From the Left Hand

by Bud Besser
Buglebits.....

Since you've been so inundated with the Bill Clinton story any opinions from our view would add nothing to what you've already read or seen.

We've been trying to find a different perspective which might add additional fuel for thought.

After World War I, when America was relieved of its military responsibilities, historians reported we had what they called a "Red Scare." In the early 1920's U.S. investigators went after fellow Americans accusing them of being Communists and Anarchists. It was a couple of years' investigations.

After World War II we had the McCarthy hearings which again centered on Americans who had previous Communist connections or were "leftists" or "liberals." Until the head of the investigations,

Heinen updates parks' progress and programs

by Cynthia Chapp
At the September meeting of the Niles Park Board, Vice President Elaine Heinen presided in place of President Charles Barbaglia who was on vacation.

Heinen said, "The staff should be commended," for the condition of the parks and went on to say that the residents of Niles are fortunate to have such well maintained parks. She also said that Chris Jorgensen oversaw the process of the closing of the pools, as well as the wrapping up of the swim teams, and thanked Chris for the efforts made. She noted

E. Maine Dist. 63 teachers seek 16% pay, perk increase

by Rosemary Tirio
Joel Block, President of the Board of Education of East Maine School District 63, announced Sept. 20 that the board has been unable to reach a new collective bargaining agreement with the districts 216 full-time teachers and has turned to a federal mediator to assist in working out a new contract to replace the one which expired Aug. 15.

The five-year contract proposed by the East Maine Education Association, the union representing the district's teachers,

Meeting room and upper parking lot construction incomplete; grand re-opening set for Oct. 24

Library to withhold final $600,000 payment

by Rosemary Tirio

"We're not finished yet," said Niles Library Administrator Cary Czarnecki of the renovation and expansion construction that began in late Dec. of 1996.

However, almost 22 months later, Czarnecki is not discouraged, saying that the only important thing still to be finished is the library meeting room, and that most of the other "punch list" items are smaller details that need to be touched up or redone.

One other rather large item, however, is the upper surface of the upper parking lot that needs to be redone because it did not "meet standards of density and compaction," Czarnecki said.

Until every detail is properly attended to, Czarnecki said, the Library Board will withhold the $600,000 final payment due to Broadway Construction of Chicago, the general contractor on the huge project. "The Board of Trustees has authorized [us] not to pay until the job is completed," Czarnecki said, likening the situation to any homeowner who withholds final payment until a home repair job is satisfactorily completed.

Trial looms in 1996 hostage incident at Old Orchard salon

by Rosemary Tirio
The man facing numerous charges in connection with an eight-hour hostage incident at an Old Orchard salon Dec. 26, 1996, will soon go to trial.

Lorenzo Davis, Jr., 32, of Glendale Heights, has been in police custody since surrendering to police around 10 p.m. the night of the incident.

According to Skokie police, Davis, armed with a 9mm semi-automatic pistol, entered the salon around 1:50 p.m. and began

L'wood man accused of holding nude dancers hostage

A Lincolnwood resident is among a group of five persons accused of bringing at least four Eastern European women to the United States for the purpose of performing as nude dancers in Chicago-area nightclubs.

Alexander Mishulovich, 37, along with the four other suspects has been charged with visa fraud and conspiracy to commit visa fraud. A criminal complaint against the suspects states that the women's visas and passports were confiscated by the group

TIFs replace state, federal funding of local revitalization

by Rosemary Tirio

Niles Finance Director George VanGeem is very positive about Tax Incremental Financing, the economic development tool that has received such widespread acceptance that only three states, North Carolina, Delaware and New Hampshire, have no TIF legislation on their books.

Since the Illinois General Assembly passed the Illinois Tax Increment Allocation Redevelopment ACT 20 years ago, 263 Illinois municipalities in 64 counties have created 458 TIF districts, according to "Frequently Asked Questions About Tax Increment Financing," a publication of the Illinois Tax Increment Association. Illinois was the 25th state to adopt TIF legislation.

TIFs are more frequently used now than at any time since the first TIF was used in 1952 to revitalize a community in California. Other economic development tools, such as Industrial Revenue Bonds and Urban Development and Infrastructure Grants, are no longer readily available to local governments, according to the ITIA publication.

While billions of available dollars in federal and state aid to local governments have been eliminated, unfunded federal and state mandates have greatly increased

Regency celebrates 'Appreciation Day'

September marked the second monthly celebration of "Resident Appreciation Day" at Regency Healthcare and Rehabilitation Centre. Regency developed this special program to show its residents how much the staff members appreciate them and respect them for their accomplishments in life. The Resident Appreciation Day program has been very effective in enhancing the residents' feelings of morale and well-being.

During Resident Appreciation Day, staff members on each floor of Regency Healthcare and Rehabilitation Centre develop special activities to honor the residents. Posted on each floor is a poster signed by all of the staff members, expressing feelings of appreciation and caring for the residents they serve.

The day's activities have included the awarding of certificates of appreciation, providing residents corsages, offering hugs to residents, and hosting special musical entertainment. During September, the residents enjoyed a delicious lunch consisting of braised beef ribs, asparagus, twice-baked potatoes, and apple strudel. Regency's department heads spent their lunch times with the residents in the dining rooms, helping to serve the meals and partaking in pleasant conversation.

Please contact Cammy or John Halverson for more information.

Assessments for business too high

Niles/Commercial property assessments by the County Assessor's Office and the State Property Tax Equalizers Office have risen in Niles and surrounding communities by an average of 23 percent over the past three years. If you are one of those properties, then you have a right to be irritated.

Real estate brokers tell me that resales of commercial property in our area have not been anywhere near 23 percent. So why the increase? We cannot get sensible answers from any of the responsible agencies.

I am going to meet with the County Assessor to see if I can get an appropriate explanation and indicate to him that small businesses cannot afford to be constantly hammered by such increasing assessments which mean higher property taxes.

Meanwhile, you have until Sept. 28 to file an appeal with the appropriate agencies listed as follows:

- Maine Township Assessor's Office, 1700 Ballard Road, Park Ridge, 60068, 297-2510.
- Niles Township Assessor's Office, 5255 Main St., Skokie, 60076, 673-9300.
- Cook County Assessor Offices, 118 N. Clark St., Chicago 60602, (312) 443-7550; 5600 Old Orchard Road, Skokie 60077, 470-7237; 2121 Euclid Ave., Rolling Meadows, 60008, 818-2444.

Maine Township recycling program

Several area municipalities may have curbside residential recycling programs, but those living in the unincorporated areas of Maine Township do not. Additionally, many multi-unit dwellings throughout Maine Township don't have curbside programs as well.

Maine Township, however, provides appropriate receptacles creating a convenient drop-off site for those residents at the Township Town Hall, 1700 Ballard Road in Park Ridge. "Collections are held from 8 a.m. to noon on the fourth Saturday each month," adds Township Supervisor Mark Thompson. "We invite residents in unincorporated areas to bring newspapers, corrugated cardboard, aluminum and metal cans, green, brown and clear glass bottles and jars and plastic milk, water and soda bottles." Thompson warns that dropping off recyclables at any other time is not allowed since proper containers need to be utilized, and are provided only on the 4th Saturday of each month only.

Thompson reminds residents that all items must be sorted, and containers should be rinsed with lids, tops and rings removed. No motor oil containers, yard waste, office papers or magazines are accepted.

Maine Township is also looking for volunteers to help staff the recycling center. Questions on recycling, or volunteering time to help the environment should be directed to Marsha Warnick, 847/297-2510.

All programs are open to the public and geared to the family so bring your children, friends and neighbors.

FLU & PNEUMONIA IMMUNIZATIONS
The Village of Morton Grove will provide influenza and pneumonia immunizations for residents over age 60. The cost of the shots are free for those whose primary insurance is Medicare Part B. Patients who are enrolled in an HMO, or who do not subscribe to Medicare Part B, must pay $10 for the flu shot, and $15 for the pneumonia shot.

Seniors should get a flu shot each year to provide immunity to the most commonly predicted flu strains for the coming winter. Pneumonia immunizations provide lifelong immunity to the most common forms of pneumonia and already received, does not need to be repeated. Anyone:

- 1) allergic to chicken, chicken feathers or eggs;
- 2) allergic to contact lens solution or thimerisol (mercurial antiseptic);

- 3) allergic to the antibiotic family called aminoglycosides (gentamycin, kanamycin or neomycin);
- 4) who has ever suffered from the illness known as Guillian-Barre Syndrome; or
- 5) who has cold symptoms the day of their shot; will not be immunized.

This year, Evanston Northwestern Healthcare Home Services administers the immunizations and offers a choice of a traditional needle injection or a Biojector (needle-free) injection. Those interested in a shot must make a reservation by calling the Morton Grove Senior Hot Line at 470-5223. Dates and times in the Morton Grove Village Hall Senior Center are:

Liquor violation
Police apprehended a 19-year-old Des Plaines woman who entered a liquor store in the 9100 block of Golf Road around 10 p.m. Sept. 18 and walk out a few minutes later carrying a cardboard box containing two six-packs of beer, two bottles of malt liquor and a bottle of wine.

Theft
A 49-year-old woman living in the 8800 block of Wisner Street reported that she noticed a cubic zirconian tennis bracelet valued at $250 missing from a bureau after her landlady let a plumber into her apartment without her prior knowledge sometime between 9 a.m. and 10 p.m. Sept. 16.

Retail theft
A 32-year-old Evanston woman was observed via video camera removing clothing items from a store at 590 Golf Mill Center and concealing them in a "girdle" without paying for them around 8:15 p.m. Sept. 18. She then put the items into a vehicle in the parking lot and returned to the store to repeat the process.

Police recovered the items and the "girdle" from the vehicle. Bond was set at $5,000 and a Sept. 29 court date scheduled.

A 36-year-old woman reported that the maintenance man in her building in the 7800 block of Nordica Avenue wanders in and out of her apartment. On two occasions she noticed a Beanie Baby missing from her collection. One of them is valued at $150. The other is of unknown value.

Police advised the victim not to admit the offender to her apartment in the future.

Deceptive practice
A 35-year-old Palatine man presented a check in the amount of $3,500 for flooring material at a retail business in the 7600 block of Milwaukee Avenue June 12. When the check was deposited on two separate occasions, it was returned marked "NSF" both times.

The complainant attempted to contact the offender several times but with negative results.

A 24-year-old Dolton man purchased numerous home improvement items valued at $7,054.46 in the retail store at 901 Civic Center Plaza around 6:37 p.m. Aug. 12. The check he presented in payment was returned by the bank first marked "NSF" and subsequently marked account closed. Police are investigating the matter.

Reader wants sex offenders names

Dear Editor:
Ms. Tirio's good article on the registration of sex offenders with the police departments of Niles and other local municipalities was interesting...but incomplete. Presumably, the names and addresses of these people are public knowledge. Why then did the article not list this information for your readers? Or is a good newspaper not meant to inform its readers?

Must readers refer to the Internet to be well informed. If "Yes," then why? If "No," then why not?

cer Sgt. Roger Wilson, in addition to being available via the Internet, the names and addresses of convicted sex offenders residing in Niles are available at the Niles Police Department for anyone requesting them. The police are required to keep a list of persons requesting to see the listing, Wilson said.

As a matter of policy, The Bugle does not print names of persons accused of crimes of any kind in the weekly Police News section. Unless a convicted sex offender residing in Niles was involved in a particular criminal incident of public record, The Bugle would have no occasion to print the name of such an individual.

Harlem Irving sponsors Children's Safety Town

Harlem Irving Plaza is hosting its annual educational program for children, Safety Town, on September 21 - October 2. This is the 37th year for the event, which is designed to teach kindergartners and first graders the basics of personal safety.

Edward Jones: Stay the Course to Weather Today's Market-Part II

Battening Down the Hatches
Whether you're a seasoned veteran of the market or a new investor, here are five investment rules that will help you "stay the course" and survive even the most turbulent turns of the stock market.

1. Stay Invested
Resist the temptation to sell your stock because the market has dropped. If your financial objectives haven't changed and the quality of your stocks hasn't changed, then stay invested.

No one knows where the market is headed. Even in a worst-case scenario, the average bear market lasts only eight months and typically takes just 13 months to recover its losses.

2. Stay with Quality
Use a falling market to your advantage by buying quality stocks at bargain prices. Quality investments are issued by companies with solid growth histories. These stocks have not only survived market downturns, they've gone on to grow in value. Quality investments are often not the most glamorous investments, but their reliability makes them some of the most attractive investments available.

3. Stay Focused
When choosing a stock, focus on market leaders in strong industries. Consumer staples, health care and financial-services stocks offer attractive investment opportunities.

4. Stay Diversified
Diversifying your investment dollars among a variety of fixed-income and growth investments is one of the best ways to reduce risk. As stocks fall, bond values usually rise. Building a portfolio that contains many different types of investments will help you weather any market.

5. Stay Calm
Hopefully, you've charted a specific investment course designed to reach your long-term financial goals. The current market is a temporary detour, not a permanent road block. Instead of dwelling on short-term market losses and gains, stay focused on your long-term investment goals. Don't ignore the performance of your investments, but do keep them in perspective. If you've invested for the long term, short-term results are incidental.

6. Stay Calm
Perhaps the most crucial, and the most difficult, rule to follow during turbulent market times is to stay calm. It's not easy to stay calm when others are jumping ship and cutting losses, but the survivors -- the investors who will actually benefit from this market -- are the ones who keep calm and base their investment decisions on long-term needs and goals rather than emotion.

If you are worried about your investments, contact your investment representative. His or her service shouldn't end with the purchase of an investment. Express your concerns, ask questions, and then follow his or her advice. By working together, you can stay the course and weather this and other turbulent markets.

To promote the early detection and treatment of PAD, Holy Family Medical Center will hold a free screening, "Legs for Life," on Saturday, October 3, 1998, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Hospital. Participants will receive a risk assessment and consultation with either an interventional radiologist or vascular surgeon from the Holy Family medical staff.

PAD is caused by blocked blood flow in the arteries of the legs. The most common symptom of PAD is leg pain, particularly when walking or exercising, which subsides after a few minutes of rest. Other symptoms of PAD include swelling, difficulty walking and numbness in the lower extremities. Some common risk factors for PAD include: smoking, high blood pressure (hypertension), high cholesterol, diabetes, family history of heart or vascular disease, being overweight, and a lack of exercise or physical activity.

Many people simply live with their pain assuming it is a normal part of aging, rather than reporting it to their doctor. The early detection and treatment of PAD is important in successfully controlling the disease. Several treatment options are available for those diagnosed with PAD. Some can be as simple as making lifestyle changes, while others can involve medical intervention such as medication, angioplasty, or arterial bypass. Registration is required for this screening, and appointments can be made by calling MedConnection at (847) 297-1800, ext. 1110.

Recall to repair Fold 'N Go Care Centers

In cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), Century Products Co., of Macedonia, Ohio, is voluntarily recalling about 50,000 Fold 'N Go® Care Centers for repair. The care center's bassinet could have loose fabric, which can create a pocket near the floor board in which an infant can become entrapped and suffocate.

Century has received four reports of babies getting their head caught between the bassinet's mesh side and floorboard, including one child who reportedly required overnight hospitalization.

Century is offering a free repair kit, designed to eliminate the pocket. The parts can be installed easily without tools.

Only Fold 'N Go® Care Centers with model numbers 10-750 or 10-760 manufactured before September, 1998 are being recalled. These portable, wheeled care centers include a playard, a changing table with a side storage compartment and a bassinet. Model 10-760 comes with a canopy. The model number and manufacture date are found on the tube supporting the underside of the playard. "Century" is imprinted on the side of the playard.

Juvenile product stores nationwide sold these care centers from March 1998 through August 1998 for about $100 to $130.

Consumers should stop using the bassinet immediately and call Century at (800) 583-4092 anytime for a free repair kit with installation instructions. Consumers also can write to: Century Products Company, Attention: Consumer Relations Department, 9600 Valley View Road, Macedonia, OH 44056. Consumers should not use the bassinet until

Learn to speak without the 'Jitters'

Have you ever been asked to give a presentation at work and been so fearful that you couldn't sleep for a week? Or maybe you just felt you couldn't do it. If so, you're not alone. In The Book of Lists fear of public speaking is listed as the most common fear people have, ahead of disease, disability, or even death. Unfortunately, this fear can limit your potential for career advancement.

But Park Ridge Toastmasters has the answer. The Club utilizes Toastmasters time-tested program that includes both impromptu and prepared speeches. It works because oral communications, like any other skill, can be developed and enhanced through practice in a supportive environment such as Toastmasters.

To demonstrate the program, Park Ridge Toastmasters is hosting a Visitors Night on Thursday evening, September 24, at 7:30 p.m. at The First United Methodist Church at 418 Touhy Avenue in Park Ridge. The meeting lasts approximately two hours and refreshments will be served. The meeting is on the third floor, with entrance in the rear on Grant Street, and parking in the lot across the street. The Club meets every 2nd and 4th Thursday of the month. For more information call (847) 296-3853.

Vicar installation at One in Christ Church

The Rev. Paul Joo will be formally installed Sept. 27 as the second Vicar of One in Christ Episcopal Church, 1600 N. Greenwood in Park Ridge. This special and important occasion will be held at 5 p.m. at the church. The Very Rev. Robert Dekker, Dean of the Elgin Deanery and Priest-in-Charge of St. Simon's Episcopal in Arlington Heights, will be the Officiant at the service. The Rev. Clarence M. Langdon, Rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church in

Rev. Paul Joo

Park Ridge, will present the Homily. The Mission was formed in 1994 with the marriage of St. Anselm's English Speaking Congregation and St. Mary's Korean Speaking Congregation. The name was arrived at to proclaim the coming together of peoples with different ethnic heritage. The Rev. Meredith Potter was the first vicar of One in Christ. Both Revs. Potter and Joo are Bi-lingual - a necessity in ministering to this particular church. Normally, separate services are held - each in the language of the people. The Rev. Thomas Smith, Deacon, assists the English Congregation while the Rev. Solomon Lee, Deacon, assists the Korean Congregation. The governing body known as the Bishop's Committee is composed of an equal number of English and Korean people. The co-Wardens are Ray Ejnik (English) and Simon Chung (Korean).

The Rev. Paul Joo has been with the Church for about ten months. Debbie is his wife and they have two children, a boy, Isaiah, and a girl, Mary, who are very much involved in church activities.

All are looking forward to a gala celebration. The phone number of the church is 847-825-5811.

New students enroll at Willows Academy

The Willows Academy in DesPlaines, an independent college preparatory school for girls (grades 6-12), began their 25th school year on August 31, welcoming 53 new students. While 24 of the girls compose the new sixth grade class, another 29 have transferred to The Willows. This reflects a 15% increase in enrollment since last year and qualified students from a range of geographic, socioeconomic, racial, ethnic and religious backgrounds continue to apply. "We'll continue to review potential candidates and process new students until September 30," said Gemma Cremers, Admissions Director. "Currently, we've added three more students since our opening day. We're also very proud of our 95% retention rate; students are not just enrolling at The Willows for a year or two--they're staying with us to complete their secondary education careers," she continued. For more information about The Willows Academy, call (847) 824-6900 or plan to visit the school's Open House on November 1 from 2-4 p.m.

Friday Fare book review

Reviewer Suzanne Hales will discuss A Walk in the Woods: Rediscovering American on the Appalachian Trail by Bill Bryson for the first program in the fall Friday Fare book review series at the Lincolnwood Public Library on Oct. 2. Coffee at 10 a.m.; program at 10:30 a.m.

The author has made his living out of traveling and then writing about it. Hearing the siren call of the open road -- only this time it's a trail, he tackles an entirely new subject for him: the American wilderness. Accompanied by his old college buddy, Stephen Katz, Bryson starts out one March morning in north Georgia, intending to walk the entire 2,100 miles to the trail's end atop Maine's Mount Katahdin. From the hiking to the geology to the forestry to the history to the people he meets, he tells a first rate, funny story.

Let kids go wild in the garden

Kids don't have to hibernate from outdoor fun in fall and winter. With these ideas from the American Nursery & Landscape Association (ANLA), children can learn about nature in their own backyard.

Fall and winter are crucial seasons to provide food and shelter for birds. Migrating birds may pass through your yard on a thousand-mile trek; those who are faced with diminished food supplies and freezing temperatures. Kids can have fun and feel good about a project that helps feed or shelter birds.

For starters, kids love making pine cone feeders. You'll need pine cones, Crisco shortening, a plastic knife, birdseed, and yarn or string. Peanut butter is optional. Let kids spread Crisco and peanut butter in the cone's ridges, then roll in birdseed. Help them suspend the cone from a length of string or yarn. (Brightly colored yarn may be more noticeable to birds.) Hang the creations outdoors in the garden. Kids love the messiness of this project, so be prepared!

A scooped-out orange or grapefruit half is another fun, temporary bird feeder. Hang the fruit cup from sturdy string and fill with seed.

Want a more permanent structure? Long winter evenings are the perfect time to build a bird feeder or birdhouse together. Many garden centers sell books of plans. If you're not the do-it-yourself type, the kids can help you shop for a feeder or birdhouse. Garden centers usually offer a wide selection of both.

Holidays are an opportunity to give something back to the environment. Let kids decorate a Christmas tree with edible ornaments for the birds. Here's a place to use your pine cone and orange cup feeders, as well as garlands of popcorn and cranberries. Love the idea, but don't have the time for homemade treats?

Some garden centers sell ready-made birdseed bells and stars as well as suet cakes.

Live Christmas trees make nice winter shelters for birds and small wildlife. When the holidays are over, have children help you move the tree to a corner of your yard where it can remain. It's a lesson in both recycling and providing wildlife habitat.

Fall is the best time to plant trees and shrubs that offer food and shelter for birds. Hollies, winter berries, beeches and hemlocks are a few examples. Ask a nursery professional for suggestions of what you and your child can plant together. Your efforts will make a permanent contribution to the wildlife in your garden while setting an example of environmental stewardship for your child.

For a listing of ANLA member garden centers near you, visit: www.growzone.com/gardencenter/index.html.

Never wait for hot water again

Q: It seems like I have to wait forever to get hot water at the bathroom faucet in the morning and it never gets really hot. Are there any low-cost, do-it-yourself gadgets or methods to get hot water quicker?

A: I know how annoying this can be. Until I installed a simple demand-type rapid hot water kit in my master bathroom, it took over a minute to get hot water to the faucet. Now it takes only a few seconds to get steamy hot water in the morning. By installing it at the faucet further from the water heater, I get hot water quickly now at all the faucets.

Waiting for hot water not only wastes your time, it pushes up both your electric and water bills. Running the water while waiting to get hot water at the bathroom faucet wastes up to 15,000 gallons of water annually for a family of four. What's worse, the water is only lukewarm when it finally gets there.

There is also a hidden energy loss when letting the water run while waiting for it to get hot. In the winter, all that room-temperature water wasted down the drain is replaced by very cold water from the water main, which must be heated. In the summer, the hot water, making its way slowly to a distant bathroom through long copper pipes, giving off heat that the air conditioner must run longer to remove.

There are two basic designs of do-it-yourself rapid hot water kits -- demand-actuated and timer-actuated models. The basic design concept is similar. Both include a small simple solenoid valve under the sink and a small electric pump. Most kits use screw-on (no soldering) flexible pipes and all the materials and parts needed are included.

The solenoid valve, with easy-to-install fittings, connects the hot and cold water supply lines under the bathroom sink. With a demand-actuated kit, when you want hot water, you just press a demand button on the wall or vanity front. This starts a tiny quiet high-volume water pump that draws hot water quickly from the water heater through the hot water line.

When the pump starts, the cool water from the hot water line is diverted through the solenoid valve back into the cold water loop under the sink. This creates a loop and the cool water goes back to the water heater. Not a single drop is wasted down the drain.

In several seconds of pump operation, hot water reaches a temperature sensor in the solenoid valve under the sink. This stops the pump and switches the solenoid valve back to normal sink operation. Now you turn on the faucet as always and you have hot water.

With a demand-actuated system, you can also install additional wireless remote demand buttons in other bathrooms or a kitchen start the tiny pump. In this way, you can have hot water quickly at any faucet in that hot water plumbing branch. Most houses have just one or two branches.

This type of kit also provides much hotter water. Since the high-volume pump brings the hot water to the faucet so fast, it does not lose its warmth in the copper pipes as before. This may allow you to set the water heater temperature lower for even greater energy savings. The small pump, running for just a few seconds, uses a negligible amount of electricity.

On a timer-actuated kit (no demand button), you set the hours when you need instant hot water at the faucet (usually in the morning and at night). These models provide literally instant hot water. During the timer-on period for hot water, the pump and solenoid valve switch on only when the hot water temperature at the faucet drops below a certain level.

Another very low-cost option for some homes is a valve-only kit that relies on gravity for the hot water circulation. These models can be used where the water heater is lower than the faucet. Since hot water is less dense than cold water, it naturally circulates up to the faucet. This keeps warm water in the pipes, so insulate the pipes to minimize the energy loss.

Still another instant hot water option is to install a mini-tank (two to four gallon) electric water heater under the sink. This allows you to have steamy hot water at that faucet only without setting up your main water heater thermostat.

Stretching the miles between fill-ups

Nothing lasts forever; that goes for low gas prices, too. As the travel season gets under way, motorists are attempting to get the most out of each gallon of fuel. The media have provided a number of tips. However, some may be misleading or misunderstood.

A motorist called Car Care Council for confirmation of what she had heard on the radio: that you can get better gas mileage if you switch to a higher octane (i.e. more expensive) grade of gas. Seldom true, responds the Council. Stick with the fuel recommended by the car maker, as stated in your owner's manual. Under special circumstances a higher grade may be necessary, but not primarily for the purpose of improving gas mileage.

Another query: "If, as I read in a major daily paper, just one tire 10% underinflated cuts gas mileage by 10%, wouldn't all four tires underinflated by that amount cost 40%?"

No, answers the Council. That item was to have stated that if all four tires were underinflated by that amount, fuel economy would suffer by 10%. And, of course, these figures vary widely according to the vehicle and driving conditions. The fact does remain, however, that maintaining proper tire pressure conserves fuel. Here are other fuel economy suggestions from the Car Care Council:

- Keep your engine "in tune."
- Problems in the fuel, ignition or emission control systems hamper engine performance.
- Change oil and filter regularly. A good rule of thumb is every 3 months or every 3,000 miles.
- Drive conservatively. A "heavy" foot when accelerating from a stop or excessive braking wastes gas.
- Turn off your engine while at a drive through business or when waiting for your passenger.

- Open windows increase the drag on your vehicle, consuming more fuel. For better gas mileage roll the windows up and turn on the air conditioner. Better yet, use the vent.

In general, concludes the Council, keeping one's vehicle well maintained goes hand-in-hand with fuel efficiency. A malfunction in the braking system, wheel misalignment or a faulty transmission all can affect vehicle efficiency and your pocket book.

The Council offers 10 brochures ranging in subjects from tune-up to tires, ride control to filters. To order, send a check or money order for $3.50 to Car Care Council, Dept. SRE8-E, 42 Park Drive, Port Clinton, OH 43452.

Hire a landscape professional this fall

To everything there is a season and landscaping is no exception. Fall is an excellent opportunity for productivity and accomplishment in the landscape. If you've delayed improvements, the American Nursery & Landscape Association (ANLA) suggests the following reasons why now is the time to contact a landscape professional.

Timing is everything. Many homeowners aren't aware of the lead time involved with a landscape project. They need to look at these jobs as they would a renovation project -- there's a process involved. For most professionals, that process includes: making an appointment, making a site visit where notes, drawings and photographs are taken; writing an estimate; scheduling the job; and assembling materials. Behind-the-scenes coordination of these tasks takes time. One design/build firm reports a three month wait for homeowners who call during the spring season. If spring is chaotic, fall is leisurely. The pace, as well as the temperatures, are nicer. Professionals have a chance to answer questions and can devote more attention to your project.

Putting down roots. In many areas, early fall is the optimum season for lawn installation. Fall could be known as the secret season of landscaping. Get ahead of the crowd by planning and planting now. When spring returns, you'll be able to relax and enjoy your beautiful landscape.

Business News

The Education IRA is good news for college savers

Beginning in 1998, there is a new way to save money for college costs -- the "Education IRA." Unlike the Individual Retirement Account (IRA) you may hold now, the Education IRA has nothing to do with retirement. However, the concept is similar.

The Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997, which created the Education IRA, allows eligible individuals to contribute up to $500 each calendar year on behalf of any child under the age of 18. Any earnings will then grow on a tax-deferred basis. When money is taken out of an Education IRA, the distribution is tax-free as long as it does not exceed the child's qualified higher education expenses (including tuition, fees, books, and basic room and board).

How the Education IRA Works
In 1998, single taxpayers with adjusted gross income (AGI) less than $95,000, or couples filing jointly with AGI less than $150,000, are eligible to make the maximum contribution to an Education IRA. The permissible contribution gradually phases out for single taxpayers as their AGI rises from $95,000 to $110,000 and for couples jointly filing as their income rises from $150,000 to $160,000.

Parents may establish an Education IRA for each of their children. Grandparents, other relatives or friends may also establish an Education IRA for a child. In fact, anyone, including the child, who meets the income eligibility requirements may contribute to help a child build a nest egg for college. Keep in mind, however, that $500 per child per year is the maximum aggregate amount that may be contributed from all contributors.

If a child does not need or use the Education IRA for college, the account balance may be rolled over to the Education IRA of certain family members who may use it for their qualified higher education expenses. The child himself or herself may also withdraw funds; however, the portion of the distribution that represents earnings accumulated in the account generally is subject to income taxes. The taxable portion of the withdrawal is also subject to a 10% premature distribution tax penalty, unless an exception applies.

With the rising cost of higher education, now may be the time to look into opening an Education IRA for each of your children or grandchildren.
