

From the Left Hand

by Bud Besser

Ecumenically speaking, we were really attuned into this past week's religious activities.

Wednesday night we went to Tenebrae services at Holy Name Cathedral with Diane and Joe Miller. Saturday night we were at my sister's house for Seder dinner on the second night of Passover.

The word "Tenebrae" is a Latin word for "darkness" or "shadows". Alongside the altar at Holy Name the chorus sang the ancient psalms and lamentations while the candles on a candelabrum on the altar were gradually extinguished until only a lone candle remained.

Briefly... the length of the Lord's Prayer... the Cathedral remains in darkness while parishioners meditate on the mystery of Christ's death and the apparent victory of darkness and evil in their lives. Then, participants rumble their feet and bang their books against their seats symbolizing the earthquake at the time of the resurrection. One candle light then reappears and everyone leaves.

Auto accidents mar holiday weekend

by Rosemary Tirio

Two serious accidents occurred over the Easter/Passover weekend in Niles. However, no deaths or serious injuries were involved in either mishap.

Around 8:25 p.m. Friday, April 10, a 51-year-old Chicago man driving a 1987 Chevrolet Suburban northwestbound in the 7300 block of Milwaukee Avenue failed to yield to a 1990 Ford LXE driven southeastbound by a 30-year-old Northlake woman and was struck when he turned left onto westbound Jarvis Street. His vehicle continued westbound and crashed into the Jarvis Street side of a building in the 7300 block of Milwaukee Avenue.

Police found the driver unconscious lying across the front seat.

Five join auxiliary police staff

Five new auxiliary police officers were approved by the Village Board Feb. 24, bringing the total number of volunteer officers to 55.

Auxiliary officers assist Niles police by directing traffic, overseeing crowds and generally freeing up regular officers so they can spend their time and effort more effectively.

Police Chief Raymond Giovannelli praised the volunteer force noting how useful they are.

Original building still under construction; 35,000 sq. ft. completed for library return

Niles Library back home after 14 month absence

by Rosemary Tirio

After more than a year in temporary headquarters, the Niles Library returned to its original home at Oakton Street and Waukegan Road, re-opening

April 2. Library Administrator Cary Czarnecki was pleased that the facility was opening on time, which, after construction delays, was actually two months later than originally planned. The library was scheduled to reopen Feb. 1. Mayor Nicholas Blase had to assist in negotiations with the A.B. Dick Co., new owner of the library's temporary headquarters at 7400 Caldwell Ave., which granted the library a two-month extension at the same $40,000 per month rental.

Although the construction is not complete, 35,000 square feet, enough to allow the library staff to move its considerable holdings of 200,000 items, mostly books and video and audio tapes, has been renovated. Czarnecki said that the return move went very well. "We vacated the leased building on Mon-

Chicago man shot in Lincolnwood parking lot

In the first murder in Lincolnwood in over two years, a Chicago man was found barely conscious and suffering from a gunshot wound to the groin in a parking lot between two industrial buildings in the 7000 block of North Lawndale Avenue around 9:55 p.m. March 29.

Luis Javier Rubio, 32, who resided in the 2100 block of Highland Avenue on Chicago's North Side, and worked at a car dealership in Bensenville, had no criminal record, leaving Lincolnwood police in a quandary as to why he

First Polish Cathedral in the United States

Archaeologists continue to research and probe to establish and secure the facts relative to ancient history and then publish their findings.

The History Book Committee of All Saints Cathedral Parish in Chicago, Illinois has spent years searching archives, history books, land deeds and related documents as well as interviewing elders to gather factual information; the result being the publication of "The History of All Saints Cathedral Parish of the Polish National Catholic Church, Chicago, Illinois."

This 176 page, beautifully bound book is a tribute to our founders who in 1895 established All Saints Parish. In 1897, when Father Anthony Kozlowski was consecrated a bishop in Bern, Switzerland by the Old Catholic Bishops of the Union of Utrecht, he became the first Polish Bishop in the United States. All Saints Church was elevated to the status of "Cathedral," and was the first Polish Cathedral in the United States.

Great pride is taken in this fact and we offer this Limited Edition Publication to you. The cost per copy is $22 plus $3 shipping and handling. Simply send your request and remittance payable to: All Saints Cathedral Parish, 920 N. Northwest Highway, Park Ridge, Illinois 60068.

Please include your name, address, plus City, State and Zip Code.

Why Select A Family Owned Funeral Home?

*Prices are traditionally much lower than those of corporate owned funeral homes.

*Our funeral directors and staff do not work on commissions. They will never pressure you to buy something that you don't want or need.

*All of our preparation work is done at our funeral homes by licensed funeral directors. Your loved one will not be transported to a "factory like" embalming facility.

*You will be treated with the respect and appreciation that only a family owned business can offer.

*We consistently upgrade our facilities and equipment to offer families only the best.

*The comfort of knowing the person you're dealing with. You will always see a familiar face at our chapels. Our staff is not rotated among dozens of funeral homes.

Dist 219 board proposes off-campus lunch limits

Students at the two District 219 schools may become the center of a controversy spurred by a proposal by Board president Sam Borek to prohibit off-campus lunch for students not cutting the mustard in studies, attendance or behavior.

Borek's proposal, made at the March 30 school board meeting, would prohibit off-campus lunch for those students with less than a 2.0 (C) average, with unexcused absences or with discipline referrals.

Freshmen, who are not allowed off campus at present, would not be affected by the proposal. Restricting sophomores from the off-campus lunch privilege is also being considered, as is prohibiting anyone in any year level with a grade of D from leaving the campus for lunch.

The proposal will cause far more consternation on the Niles North campus, which is across the street from the Old Orchard Shopping Center where students can find plenty of lunchtime restaurants. At Niles West, however, only about 260 of the eligible 1600 students leave the campus for lunch because of the dearth of suitable restaurants in the area, according to Principal Roger Stein.

Board member Gail Stone supported the proposal as a way of curbing drug use among students, saying that school officials could monitor students more closely if they are not permitted off campus.

Assistant Supt. Carolyn Anderson expressed concern that the proposal would cause a great deal of controversy as the open campus is so deeply ingrained in the students. She predicted that parents and students would not like the proposal.

Board member Mark Cohen stated that the board was acting too quickly on the proposal.

One snag to the proposal limitation of the off-campus lunch privilege is monitoring which students are eligible for off-campus lunch. School officials said creating and checking lists of students with discipline referrals, unexcused absences and low marks would be extremely burdensome for school personnel.

Your dream house in a kit

We have repair kits, model kits, tool kits, kits for when you want to build, repair or just about anything, but can you believe a "house in a kit"?

The Niles Historical Society is pleased to bring to Niles Jeanette Fields who has researched this project and will bring us history, stories, pictures and anecdotes from several years ago when Sears, Roebuck and Company sold kits to build your own dream house. There are several of these homes in the area and if you have one or know of someone who has one, please let us know so it can be added to the files. These homes were either bungalow or mansion types; made of the very best materials and have withstood the perils of time.

All programs presented by the Niles Historical Society are family-oriented and open to the public. Come early, take a tour of the Museum (docs are on hand), see the continuing improvements made in the building, our military exhibit and three floors of changing displays.

Refreshments will be served. Admission is free but donations are requested.

The Niles Historical Society will hold a brief meeting at 1 p.m. and Jeanette Fields will present "Your Dream House in a Kit" beginning at 2 p.m.

The Niles Historical Museum, 8970 Milwaukee Ave., is open every Wednesday and Friday 10 a.m.-3 p.m.; other times by appointment only. Call 847-390-0160 for more information.

Park Ridge Community Open House scheduled

Live music under a tent, tours of the Park Ridge Police Department, and police, fire and public works vehicles for children to see up close are some of the highlights of the upcoming Park Ridge Community Open House. The event will be held on Saturday, April 18 from 10 a.m. to noon dually at the Park Ridge Public Library and at City Hall, with music, weather permitting, under the Welcoming Tent in Hodges Park. Music will be provided by the Lincoln Middle School Jazz Band and a Maine East High School group.

More than 70 organizations are expected to participate in the Open House, now in its eighth year. Participants will include community clubs and organizations, schools, churches, social service agencies and local governments. All elected officials representing the Park Ridge area have also been invited to meet with their constituents.

This year, for the first time, all individuals who visit the booths at city hall and the library can be eligible to have their name entered into a raffle to win food and gifts from local merchants. Also, all children who count the footprints between the library and city hall can be eligible to win gift certificates from What's the Scoop! Bring your "footprint guess" to either the library or city hall on Saturday, April 18 to be eligible. The closest answer at each location will win the gift certificates.

The Open House is sponsored by Maine Township High School District 207, the Park Ridge Chamber of Commerce, Park Ridge-Niles School District 64, the Park Ridge Public Library and the City of Park Ridge and the Park Ridge Park and Recreation District.

All new Park Ridge residents are especially encouraged to attend to find out everything they ever wanted to know about their community. For further information, call 825-3123.

"Political Campaign Buttons 1895-1998" featured

The Morton Grove Historical Society will meet on Tuesday, April 21, at 7 p.m. in the Baxter Room of the Morton Grove Library. Following a brief general meeting, Dr. Richard Felicetti will present "Political Campaign Buttons 1895-1998."

Dr. Felicetti, a retired Principal of Elgin High School, and currently a part-time travel tour director with Adventure Destinations in Elgin, has pursued his hobby of collecting political campaign buttons. He brings his collection and enthusiasm to a program that follows presidential elections. Both his campaign buttons and the letters he has received from the candidates will bring to life political campaigns.

Light refreshments will be served following Dr. Felicetti's program. There is no admission charge, and the public is welcome.

Township officials perform for seniors

Several Maine Township elected officials volunteered to drop all inhibitions and joined staff members and township seniors in a musical program that brought many entertainment "Legends" on stage at 2 performances, one at the Chateau Ritz in Niles, and Grazie's in Des Plaines. From left: Trustee Bob Dudydz as Tarzan, Highway Commissioner Bob Provenzano as George M. Cohan, Trustee Carol Teschky as Shirley Temple, Township Supervisor Mark Thompson as Dudley Doright, Township Clerk Gary Warner as one of the Blues Brothers, and Trustee Anita Rilkind as Tarzan's Jane.

Both teams will advance to the state competition scheduled for Saturday, April 18 at the University of Illinois in Champaign/Urbana. This is the fifth time that Niles West has participated in the contest and the second year for Niles North. Other top teams in the regional competition included Buffalo Grove, Crystal Lake, Evanston Township, Glenbrook North, Lake Forest, Libertyville and Mundelein.

Resurrection

Candy Days volunteers

For the 10th year, Key Club members at Resurrection High School, located at 7500 W. Talcott, will participate in Misericordia/Fannie May Candy Days April 24 and 25. Each Candy Day volunteer raises $100 per hour. In two days, thousands of volunteers raise over $800,000 for Misericordia Home.

Key Club (Kiwanis), moderated by Michael Longo, a Religion teacher at Resurrection High School, helps students reach out to the community through service activities. At the last Key Club meeting, Kathleen McCarthy from Misericordia visited members to kick off the Misericordia/Fannie May Candy Days. McCarthy also informed students of Misericordia's mission and commended them for their participation in special events.

Maine East

National Honor Society

Although Maine East students have nearly two months left in the school year, some are already giving serious consideration to the 1998-1999 school year. One such group is National Honor Society, which just recently held its annual initiation of new members, elected new officers, and awarded NHS scholarships.

Jennifer Scharlow of Glenview will serve as Maine East's NHS president next year. Also working to coordinate the group's activities: Steven Bacht of Morton Grove as vice-president, Susie Lee of Morton Grove as treasurer, and Tehseen Ahmed of Niles as secretary.

Each spring NHS members award scholarships to graduating seniors. NHS members who have been awarded scholarships from The Grace Chapman Chapter at Maine East are: Ellyn Goldberg of Morton Grove, Sandy Kim of Niles, Neha Mehta of Des Plaines, Christopher Rodriguez of Morton Grove, and Jasmina Zec of Niles.

District 207 participates in CSL Art Show

Student artists from all three

School, and Waukegan High School on April 17-26, daily during mall hours. Opening Reception at 7 p.m. Friday, April 17; the public is invited to preview the show and enjoy music and refreshments at Northbrook Court in Northbrook.

The public will have ten days to enjoy the Central Suburban League Art Show. What better way to enjoy the Spring Season than to view a top-quality art exhibit while browsing and shopping.

Opening night will have it all, art, musicians, food, and a great crowd.

Development (EGL 092) focuses on the remediation of student reading problems with special attention to comprehension skills. Activities include group discussion and computer assisted instruction. Prerequisite: appropriate score on the assessment test. This seven-week course meets on Mondays and Wednesdays from 5:30-9:40 p.m. starting June 8 at the Ray Hartstein campus.

For more information or to register, call Student Services at (847) 635-1741 at the Des Plaines campus or (847) 635-1417 at the Ray Hartstein campus in Skokie.

Oakton

Summer courses

Sharpen your reading skills and improve word usage in reading and vocabulary classes offered during the summer term which begins June 8 at Oakton Community College. Classes will meet at Oakton's Des Plaines campus, 1600 E. Golf Road, and at the Ray Hartstein campus, 7701 N. Lincoln Ave., Skokie.

Vocabulary Improvement (EGL 091) offers a practical approach to improving a student's vocabulary skills. The student will learn and practice strategies designed to build and retain a college-level vocabulary, including the use of structural analysis, dictionary and glossary applications and the origin and development of words. The three-week course meets on Mondays and Wednesdays from 1:15-3:20 p.m. starting June 8 at the Des Plaines campus and from 11:30 a.m.-1:35 p.m. starting June 29 at the Ray Hartstein campus.

Edward Jones hosts live interview with Bob Costas

Jeffrey L. Cardella, the local Edward Jones investment representative, will host a free, live satellite broadcast on Monday, April 20, featuring Bob Costas.

During the "Time out with Bob Costas" broadcast, Costas will recount some memorable sporting events, highlight some favorite broadcast experiences and share thoughts on the job. Costas has commented every major sport, but is best recognized for his

Olympic and baseball coverage. "Edward Jones traditionally uses our broadcast network to educate our customers on financial matters," said Cardella. "As a special thank you to my clients, I'm excited to offer this entertaining program with Bob Costas." The interview will be broadcast live from St. Louis via Edward Jones private satellite network to more than 3,700 branch offices nationwide. Mr. Costas will be interviewed by John Bachmann, Edward Jones managing principal, and Merry Mosbacher, principal, annuity marketer. Following the interview, viewers will have the opportunity to call live onto the set and ask Mr. Costas questions. "This broadcast provides an opportunity for my clients to interact with a sports media celebrity," said Cardella. "I think that's a treat everyone will enjoy."

Edward Jones traces its roots to 1871. Today, with more than 3,700 branches in all 50 states, Edward Jones has more office locations than any other brokerage firm in the nation. Its investment representatives serve more than 2.5 million clients and specialize in serving the needs of individual investors.

For more information on the "Time out with Bob Costas" program or to make a reservation, contact Jeffrey L. Cardella at (847) 470-8953.

Secretary's Week Tips

Secretary's Week, April 20-24, is fast approaching and bosses everywhere are looking for tips on how to show their appreciation. Banner Personnel Service, Inc., which specializes in the training and placement of administrative assistants, offers the following do's and don'ts.

- Don't give job-related gifts like a new stapler or a wrist rest.
- Don't give personal gifts that can be misconstrued.
- Don't do the obligatory lunch if it is awkward for all concerned.
- Don't favor one assistant over another. Give gifts of equal value to your entire support staff.

- Do give workers something they will value like time off. Hire a temp in order to give your administrative assistant time off during the week.
- Pay for a splurge that a worker would enjoy, but may not be able to budget often like a manicure or dinner with friends.
- Do make your assistant feel appreciated all week by doing simple tasks like getting him/her coffee each morning or making your own copies.
- Do recognize workers in a public forum. The number one reason people leave a job is lack of recognition for their efforts. Secretary's Week is your chance to show your appreciation.

Barner, a woman-owned business, has helped shape the administrative assistant field in the Chicago area since 1970.

Norwood Park Historical Society meeting

"The Mormon Trail: 1846-47 Trek and 1997 Reenactment," will be presented by Stan "Tex" Banash. He will examine the trail westward from Nauvoo, IL, and include overviews of the pioneer movement from New York.

Slides will show a segment of the 150th anniversary reenactment, along with a description of life on the trail in 1997 with the commemorative wagon. In June of last year, Banash spent some time with a reenactment group on a mule-drawn wagon from Jeffrey City to Ice Slough in Wyoming.

Banash is an avid reader and student of American western history. He is owner of his own public relations and association management consulting company. He is active in his community chamber of commerce and chairs a local zoning board. His first book, Best of Dee Brown's West, was published in December. Share in this interesting piece of history on Wednesday, April 22, 7:30 p.m. at the Crippen House, 5624 N. Newark. Coffee and conversation will follow.

IMPORTANT! We will be voting on our Crippen House restoration plans -- so all interested members should attend!

Choral Society president featured in vocal recital

Baritone John Morrison, President of the Northwest Choral Society and a Park Ridge resident, will present a solo vocal recital at Christ The Lord Lutheran Church in Elgin, Illinois, on Sunday, April 19 at 3 p.m. Christ The Lord Lutheran Church is located in Elgin on the southwest corner of Tina Trail and Highland Ave., a few blocks west of Parkland Rd.

Support your veterans

Usually those who remember those in the armed forces overseas as family members or friends. There is also the many men and women who are members of the J.W.V. of the U.S.A. Members of the Kirschenbaum - Silver Post #282 each year send Passover packages to the many men and women onboard the U.S.S. Washington and the U.S.S. Independence, two aircraft carriers currently somewhere in the Atlantic Ocean. Just Schatz received a ship to shore phone call from the chaplain of the Washington, acknowledging that packages were received. A letter of thanks was forthcoming. This is only one of the many activities performed by numerous veteran units in our country, during the year. Support your veterans. They need your help.

Changing lifestyles dictate new home designs

From the outside, the porches, porticoes and Victorian detailing found on many of today's new homes make them appear designed for a by-gone era. Inside, it is a different story.

According to executives at Town & Country Homes, nostalgia ends at the front door. Homes currently being built are nothing like their predecessors. They are more casual, open, energy efficient and easier to maintain.

Ed Fitch, executive vice president of marketing, points out that builders are continually challenged to design homes that meet the needs of changing lifestyles.

Steve Sandelin, Town & Country's vice president of product design, concurs.

"For example, perhaps the major factor reshaping homes in the post-World War II era was the automobile. Suddenly the garage became part of the house itself, rather than a detached building. Garages were positioned at the front of the house, and land was inexpensive enough so that homes could be made wider to accommodate them," says Sandelin.

Later, home designs changed as land costs increased. The split-level or tri-level became popular because it incorporated the front-loaded garage into a floor plan that could be built on a narrower lot," says Sandelin.

Today, according to Fitch, the primary factor driving housing design is the overwhelming trend toward a faster paced, but more casual lifestyle.

Even 20 years ago, houses had delineated foyers, formal dining rooms and large living rooms; separate family rooms were a relatively new idea. Today the largest living spaces in many homes are the kitchen and family room, which often are integrated in to a single huge space.

Meanwhile, living and dining rooms have grown smaller and often are combined.

"Kitchens have become the center of the house," says Sandelin. "They are no longer tucked away in back. They are bigger, centrally located and open directly into the family room. They often have cooking islands and a separate eating nook."

According to Fitch, the kitchen of the '90s never closes.

"The formal dinner hour is a thing of the past," he says. "In many families, both husband and wife work. The kids have scout meetings, soccer games and ballet lessons. No one is home at the same time."

With family activities centered in the kitchen and family room, the other spaces in the home have become sanctuaries or retreats. This is especially prevalent in the master bedroom.

"The master suite was a luxury item 20 years ago. Today it is a standard," says Sandelin.

The typical master suite in most new homes features larger closets with at least one walk-in closet. Often there is an option for an adjoining sitting room. The master bath offers separate tub and showers, double bowl vanities and a separate toilet compartment.

Secondary bedrooms have also gotten bigger. Start-up housing of the '70s frequently had bedrooms as small as 9' x 10'. Today, the smallest Town and Country builds is 11' x 11'.

Sandelin points out that in the last 20 years new materials, such as laminated composite beams, make today's large informal areas possible. Less expensive and stronger than wood, the laminated beams are available in longer lengths that permit larger open spaces.

You will also see more windows or larger expanses of glass in today's new homes because new products are more energy efficient. Low-e glass, for example, cuts out ultra violet rays, which overheat a home in the summer and cause furniture to fade.

Other new materials were introduced to combat escalating lumber prices. Today, vinyl and aluminum have replaced wood for siding, as well as window frames, even in high-end housing. The new materials perform well and do not require painting.

The end result of all these changes, according to the Town & Country executives, is a home that is more in-tune with today's more casual, on-the-run lifestyles.

"We don't live the way our parents did, and our homes need to accommodate that fact," says Fitch.

Town & Country Homes, headquartered in Westchester, develops communities in Illinois, Minnesota and Florida. In 1996, the company built 1,035 homes and won 23 Key Awards from the Home Builders Association of Greater Chicago and for architecture, interior design and landscape design. In 1993, Town & Country was the winner of the "National Quality Housing Award."

Spring yard safety for your child

Spring is here, and with the warmer weather, many families are spending more time outdoors mowing their lawns and gardening. What many parents do not realize is that lawn mowers, garden tools and pesticides injure thousands of children annually.

"An injury from a lawn mower can happen in seconds," said Dr. John Loisel of the Emergency Department at St. Christopher's Hospital for Children in Philadelphia. "A lawn mower may look like an oversized toy to a child, when in fact they are a powerful and dangerous machine. Many lawn mower accidents occur when a young child is run over by or falls from a ride-on mower, or gets their hands or feet caught in the moving blades."

To safeguard your child from garden equipment and pesticides, Loisel urges parents to take the following safety precautions:

"Never let a child sit on a ride-on mower, even if he's on an adult's lap."

"Do not let a child 13 or under operate a mower, and keep him out of the yard when one is in use."

"Clear the yard of rocks, nails, and other debris that could be thrown by moving blades."

"If your child is old enough to use a lawn mower, make sure he wears long pants and sturdy shoes (not sandals) with nonskid soles.

"A child should never touch the blades, even to remove a twig or rock."

"Never let a child 10 or younger use a power tool, weed whacker, trimmer or anything with a sharp edge, such as a trowel or shears."

"Do not let your child near anyone who is using a power tool. When such a tool is being operated, be sure your child is supervised by an adult."

"Store all garden equipment in a locked shed or storage room. If you store the mower in your garage or basement, keep the door locked."

"Many pesticides used to protect plants and grass are extremely toxic, especially if the chemicals get in the mouth or on the skin," Loisel says.

If you have applied pesticides to your lawn and garden area, these tips will help keep your child safe:

"Buy only EPA-registered products and apply the least amount needed."

"Follow package instructions exactly and apply at times when lawn traffic is light, such as Sunday evenings."

"Remove all children's and pet's toys from the yard before pesticide is applied. Cover heavy items like sandboxes with a leak-proof disposable plastic tarp."

"Keep children and pets inside when you apply pesticide and wait the recommended amount of time (usually 24 hours) before letting children play in the yard. If you spray, close all windows."

"Remove any clothing you wear when applying pesticide and be sure to wash it separately from the family laundry."

"Keep all pesticide products in their original containers and in a locked cupboard or shed out of a child's reach and sight. Never leave the container open."

"Follow label instructions when disposing of expired products and their containers."

"Look for nontoxic ways to fight pests in your yard. Take plant and soil samples to a cooperative extension agency, where experts can identify any pests you may have and tell you how to get rid of them in a safe manner."

If a child does swallow or touch a pesticide product, Loisel advises parents to remain calm and contact their local hospital emergency room or Poison Control Center immediately.

"The key word here is qualified. A qualified professional—like a plumber, heating contractor or gas company service technician—should be the person checking the

Get flexible gas connectors checked

We've been warned once, and now we're being asked to heed good advice again! The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) recently reissued its warning to consumers about dangerous, older flexible gas connectors used to connect home appliances to gas supply pipes.

Consumer assistants at Whirlpool—the leading home appliance manufacturer—are helping to spread the word by passing the warning along through a variety of established media outlets.

According to the CPSC, older gas connectors are not coated and can crack or break, leading to a fire or an explosion. The connectors are made of brass and are used most often with gas ranges, ovens and clothes dryers.

"Brass connectors have been associated with 38 deaths and 63 injuries across the country since 1980," said Ann Brown, CPSC Chairman. "We are urging all consumers with gas appliances to have connectors checked by a qualified professional immediately."

If you own an older gas appliance, call a qualified person immediately to see if the connector needs to be replaced. The CPSC also recommends annual inspections for all fuel-burning appliances to avoid fires and carbon monoxide poisoning. You can save money by combining the inspection of the gas connectors with this annual heating equipment inspection.

Call the CPSC hotline at 1-800-638-2772 if you have any questions about gas connectors.

connector. CPSC warns consumers against checking the gas connectors themselves. Moving an older appliance, even slightly, can cause connectors to crack, and result in a gas leak and explosion.

Although this type of gas connector has not been manufactured for about 20 years, some still exist in homes. And, the older these connectors get, the more dangerous the connectors become, warn officials at CPSC.

The brass fittings on these types of gas connectors were soldered onto a corrugated brass tube. The CPSC believes the solder can fail, causing a break in the connector and resulting in a gas leak.

If you own an older gas appliance, call a qualified person immediately to see if the connector needs to be replaced. The CPSC also recommends annual inspections for all fuel-burning appliances to avoid fires and carbon monoxide poisoning. You can save money by combining the inspection of the gas connectors with this annual heating equipment inspection.

Call the CPSC hotline at 1-800-638-2772 if you have any questions about gas connectors.

Generation combination means higher demand for service quality

Statistics show that today's home buyer is a mixture of two generations -- most want the traditional, old-fashioned type of home, with trustworthy materials and sturdy workmanship, like the home their parents or grandparents had.

But younger home seekers, brought up on drive-through windows, microwave ovens and ever-faster computers, have also developed a need for speed: in other words, not only do they want it done right, they want it done right now.

In planning Moehling Farms in northwest suburban Des Plaines, Ill., Kennedy Community Development (KCD) will attempt to bridge the gap between the two.

"Admittedly, there are very few chances for instant gratification when purchasing a new home," said Tom Gillespie, president of Kennedy Community Development (KCD), one of The Kennedy Group of Companies and developer of the new Moehling Farms community.

"Even inventory homes take some time for the ink to dry. But quality is the key to building that bridge.

"Quality takes time," he added. "We're trying to make quality and speed compatible through efficiency in design, in construction techniques and communication between the different areas."

Kennedy's success will be evident in the construction of Moehling Farms' 56 luxury single-family homes. Sales are scheduled to begin this fall, and the first of the home will be completed by next spring. Prices for the homes are expected to be in the $300,000s.

Gillespie noted that a community's first buyers are in the best position for quick home delivery as sales have not yet built up a backlog of construction orders. "Besides that, you get the best selection of floor plans or home sites when sales first begin on a new community."

Quality is not only the goal in a community's progress, but also one of its driving forces. "A component in the process, whether it's a roof truss or the abilities of the workers, requires less time to correct or replace if there is a commitment to quality to begin with," said Gillespie.

To help achieve this, Kennedy has developed a special 'partnering' relationship with its suppliers and the various tradespeople involved with the home's construction, so as to keep communication and supply lines open, which in turn makes every minute of the construction schedule count.

"In this manner, we are able to deliver homes quicker, with fewer defects and with a significantly higher level of quality."

Floor plans to be offered at Moehling Farms are still in the design stage, but Gillespie noted that the homes will most likely all feature four bedrooms, 2-1/2 baths and basements, as well as all the old-fashioned touches for which home buyers clamor, from floor coverings to accessories.

"Feedback from our customers combined with market research will help determine our standard included features," he added.

One drawback often found in a new community is the absence of models by which to gauge the builder's work. In the case of KCD, however, two nearby communities offer a total of almost 200 homes that display the company's work.

Kylmore Greens and Longford Glen, built side by side approximately a mile north of Moehling Farms on Wolf Road in Des Plaines.

The Kennedy Group of Companies, based in Arlington Heights, Ill., has been involved with the development and sale of more than 15,000 single- and multifamily homes in Chicago's north, west and northwest suburbs over a span of more than 30 years. Other Kennedy companies are situated in Wisconsin, Texas and California.

Moehling Farms is off of Rand Road (Route 12), just east of Wolf Road and approximately a mile west of Golf Road (Route 58) in Des Plaines. For more information about Moehling Farms, as it becomes available, telephone (847) 394-7422.

Working in a wet garden can cause problems

If the ground is so muddy gardeners don't want to put their hands in it, they shouldn't put their shovels in it either.

David Nagel, horticulturist with Mississippi State University's Extension Service, said wet ground is seriously damaged when it is worked.

"Anytime you can squeeze water out of the soil, it is too wet to work with," Nagel said. "If you step on soil and water comes around your shoes or you can rub soil between your thumb and forefinger and make a ribbon that holds together, you probably need to wait before you start gardening.

"If you work soil while it is wet, it breaks up the soil aggregates, and then water, air and roots can't move through the soil," Nagel said. "You have destroyed the soil's structure."

The structure of soil is improved by organic matter, which serves as glue to the soil particles. The clay particles themselves bond together weakly by a slight electrostatic charge.

The amount of water a soil can hold depends on how much clay is in the soil. Many areas of the state have a high clay content and gardeners should wait five to seven days after a rain to work this soil.

Sandy loam soils contain a lot of sand and can be worked about two days after a rain. Silt soils need three to four days to dry sufficiently before being worked.

Experts still urge installing weatherstripping in homes

A typical 20-year-old house with adequate attic insulation loses more energy to air leaks than from any other source. A barely noticeable one-eighth-inch-wide gap around an exterior door is equivalent to a gaping hole in the wall.

Even in a newer house, weatherstripping wears out and becomes ineffective. Also, previous owners may have installed weatherstripping incorrectly, in which case it's best to replace it.

Of all the small projects around the house, installing weatherstripping gives you the largest payback, and it can be accomplished with minimal tools.

To prepare the surface for new weatherstripping, pry off the old foam or rubber with a putty knife. Spring-metal weatherstripping can be reused if it's not bent. Wash the doorjamb with detergent and water or trisodium phosphate and water. Scrape off any loose paint. When the wood is dry, apply an alkyd primer to the bare wood.

The most durable weatherstripping is the spring-metal type. A new version of this old standby is an easy-to-install vinyl V-strip that has an adhesive backing covered by a peel-off cover. One roll of V-strip is enough to seal a door or a few windows. To use this weatherstripping, fold it into a V with the adhesive to the outside.

If your door fits the jamb tightly, install the strips close to the doorstop with the point of the V toward the door. If the door is slightly warped, and doesn't contact the stop evenly, install the weatherstripping about one-eighth-inch back from the stop, to ensure it makes contact along the door's length.

If your door is not square in the frame or is severely warped, the V-strip will not be effective. In this case, apply tube-type weatherstripping to the doorstop. This weatherstripping consists of a vinyl or aluminum flange with a vinyl tube along the edge. With a warped door, you can bend the strips along the doorstop to seal it.

Closing off the space between the door and the threshold can be a problem when the threshold is badly worn. Installing a two-piece adjustable aluminum threshold over the old threshold is the best way to seal under the door in such situations. Since few old jams are truly square, this threshold adjusts to suit the door.

Seal a standard hinged door leading to an unheated attic with V-strip. For a pull-down door, use tubular vinyl weatherstripping or foam strip. If the pull-down door overlaps its jamb, staple tubular vinyl weatherstripping inside the jamb, and install it so that it is lower than the jamb face. The door will then shut against it, making a good seal.

Most garage doors come with some sort of weatherstripping on the bottom, but few have any along the sides or the top of the jamb. In time, the seal at the door's bottom flattens out and doesn't conform to the small irregularities of the garage floor. Remove the old weatherstripping and fasteners, and paint the bottom of the door to prevent it from absorbing moisture and delaminating. Install new bottom weatherstripping with the nails provided or galvanized roofing nails.

Garage door weatherstripping for the top and sides is a heavy vinyl material similar to V-strip. Push the strip tight to the door, and nail the wide flange portion to the doorjamb.

quietly from the Cathedral (in darkness) anticipating the events to unfold in the Second Triduum (Holy Thursday, Good Friday and the Easter Vigil).

It is very dramatic, creates an incredible atmosphere of repose, as well as for reflection and meditation.

Saturday night's Passover Seder dinner celebrated the Jews escape from Egyptian bondage. The symbolism of the many foods manifests their flight to freedom and the punishment delivered to the families of their captors. While it is a joyous celebration it also is a reflective one as well as one of remembrance in which world-wide Jewry has celebrated throughout the centuries. The word Seder refers to "order" in the Passover service at the meal as well as order in their lives.

It too, is very dramatic, also creating an atmosphere of theatre as well of repose, and lends itself to reflection and meditation.

"We were open to the public on April 2," he added.

Czarnecki said the move was definitely worthwhile because library staff and patrons did not have to put up with the noise and dirt of construction during the project at the original building at 6960 Oakton Street.

He praised the construction company for erecting plastic walls blocking off construction areas from the open part of the library. The only inconvenience Czarnecki noted was the entrance, which has not yet been completed. However, he praised Grand National Bank for allowing library staff and patrons to use a portion of their parking lot while the library is undergoing renovation.

Czarnecki said that the public has reacted very positively to what is visible of the new building. He quoted patrons as saying, "We're delighted with the way our tax money is being spent on this building."

The public has also praised the Police spoke to the juvenile and his mother who told them that the youth had helped the suspect to set up his computer late in 1997. The youth had seen adult-oriented pornography that came was targeted for the attack. No signs of drugs or alcohol were found at the crime scene, police said.

Sgt. Daniel Gooris of the Lincolnwood police said a witness, who heard three gunshots, called police around 9:50 p.m. Police found Rubio unable to speak and soaked in blood from what doctors later discovered to be a severed femoral artery. Several hours of surgery at Evanston's St. Francis Hospital failed to repair the artery, hospital officials said.

Rubio was pronounced dead at 5:55 p.m. March 30, police said.

Police theorize that Rubio was brought to the parking lot and then shot at and hit while trying to flee.

the duration of the exhibit (approximately one year).

The festival started as an offshoot of the Morton Grove Women's War Working Circle. This important "Circle" started in 1917 when a group of special ladies in Morton Grove decided to correspond with local men serving in World War I. It was their duty to keep up the morale of those servicemen away from home by sending letters and packages. After the war ended in 1918, the group decided to make it an annual event, and thus Morton Grove Days was born.

Today Morton Grove Days is a booming festival of color. Replete that color, pageantry, and excitement with a trip to the Morton Grove Historical Museum on Sunday, April 19 or during any of our open hours thereafter. The Museum is open on Wednesdays from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. and on Sundays from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m. Persons with artifacts or photographs related to the Morton Grove Days Festival are urged to contact the museum curator, Jeff Murray, at 965-0203. The Morton Grove Historical Museum is owned by the Morton Grove Park District and operated jointly by the Park District and the Morton Grove Historical Society. Admission to the museum is free to the public.

Czarnecki said that the new construction is "anything but dark," and praised the architects for letting in a great deal of natural light, incorporating many windows and skylights in the design. Czarnecki also said that "Low E" glass was used throughout the new section, which, by means of argon gas trapped between the double panes of glass, keeps heat in during the winter and heat out during the summer. The special glass also filters out destructive ultraviolet rays and is very energy efficient, Czarnecki said.

Although the building is not what Czarnecki termed lavish, it is visually pleasing, he said.

Czarnecki said, "The public really loves the building...It's good to be home."

The public has also praised the firm, and he started working for them at age 11, according to Ken Piasecki, a son-in-law.

Mr. Pranske and his late wife Jeanette, who died in December of 1996, lived in Niles for 40 years. Mr. Pranske was a past Grand Knight in the Knights of Columbus Council at St. John Brebeuf Church, where the Pranskes were active parishioners.

Mr. Pranske also served as a past Faith Navigator in the Bishop Hillinger Assembly and in the St. John Brebeuf Holy Name Society.

While the auxiliary officers are not expected to engage in direct crimefighting, they do receive training mainly in directing traffic as well as in the use of pepper spray and nightsticks, Giovannelli said. Auxiliaries are also empowered to issue tickets.

Because of the auxiliary force, regular officers who may be working on a felony case will not be called away to direct traffic at a wedding, Giovannelli said.

Auxiliary police officers have been assisting the Niles Police Department for 40 years, Giovannelli said, and they have proved themselves an invaluable resource.

Anyone interested in joining the auxiliary force can call (847) 588-6500.

He is survived by two daughters, eight grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Mass of the Resurrection was celebrated for Mr. Pranske at St. John Brebeuf Church April 14 at 11 a.m. Interment was at Maryhill Cemetery in Niles.

Experience the wonders of Alaska

Enjoy an escorted voyage through the fabled Inside Passage, a protected 1,000-mile strip of sea and glacial ice that hugs the coasts of Alaska and British Columbia, on a tour sponsored by Oaktown's travel study program. Four tours are scheduled: June 22-July 7, July 6-21; July 20-Aug. 4, and Aug. 3-18.

Approaching Alaska from the sea offers a dramatic mix of breathtaking views, ranging from rugged mountains and virgin forests to gigantic glaciers and exotic wildlife. The trip features a full day cruise through Glacier Bay to photograph the advancing and receding glaciers and the abundant marine life, including humpback and killer whales, porpoises and seals. Travelers will visit Seward, a quiet seaport village on the eastern side of the Kenai Peninsula at the foot of the rugged Chugach Mountains and view the wildlife at nearby Kenai Fjords National Park. In Juneau, Alaska's capital city, travelers will tour the state museum and the Governor's mansion and visit the historic Red Dog Saloon.

An optional trip to Anchorage to visit the Alaska Wildlife and Natural History Museum and the Alaska Native Crafts Cooperative is also available.

For more information about the trip to Alaska, contact Bea Cornelissen at (847) 635-1812.

Polish Genealogical Society of America conference

The Polish Genealogical Society of America will host its twentieth anniversary conference on October 16, 17, 18, 1998 at the Ramada O'Hare Hotel, 6600 North Mannheim Road, Rosemont.

The theme of "POLAND AND POLONIA" will be reflected in a number of lectures given by experts in their respective fields of genealogy, history, and ethnic studies. The topics will include Haller's Army, Polish Nobility, Genealogy and the Internet, and Polish Folk Culture.

A special celebration will start on Friday, October 16, 1998. For details, write: Mrs. Bernadine Saelens, 277 Gladys Avenue, Elmhurst, IL 60126 or Dr. Gregory J. Gazda, 280 Forest Trail Drive, Oak Brook, IL 60523.

WNEP proudly presents Offending the Audience and Don Juan in Hell

WNEP and TurnAround Theatre proudly present Peter Handke's comic avant-garde piece, Offending the Audience and George Bernard Shaw's satirical one-act, Don Juan in Hell, opening April 16th at the TurnAround Theatre. For a limited engagement, these two exceptional works are being presented as a double bill amounting to one spectacular evening of theater.

Offending the Audience accomplishes its goal by perverting the relationship between actors and audience. Sometimes the play calls attention to the rules that bind spectators and performers, sometimes it breaks those rules outright.

Don Juan in Hell is the third act of George Bernard Shaw's classic satire, Man and Superman, and is usually presented as a one-act, due to its self-contained story. Shaw picks up the Don Juan legend where Mozart's Don Giovanni leaves off; after the famous lover is cast into the fiery pit by the statue of the man he

Math and English review workshops offered

Oaktown Community College's Instructional Support Services will offer math and English review workshops to help students prepare to take the assessment tests in these areas. Workshops are held at Oaktown's Des Plaines campus, 1600 E. Golf Road and at the Ray Hartstein campus, 7701 N. Lincoln Ave., Skokie.

A workshop which covers arithmetic and elementary algebra will be held Tuesday, April 28 from 5-7 p.m. at the Ray Hartstein campus; and Saturday, May 9 from 8 a.m.-1 p.m. at the Des Plaines campus. A review session on intermediate algebra will be offered on Tuesday, April 21 from 5-10 p.m. and Saturday, May 16 from 8 a.m.-1 p.m. at the Des Plaines campus. The fee is $25 for each workshop.

Students can prepare for the writing section of the English assessment test by attending a workshop on Saturdays, April 18 or May 2, from 10 a.m.-1 p.m. at the Des Plaines campus or Thursday, May 14 from 6-9 p.m. at the Ray Hartstein campus. The fee is $20.

Registration is required five days prior to the starting date of each workshop. Students may register for these workshops Monday-Thursday from 8 a.m.-7:30 p.m. and Fridays from 8 a.m.-3:30 p.m. in Room 2400 at the Des Plaines campus or Room A135 at the Ray Hartstein campus.

For more information, call Instructional Support Services at (847) 635-1658 in Des Plaines or (847) 635-1434 in Skokie.

murdered. In Shaw's play Don Juan comes face to face with his victim, his one true love, and the Devil himself.

But nothing is what you'd expect. Shaw's comic play shows Hell as a place where all your desires are fulfilled constantly, Heaven is where the angels are bored stiff and Don Juan himself is not simply a sexual conqueror, but an idealistic philosopher who couldn't commit to the reality of any one woman.

Don't miss this exciting double-bill event of Offending the Audience and Don Juan in Hell at the TurnAround Theatre, 3209 N. Halsted. Playing for four Thursday performances only on April 16, 23, 30 and May 7, 1998 at 8 p.m. For complimentary press tickets, contact Nelson Radcliffe at 630/257-2079.

Additional information may be obtained from American Society of Artists at PO Box 1326, Palatine, IL 60078, telephone (312) 751-2500 or by calling (847) 991-4748.

Art in Action will be included in the show with some of the exhibitors working and demonstrating at various times during the event. Programs will be available free of charge listing the exhibitors, their media and showing their location in the show.

Potential exhibitors in this fine juried event are invited to submit four slides or photographs of work representative of that which they wish to exhibit, one slide or photograph of their display setup, a self-addressed, stamped, business-size (No. 10) envelope-resume/show listing helpful.

Area artists needed for Edens Art Fair

A special invitation is extended to area artists to apply to be among the participants in the Annual Edens Art Fair to be held at Edens Plaza, Wilmette, Saturday and Sunday, July 18-19.

Potential exhibitors in this fine juried event are invited to submit four slides or photographs of work representative of that which they wish to exhibit, one slide or photograph of their display setup, a self-addressed, stamped, business-size (No. 10) envelope-resume/show listing helpful.

LEGAL NOTICE

FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY
FEDERAL INSURANCE ADMINISTRATION

Proposed Flood Elevation Determinations for the Villages of Morton Grove and Niles, Cook County, Illinois

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency
ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY:

Technical information or comments are solicited on the proposed modified base (1% annual chance) flood elevations shown in the preliminary Flood Insurance Studies and Flood Insurance Rate Maps for the communities listed in the table below. The base flood elevations are the basis for the floodplain management measures that each community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).

DATES:
The period for comment will be ninety (90) days following the second publication of these proposed rules in a newspaper of local circulation.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

The Federal Emergency Management Agency gives notice of the proposed determinations of base flood elevations, in accordance with Section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-234), 37 Stat. 980, which added Section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (Pub. L. 90-448)), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 44 CFR 67.4(a).

These elevations, together with the floodplain management measures required by Section 60.3 of the program regulations, are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their floodplain management requirements. The community may at any time enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, State, or regional entities. These proposed modified elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for the new buildings and their contents and for the second year of insurance on existing buildings and their contents.

Pursuant to the provisions of 5 USC 605(b), the Administrator, to whom authority has been delegated by the Director, Federal Emergency Management Agency, hereby certifies that the proposed modified flood elevation determinations, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. A flood elevation determination under Section 1363 forms the basis for new local ordinances, which, if adopted by a local community, will govern future construction within the floodplain area. The elevation determinations, however, impose no restriction unless and until the local community voluntarily adopts floodplain ordinances in accord with these elevations. Even if ordinances are adopted in compliance with Federal standards, the elevations prescribe how high to build in the floodplain and do not prohibit development. Thus, this action only forms the basis for future local actions. It imposes no new requirement; of itself it has no economic impact.

Lessees and owners of real property in the following communities, are encouraged to review the preliminary Flood Insurance Studies and Flood Insurance Rate Maps and to submit comments to the appropriate community representatives as listed below. Proposed base flood elevations along flood sources studied in detail are shown on the flood profiles in the study. The proposed modified base flood elevations are as follows:

Enroll in a communications class

Improve your English grammar, learn to write a short story or enhance your public speaking skills in communications classes offered through Oaktown Community College's Alliance for Lifelong Learning (ALL). Classes are held at local high schools throughout the district.

Writing Short Stories (COM E69 02, Touch-Tone 2535) focuses on how to create a story that works. Students will gain a greater appreciation of the short story as a form of personal expression with in-class exercises, reading and discussion. The class meets from 7-9:30 p.m. for seven Thursdays starting April 16 at Niles West High School, 5701 Oakton St., Skokie.

Public Speaking (COM B02 02, Touch-Tone 8821) is designed to help you overcome stage fright. Learn how to organize a speech, give impromptu talks and improve the delivery of your presentation. A personal video taping at each session is included. The class meets from 7-10 p.m. for seven Thursdays starting April 16 at Niles West High School.

Other course offerings include Copyediting, Sign Language, Freelance Writing, Writing for Children, Feature Writing and Creative Writing. Advanced Short Story Writing: How to Get Your Book Manuscript Published; and The Basics of Novel Writing.

Students who have registered for Oaktown or ALL classes within the last three years and have a correct Social Security number on file may register using the Touch-Tone system by dialing (847) 635-1616. Registrations can also be taken via FAX at (847) 635-1448, in which case payment may be made by a major credit card (Visa, Mastercard or Discover).

For more information and a brochure of other courses, call (847) 982-9888.
