New 'state of the art' Niles Library set to open by April

by Rosemary Tirio

After much controversy and negotiation with the new landlord and the community, the long-awaited Niles Public Library is finally set to open by April.

The March 2 incident began at 6:54 p.m. when police were called to a report of a structure fire. When they arrived, they found a chimney fire at a home on Ehinger Avenue. The fire spread to the roof and attic, and firefighters worked for over an hour to extinguish the blaze.

Despite angry protests and threats to the effect that the library was a "symbol of how things are going to get better," the library opened on schedule. "It's a sign of how far we've come," said one community member. "We've worked hard to make the library a reality, and we're finally going to have it."

The meeting will be held in the main meeting room at the society's headquarters, and refreshments will be available. The society looks forward to seeing everyone at the meeting.
Wintry fun can be also dangerous. For children, some of the biggest dangers are skis, snowboards, and other winter sports equipment. Children are more likely to fall or be hit by other children or adults while skiing than they are in other winter sports. Children under age 10 are at the highest risk for ski-related injuries. To minimize the risk of injury, parents should:

- Teach children proper techniques.
- Use protective gear such as helmets and padding.
- Avoid crowded areas.
- Stay on designated ski slopes.

Avoiding ski-related injuries can help keep your family safe and healthy this winter season.
