

New park eatery menu accommodates golfers

by Kathleen Quirsfeld

Golfers are "getting the idea" about the changes taking place at O'Shaners Food & Spirits. Joe LoVerde, Park District Director, said that from what he's heard they are liking what they see.

This past weekend the alternate menu became available at the restaurant and interested and hungry golfers were able to order hot dogs, slices of pizza, nachos and chili.

The restaurant is now divided into the new casual Golf Room, and the League Room, where patrons can enjoy their lunch in a more traditional café. The alternate menu was the final change to be made.

LoVerde reported that in other news from Tam, the golfing has been great, thanks to both the weather and a border collie named Casey.

Casey was "hired" by the Park District to get rid of the geese, and he's been earning his keep.

New Niles Elementary School ready to open this fall

by Rosemary Tirio

Niles Elementary School South and Culver Middle School will soon be consolidated into one school serving kindergarten through eighth grade, according to Niles District 71 officials. The new school will be known as the Niles Elementary School.

After a few minor details are attended to and a little clean-up is complete, the nearly two-year construction project will come to an end, district officials said.

The physical moving of equipment and materials from the former South School, 6935 Touhy, to the newly expanded and renovated Culver School, 6921 W. Oakton, will take place during the summer, according to Alexandra Nicholson, current principal of the South School who will become principal of the consolidated kindergarten through eighth grade school, which will be known as the Niles Elementary School. It will open Aug. 26 for the 1998-1999 school year.

The South School now serves

Old Orchard developer may widen road in mall expansion

In exchange for the go-ahead on a proposed expansion of Old Orchard Shopping Center, developers may widen part of Old Orchard Road from four to six lanes in an effort to alleviate traffic congestion and answer residents' criticism of the expansion.

The proposed expansion would add new stores and restaurants along with more parking and seven more movie screens, arousing the fears of Skokie officials that the already congested streets in the area would become even more congested.

However, the offer from the developers to pay for construction of the extra lanes on Old Orchard Road in each direction extending from Laverne Avenue to the Edens Expressway may have prompted the Skokie Plan Commission to recommend approval of the proposal by the Village Board.

The cost of the road improvements are estimated at $150,000, according to officials of Urban Retail Properties, Inc., a subsidiary of Urban Shopping Centers.

Zenith's financial woes worries Glenview officials

The April 2 announcement that Zenith Electronics Corporation would lay off 409 workers at its Melrose Park plant in June and the possible bankruptcy filing by the Glenview-based firm that may follow have given Glenview Village Manager Paul McCarthy nightmares.

McCarthy said what he fears most is that Zenith will move out of the village, where it owns 162 acres. Finding another high quality Fortune 500 buyer for the property might be a problem.

In Melrose Park, where 389 hourly employees and 20 salaried employees will lose their jobs, Mayor Ron Serpico said that if the Zenith plant, which employs 2,300 workers, should close, the cut in tax revenues would be felt most in the village's schools.

Serpico said he also was concerned about the impact that cuts

Among local suburbs, Skokie residents pay lowest rate

Suburbanites pay more for water than city neighbors

by Rosemary Tirio

Because of Lake Michigan, Chicago residents pay one of the lowest rates for water in the country.

Chicago charges its residents, businesses and 118 suburbs and sanitary districts a flat rate of $1.04 per 1,000 gallons of purified water. Once the water leaves the city, however, it is resold at higher prices. State law prohibits Chicago, the major water supplier in the area, from selling water to other communities at a rate higher than it charges its own residents.

However, homeowners in some suburbs pay as much as five times as much as city residents, according to a Chicago Sun-Times survey of Lake Michigan water rates.

Residential rates for 1,000 gallons of Lake Michigan water in Niles is $2.62. Niles obtains its water from Chicago. Morton Grove charges residents $2.48, Park Ridge charges $3.11 and Lincolnwood charges $2.20 for the water they purchase from Chicago at the $1.04 per 1,000 gallon rate. The rate in Glenview is $2.60 per 1,000 gallons of water, which is purchased from Wilmette, which in turn purchases its water

Des Plaines man charged in Chicago motel slaying

Patrick G. Bailey, 34, of the 9000 block of Church Street in Des Plaines was charged with the first-degree mutilation-murder of an unknown man police described as being in his 20s.

Police said Bailey registered at the Edens Motel, 6020 N. Cicero Ave., late Friday evening using his own name. He was accompanied by the unknown male.

A fight reportedly erupted between the two men in the room, during which Bailey allegedly strangled the victim with a black belt and then mutilated the body with knives and a coat hanger, according to police. An autopsy late Sunday revealed that the victim died of strangulation and multiple stab and incision wounds.

Bailey, who police said had no previous criminal record, was arrested by Chicago police late Saturday afternoon. He was scheduled to appear in Cook County Criminal Court Monday.

Edward Jones: Timeless Rules for Equity Investors

Investing in the stock market requires a great deal of discipline. It's easy to lose sight of long-term objectives when other investors are taking profits and experts are predicting a major market correction.

Following are eight timeless rules for those who choose to invest in the stock market. These rules will help you focus on your original investment objectives and make decisions based on the long-term outlook rather than current market conditions.

1. Don't put all your eggs in one basket. When you invest in a number of stocks, you protect yourself should one stock perform poorly. Mutual funds are an excellent way to diversify your equity dollars; they offer the benefits of professional management and even a small investment can be diversified among several stocks.

2. Base your investment choices on facts rather than tips or well-meant advice. Investing and speculating are not the same; high reward usually involves high risk.

3. If the stock is attractive, eighths and quarters on the price don't matter.

4. Try to understand what the market is "saying" a stock is worth rather than attempting to "tell" the market what it is worth. One investor cannot force his or her opinion of a stock on an entire market of investors.

5. It is time in the market, not timing the market, that creates wealth. There is more risk of failing to meet your financial goals by being out of the market than by being in the market.

6. Don't cut your flowers and water your weeds. Don't sell a stock simply to take a profit, and don't keep a stock simply because it was once attractive. If the investment no longer meets your investment goals, cut your losses and move on.

7. Don't be panicked by news flashes or rumors. Instead, consider the information impartially, and base your decision on fact rather than emotion. They say investing is like riding a roller coaster. Jump off in the middle of the ride, and you're bound to get hurt.

8. Don't lose sight of why you invested in a stock in the first place. You're in the market to protect and, if possible, to increase your capital, not to prove how well you can pinpoint market highs and lows.

Many of us have heard these rules before, but it's easy to base investment decisions on emotion rather than fact. If you have concerns about your stocks, contact your investment representative. He or she is there to answer questions. Together, you can decide whether those investment still have a place in your portfolio and what action, if any, is needed.

Rotary Annual Dinner Dance Gala & Fund-Raiser

The Rotary Club of Park Ridge announces its annual dinner dance gala to be held on Friday, May 8 at Hotel Sofitel in Rosemont.

The event which includes dinner, dancing and the chance to bid on a variety of silent auction items will feature the Motown sounds of R-Gang. Another highlight will be the announcement of the Volunteer of the Year Award given to a person who has an outstanding record of service to the community. Proceeds from the event will go to The Youth Campus and Avenues to Independence.

Park Ridge Rotary is also pre-selling raffle tickets featuring a grand prize of $10,000 cash and a second prize of a seven-night stay in an authentic Irish Castle plus airfare for two. Winners, to be announced at the May 8 gala, need not be present.

The cost for raffle tickets are $100 and only 300 tickets will be sold. The cost to attend the gala is $125 per couple. For more information or to order dinner or raffle tickets please contact Jane Meagher at 847-696-4472.

The most urgent need in Maine Township is subsidized daycare for children ages 6 weeks to 15 months. There currently is no center providing subsidized child care to this group of children. Funds from the Rotary fund raiser will be used to adapt existing space at the Haake Home by reconfiguring it, developing a new interior design, and purchasing equipment such as cribs, playpens, high chairs, and rockers. Meet Casey at the golf course

Maybe you've seen the cute furry animal shakin' his tail and running around Tam Golf Course, wondering where he came from. Meet Casey, the new edition to the Niles Park District. Casey has been brought to Niles Park District to help with "Geese Patrol." Casey's job will be to run around the course and scare the geese away.

The geese have been flocking to Tam Golf Course and are causing great damage to the course. Through research, the park district has found that Casey, and other dogs like Casey, have been trained specifically to scare geese away.

Casey comes from Seclusival Farm and Kennel, a company that deals with Goose Control with working Border Collies, in Shipman Virginia. Casey was trained by Barbara and Stewart Ligon, a DVM husband-wife team. They are professionals who train dogs like Casey with the sole purpose of geese control.

Casey is a beautiful, and very friendly, 2-1/2 year old Border Collie. He was sent to Niles Park District on March 23 and ever since has been made a new home. Casey's teammate is Niles Park District Golf Maintenance employee Joel Veloz-Hernandez. Joel is the sole person working with and taking care of Casey. The two hit it off great within the first day. Joel has been informed of the correct ways of working with the dog, and is doing an outstanding job. Stop by and see Casey at work. His hours fluctuate, but you're sure to see him running around the course, doing what he does best. Tam Golf Course is located at 6700 W. Howard Street in Niles.

Fashion on Skates

Members of Team IceLand, of the Niles Park District, pose after a hard days workout. These skaters are preparing for the annual ice show that will be on May 1-3. This years theme is Rock'n at the Mall.

Rehearsals are underway, and production looks good, for the greatly anticipated performance. Nearly 200 local skaters will model cool fashions and share their talents as they skate to rock'n music. This show will have you groovin' in your seats, as you won't be able to sit still through this extravaganza of music and lights.

Show director, Ingrid Santee, is very excited at the way the acts are taking shape. "Coaches, parents and especially the skaters have really stepped up to make this a terrific experience. I feel positive that the outcome will be fabulous." Show times are May 1 at 7:30 p.m., May 2 at 2 & 7:30 p.m., and May 3 at 2 p.m. tickets on sale now. Beware of solicitors

The Niles Fire Department wishes to alert Niles residents that no person or organization has been authorized to solicit funds on behalf of the fire department. Many residents have contacted the fire department recently stating that they have received telephone solicitations for a variety of shows in which the proceeds would assist the firefighters.

The Fire Department warns residents to be aware that these solicitors do not represent any department within the Village of Niles.

Tee off time at Tam Golf Course

John Hoeh and his golfmates had the pleasure of being the first team to tee off for the season at the Tam Golf Course, located at 6700 Howard St. in Niles.

Tee Off Time!

On March 25, the Tam Golf Course opened for the season. After a winter that outlasted it's welcome, the course was ready and waiting for the busy golf season to begin. The weather was perfect with the sun brightly shining and temperatures in the 60's.

As many already know, the course underwent some construction this winter. The land along the river had been eroding, potentially leaving the course for increased damage. Rather than waiting for future damage, the Niles Park District took action and began the Bank stabilization project.

project is in its final stages of completion, beautifying the course even more. We invite the public to come and view the course as you enjoy a round of golf at Tam. The course is open and is located at 6700 W. Howard Street in Niles. For course inquiries, call (847) 965-2344.

Summer programs bring parks & residents together

By Joseph LoVerde
 Niles Park District Executive Director

Dear Residents, I wanted to take this time to welcome you all to the Niles Park District. We, at the park district, are anxious for the Summer season to come. The sunny, warm days are well awaited. As you are aware, the park district has gone through many changes within the past year. I would like to take the opportunity to mention a few changes.

As you know, the park district has a "new park" underway. Located at Touhy and Harlem, the park will include two baseball fields, batting cages, a miniature golf course, and concession stands - your ultimate place for fun! We are currently working with Cost of Wisconsin on design of the mini-golf course. The next phase will be the bid for construction design for the batting cages, back stops, ball fields, concession stands and field house. To follow will be additional remodeling and landscaping. Our expected completion date is late Fall of 1998, with a Grand Opening for the Spring of 1999.

As we approach the golf season, I am sure many of you are interested in how the Bank stabilization project is going. If you are unaware, the land along the river, throughout the course, has begun to erode. With this happening, we needed to address the issue before further damage was done to the course. Construction began in December with hopes to be completed this Spring. I'm glad to inform you that the project is moving along considerably. Despite our unreasonable weather, construction stayed on schedule. So get your clubs ready for another season of golf at Tam.

Another exciting addition to the Niles Park District is the Wetlands refurbishment. The land located adjacent the river, on the south side of Howard will become an educational entity for all! This area will be transformed into an "Educational Landmark." We will be adding various plant material to allow a more inviting appeal. To accompany the planting material will be the name and history of each greenery, which will be displayed inside a viewing area.

These are only some of the changes taking place at the Niles Park District. We hope you are just as eager as we are to see completion of all the projects and we will make sure you do - by giving you a personal tour of our facilities. If you are interested in seeing the park district, and all the facilities we have to offer you, let us know. We would love to take you around and show you. Call us at (847) 967-6633, and we will make arrangements with you.

As far as our programs for summer, we have many new programs that we know you are sure to enjoy as well as your favorite ones. Our Summer "Fun Guide" has all the information. Don't take the chance of missing out, register today. I'd like to personally wish you all a safe and enjoyable summer.

Is a Credit Union for you?

More and more people are taking advantage of the many benefits attached to membership in Northwest Community Credit Union at 7400 Waukegan in Niles. As Credit Union awareness grows and people realize that a non-profit financial institution can offer higher dividends and lower loan rates than most other places, the public is scrambling to join. The Niles/Maine Township area is one of the few places with a community credit union whose membership is open to area residents.

President Nick Bavaro and Vice President Candy Borkowicz, both of whom have been actively involved in the community for the past 30 years, bring people skills and enthusiasm for the Credit Union industry wherever they go. The staff of long-time area residents tend to treat members like friends rather than customers, resulting in a home town atmosphere that you might have thought was a thing of the past. Beyond the friendliness of this 59 year old credit union, is a vital, fast growing financial institution that offers top-notch services including fixed rate VISA cards with no annual fee, low auto loans rates, higher Certificates rates, mortgages which are never sold and Equity Lines of Credit that are below prime. All accounts are federally insured and risk free.

If you live or work in Niles or Maine Township you can become a member by opening a savings account with a minimum balance of $200.

Regency hosts Intergenerational Games with Maine East High School students

Residents from Regency Nursing Centre sponsored an Intergenerational Games event with students from Maine East High School. From playing golf to throwing horseshoes, the residents and students participated in a wide range of enjoyable activities and developed rewarding friendships in the process. The Intergenerational Games symbolizes the Regency Nursing Centre philosophy of developing imaginative approaches for integrating residents with their surrounding community. For three years, Regency has sponsored a successful intergenerational program with the students of Maine East High School. One of the highlights of this involvement was the Intergenerational Games, which brought the residents and students together for an enjoyable day of fun, fellowship, and camaraderie.

After the games, everyone came together for a luncheon where they could talk and get to know each other. "The students have come to think very highly of our residents," states Paula Tagliere, Director of Activities. "They call our residents 'grandma' and 'grandpa' and look forward to spending time with them. I think our program is helping these young people to better understand the elderly and feel more comfortable around them. In turn, our residents feel good spending quality time with young people."

Regency's Intergenerational Games event was held in honor of "Hands Across the Generations," a statewide community outreach program sponsored by the Illinois Council on Long Term Care.

Niles North Field Events Fun Day honors CEC

In honor of Governor Edgar's declaration of May 3 through 9 as Exceptional Children's Week in Illinois, the Niles North High School Council for Exceptional Children (CEC) will host their sixth annual Field Events Fun Day on Sunday, May 3, at the school, 9800 Lawler Ave. in Skokie. This program seeks to unite children with disabilities between the ages of three and eleven years old from the North Shore area in a day of fun and exercise. Special activities will be held throughout the day, with events for three through five year olds beginning at 11:15 a.m. followed by opening ceremonies at 12:15 p.m. The festivities will also include performances by the Niles North Choir and Vikette Pom Pon Squad. Contests for six through eleven year olds will be held following the opening remarks, and the day will culminate with an awards ceremony at 2 p.m.

The events scheduled include basketball free throw, jump rope and broad jump contests, along with various races and an obstacle course. In addition to field events, there will also be carnival-type entertainment such as face painting, a bucket toss, jugglers and a petting zoo. All individuals who participate will receive a free T-shirt and sack lunch. Parents should accompany their children in order to supervise them during the day.

The Field Events Fun Day will kick off a series of programs devoted to teaching the school community about exceptional children. Throughout the week special speakers will address students regarding the basics of learning disabilities and the challenges encountered by individuals with disabilities such as visual and hearing impairments, autism, muscular dystrophy and cerebral palsy.

The Niles North CEC club, sponsored by teacher Iris Kerbis Puccini, has worked to inform the school of how important it is for exceptional children to be accepted. Using the motto "Knowledge leads to understanding and understanding leads to acceptance," the club has attended the Illinois CEC fall conventions and spring conferences, and has in the past initiated the wearing of blue ribbons during Exceptional Children's Week to promote awareness about the needs of exceptional children. These ribbons will be worn again this year to show support for the Americans with Disabilities Act.

For further information about this event, contact Iris Kerbis Puccini at 847/568-3382.

The 10 most frequent problems in houses

In the most recent survey of its members, the American Society of Home Inspectors (ASHI) compiled a list of the most frequently found problems in homes.

It is significant that within this list of 10 problem categories, at least four are directly related to the damaging effects of water. Apparently, keeping water out, after a home is built, is the homeowner's most important, and continually challenging task.

It should be noted that this list represents a national average. Regional climates, building codes, and age of homes played a significant role in the findings.

1. Improper surface grading/drainage. This was by far the most frequently found problem, reported by 35.8 percent of the home inspectors surveyed. It is responsible for the more common of household maladies: water penetration of the basement or crawlspace. The most effective remedies for wet basements include regrading the ground away from the house and repairing or installing a new system of gutters and downspouts.

2. Improper electrical wiring. A significant number (19.9 percent) chose this item as the most common home defect, which includes such situations as insufficient electrical service to the house, inadequate overload protection, and amateur, often dangerous, wiring connections. Some home inspectors said that 70 to 80 percent of the electrical wiring they see is done wrong, and that most of it is attributable to do-it-yourselfers. This is a serious safety hazard, not just a cosmetic defect.

3. Roof damage. Although reported by only 8.5 percent of the home inspectors as the most common problem, roof leakage, caused by old or damaged shingles, or improper flashing, was considered by ASHI members to be a frequent problem. Shingle repairs can be easily and inexpensively done, but shingles near the end of their life span may mean major reroofing.

4. Heating systems. Problems in this category include broken or malfunctioning operation controls, blocked chimneys, and unsafe exhaust disposal. These conditions represent more than simply inefficient heating, they are health and safety hazards. Heating systems should be serviced and maintained annually by a professional.

5. Poor overall maintenance. Americans take better care of their cars than they do their homes, say home inspectors, who often come across cracked, crumbling masonry, and makeshift wiring or plumbing, and broken fixtures or appliances. Although some of these problems may seem more cosmetic than serious, they reflect the overall lack of care given to the home.

6. Structurally related problems. As a result of problems in one or more of the other categories, many houses sustain some, though usually not serious, damage to structural components such as foundation walls, floor joists, rafters or window and door headers.

7. Plumbing. Though never ranked by the home inspectors as the number one problem among the house problems encountered, this included the existence of old or incompatible piping materials, as well as faulty fixtures and waste lines. Surprisingly, some home inspectors reported finding natural gas leaks in as many as one out of three homes inspected.

8. Exteriors. Flaws in a home's exterior, including windows, doors, and wall surfaces, are responsible for the discomfort caused by water and air penetration, but they rarely have structural significance. Inadequate caulking and/or weatherstripping are the most common culprits.

9. Poor ventilation. Perhaps due to overly ambitious efforts to save energy, many home owners have "over-sealed" their homes, resulting in excessive interior moisture. This can cause rotting and premature failure of both structural and nonstructural elements. It can also lead to tremendous mold accumulation, which can cause allergic reactions.

10. Miscellaneous. This category included various interior components, such as sticky windows, dripping faucets and environmental concerns such as lead-based paint and asbestos.

Don't overcrowd your refrigerator

Overcrowding in your refrigerator can cause food temperatures to vary. Arrange food on the shelves so the air can circulate freely to maintaining the desired temperature. Whirlpool home economists suggest to ensure proper temperatures, you need to permit air flow between the freezer and fresh food section.

Deck out your home

Home buyers rate decks as the most desired outdoor feature of a home, according to Building Material Retailer magazine.

That's because today's decks are no longer just surfaces to store lawn furniture and hang clothing to dry. They're outdoor living rooms that provide extra space for entertaining, cooking, lounging and children's play.

And decks are a valuable addition, as they typically recoup 71 percent of their original construction cost.

If you want a deck that holds its value and provides years of entertainment, consider the following tips, brought to you by the deck experts who produce Kodiak preserved wood, an innovative new building product that combines the beautiful look of quality, natural cedar without the high prices.

•Take the time to specifically think about what kind of deck you need. For example, consider size (how many people will be using it); need for lighting (when it will be used); and accessibility (whether steps will be a problem).

•Remember that decks are an extension of your home. Therefore, echo the style of your home in your choices of deck shape and style, furniture, color and landscaping. The goal should be to create a deck that looks as if it has always been there, rather than added as an afterthought.

•To maximize your return on investment, choose quality building products that will look good years from now. Some products, such as Kodiak lumber, even come with a lifetime limited warranty to ensure they will hold up against the elements.

•Decks are no longer just built in a standard rectangle. Experiment with geometric six-sided and eight-sided sections and curves, diagonal, herringbone and sunburst patterns, as well as multilevel designs.

•If your deck is more than 24 inches off the ground, railings are usually required by code. However, railings can be an eye-catching feature - utilize ornate uprights and interesting patterns.

•Choose materials that are easy to maintain. Kodiak preserved wood, as an example, is created with a two-step, patented process that provides color saturation throughout the wood, not just on the surface.

This thorough saturation keeps maintenance to a minimum, as periodic staining is not necessary. In addition, Kodiak preserved wood resists mold, and is unsurpassed in resisting termites and decay fungi.

•If you will be using your deck primarily for entertaining, consider built-in seating with a circular eating area. This provides a more intimate atmosphere, allowing guests to speak to one another in a close-knit space. Furnish it with weather-resistant chairs, lounges and tables.

•Safety will be a concern if children will be playing on your deck. If you're using treated wood, pay special attention to its chemical content. Some brands contain arsenic, which can cause infection with splinters. Kodiak lumber, however, is treated with a new process that doesn't contain arsenic, and has been proven to be safer for both children and the environment.

•Consider adding amenities to increase the value of your deck, such as a hot tub or spa. Many home buyers find that hot tubs are more practical than swimming pools, and are easier to maintain.

Home safety tips

While it is fun to work on home improvement projects, safety and security are important factors to remember. Here are some helpful safety hints from Home Depot to remember when working alone on home improvement projects:

•Before operating any power tool, carefully read the owner's manual for safety information. The manufacturer's instructions are your best guide.

•Wear protective gloves whenever they will not hinder handling of tools.

•When using tools that can splinter, chip and break materials, always wear protective eye wear.

•Always wear safety glasses and a dust mask or respirator when sanding and removing wallboard and plaster.

•When working with electricity, double check to make sure the power is off at the breaker box before you start working with wiring. Once the power is off, mark the breaker box so no one else turns it on while you are working.

•Make sure the power is turned off before removing cover plates of electrical outlets and switches.

•Take care when moving heavy materials and learn to lift properly.

•Use extreme care when working with ladders. Use a ladder only for its recommended projects. Check that your ladder is locked into place and on a firm and level surface. Whenever possible, get someone to hold the ladder while you are using it. Always center your weight on the ladder and do not stand on the top step, top brace or utility shelf of a stepladder.

•For ceilings and high spots on walls, make a simple scaffold by running an extension plant through the steps of two stepladders. Planks should be no more than 12 feet long and thick enough to support your weight without flexing. Ladders should be placed with steps toward each other and with the braces down and locked.

•For creating a scaffold using stairs, run an extension plank through the step of a ladder and place the other end on a stairway step. Make sure the ladder is steady and that the plank is level. Keep the plank close to the wall, if possible; never overreach.

•Dress appropriately. Coveralls and a cap will save hours of clean up time and replacement costs for damaged clothing.

You can get your questions answered

It's that time again when many of us will begin working in our gardens. Some are more experienced and are able to plant the perfect garden; others may need a little assistance. That is where Master Gardeners can play an important role.

A Master Gardener is a trained volunteer who provides service to the community by assisting people with their horticultural problems and questions. The program is sponsored by the University of Illinois and is under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

The North Suburban Cook County Master Gardener program is administered out of the Rolling Meadows office. Master Gardeners are recruited from west and north suburban Cook County into the program. The program is very unique, in that, once accepted, participants are trained and after receiving training, they are required to return a minimum of 60 hours of volunteer time in various community service projects. Master Gardeners are responsible for educating citizens by disseminating university, research-based horticulture information. One way of doing so is via the Master Gardeners information desk at the Friendship Park Conservatory. With no products to sell, Master Gardeners can provide unbiased, research-based information from the University to public. Homeowners are able to call or stop by the site to receive research-based information on horticulture related issues.

If you have gardening questions call the Master Gardener desk, Monday through Friday, 9-12 at (847) 298-3502.

Lawn Care Course

Were you dissatisfied with the way your lawn looked last summer? Are you looking at your lawn now and wondering when, if ever, it will be healthy and green? If you answered "yes" to either one of these questions the Home Lawn Self-Study Course could be the solution to your problems. Home Lawn Self-Study is a three part series offered through the Urban Gardening Program of the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. Written by a team of university horticulture experts, the course offers valuable information to those interested in renovating a tired lawn, starting a new lawn or simply understanding the basics of lawn care.

The three lessons in the series are: Selecting & Establishing Lawns in Northern Illinois; Lawn Maintenance Practices for Northern Illinois and Managing Home Lawn Pests and Problems in Northern Illinois.

To enroll in the course, write a $10 check payable to the University of Illinois and mail to: Lawn Care Course, University of Illinois CES, 3807 West 111th Street, Chicago, IL, 60655. Be sure to include your mailing address. Participants will receive one lesson per week in the mail.

A finished basement increases your living space

If you're a homeowner who would like to increase your home's living space but are overwhelmed by the cost of an addition, it's time to explore "the land down under" - your basement.

According to a survey of remodeling contractors, finishing an unfinished basement is one of the most inexpensive ways to add more space to a home. It is far less costly than an addition, and a proven way to increase the value of your home.

Regardless of whether you do the work yourself, hire a professional contractor, or a little of each, make sure there's enough headroom. Most building codes require a minimum of 7 1/2 feet from floor to ceiling.

Drop ceilings When planning the ceiling, interior designers say suspended, or "drop" ceilings are usually the best choice because they cover exposed floor joists in an attractive manner while permitting access to the pipes, duct work, and wiring above the ceiling.

The ceiling panels used in these ceilings are usually 2 feet by 2 feet or 2 feet by 4 feet in size. They are installed in a metal grid system that is suspended from the floor joists, and are available in a variety of designs for any decor or budget.

Some feature a subtle, overall refined surface texture. Others have a distinctive raised panel pattern that is reminiscent of old world woodwork. Still others offer a fine-textured repeating pattern with a stepped edge that helps hide the grid system.

One of the newest suspended ceiling panels on the market is called SuperTuff from Armstrong. This 2 feet by 2 feet panel has five times more impact resistance than most other panels.

As such, it's ideal for use in active areas such as a family room, game room, fitness room or children's playroom.

Noise reduction In addition, the panel absorbs 55 percent of the sound that strikes it, significantly reducing the noise level in the space.

To obtain additional information on SuperTuff and other ceilings used in finished basements, as well as other rooms in the house, visit www.ceiling.com on the Internet.

This interactive web site features numerous photos to help you visualize various ceilings in your own home.

Cooking results

To get the best cooking results, make sure oven racks and pans are positioned correctly. The following are general guidelines provided by Whirlpool home economists to help ensure success every time a meal is prepared:

- Be sure the oven racks are level.
- When baking/roasting with one rack, place the rack so the top of the food will be centered in the oven.
- When baking/roasting on two racks, arrange the racks on the second and fourth rack guides from the bottom.

• When using ovenproof glassware or dark bakeware, reduce the oven temperature by 25 degrees, but use the same baking time. Because these pans absorb heat, producing darker bottom browning and crispier crusts, place the rack in the center of the oven. When baking pies and bread, you can use the temperature suggested in the recipe.

Why freeze?

Freezing is the best way to retain food's color, shape and texture. Cool veggie tips from Whippool home economists:

- Don't forget to blanch all vegetables first in boiling water, steam or the microwave.
- Brush peeled fruits with lemon juice to prevent darkening.
- Try the cookie sheet method: Lay broccoli, beans or carrots out on a cookie sheet in the freezer. When frozen, transfer to a freezer bag. Individual vegetables won't stick together, so it's easy to retrieve the perfect amount every time.

- Ripe, red tomatoes freeze well for up to nine months. The frozen tomatoes are best used in relishes and sauces, instead of raw.
- Best squash tip: Scrape cooked acorn or butternut squash from the skins and freeze in muffin tins. When frozen, pop the squash out and store in freezer bags. Reheat in the microwave for individual, healthy servings that are a cinch to serve.

Projects to cement your home's appeal

There are many different ways to improve your home's lawn and garden area. Whether you repair cracks and chips in existing concrete or give your home a "face lift" by adding a new fence, pathway or patio, concrete-related projects are ideal weekend fix-up jobs.

Try these project ideas from The Quikrete Companies to enhance the appearance and value of your home.

• Setting posts - Consider adding a new fence, lamp, mailbox or swing set. Setting a post is one of the most common do-it-yourself projects involving concrete. To make the project even easier, use a fast-setting concrete that requires no mixing. Posts are also used for decks and basketball goals.

- Repairing cracks - Check your patios, driveways, steps and other concrete surfaces for cracks. Extreme temperature and age can cause concrete to crack and flake. With a little know-how and the right tools, you can easily and inexpensively repair damaged areas quickly and achieve a professional look.
- Building walkways - Create your own brick or cobblestone patterned walkways easily for half the cost of traditional brick or stone with easy-to-use concrete molds. Simply fill the mold with concrete mix, trowel and remove the mold. The process is repeated until the entire length of the path is finished.

- Making slabs - Use concrete slabs to create sidewalks, patios and other outdoor areas. Concrete slabs also provide a strong, level base for countless items such as air conditioners, sheds, barbecues and trash cans.
- Cleaning driveways and sidewalks - Remove soil, grease and oil from concrete, asphalt and other hard outdoor surfaces. For the best results, use an all-purpose concrete and asphalt cleaner.
- Products to complete any of these projects can be purchased at your local home center or hardware store. For step-by-step instructions on how to do these projects or to receive a free Home Projects Kit, call Quikrete at 1 (800) 282-5828.

GOT A GAS GUZZLER?

Before our Weathermaker High Efficiency Gas Furnace, your only choice was to buy a furnace that used gas more efficiently. With Weather-maker you save on electric costs, too.

Measure the old refrigerator to avoid cabinet remodeling and to make sure a new model will fit within the same floor space.

Consider how the door swings open. If a wide berth will mean kitchen traffic problems, consider a side-by-side refrigerator that doesn't require as much swing room.

Measure height, width and depth. The added capacity in today's refrigerators was created by making them deeper. Think about the six to eight inches that extends beyond kitchen cabinets. Will this cut into tight patterns or doorways?

Measure doorways. The street-to-kitchen pathway can be full of tight squeezes. Get an exact idea of what you'll face when the new refrigerator arrives - you may have to remove a refrigerator door or even a door frame to bring it in.

Niles Free Bus fast facts

As you may remember in the last Progress Report, the Village of Niles was conducting a survey regarding the Niles Free Bus. The response to this survey was fantastic. This type of input from riders is essential so the Village can continue to improve and maintain this important service to the community.

The responses to the survey questions were overwhelmingly positive. Some of the feedback included:

- 96% of the respondents indicated the bus is clean.
- 96% indicated the drivers are courteous;
- 94% indicated the bus is on time;
- 78% indicated the bus is neither hot nor cold;
- 73% indicated the schedules are explanatory.

The following list will highlight those commonly asked questions and provide a quick answer to each.

• Can the Free Bus start earlier and run later? - To expand the operating hours of the Free Bus would require additional drivers, or paying the current drivers overtime; and unfortunately the Village is limited by financial constraints.

• Can the Free Bus run more often throughout the day? - The Village is limited in expanding the service because of traffic congestion and the goal of servicing the entire community. The ongoing increase in Niles' traffic forced the Village to reconfigure the bus schedules last year to expand the amount of time drivers had between stops so they could stay on schedule. To run the buses more often would require stopping service to some areas of the community which would discontinue access for some riders.

• Is there any way to help residents board and exit the bus? - Each of the buses contains an access lift that can be lowered to make boarding and exiting easier for all riders. Additionally, if riders ever have a problem, simply ask the driver for assistance.

• The schedules are difficult to read; can they be changed? - Unfortunately, the Village's schedules are printed by PACE, an or-

Sorting out laundry blues

You know the type. Every house has one. A bona fide "no sorter" with a penchant for over-stuffing. But throwing all types of laundry into the same load—and packing down for good measure—not only causes poor cleaning, uneven drying and excessive wrinkling, it also means your clothes wear out more quickly. Here are some laundry guidelines provided by Whirlpool consumer assistants to send a clear message to even the most unrepentant "no sorter."

- Separate dark from light colors; colorfast from non-colorfast. Items properly sorted for washing should also be properly sorted for drying.
- Separate heavy fabrics (denim, towels) from light fabrics (synthetics, permanent press).
- Separate lint-givers (towels, chenille) from lint-takers (corduroy, synthetics, permanent press). When possible, turn lint-takers inside out.
- Choosing Load Sizes
 - Mix large items with small items. Load the washer or dryer by the amount of space items take up, not by their weight.
 - Large items (sheets, blankets and tablecloths) should be rearranged during a cycle to reduce balling or rolling up.
 - For better tumbling action when drying only a few small items, add one or two lint-free towels.
- Separate heavy fabrics

Laundry troubleshooting

Most common laundry problems are simple to fix—if you know what causes them. Here is a laundry troubleshooting list from Whirlpool consumer assistants:

- Brown, yellow stains
 - Iron in water heater or pipes
 - Dye transfer
 - Improper sorting
 - Load not immediately removed from washer after end of cycle
- Gray whites, dingy colors
 - Improper sorting
 - Water temperature too low
 - Not enough detergent
 - Using soap in very hard water (detergent works much better)
- Greasy looking spots
 - Fabric softener poured directly on clothes
 - Not enough detergent used
- Lint
 - Improper sorting
 - Paper or tissue in pockets
 - Pilling being mistaken for lint
 - Not enough detergent
 - Load too wet after spin cycle
 - Cold rinses
 - Cycle stopped before spinning completed
- Snags, rips and holes
 - Items damaged before washing
 - Misuse of color-safe bleach (do not pour directly on clothes)
 - Sharp items not removed from pockets

Resurrection to host seventh annual golf outing

Join us for fun, sun and hopefully a hole in one as Resurrection High School hosts its seventh annual golf outing, Tuesday, June 30 at Poplar Creek Country Club. Here are some laundry guidelines provided by Whirlpool consumer assistants to send a clear message to even the most unrepentant "no sorter."

- Separate dark from light colors; colorfast from non-colorfast. Items properly sorted for washing should also be properly sorted for drying.
- Separate heavy fabrics (denim, towels) from light fabrics (synthetics, permanent press).
- Separate lint-givers (towels, chenille) from lint-takers (corduroy, synthetics, permanent press). When possible, turn lint-takers inside out.
- Choosing Load Sizes
 - Mix large items with small items. Load the washer or dryer by the amount of space items take up, not by their weight.
 - Large items (sheets, blankets and tablecloths) should be rearranged during a cycle to reduce balling or rolling up.
 - For better tumbling action when drying only a few small items, add one or two lint-free towels.
- Separate heavy fabrics

Corporate and hole sponsorships are also available. For $1,000, a corporate sponsorship includes the corporate name on the welcome banner, a sponsor sign featured at the hole, business information displayed and a full-page ad in the program. The $250 hole sponsorship includes a sponsor sign featured at the hole, business information displayed and a half-page ad in the program. Tickets are $125 for golf and dinner, and $40 for dinner only. All are welcome to attend. To become a sponsor, make reservations or for more information, please call (773) 775-6616, ext. 27.

students in kindergarten through fourth grades, while Culver School serves fifth through eighth grade students, Nicholson said.

The Culver School building has undergone extensive rehabilitation and upgrading during the last school year. A large addition will provide space for 15 new classrooms all wired for a communications network, a large media center, which will be divided into separate primary, gifted sections and general sections, more space for administration and offices for support teachers who meet with individual students or small groups, Nicholson said.

She was very enthusiastic about two new computer labs which will form an "L" shape off the media center and two technology labs that will provide more than a dozen stations or modules where students will work on specific tasks, creating a final "product," Nicholson said.

For example, a pair of students might be studying aerodynamics. In the technology lab, they will have a computer, books and mechanical equipment to work with. When they are finished with the module, they will have some kind of product to show for their efforts. Another example Nicholson gave was the work the students will conduct on weather. In the end, they will be able to forecast weather, the principal said.

"The students will be reinforcing what they've learned in the academic classroom," Nicholson said. "They will use the skills and knowledge they learned to work on their modules in the tech lab, utilizing and reinforcing their skills," she said.

Band and practice rooms, an upper gymnasium in addition to the existing one in the Culver building, and enlarged and completely updated kitchen and lunchroom facilities were also created during the $8 million renovation-consolidation project, Nicholson said. A teachers workroom, a family/community involvement room and three new science labs are all part of the package, Nicholson said.

And if all goes according to plan, the new state-of-the-art Niles Elementary School should be open for business Aug. 26 when the 311 students from the old South School and the 216 students from the former Culver School return from their summer vacation.

would have on nearby businesses, such as restaurants, that rely on Zenith employees for their clientele.

Serperico also was concerned about finding new owners for the Zenith property should the firm declare bankruptcy. The building might be difficult to adapt for other uses, Serperico said.

John Taylor, Zenith vice president of public affairs, said that the company, which reported almost $300 million in losses in 1997, is restructuring and that it is prepature to speculate about the plant closing.

However, the 80-year-old firm may be forced to seek bankruptcy protection if it is unable to obtain an additional $180 million, a company spokesman said.

LG Electronics, Inc., of Korea, Zenith's major shareholder, is expected to provide about $45 million. Zenith will attempt to obtain the balance from LG Electronics, a new partner or possibly by selling assets.

The fairways at Tam are now "free of goose droppings," LoVerde said.

"Casey has been trained to herd the geese," LoVerde explained. "He disturbs their normal routine, and they get tired of coming back."

LoVerde also reported that Tam is in excellent shape now, and this summer he anticipates a large number of golfers.

Other park district operations are moving right along as well. The erosion project on the banks of the golf course is 80% complete, LoVerde said, and he also reported that the Park District was starting work on the restoration items. The black dirt top soil will soon be spread, and the banks will be "staked" for many live wildflowers that will be planted.

As director, LoVerde went to the Chamber of Commerce's "Experience Expo '98," business exhibition held recently at Oak Mill Mall.

He reported that the park district's new rendering of the new park went over "very well" with the people who came to the booth.

"We answered questions and showed them a small scheme of the mini golf course layout to be constructed at the new park."

The mini-golf project is just about 99% complete, LoVerde told The Bugle.

He further said that Phase II has been bid and the bid will be awarded at the Village Board meeting this month, or next month. All the bidding for the project was done through the Village, LoVerde said.

Pools will be open on Memorial Day and the Park District is also looking forward to large enrollments for T-Ball and many of the other summer classes.

Jozwiak Park also opened in April, and LoVerde and the Park District are working on getting all the facilities up and running there.

from Chicago for $1.04.

Des Plaines purchases its water from Chicago but charges its residents $2.65 per 1,000 gallons, while Skokie charges $1.80 for every 1,000 gallons of water it purchases from Evanston.

The highest rate for water consumption in the area is paid in Riverside, where residents pay $5.61 per 1,000 gallons. Of the ten highest rates, western suburbs pay eight of them. The lowest rate in DuPage County is paid in Oakbrook, where the rate is $2.65 per 1,000 gallons. The highest rate in DuPage County is paid in Clarendon Hills, where 1,000 gallons go for $4.96.

The rates listed exclude sewer charges, which are also included on most water bills. Some suburbs also charge higher rates for commercial or industrial customers, according to the study.

"Message in these bottles: Have fun"

The 27 members of the St. Luke's Bottle Band make music by blowing, hitting and strumming bottles filled with varying levels of water - Leinenkugel beer bottles work best, but also include a large sangria jug, a "bottle-phone" (several bottles glued together) and tiny airline liquor bottles. The Northbrook Symphony Orchestra is hosting a benefit concert featuring the St. Luke's Bottle Band on Saturday, May 2, at 7:30 p.m. This is a musical comedy show in the great tradition of Spike Jones, Victor Borge and PDQ Bach. The St. Luke's Bottle Band has been featured to rave reviews on the David Letterman Show, "Wild Chicago" and National Public Radio.

This benefit performance will be held at Regina Dominican High School Auditorium, 701 Locust Road, Wilmette. There is plenty of free parking around the theater and the theater is handicapped accessible.

Tickets (tax deductible) can be ordered by calling the NSO office (847) 272-0755. All seats are reserved. Ticket prices are adults: $20/$15 and children $10 (accompanied by adult). Call the NSO office for group rates. Contact person - Ms. J.C. Wacholz - Phone (847) 272-0755.
