an average day at work. Through the use of sewer televising equipment, crews are able to inspect sewer mains for damage or blockages. This allows pinpoint accuracy when repairs are needed, and helps prioritize those mains in need of major repair.

An area to be inspected is selected based upon age of the mains and/or number of sewer back-ups. Crews first clean the main using a high pressure hose that can be fed through the sewer main. If needed, a root cutter at

Teacher bonuses in District 219 questioned

After intensive focus on improving student performance on Illinois Goal Assessment Program (IGAP) tests, recently released results indicate that students at both Niles West and Niles North high schools have dramatically increased their scores. Overall test scores for those students who took the American College Testing (ACT) exams also improved. As a result, District 219 employees will receive a percentage of the merit incentive pay as delineated in the current union/Board of Education contract agreement.

In all five IGAP categories (reading, math, writing, science and social studies) the percentage of District 219 students meeting and exceeding state standards increased, while the number of students who exceeded state standards went up significantly in all categories except reading. The

Maine Township approves lease for youth center

The Maine Township Town Board unanimously approved a new lease for the township's Youth Drop-In Center.

The lease is for space at the State of Illinois' North Suburban Facility (formerly Maine North High School) at 9511 Harrison St. The Drop-In Center, formerly located at Stevenson School, began operations at the new facility on July 29.

The new lease sets rent at $4,900 per month—the same amount the township had been paying at Stevenson. Unlike the previous arrangement, however, the new lease has no expiration date.

Niles OK's adult day care center

by Kathleen Quirsfeld

An ordinance passed by the Niles Village Board will provide regulations for the operation of adult day care centers in the Village.

This action was prompted by a petition from Evangeline B. Pintang, 7814 Churchill, Morton Grove, who had requested a zoning change to open an adult day care for 10 senior citizens. Her petition was granted by the Zoning Board, and the Village Board decided to look into this issue more thoroughly before giving its approval.

Trustee Louella Preston stated she was aware that the State of Illinois had not enacted any regulations governing an adult in day care situations. Consequently, she consulted with Mary Kay Morrissey, Director of Human Services, to conduct an investigation.

"The purpose of the ordinance," Morrissey told the Board, "is to provide the Village with a way to monitor adults at day care centers. No state licensing (for such centers) is currently available."

The regulations found in the ordinance are based on standards set by the Council on Aging, and the Illinois Department of Human Services. These are similar to those looked for in child care centers.

Some of the issues covered by the regulations concern staffing, square footage and client records to be kept.

Trustee James Mahoney questioned the age of the individuals

Edward Jones: New Tax and Spending Legislation Benefits Investors

Congress has passed landmark legislation that provides the biggest tax cuts in 16 years and is projected to balance the budget by the year 2002.

There are two portions of the tax cut bill that spell good news for investors. First, the top rate for capital gains was reduced from 28 percent to 20 percent for securities held longer than 18 months. For securities purchased after the year 2001 and held at least five years, the top rate will be 18 percent. This break for assets held five years rewards investors who adopt a buy-and-hold philosophy.

The second piece of good news is that the bill substantially expands the tax breaks associated with Individual Retirement Accounts. In addition to higher income limits on tax-deductible contributions, we're going to see new IRA Plus accounts, and education IRAs. Investors will have greater flexibility, because they'll be able to make penalty-free withdrawals from an IRA for tuition or to buy a home if they're a first-time homebuyer.

The tax legislation also provides for higher estate tax exemptions and tax credits and savings incentives for college education. The full package is intended to cut taxes more than $150 billion over the next five years.

Most Americans will benefit by keeping more of what they earn. In particular, investors will have the opportunity to take advantage of the new capital gains tax cuts and expanded IRA accounts.

Edward Jones' interactive web site is located at www.edwardjones.com.

Couple weds in Niles 'metaphysical' shop

by Rosemary Tirio

Unseen Insights, 7507 N. Milwaukee Ave., was the site of a rather unusual sight, even for the shop that deals in "gifts for the mind, body and spirit" on the night of Aug. 8.

Mary Soutar of Niles and Jim Johnson of Arlington Heights chose the Niles shop for the background of their marriage ceremony. The bride said, it was important to her to get married in a spiritual place. Soutar said that many customers of the shop feel a direct link to spirits and angels. In her wedding vows, Soutar mentioned her own angel who, she said, was there and smiling at her.

Thirty friends attended the ceremony, which was presided over by Philip Clark, a minister of the Universal Life Church, in the back room of the store, which was decked out in white and decorated with paper wedding bells

Final plea for Niles area host families

Foreign high school students are scheduled to arrive very soon for academic program home-stays, and the sponsoring organization needs a few more local host families.

According to Pacific Intercultural Exchange (P.I.E.) Executive Director, John Doty, the students are all between the ages of 15 and 18 years, are English-speaking, have their own spending money, carry accident and health insurance, and are anxious to match almost every family's needs, ranging in length from a semester to a full academic year, where the students attend local high schools.

P.I.E. area representatives match students with host families by finding common interests and lifestyles through an informal in-home meeting. Prospective host families are able to review student applications and select the perfect match. As there are no "typical" host families, P.I.E. can fit a student into just about any situation, whether it be a single parent, a childless couple, a retired couple or a large family.

Families who host for P.I.E. are also eligible to claim a $50 per month charitable contribution deduction on their itemized tax returns for each month they host a sponsored student.

Doty encourages families to contact the program immediately, as it will allow the proper time for the students and hosts to get to know one another before they actually meet for the first time.

Niles area families interested in learning more about student exchange or arranging for a meeting with a community representative may call P.I.E., toll-free, at 1-800-631-1818. The agency also has travel/study program opportunities available for American high school students as well as possibilities for community volunteers to assist and work with area host families, students and schools.

New this year is the Sports and Fitness Tent, where adults 18 years and older can participate in a number of tests and evaluations to determine fitness. Health care professionals, including physicians, nurses, dietitians, pharmacists, and physical therapists will be on hand to give Fest participants practical health tips and will include information on various programs; services and support groups available at the medical center.

A lively slate of entertainment includes The Country Roads Band, the Jesse White Tumbling Team, Frank Birdsall, the national stunt cycling champion, and Benny the Bull, mascot for the Chicago Bulls. In the new Kids' Health & Activity tent, puppet shows, a Safety Rodeo, screenings and special activities just for young people are scheduled. Special giveaways round out the day's activities.

Vision Screening: Keeping eye health in sight

Your child may receive a vision screening during the course of the school year as part of the school's regular health program. If you take the screening results out of the backpack and find that your child didn't pass, what should you do? Katie Yeilding's mother, Denise, took Katie to the eye doctor immediately and is very glad that she did.

When Katie was screened by Prevent Blindness Northern California screener Rosaly Cipparone, Katie's right eye was recorded as 20/200 and her left eye was 20/20. According to the screening, Katie was at risk for amblyopia. Amblyopia develops when the brain receives conflicting images from the eyes, as was happening with Katie. Over time the brain begins to ignore the signal from the weaker eye, eventually blocking it completely.

"If children come home with a 'failed' screening notice, you should definitely take them to an eye doctor," says Maurice F. Rabb, M.D., medical director for Prevent Blindness America.

When Katie's mother took her to the eye doctor, the screening results were confirmed. With her right eye, Katie could barely read the large E on the eye chart. Happily, six weeks into the treatment Katie's eye was almost fully corrected.

"We are very thankful for the early detection of Katie's vision problem," said Denise Yeilding. "She continues to wear glasses for the farsightedness, but her eye doctor believes the glasses are not permanent."

Children who rub their eyes excessively, shut or cover one eye, tilt their heads forward or blink more than usual should be taken for an eye examination. For an extended list of warning signs call Prevent Blindness America at (800) 331-2020 and request the free brochure, Signs of Possible Eye Trouble in Children.

Vision problems are not uncommon in young children. In fact, preschool vision screening programs show that one child in 20, between the ages of 3 and 5, has some kind of eye problem. A professional examination for every child, including even those who do not display any signs of eye trouble, is recommended shortly after birth, at 6 months of age, before entering school (age 4 or 5) and periodically throughout the school years. Screenings are very useful, but are not substitutes for complete professional examinations.

Financial Aid Information Night at Niles North

Seniors in District 219 and their parents can learn about the processes involved in seeking financial aid at a special Financial Aid and College Information Night scheduled for Tuesday, September 9, from 7-8:30 p.m. at the Niles North High School auditorium, 9800 Lawler Avenue in Skokie. This program will offer information on the Financial Aid Profile Service, which has replaced the Financial Aid Form (FAF) that parents may be familiar with from previous applications. The Profiles Service is intended to allow schools to customize the general aid application with specialized institutional questions, thereby eliminating the need for separate school-designed financial aid forms. The evening will also address questions regarding the admissions requirements for Illinois state schools, the concept of rolling admissions, the actual application process and the various deadlines for college admission materials. The resources available within the high school will be outlined, along with details concerning the ACT, SAT I and SAT II tests.

For further information, contact Niles North High School College/Career Counselor Donna Virklan at (847) 568-3185 or Niles West College/Career Counselor Gloria Moore at (847) 568-3562.

The Better Business Bureau says, "Sit Back and Watch"

The Better Business Bureau (BBB) receives 14 million calls each year from consumers seeking information on companies or to file a complaint. Car Repair is consistently among the top five complaints. By analyzing these complaints, the BBB produced a video that directly answers the consumers' most common questions.

Information from the AAA, BBB, and CCC (Car Care Council) was used to create this program. Additionally, research from expert mechanics and repair shop owners provides owners with the "inside tips" on auto repair.

National Car Care Month (October) marks the consumer release of this video titled, Self Defense For Car Expense. This program shows consumers how to:

- Find and evaluate an auto repair shop.
- Save money by avoiding common pitfalls.
- Obtain and compare estimates, and
- What to do in case of a serious breakdown.

Free viewing of this video as well as the others in the BBB consumer education series is available at many public libraries nationwide.

Call your library for more information on this program, or contact Donald Burkholder, project manager for the Better Business Bureau Video Series at 1-800-597-1686 or <http://www.BBBvideo.com>.

Rules of the Road class offered

The Center of Concern, 1580 N. Northwest Hwy., Park Ridge, will hold a "Rules of the Road" class on Friday, Sept. 5, at 1 p.m. in the Conference Room on the ground floor of the building.

Whether or not your driver's license is coming up for renewal in the near future, you would undoubtedly benefit from reviewing the Rules of the Road and focusing on your driving habits.

This class is offered in cooperation with the Secretary of State's Office and is open to all and there is no charge. We request that you register for the class by calling (847) 823-0453, so that we have sufficient materials available.

There is parking adjacent to the building and a ramp makes the building wheelchair accessible.

Motorist privacy requests outpace expectations

Thousands of Illinoisans already have responded to secretary of State George H. Ryan's invitation to keep their names off junk mail lists, exhausting supplies of forms at several license facilities and overwhelming a computer system designed to accept requests over the Internet.

Ryan issued the offer last week because his office has been ordered by a Springfield circuit judge to once again sell lists containing the names, addresses and other personal information about Illinois motorists to bulk mailers.

Ryan abolished the 70-year-old practice last January, but was immediately challenged in court by one of the nation's largest information resellers. An appeal of the lower court decision is pending.

This response confirms by belief that people want and expect government to keep their personal information private," Ryan said. "When people sign up for drivers licenses, they don't intend to sign up for junk mail or telemarketing lists."

Ryan's retooled "opt-out" program appears to be attracting far more participation than an earlier version, introduced in mid-1993. Between then and December 31, 1996, only 18,674 motorists asked to have their information shielded from bulk mailers.

By this morning, close to 3,000 forms already had been distributed at license facilities, and several hundred more had arrived by mail and over Ryan's Internet site.

Additional "Protect Private Information" forms were being trucked to several facilities today after motorists snapped up every form on hand at facilities in Rockford, Peoria, and Granite City and drew down supplies in other areas.

A total of 398 online forms filed over the weekend were lost when a higher-than-expected flow of forms overloaded a computer file. Motorists who filed an online opt-out request between 5 a.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. Monday should resubmit the form.

The forms are available at any driver services facility or by calling toll-free at 1-800-252-8980 or at 217/782-6854. Completed forms will be accepted at any drivers license facility, by mail or by fax at 217/524-0122.

The form also can be filed out and filed electronically over the secretary of state's World Wide Web site at <http://www.sos.state.il.us>. The form is accessible off the main page, just below the main graphic.

Additionally, the forms will be included with drivers license and license plate renewal notices mailed out by Ryan's office later this month.

In filling out the forms, consumers are asked to list their names as they appear on their drivers licenses as well as the license plate numbers or vehicle identification numbers for all vehicles they have registered with the state.

Opt-out forms filed in the past will continue to be honored.

Illinois CPA Society offers new 'Travelin' Topics' series

The Illinois CPA Society will be taking several of its professional education courses on the road with its new "Travelin' Topics" series. The series, which began in June 1997 and will continue through May 1998, will feature one or two educational topics each month to be held at four out of a total of six locations throughout Illinois.

The "Travelin' Topics" courses will replace the Illinois CPA Society's satellite conferences series, which allowed participants to interact directly with leading authorities from around the U.S. via satellite and an interactive One-Touch computer system. The new series will allow individuals throughout Illinois to take advantage of some of the association's more popular educational courses by taking them "on the road" to various cities and towns across the state, while still allowing participants to interact directly with experts, their peers and other professionals.

The "Travelin' Topics" course agenda and upcoming schedule through May 1998 is as follows:

- "The Best Federal Tax Update Course by Surgent & Associates"
  - September 8 -- H13 - Hoffman Estates
  - September 9 -- C1 - Matteson

'Taste the World' date set, now accepting beneficiary applications

First National Bank of Morton Grove and The Morton Grove Foundation have named March 5, 1998 as the date for the 10th annual Taste the World festival, a dining event that offers a chance to sample specialties of the area's finest restaurants.

Taste the World will again be held at Chateau Ritz in Niles and will be co-sponsored by First National Bank of Morton Grove and The Morton Grove Foundation. Funds raised at the event benefit local programs and projects that meet the community's charitable needs.

Applications are now being accepted from worthy organizations to benefit from the 1998 Taste the World. Complete details and applications are available by calling First National at (847) 965-4400, ext. 245. Applications are due by Sept. 12.

Proceeds from past events have sponsored many area organizations, including Association of Horizon, Misericordia, Maryville Academy, Orchard Village, Turning Point Behavioral Health Care Center, Starlight Foundation and Multiple Sclerosis.

The most recent Taste the World event featured more than 10 area restaurants, featuring samples of their varied ethnic and regional cuisines.

"Taste the World has become a community tradition," said William F. McCarty III, president of both First National Bank of Morton Grove and The Morton Grove Foundation. "Each year the event becomes more successful, and we are able to provide assistance to more organizations. We count on the support of area businesses and residents to make the 10th annual Des Plaines Chamber luncheon woman of similar age to the doctor, was downright angry. She said she and her husband had no use for the House of Windsor. She mentioned Prince Charles was a four letter word who chucked Diana aside in favor of his paramour after fathering two children with Diana.

Watching television, we thought the throngs of young people interviewed seemed to have a particular empathy for the princess. Somehow, they seemed to relate to Diana, feeling her past indignities with the prince, and admiring her style and elegance and simplicity which showed through her travails.

Like many Americans, we've often wondered about the British people's reverence for royalty. Those we've met in past years lived rather modest lives. Yet, they were happy to contribute to this lavish lifestyle of the King's and Queen's families.

We Americans also seem to have a similar love for celebrity. Movie stars, sports figures and now TV actors are lionized by us. Yanks Michael Jordan walks on water and the latest movie stars and singing groups are idolized by many of us. Politicians sometimes hypnotize us but they're down the scale of idolized heroes in America. They've had a free fall in Americans' eyes since the days of Teddy and Franklin Roosevelt, though Presidents Ike and Reagan had many worshipful followers, not unlike the celluloid and guitar twanging stars.

The media coverage of this tragedy may have inflamed the strong feelings of the many. The instant analysis, immediately after the crash, feeds upon itself during such tragedies. The reporters and interviewees repeated over and over again about the meaning of the accident and the feeling they had for the princess. Many were angry at the paparazzi photographers who doggedly chased her in pursuit of shooting pictures of Diana. They were the initial enemy. But then Sunday it was reported the driver had an excessive amount of alcohol under his belt when the crash occurred at speeds of from 60 to 120 MPH. It redirected the story and the goofy photographers were no longer the primary cause of the accident.

In bygone years there have been many incidents of sudden deaths of famous people which momentarily gave center stage to people's lives. The President Kennedy murder seemed to cause the world to stop for a few days. Bobby Kennedy's death, just a short time after Martin Luther King's murder, gave equal anguish to many during those wild 1960's days.

In our neanderthal days, long before television came on the scene, 72 point headlines with Extra newspaper editions caught up America similarly to today's tragedies. In our southside Irish neighborhood, Notre Dame's coach, Knute Rockne, was killed in an airplane crash in 1931. Our neighborhood was traumatized by his sudden death. Notre Dame football was a second religion in those days and the leader of that religion had fallen. Not too many years later Charles Lindbergh's child was kidnapped which rocked the country. And during this same time humorist Will Rogers and his pilot, Wiley Post, were killed in an air crash which stunned Americans for many days. It was another era but the reactions to these tragedies were not dissimilar.

who would come to the center as specified by Ms. Pintang's petition. Mayor Blase also asked about whether an age requirement was necessary for the ordinance.

"We want to keep an age limit on this so we don't get into areas we don't want to be in," Blase said.

Under the proposal submitted by Ms. Pintang, the center would be equipped to care for persons 60 and over.

Mahoney and Trustee Bondi were concerned about whether younger people could also come to the center. These would be people who might be in need of a day care situation because they had been handicapped due to a heart attack or other unexpected circumstance.

Morrissey addressed this issue and presented a qualifying proposal for the Board to adopt with its ordinance. She said that in cases involving "anybody younger than 60, the situation would have to be evaluated" by her office.

She stated that in the adult day care centers she had seen, most of the participants were aged 70 and over.

Following this discussion, the Board passed the ordinance and approved the adult day center to be operated at 7900 Milwaukee, percentage of students who did not meet state standards decreased in all subject areas, with particularly notable declines in writing and science.

"Hard work and dedication need to be celebrated," said Superintendent, Vickie Markavitch. "The improved scores and the upward trend that this data represents is the result of work that began over two years ago."

At that time District 219 analyzed the IGAP and published a list of objectives that was examined by the teachers. Their input, along with additional analysis, helped to identify and address gaps in the curriculum. Beginning last year, students who did not meet the state standards for performance were also provided with eight weeks of small group tutoring.

During last year's contract negotiations the Board of Education proposed an innovative incentive plan which offered merit pay to District 219 employees if students performed well on IGAP tests. The score increases in math and writing met the criteria set forth in this plan, and district employees will therefore receive a portion of the money. The teachers will share 40% of their $200,000 incentive pool and the support staff will receive 40% of their $40,000 pool.

"The incentive program is a nice way to salute success," stated Markavitch. "However we have to remember that it is not what caused the rise in scores. It is simply a token of appreciation; a way to acknowledge that the hard work and dedication of our educators in achieving these results deserves to be celebrated."

The $250 teacher bonus came in for criticism from Jim Dou-

tachment can be utilized to cut through roots in the sewer main. Debris is flushed to the nearest manhole, where it is vacuumed out for disposal. All of these functions are completed with one piece of equipment—the Vector. The sewers are cleaned in sections, from manhole to manhole, generally a distance of about 350 feet.

Following crews feed a miniature television camera (designed for sewer mains) through the area just cleaned. Items that may need attention receive closer inspection by maneuvering the camera's lens. A videotape record is kept for later review.

Since the operator is able to inspect the sewer and note the location of the camera, areas in need of repair can be determined quite accurately. Likewise, if the sewer main is in good condition, money is not wasted replacing the main, and instead, utilized to replace those mains found to be in disrepair.

Inspecting sewer mains, not a job you may think about, is another top notch service you Village provides.

ghery, president of the Niles Township Federation of Teachers, who told the Chicago Tribune that Niles teachers would insist on taking the bonus out of the contract if administrators suggested that the bonus offer made the teachers work harder.

Markavitch told the Tribune that the test scores went up because the district extensively revised its curriculum and offered intensive tutoring to about 300 students. The improved scores resulted from work that began over two years ago, Markavitch said.

The "pay-for-scores" approach, which is a positive way of holding teachers accountable for student performance, is not popular, however. Fred B. Lifton of Robbins, Schwartz, Nicholas, Lifton & Taylor, the law firm representing hundreds of school boards throughout Illinois, told the Tribune that he has heard of no other teacher contract that provides incentive pay to teachers for improved student test scores.

Mel Heller, a Loyola University professor of educational leadership and policy studies, termed the teacher bonus plan "one of the dumbest things we can do" because standardized tests do not accurately measure the effect of a teacher on a student.

However, Bob Haisman, president of the Illinois Education Association told the Tribune that rewarding the whole school might be an effective way of improving scores. "Maybe it's a way," Haisman said. "We don't want to stand in the way of experimentation."

Kids get real taste of Viking Life at Viking Fest

Children who enjoy the make-believe world of TV and video games can have an even better time making believe they are Vikings at this year's 18th Annual Scandinavian Day Viking Fest, which will take place Sunday, September 7, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Vasa Park in South Elgin.

At the fest, kids (and grown-ups, too!) can visit a "Viking Village," participate in ancient Nordic games, pet Norwegian Fjord horses, and eat hot dogs from Iceland, Denmark or Norway! Also, the first 100 kids who come to the fest will receive free Viking ship t-shirts.

The Viking Village, which is set up by the combined Viking Age Clubs of Minneapolis, Madison, Wisconsin, and Illinois, gives kids an idea of how people really lived during the Old Norse/Viking era of 800 A.D. to 1200 A.D. Tents made of native weaving or animal skins form a circular campsite and act as a backdrop for members of the club who demonstrate Viking cooking techniques and crafts.

Children who like animals will enjoy petting the purebred Norwegian Fjord horses. These small but powerful horses have friendly, gentle dispositions and have been a part of Norwegian family life for over 2,000 years.

Kids interested in sports can try their hand at a few Viking games and see how they measure up to children of the Old Norse era, who were expected to develop abilities in over 57 areas. Some of the games young Vikings can enjoy under their parents' or guardian's supervision are balance beam dueling, ax-throwing and spear throwing.

Of course, after such vigorous physical contests, Vikings of any age need to replenish their strength. No matter what their tastes, they will have plenty to choose from including: Norske Pølser in Lefse, Norwegian hot dogs in a thin potato bread wrapper; Danske Pølser, Danish hot dogs, which are very red, long and skinny, and made with pork and beef; Aebleskivers, a baked or fried Danish puff pastry that is filled with jelly; and Svenska Väfflor med glass och lingon, a waffle with ice cream and lingonberries. Other more traditional treats, such as Swedish pancakes, American hamburgers, barbeued pork and ribs, and boiled buttered corn-on-the-cob are also available.
