Morton Grove is in the process of assessing cable service to that community in preparation for negotiating its franchise agreement, which will expire in 1999. The original franchise 15-year agreement was made in 1979 with Continental Cablevision, purchased last year by Media One. A five-year extension was agreed to in 1994. About 400 residents and businesses responded to a survey in the summer edition of the village newsletter.

New Health & Wellness Center director named

The director of the new Niles Health and Wellness Center is a 40-year-old Joliet woman who said she believes the center will improve life for Niles residents. Teena Mackey said that the Mayor wants the health center to be an affordable way for people to develop good health. Residents will have many options at the center and will receive an initial fitness assessment. The equipment will be introduced to them and they will be encouraged to make lifestyle changes without getting bored, Mackey said.

Mackey, who worked at the Weber Leisure Center in Skokie as superintendent of revenue services for seven years, has a master's degree in administration of leisure services from Aurora University. She was superintendent of recreation at the Joliet Park District for 15 years prior to that. Mackey said that working at the new center will be exciting for her. The new pool will be a great attraction for families, she said. The new center will also house the Senior Center and the Human

Be sure doors are locked and try to be aware of any suspicious vehicle or persons in the neighborhood, Huinker advises. If you see anything suspicious, give us a call," he added. Police are working on some "decent leads" in the two burglaries that targeted elderly victims

Nearly $200,000 in losses since 1995 opening

Taxpayers billed for more O'Shanter losses

Despite the Niles Park District's many efforts to improve business, O'Shanter's Food & Spirits, 6700 Howard St., lost $50,000 between January and August of this year, and more than $139,000 from August 1995 to October 1996. An ad campaign in local newspapers and bridal magazines, and an effort to attract customers from DiLeo's Restaurant in the Edgebrook area of Chicago which closed during the summer have failed to stem the losses, according to district financial reports.

Exchange employee found scamming accounts

A customer service manager at the collectible exchange in the 9300 block of Milwaukee Avenue reported that during routine employee monitoring a 25-year-old male employee from Chicago was discovered altering customers' account information and then entering returned or never received merchandise to the accounts. Refund checks were then automatically issued to the fraudulent names on the accounts and mailed to the changed addresses. To date, 20 accounts have been discovered to have been tampered with, and $8,711.33 has been diverted from the exchange to eight different people who are not customers but whose names were entered on accounts by the suspect. A follow-up investigation is pending.

Lions Candy Day Fundraiser set

Friday, October 10, will see the Lions Club of Niles participate in a state-wide fund raising program to assist the visually- and hearing-impaired, with Mayor Nicholas Blase proclaiming this day as "Lions Candy Day in Niles" in an effort to assist the Lions of Niles to promote this fund raiser and to make the residents of Niles aware of their cause.

Dirt Buster Car Wash located at 900 Civic Center Drive (in the Civic Center Plaza just north of Omni's) will donate $1 for every car wash that day to the Lions Candy Day Fund-raiser. The hours of the car wash are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Animal warden closes 17-year career

Ernie Passarelli has many heart-warming, tail-wagging stories from his 17-year career as animal warden for the village of Niles.

Honored at the September meeting of the Niles Village Board, the retiring Passarelli remembered his many close encounters with dozens of dogs, cats, raccoons, skunks and even a few goats, pigs and alligators.

Passarelli, 71, has lived in Niles for 37 years. He will continue to work part-time at the police station. He started his career with the village in 1961 as an auxiliary officer. In 1980, he replaced John Morgan as animal control warden.

Passarelli estimates that he has set 500 traps for raccoons and skunks during a career which he described as very satisfying. Most of his animal stories have happy endings, he said.

Passarelli's plans include spending more time on his boat on Bluff Lake near Antioch.

impaired. And as always, not one penny of the funds collected will be used for administrative purposes. The Lions Club of Niles retains a small portion of the collected funds for special local humanitarian projects. The ongoing, special local projects supported by this fund raiser include the provision of eye exams and glass to needy residents of Niles with special emphasis aimed at students in the Niles elementary schools. Hearing screening and hearing aids have also been provided to needy residents by the Lions of Niles. The Lions Club of Niles does not limit its efforts to eye glasses and hearing aids. It has sponsored a "Chris" Radio at the Niles Public Library to allow any visually impaired resident to keep up with current events. Niles Lions were influential in having local Niles events included in the "Chris" Radio programming.

The Niles Lions Club remit a majority of the funds collected to the Lions of Illinois Foundation. The Lions of Illinois Foundation provides many services throughout the state that no one club could afford. Among these state-wide services are Camp Lions for the sight- and hearing-impaired, low vision screening programs and infant hearing screening programs, diabetic eye screenings, and support of the Eye Research Institute at the University of Illinois Circle Campus.

Niles Lions President Thomas Arzt has urged his Lions members to make Candy Day a success by volunteering their time on Friday, October 10. Lion Cary has challenged the Niles Lions to surpass last year's collections for Candy Day. The Lions Club of Niles asks the cooperation of the general public to assist in providing these services by giving generously and thanks the community for its support.

'Slamming' - - - a big problem

One of the biggest problems in the telecommunications business, and one that consumers are increasingly concerned about is "slamming". Ameritech customer complaints about slamming are up more than 80 percent this year.

RE/MAX All Stars
Richard Harczak
Buying or Selling, Let Me Help You!
RE/MAX All Stars
965-5544

Despite punitive actions taken by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to crack down on slammers, the problem is growing. The FCC settled a slamming complaint with AT&T in December; yet, of more than 45,000 complaints Ameritech has received in 1997, 39 percent were attributed to alleged slamming by AT&T. Clearly, the current rules aren't working.

The FCC intends to tighten the rules on slamming this year. In the meantime, consumers need to be vigilant. Never sign anything without reading it carefully. Don't sign "cash bonus" checks or contest entry forms without reading the fine print.

If you do get slammed, call your local phone company to have your service switched back. Call the company that switched you and say that you will pay only the charges your preferred carrier would have imposed. If the carrier will not drop the additional charges, contact the FCC at 1-888-225-5322.

Slamming is a huge issue for all business and residential consumers. We want them to have the facts so they can avoid becoming victims of slamming.

Teach youngsters early about school bus safety

Riding to school on the traditional yellow bus is an exciting activity for a new student, and parents should stress safety from the very first day of school, says AAA-Chicago Motor Club.

More than 23 million pupils ride school buses each year in the United States, and being transported to school generally poses few dangers. However, an estimated 134 persons, including 33 pedestrians, were killed in school bus-related crashes in 1995 (the latest national statistics available).

Knowing where to stand and being alert to traffic while waiting for the bus, behaving while riding it and exiting it safely can make an important difference in a student's life.

Students are injured most often when the school bus approaches or leaves a loading area," says Brian Sterling, AAA-CMC's manager of public affairs. "Problems usually occur when children near the bus move out of the driver's line of sight. This might happen when they bend down to pick up something, or walk behind the bus or where they can't be seen by the driver."

To ensure that the ride to and from school is as safe as possible, AAA-CMC offers these safety tips for parents of first-time school bus riders.

"Make sure the student leaves home early enough to arrive at the bus stop on time.

"See that your child waits for the bus in a safe place well off the roadway and remains quiet and orderly. Remind him or her that horseplay can cause someone to fall or be pushed into the path of the bus or another vehicle.

"Tell youngsters to remain seated (and quiet) while the bus is in motion. This is especially important at railroad grade crossings, where the bus driver is required by law to stop, look and listen for approaching trains before moving.

"Stress the importance of keeping aisles clear at all times. Bookbags or lunch boxes should never be left where someone might trip over them.

"Make sure your child knows the dangers of throwing things inside the bus or out the window. An object might hit the school bus driver or another motorist who could lose control and cause a collision.

"Let children know the importance of keeping their heads and arms inside the bus at all times.

"Remind students to avoid snagging backpack straps, drawstrings or loose clothing on bus handrails when exiting. If they need to cross the street, tell them to do so well in front of the bus where they can see the bus driver. This way, there's a good chance the driver can see them, too.

Street gang activity in Niles not borne out by facts

Now and then I hear about concerns that street gangs are taking over our parks and shopping centers. These concerns are expressed by citizens who have observed a group of young people in a park or shopping center acting as most young people do. Based on these observations, a perception is formulated that in many instances may not be real. Let's talk about perception versus reality. Perceptions are formed by becoming aware via the senses, seeing, hearing, etc. Reality pertains to what is occurring in fact. The real presence of street gangs in neighborhoods, parks and/or shopping centers brings with it certain experiences in terms of crime. Some examples of these experiences include events involving weapons violations, drive-by shootings, random acts of extortion and intimidation and open drug dealing. It is also important to note that many hard core gang members are not teens, but rather adults in their 20s and 30s and possibly older. I want to share with you some Niles crime statistics regarding our parks and shopping centers. Please keep in mind those offenses that are indicative of hard core street gangs as mentioned above. In 1996, Niles experienced 0 murders, 0 drive-by shootings, and 0 complaints of extortion. We have no evidence of open and notorious drug dealing.

Niles Police Department urges residents to BEAT AUTO THEFT (B.A.T.)

The Niles Police Department is co-sponsoring with the Secretary of State's Office an auto theft prevention program called BEAT AUTO THEFT (B.A.T.). Any motor vehicle owner may participate in B.A.T. by completing a registration form available at the Niles Police Department. Participants are sent a reflective B.A.T. decal to be placed in the rear window of their vehicle. If police see the vehicle being driven between 1 a.m. and 5 a.m., they have permission to stop it to determine if the driver is the owner or has the owner's permission to be driving the vehicle.

B.A.T. is of greatest use for people who do not normally drive between 1 a.m. and 5 a.m., such as senior citizens, persons who work a midnight shift, and parents of a teenager. If the owner needs to use the vehicle in the middle of the night, he or she may be asked by the police to produce a valid driver's license and an auto registration card to verify the ownership of the vehicle. If a persons driving habits change, it's easy to withdraw from the B.A.T. program by sending in a cancellation form and by removing the B.A.T. decal.

There is a $5 one-time fee for registration and decal "per vehicle", but until January 01, 1998 the fee will be waived. B.A.T. is funded in part by a grant from the Illinois Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Council. B.A.T. type programs have been successful in New York, Texas, Virginia, and in Florida. Auto theft is the nation's fourth most common type property crime. B.A.T. offers another way to protect property by making it riskier for a thief to steal your vehicle. Questions about B.A.T. may be addressed to Sgt. John Fryksdale #51 Niles Police Department at 847/588-6506. Or the Illinois Secretary of State's Office at (1-800-608-0561).

I GOT SOME SPATTERS OF 9-14 ON MY KITCHEN LINOLEUM THAT I DID NOT NOTICE UNTIL SOME DAYS LATER. HOW CAN I REMOVE THEM?
 B-M adheres so well to just about any surface that the dried film is hard to remove. Using rubber gloves, try washing it with a piece of toweling wet with a 1:1 solution of ammonia and warm water. If vigorous scrubbing does not remove it, leave the rag on the spots for a period of time to soften the film, or try straight household ammonia.

Fall Festival comes to Pheasant Run

Pheasant Run Resort brings a Fall Festival to you loaded with fun for the entire family! Our Oktoberfest Celebration on Saturday, October 11 is a tradition you'll be sure to enjoy - sample authentic German food and dance to the "oompah" sounds of "The Alpiners". October 31 and November 1 don't miss our Halloween Weekend, complete with tricks and treats, a Masquerade Ball and ghoulish fun and games. Collect the kids, grab your garb, and head out for the festivities!

Oktoberfest will take place in Pheasant Run's Atrium, featuring a variety of entertainment and food. Listen to the sounds of the authentic German Oompah band "The Alpiners", complete with lederhosen, from 8 - 11 p.m. And what is Oktoberfest without genuine German Cuisine? Sample bratwurst, knackwurst, sauerkraut, schnitzel, strudel, German beer and more! This Oktoberfest is even open to the public! Mansur Daya, general manager of Pheasant Run Resort states, "I am thrilled to bring this event to the community. In an effort to welcome people to view the resort and partake in the Saturday Night festivities, we've decided to forego a cover charge."

If you are thinking about making a weekend of it, Oktoberfest overnight packages are available. During your stay, visit the ever-popular Scarecrow Festival in downtown St. Charles, and we'll even provide you with $20 in food tokens to spend at Pheasant Run's Oktoberfest! Kids can enjoy pumpkin painting, pony rides and plenty more on Saturday. Overnight accommodations are $159 per couple, plus add a second night for only $70!

Halloween Weekend is good old-fashioned Fall fun for the entire family! On Saturday, there's trick or treating in the hotel for kids, plus pumpkin painting and pony rides! In the evening from 8 p.m. to midnight, join us for a Masquerade Ball hosted by a WPNT 100.3 FM Deejay. Complete with a costume contest and cash prizes, fortune tellers, and a live band you're sure to have a frightfully good time! This event guarantees fun for all ages and is open to the public for a $5 cover charge! Fright Night scary movies provide kids their own Halloween fun at the Kids Club on Friday and Saturday nights. This Halloween Weekend package includes two nights of monstrous savings for just $229!

Oktoberfest and Halloween Packages include room accommodations, use of the full-service health club facilities and up to two children (12 and under) can stay in the room free! Don't miss your chance to kick off the Fall festivities and enjoy some Pheasant Run fun with your family. Call (630) 584-6300 to make your reservations today! While you're here, don't miss Cabaret Tour of Broadway, in Pheasant Run's Dinner Theatre, only playing through October 26, 1997!

Shedd Aquarium to lead travelers on 12-day whale watching trip

A 12-day shipboard adventure, sponsored by the John G. Shedd Aquarium and designed by Oceanic Society Expeditions, to the lagoons and bays of Baja, California for one of the best whale watching and natural history expeditions anywhere, will take place Jan. 31-Feb. 11, 1998.

This winter, thousands of gray whales will migrate from the Arctic waters of Alaska to the protected lagoons of Baja's West Coast and Sea of Cortez to breed, calve and nurture their young. Adventurous travelers can join an expert from Shedd Aquarium's marine mammal department to observe whale behavior, learn about their habitat and photograph these majestic creatures from an arm's length away.

Trip participants will stay aboard the 28-passenger M/V Spirit of Adventure, an 88-foot-long vessel outfitted with a spacious library and VCR for educational presentations, hot showers and three skiffs. Meals will be served and prepared by a professional cook and many special diets can be accommodated with sufficient notice.

Trip availability is on a first-come, first serve basis. Cost of the trip is $2,600, not including transportation to and from San Diego/Cabo San Lucas. For itinerary and registration forms, contact the Shedd's travel programs department at (312) 939-2438, x3311.

Area young people discover "Something Special in the air"

This summer, seven high school students—who were previously abused and neglected—learned first hand just how special American Airlines really is—both on the ground and in the air.

As part of a public-private partnership involving Maryville Academy in Des Plaines, American Airlines and its Summer Assist Program, and The Workforce Development Council (formerly the Private Industry Council of Northern Cook County-PIC), the seven teens served as assistants to American's passenger service agents at O'Hare International Airport.

"American Airlines hires temporary workers each summer to help with the busy travel season," said Bernie DeSena, American's Vice President-Chicago. "With the help of Maryville and The Workforce Council, we were especially pleased to employ young people who might not otherwise have had the opportunity to work at the world's busiest airport."

"This was a first 'real-life' job for many of these young people and they proved that they could the job," added DeSena. "The teens were paid above average wages and were awarded round-trip tickets to anywhere American flies as part of the Summer Assist program. We wanted them to know that there are rewards for staying in school, getting an education, and doing a good job."

As part of the Summer Assist program, the teens provided American's passengers with connecting gate information. They also helped the passenger boarding process.

Maryville and School District 214 (Nipper School) recruited the teens for the program while The Workforce Council used its federal Job Training Partnership Act funds to hire a job coach and provide transportation for the teens to and from the airport.

In addition to its involvement with the Summer Assist Program, Maryville is recognizing American's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, Robert L. Crandall with its Standing Tall Award on October 24th. (Tickets for the dinner are available by calling Maryville at 847/298-1820.)

Snake wall to protect rattlers in Willow Rd. project

As state transportation experts and building engineers look ahead to the development of the 1,100 acre former Glenview Naval Air Station site, they are already planning much-needed improvements to Willow Road, which now bears 60,000 vehicles daily at Sanders Road and 37,000 through Northfield.

Many high-minded concerns are already being discussed, along with one very down-to-earth issue: snakes.

State transportation engineers are concerned for the survival of the eastern massasauga rattlesnake, which inhabits the area and is already on the endangered list. A road-widening project planned for Willow Road north of Glenview could threaten the snake's survival.

Scientists fear that the snakes will become victims of "road kill." Already, a few snake traffic fatalities are found along Willow Road. State traffic engineers are so concerned that snakes will crawl onto the new wider road and be killed that they are working with state and federal biologists to develop a first-of-its-kind solution to the problem: a snake wall.

Jarrod Cebulski, an engineer and Willow Road project manager for the Illinois Department of Transportation, termed the snake wall new territory for IDOT. The wall would run about 1,000 feet along the north side of Willow Road from Sanders Road to the Des Plaines River.

While design, composition and estimated cost of the protective wall have not been determined yet, it will probably extend three feet above ground and be embedded three feet in the ground. It may be made of concrete and will probably contain cobblestones and crevices so that snakes sunning themselves near or on the wall can quickly slither away if predators threaten.

Another problem is finding earth moving equipment that will have the least impact on the snakes in the area. The earth moving will have to be done carefully and with small equipment, said Cebulski, who also said he hopes that biologists working in collaboration with IDOT will be able to relocate any snakes that turn up during the road work.

Federal regulators instituted a policy of collaboration between transportation departments and environmental officials a few years ago to prevent potential environmental conflicts before construction on large scale projects even begins.

The snake wall is just a small portion of the Willow Road plan that will cost an estimated total of $60 million and will run about six miles from Sanders Road to the Edens Expressway. The existing four lanes on the west end of the road will be expanded to six lanes, while the two lanes running through the Village of Northfield will be increased to four lanes.

A preliminary design should be on display for public review by the end of the year. The year 2002 is projected as a possible completion date for the road-widening project.

The eastern massasauga rattlesnake was common throughout the central Midwest and some parts of the East. It ranged from northern Illinois through eastern Iowa, parts of Missouri, Pennsylvania and even New York. Today, however, its range is severely limited and it remains in only a few scattered sites in Illinois where it is considered an endangered species.

Compared to rattlesnakes that grow up to 96 inches in length, the eastern massasauga rattlesnake is small, growing to only 30 to 36 inches in length. It is also a shy creature that will likely hide when people are near, according to Chris Phillips, a biologist with the Illinois Natural History Survey and one of the scientists working with engineers on the project.

However, Phillips cautions against trying to pick up the snakes, which, he said, are vipers with fangs and venom that they would surely use in self-defense.

Phillips added that the snakes would have virtually no chance of surviving against the traffic without the wall. The snakes are part of our natural heritage, and as such should be preserved for the next generation, Phillips said.

Free Lakefront Running Path map offered

You won't get lost on the Chicago Lakefront Running Path with the Chicago Area Runners Association (CARA) new running path map.

The handy, easy-to-carry, fold-out map lists all 1/2 mile markers on the recently remeasured 18-mile long path, plus water fountains, bathrooms, and the CARA Running Board at Diversey Ave., where race information is posted.

"Runners wanting to know the exact distance they've covered, or those keeping track of split times, need to stay on the running path," said David Patt, CARA Executive Director. "The running path splits from the bike path at North Ave., and for most of the distance up to Bryn Mawr," he added. "Runners need to cross the foot bridge over Lake Shore Drive, and stay on the cinder path along the lagoon. North of Belmont, they stay right next to the Lake."

Maps are free and are available by contacting CARA at (312) 666-9836 or by e-mail: cararuns@aol.com. Information about CARA is also available at: www.cararuns.org.

Chicago Area Runners Association (CARA) is a 19-year-old membership organization promoting health and fitness through recreational running and competitive racing.
