by Bud Besser

Love was all over the place this past week. It was bouncing off the walls at the "Nick Blase Plaza" last Tuesday night and it was oozing and free flowing at the White Eagle Restaurant on Friday night. Niles past week was one big love-in.

The town "Where People Count" had a wall to wall crowd turn-out for its 100th birthday party in the newly named "MBP" behind the new village hall just north of the Fitness Center. An estimated 3,000 people chomped on several thousand hot dogs and hamburgers, wolfed down a ton or two of birthday cake, sang happy birthday to good old Niles and watched the younger set do the macrame or the macrodoodle or whatever that dance is which made Al Gore a dancing partner with America.

Auto dealer to build where grocers fear to rent

by Rosemary Tirio

Because of the size and shape of the Tax Increment Financing (TIF) property recently acquired via condemnation proceedings by the Village of Morton Grove, developer Next Realty has scrubbed plans to find a grocery chain for the development.

Instead, the village is negotiating with the Bob Rohrman Oldsmobile dealership which has now requested to be placed on the north half of the parcel.

Next, which was originally told by village officials to have a tenant in place by Aug. 9, told the village earlier this month that it

"I will be available to talk with whomever the board [of education] narrows its focus to," Varga said.

Varga was named Supt. of Dist. 63 in August of 1993 after completing his doctoral studies. Varga began his career in education in 1964 as a junior high in-

$95,000 withheld from general contractor for incomplete work on new Niles Library building

Library to use withheld $$$ for post-construction

by Lisa Ashkenaz Croke

The Niles Public Library District plans to make use of funds held from a former library general contractor who failed to complete post-construction work.

According to a memorandum from Frey Gillan Molinaro Architects, Ltd. (the firm contracted to design the expanded library) to Library Administrator Cary Czarniecki, Broadway Construction, the general contractor responsible for the Niles Public Library's expansion project, has left approximately $95,425 worth of post-construction work incomplete.

The Niles Public Library District's (NPLD) Financial Report as of July 1999 shows 100% completion of major construction projects, such as demolition, plumbing, electrical work, and excavation, totaling $6,145,372.59.

Dist. 71 fails to overturn art teacher's reinstatement

by Rosemary Tirio

In a 17-page decision, District 71 art teacher Carol Romanowski's successful appeal following her 1998 dismissal on the grounds of poor job performance was upheld by a Cook County Circuit Court Judge Friday, Aug. 13.

Romanowski went through a year's remediation following a poor evaluation in 1997. However, her performance was still found to be lacking the following year and she was dismissed.

Romanowski successfully appealed the district's decision to dismiss her, but on Aug. 13, the

Village honors Mayor Blase for 38 years of community service

Niles Mayor Nicholas B. Blase was honored last week at the Village's 100th Year Birthday party which was held in the parking lot of the Human Services Building at Oakton and Waukegan.

At an abbreviated board meeting held prior to the party, the Mayor was surprised when the board members read a proclamation honoring him for his many contributions to the Village of Niles during his 38 years as mayor and later dedicating the island located between the Administration Building and the Senior Center/Family Fitness Center as the 'NICHOLAS B. BLASE PLAZA'.

September A-SCIP meeting to be planning session

The September A-SCIP meeting for the disabled will be a special opportunity for those attending to help determine the programs and activities of future meetings. "Instead of a pre-planned program, we'd like to have an open round-table discussion on just what kind of subjects would be of interest to those who attend our meetings," said Maine Township Director of Disabled Services Donna Anderson.

"Nobody understands the needs of disabled people like other disabled people," she added. "We're looking for input on program ideas on pain management, medications, insurance, transportation issues, social programs, social security information, types of disabilities, or even ways to select a doctor, among other areas."

Village and Legion exploring partnership for the use of the Legion Post

Mayor Daniel D. Scanlon announced this week the Village of Morton Grove and representatives from American Legion Post 134 have been discussing a potential partnership which would result in the Village purchasing the Legion Post and grounds located at 6140 Dempster Street for use as a municipal facility. The purchase agreement would provide for a perpetual lease allowing the Legion to continue to use designated set aside space exclusively for Legion operations. In addition, the Legion would also be able to use the main hall and other space within the structure for their many special events and fellowship activities - scheduled each year. The balance of the building and the site would be available for use as a municipal facility. Initial plans call for relocating senior services to the site and the Village will be looking at additional options to determine the feasibility of housing additional municipal operations - at this location.

The Village's team, led by Mayor Scanlon and Trustee Joe Moll first approached Legion officials last winter discussing various options and alternatives that might lead to shared use of the existing Legion facility. The Legion officials participating in the discussions included Jerry Weaver, Post Commander Elect, William Smith, Corporation Board President, Roger Schmidt, Fred Crivlare, James Peterson, Phil Hutchins, and Joe Hedrick. After numerous meetings, a proposal was formulated which met the needs of both the Village and the Legion. That proposal is currently being evaluated by the governing board of the Legion. The Village Board has been briefed on the discussions and has responded enthusiastically to the possibilities offered by forming a joint use partnership for this facility. If the Legion approves the concept, it is anticipated the formal sales contract will be drafted and presented to the Village Board this fall. Closing on the facility will likely not occur until after January 1, 2000. Mayor Scanlon is quoted as stating this arrangement would preserve the Legion facility and public domain in perpetuity; provide additional options for the Village to relieve existing overcrowded facilities; and also permit the Legion to continue to be fully functional at their traditional home. The Mayor went on to state this appears to be a win-win situation for both parties and that he looks forward to a successful and long term partnership between the Village of Morton Grove and the American Legion Post 134.

Reopening Stevenson will strain Dist. 63 budget

Dist. 63 Superintendent Dr. Robert Varga announced a budget increase of over 3 percent for the 1999-2000 school year, $1 million of which will be spent on reopening the Stevenson School.

Although the board has already given preliminary approval to the budget, a public hearing is scheduled for Sept. 14 at 7 p.m. at the Stetina Administration Building next to the Apollo School.

Other reasons for the increase are pay increases included in the teacher contract and improvements to the district's technology programs, Varga said.

Whenever another building is opened in a district, expenditures increase, Varga said.

Varga noted that during the past five years, the district has operated with a balanced budget and avoided a past practice in the district of deficit spending.

Back-to-School Time is not just for kids anymore

by Richard W. Riley, U.S. Secretary of Education

Back-to-school time has always been exciting for children. It's a time to meet new friends, new teachers, and resume the adventure of learning.

But back-to-school is not just for kids anymore.

If our schools are going to do the job we expect them to do, everyone must pitch in and help. That includes parents and everyone in the community.

The fact is, schools today can't do the job alone. There are more children in our schools this fall than ever before—more, even, than at the height of the baby boom! There is more diversity—in some schools, students come from dozens of nations. We are living in the Information Age, a time when our nation's economy and security depend more on the quality of education than at any other time in our history. That's why more and more states and communities are requiring students and teachers to reach for high standards of learning, and why the public is demanding real results for its tax dollars.

So I encourage every parent, family, and citizen to use this back-to-school season to make a personal commitment to supporting better education in their community. When children are surrounded by adults and communities that value education, they get the message that their education is important. And they're more likely to buckle down and do their best. When children see that adults and communities don't care about education, they get the opposite message. And we all lose.

To spread the message about the importance of family and community involvement in education, the U.S. Department of Education conducts a national initiative each year called "America Goes Back to School." We hold events all around the nation to stir excitement for the new school season. This year, I'm personally taking a five-state bus tour to spread the message. I'll be traveling through Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, and North Carolina. If you pass me on the highway, be sure to wave. I'll also be visiting communities in the East, West, and Midwest.

We've also prepared a colorful, fact-filled "America Goes Back to School" kit which provides plenty of good ideas for getting involved in your schools and staying involved all year long. It's called, "Challenge Our Students and They Will Soar," and you can get a free kit by simply calling the U.S. Department of Education at 1-800-USA-LEARN, or by visiting our web site at www.ed.gov/FamilyAgts.

Here are a few ideas that can get you started:

Employers: Be "family-friendly." Give your employees the time to meet with teachers or volunteer for school activities. It's good for education, and good for your bottom line. Giving parents flexible work schedules helps you keep your top-notch workers. Also, encourage your employees to be mentors and tutors to young people. Offer students internships and work-study experiences. And invite teachers into your workplace to show them the skills that today's workers must have. This will help teachers to make sure students take the courses they'll need to gain those skills.

Parents: Try to slow down your lives and help your children grow. Spend at least 30 minutes a day supervising your children's education. Start early, and read to your youngest children. Share books with your older children. Keep in touch with teachers. Make sure your children are doing their homework. Keep TV watching to a minimum. And talk with your children frankly about drugs and violence and the values you want them to have.

Educators, community leaders and law enforcement officials: Many communities are holding town meetings with mental health professionals to talk about troubled youth and school violence. Think about holding one in your community. Talk about ways to help troubled youth and find ways to connect each young person to at least one caring adult. Every child should feel that he or she is the most important person in an adult's life.

Creating connections and a caring environment in the home, at school, and in the community is an important part of preventing violence. And work with others in your community to develop quality after-school and summer programs. Isn't it better to have children in school where they can continue learning, rather than being at home alone, or going to the mall to play violent video games?

Teachers and school officials: Make your school parent-friendly. Reach out to families and remove the obstacles that sometimes make them reluctant to get involved in school activities.

Students: Challenge yourselves! Take the tough courses in middle and high school that will put you on the road to college and careers. Take algebra in 8th grade, geometry in 9th grade, and physics, chemistry, and trigonometry in high school. Take four years of a foreign language, and an Advanced Placement art, music, English, or history course. Explore tech prep and other career courses. Studies show that students who take academically challenging high school courses are more likely to attend and complete college and earn more in the work world, regardless of their family's financial status, race, or gender.

Elementary school students should focus on reading, reading, and reading—and math, too. Develop those basic skills. And no child should be promoted to a grade they're not ready for. Let's get rid of social promotion. If some children aren't making the grade, give them the extra help they need, either after-school or over the weekends and summers.

At the national level, we're working hard to provide communities like yours with more of the resources you'll need to accomplish these goals. If Congress agrees, we will expand after-school programs, help reduce class size by hiring 100,000 well-prepared teachers, fund safe and drug-free schools programs, provide mentors for middle school students and put them on the road to college, and build or modernize schools to alleviate overcrowding and put computers into every classroom. Technology is critically important if we're going to prepare our children for success in the 21st century.

If you want to get involved, you don't have to go it alone. Building partnerships is the key. Join with others in your community to determine your school's needs and then ask teachers and principals how you can support their efforts.

LASIK vision correction surgery offered

Golf Surgical Center, an outpatient surgery facility affiliated with Lutheran General Hospital, has recently acquired a VISX Excimer Laser for laser in-situ keratomileusis, or LASIK, vision correction surgery.

"LASIK is being used to reduce or eliminate the need for glasses or contact lenses," said James Katz, M.D., an ophthalmologist and laser vision specialist at Lutheran General Hospital.

"This procedure offers important benefits over other types of vision correction procedures. Most patients can see well enough to drive themselves to the office for their follow-up exam," noted Dr. Katz.

Coffee and doughnuts can be a deadly breakfast combo

Americans who start their day with coffee and doughnuts treat their teeth to a sugar bath that could mean a longer stay in the dental chair, says a Chicago dentist.

"The problem is that many people go to work where they drink coffee and eat doughnuts but neglect to brush their teeth afterwards," says David Miller,

DDS, a general dentist who practices in Dolton, IL. "Coffee and doughnuts can be loaded with sugars, but that's almost besides the point because sugar is not the only culprit in causing tooth decay. In fact, many other foods can be worse than these two items. However, many people will not or cannot brush their teeth at work."

Dr. Miller says that when people consume doughnuts and other foods high in carbohydrates, sugars and starches—they create a "plaque attack" that conducts a bacterial assault on teeth for roughly 20 minutes. During the attack, acids attack and can destroy tooth enamel, leading to dental caries, or cavities.

Many processed foods, including coffee whitener, also contain one or more sugars that are added to help preserve them, create bulk, or enhance their flavor. Milk contains lactose, or milk sugar.

"Compounding the problem is that some people get their coffee and doughnut and go to their desks where they pick at the food throughout the morning," he says. "The result is that the acid attacks are prolonged."

He recommends that coffee and doughnuts not become a daily habit and that they be consumed as a meal. "When carbohydrates are eaten as part of a meal, they are less dentally harmful than if they are spread out through the morning," he says. "One reason for this may be that saliva production increases during a meal. Saliva helps neutralize acid production and helps to clear the food out of the mouth."

He strongly advises that workers take their toothbrushes to work and not be afraid to take a quick break for oral hygiene. "It's happening more and more often," he says. "People are taking their brushes to work and cleaning their teeth after lunch and snacking. It's a great idea but only if you want to keep your teeth and strong."

Pace to expand Saturday service on Routes 250 and 290

Pace, the suburban transit service, will increase the number of Saturday trips on two east-west bus routes that operate in the north and northwest suburbs in order to better serve residents and work commuters. The service expansions take place Saturday, August 28.

Pace Route 250 Dempster, which connects Evanston to Des Plaines using Dempster Street, will have an earlier westbound trip added on Saturday mornings. The new trip will better serve employees at Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge. The bus will depart the Davis Street CTA Station at 6:15 a.m., arriving at Lutheran General at 6:48 a.m. and the Des Plaines Metra Station at 6:56 a.m. Simple connections can be made from Route 250 to Routes 209, 220 and 270.

Pace Route 290 Touhy Avenue, which operates on Touhy between the Howard Street CTA

Station and the Cumberland CTA Station, will have its Saturday night service hours extended from 9:25 p.m. to 1 a.m. This service expansion includes an additional eastbound trip in the evening from Lincolnwood Town Center in Lincolnwood to better serve the mall's closing time.

Passengers pay only $1.15 per trip on Routes 250 and 290. For greater savings, riders may buy a Pace 10-Ride Ticket (11 rides for the price of 10), a Pace Commuter Club Card (30 days of unlimited Pace rides for $39) or a Pace/CTA pass (30 days of unlimited rides on Pace and the CTA for $75).

For more information on Pace Routes 250 Dempster and 290 Touhy Avenue, or to get route schedules, call Pace Passenger Services weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at (847) 364-PAACE, or the RTA Travel Information Center any day from 5 a.m. to 1 a.m. at 836-7000. Review biography of Madeleine Albright Elsie Ginsparg will review the compelling, well-reported biography Madeleine Albright: A Twentieth-Century Odyssey by Michael Dobbs at the Lincolnwood Public Library on September 3 in the first of the Friday Fare Book Review series for Fall. Coffee at 10 a.m.; program at 10:30 a.m.

Albright has more star power than any secretary of state since Henry Kissinger and is due credit for increasing public interest and awareness of foreign affairs. Her personality is a "contradictory mix of insecurity and assertiveness, vulnerability and determination, softness and steeliness," Dobbs writes. He was the Washington Post reporter who first uncovered Albright's Jewish heritage which had been kept from her by her Czech immigrant parents, who fled to the U.S. when Madeleine was a young girl.

Her father, Joseph Korbel, was a diplomat serving in Belgrade, Yugoslavia when World War II began. More than two dozen of her family members, including three grandparents, died at the hand of the Nazis. Madeleine and her family were baptized as Catholics in England, and her parents never told her about her Jewish heritage or the circumstances of her grandparents' death.

Largest snake in the world celebrates 22nd birthday

"BABY" a 27 foot, 403 lb. Burmese python, who was recently inducted into the Guinness Book of World Records as the largest snake in the world, turns 22 years of age on August 30, 1999. She is the star attraction at SERPENT SAFARI, an indoor reptile zoo located in Gurnee Mills, Lou Daddono, owner of Baby for the past 14 years, invites customers to share in her birthday festivities.

The first 250 children to visit Baby between August 25-August 30, will receive a free gift. Serpent Safari is also hosting a reptile coloring contest for children. Children should bring in their own drawing of their favorite reptile or stop in for an official coloring page. The winners will have their pictures on display in the retail store and will be invited to sing Happy Birthday to the world's largest snake at her private birthday party, complete with cake and goodies! (Pictures should have child's name, address, phone number and age printed on the back side. Submit them by mail or in person by August 30.)

Serpent Safari, the nation's first reptile zoo located within a major shopping mall, has guided safari tours every few minutes. The 20-25 minute tour highlights a collection of the world's most unusual reptiles, including an albino American alligator, a pair of albino iguanas, Nile crocodile, rare monitor lizards, large alligator snapping turtle, sulcata tortoises, reticulated pythons, anacondas and their young, and many more exotic reptiles.

Schools and organizations are booking their fall tours now. Birthday parties, complete with a personal party planner, "slithering" snake cake, goody bags, party hats and a group photo with a favorite reptile are available. Special rates are offered to these groups along with lunch packages within the mall.

Exotic reptile pets, their habitats and supplies are offered for sale, with professional assistance from the sales staff. Experience a safari every day...open all year and all indoors.

'Fragments of Refuge' to be exhibited

Fragments of Refuge, artwork by Chicagoan Fern Valfer, will be exhibited at Oakton Community College's William A. Koehnline Gallery from Thursday, Sept. 2 through Friday, Oct. 15. The artist will attend the Opening Reception from 5-8 p.m. on Sept. 2 at the Gallery, located at Oakton's Des Plaines campus, 1600 East Golf Road. The exhibit and the reception are free and open to the public.

The treacherous escape of Valfer's father from the perils of World War II to safety in the United States has profoundly influenced her art. Her paintings, thickly textured with wax and splinters of wood embedded in multiple layers of oil paint, invoke the themes of perseverance, struggle and renewal. Fragments of Refuge, an installation of works on paper, paintings, photographs and historical documents, celebrates the strength of immigrant populations by paying tribute to the artist's search for a place of refuge. The exhibit's catalog includes essays written by Nathan Harpaz, curator of the Koehnline Gallery, and John Brunetti, a Chicago-based art critic and the Illinois editor of diologue.

Valfer earned her B.F.A. degree from Roosevelt University and her M.F.A. from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago. Her artwork has been exhibited widely throughout the Chicago area, and belongs to several corporate collections, including those of Arthur Anderson, Chicago, and the Loyola University Medical Center, Loyola University of Chicago. Fragments of Refuge is supported by a fellowship from the Ragdale Foundation, Lake Forest, and is displayed with the cooperation of the Fassbender Gallery, Chicago.

The William A. Koehnline Gallery is open from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays; and from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. on Wednesdays and Thursdays. For more information, contact Nathan Harpaz, Gallery curator, at (847) 635-2633 or visit www.oakton.edu/news/event/gallery.

Niles Historical Society honors members

The Niles Historical Society pays special tribute to a most valuable and talented member who died this summer.

Willis G. Kretschmer was one of our volunteer jack-of-all-trades who spent many hours fixing, repairing, building, painting, refinishing, removing and installing, putting up and taking down, picture framing and serving as a docent and official photographer.

He was proud to help keep the Museum in a livable, working condition so members and guests would enjoy the meetings, tours and exhibits. His official volunteer hours in 1998 totaled more than 500, we guess there were at least that many unofficial. For his service and dedication, he was honored at a volunteer appreciation luncheon in 1999. His energy, enthusiasm and skills will be sorely missed.

You can make a difference

If you're looking for something to do that is close to home and would help children, consider getting involved in Melzer School in Morton Grove.

We are looking for dedicated volunteers to assist with children in the classroom. The school also needs volunteers to do clerical work.

Brief training will begin in mid-September.

The children need you! If interested, please contact Chris Bauske, from the Retired and Senior Volunteer Program, at (847) 228-1006.

Commuter Campus Services at Hillels

The Hillels of Illinois has launched a major expansion of its Department of Commuter Campus Services, designed to meet the growing needs of commuter students throughout Chicago and its surrounding suburbs. This new initiative has been made possible by a Priority Grant from the Jewish Federation of Metropolitan Chicago.

During the past decade, there has been significant growth and expansion in the number of Jewish students attending commuter campuses in both Chicago and its outlying suburbs. There are organized groups at Oakton Community College in Skokie and Des Plaines, Northeastern Illinois University in Chicago and National-Louis University in Skokie. There are developing groups and contacts with individuals at Harper College in Palatine, and at Chicago's Roosevelt University, the School of the Art Institute, Illinois Institute of Technology, and Columbia College. It is estimated that between 1600 and 2000 undergraduate Jewish students attend these and other commuter colleges throughout the greater Chicago area.

The Hillels of Illinois, a partner in serving our community, is supported by the Jewish United Fund/Jewish Federation of Metropolitan Chicago and Hillel: The Foundation for Jewish Campus Life. Hillel serves as the Jewish address on campuses throughout the United States and in countries abroad, providing year-round cultural, educational, spiritual, vocational, athletic, social and community service programs designed to engage Jewish young adults.

Meet the Teacher at SJB

My name is Lizbeth Willert and I am the physical education teacher at St. John Brebeuf School. I hold a Bachelor of Science degree from DePaul University, which certifies me to teach K-12. Considering my preference to work with younger children, I have always taught at the grammar school level. My teaching career began in 1978 at St. Genevieve School where I graduated from in 1970. In 1985, I took a leave of absence from teaching after having my second child. The hiatus came to an end in 1994 when I joined the faculty at St. John Brebeuf. I have been here ever since and I have greatly enjoyed teaching and getting to know all of the children.

My husband, Pete, and I have been married for nearly nineteen years. Our daughter, Lindsay, is graduating from St. Ignatius and will be attending Fordham University in New York City this upcoming fall. Keith and Craig are finishing up 5th and 7th grade at St. Juliana. In my free time, I enjoy spending "quality" time with my family, which most frequently involves sporting events, walking on my treadmill, reading, and listening to music.

Saint John Brebeuf Art Fair

Saint John Brebeuf School recently held its 7th annual Art Fair. The children enjoyed listening to three different working artists explain and demonstrate their work.

Charles "Paul" Barker showed a video of the murals he painted in zoos and museums. Denise Schultz exhibited her wearable fiber art. Shirley Engelstein displayed fiber art made from everything from 8 track cassette tape to the "O" rings in a car's engine. This day is part of the Art On Parade enrichment program at St. John Brebeuf School.

During the year the "Picture Ladies," as the Art On Parade volunteer docents are called, introduce the students to four famous artists. This year the artists were Francisco Jose de Goya, El Greco, Edouard Manet and Georges Seurat.

The children then do an art activity related in some way to the artist's style or content. The children made pastel drawings of their dreams or nightmares after learning about de Goya. El Greco's elongated style inspired the children to cut magazine pictures into strips and affix them on a piece of paper leaving spaces in-between each strip to stretch the picture. Abstract prints were made after learning about Edouard Manet. Finally, Georges Seurat's technique of pointillism was put into action by creating landscapes with Q-tips and paint. As each art activity is finished they are all hung in the halls. It is so interesting to the students, teachers and visitors to see the similarities and differences of kindergartners through eighth graders doing the same project.

Selections from each of these art activities were displayed in the hall with the working artists' demonstrations. All the classes visited their Art Fair in groups throughout the day.

Niles resident returns as Orientation Leader

Jen Giofredi of Niles will return as a 1999 Orientation Student Leader at Elmhurst College.

Orientation is a five-day program for all incoming Elmhurst College students that is just one part of a Week of Welcome to kick off the fall term in late August. Designed to be informative and entertaining, Orientation includes a boat ride on Lake Michigan, a dance and a block party, as well as information sessions. Students also participate in Suburban Immersion, a program for students to volunteer their services to different organizations in the surrounding area.

The role of orientation student leader is to help smooth the transition to Elmhurst College and to answer questions for the incoming students. Leaders are selected through an application and interview process with returning orientation leaders and the assistant dean of student affairs.

Giofredi, a senior, is an early childhood education major at Elmhurst.

A graduate of Loyola Academy in Wilmette, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Giofredi of Niles.

Elmhurst is a four-year, private college offering undergraduate and graduate degree programs where the traditions of liberal arts education and preparation for professional life come together with a synergy that gives the College its identity and purpose.

Founded in 1871, the College is affiliated with the United Church of Christ.

Dominican offers evening cooking classes

The first class, "New Twists for Entertaining at Home," will be held on Tuesday, September 14. This demonstration and hands-on class will teach participants how to set up an elegant buffet that incorporates flower sculptures and ice containers along with perfect hors d'oeuvres. Cost for this class is $55.

The second class, "Quick and Healthy Entrees for Your Busy Lifestyle," will be held on Tuesday, September 21. It is a demonstration and tasting class taught by Judy Beto, Ph.D., R.D., F.A.D.A., associate professor of nutrition sciences and dietetics at Dominican University. Participants will learn quick and healthy entrees that can be prepared in 30 minutes or less from simple ingredients including chicken breasts, peach basil sauce and pasta with roasted oven vegetables. Cost for this class is $50.

All classes are held in Dominican's completely updated facility which includes 10 team cooking stations, professional cooking pans and utensils, chef quality knives and an area with a demonstration mirror.

Meet the teacher at SJB

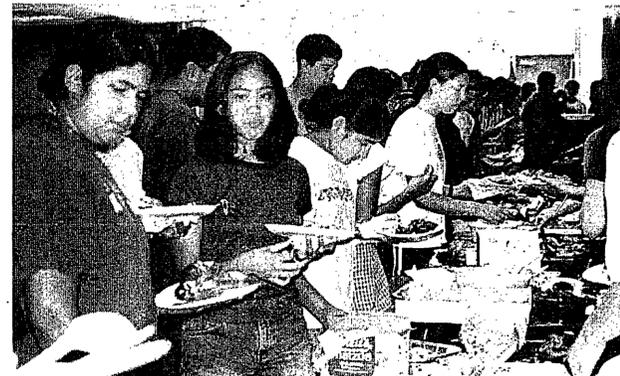

My name is Tracy Murchad and I teach fifth grade at SJB this year. Before coming to SJB, I taught at St. Sylvester in Chicago. I'm very happy to have come to SJB and to be working with a supportive teaching staff that works well, along with parents and children who take pride in their school. I was born and raised in Chicago, living in Edgebrook and attending St. Mary of the Woods School and Regina Dominican High School.

Summer and part-time jobs were always centered around children: ball sitting, day care centers, preschools, and summer camps. After graduating from Regina, I attended Western Illinois University and then DePaul University in which I graduated with a Bachelor's of Science in Elementary Education. I continued at DePaul completing an extended program endorsement in the areas of Language Arts and Social Sciences for the Middle School level. While in college, I was active on the student-orientation team and did philanthropic work for Phi Sigma Sigma Sorority in which I was a founder on campus.

I stay involved in the curriculum and teaching methods by attending conferences and seminars especially those in Science and Computer Technology. I currently still live in Edgebrook with my husband Bob, a graduate of SJB, and our son Robert, who attends SJB. My interests include snowmobiling, vacationing in the Wisconsin Dells each summer with my family, reading, computers and of course, teaching.

Students celebrate their cultures

More than two hundred summer school students enrolled in the class "People and Their Cultures" at Niles North, had a taste of the rich cultural diversity of District 219. This is a summer tradition initiated by history teacher, Betsy Holman. The students prepared foods that reflected the cultures that they celebrate at home and shared them with their classmates in a Culturefest. Customs and traditions were exchanged; exotic foods were sampled while music from around the world was enjoyed.

"People and Their Cultures" is a freshman course required for graduation. Seven separate sections of the course were offered this summer due to student demand.

Family visits St. Matthew resident

St. Matthew Lutheran Home resident Virginia Corbett is shown with Mary Quinn, her godchild and nieces and aunt during a recent family visit. Mary said, "We're here about once a week. The people here love the kids. I love it here. It's more like a living center than a nursing home." Virginia moved from Massachusetts to St. Matthew Lutheran Home in Park Ridge a year ago so she could be near her family.

"Gift of Life" blood drive at Bethany Terrace

Twenty-three employees and two family members of Bethany Terrace Nursing Centre at 8425 N. Waukegan Road in Morton Grove donated 25 pints of blood to LifeSource Blood Services on Wednesday, August 4, 1999 in the lovely Forest View Center which overlooks Miami Woods. During the summer months, LifeSource always has a shortage of blood because potential donors are on vacation or getting the kids (or themselves) ready for school. When healthy donors give the "Gift of Life," they could be helping a neighbor, family or friend who must undergo surgery or has an accident requiring an emergency blood transfusion.

Each week, LifeSource Blood Services sends out about 9,000 units of blood components to meet the needs of over 150 hospitals and health care agencies in the Metropolitan Chicago land area. Approximately 1,000 pints of blood are needed every day for Chicago area patients.

Anne Schur, LPN, Director of Bethany Terrace's Alzheimer Care Center, organizes this blood drive twice each year, encouraging employees and families to participate. Bethany Terrace puts its philosophy of "Let Our Family Help Yours" to work and it is this special caring attitude that makes Bethany Terrace a very special place.

If you would like to know more about Bethany Terrace Nursing Centre, please contact Ms. Suzanne Crow at (847) 965-8100.

Morton Grove Police clarify article on Driving and Drug warnings

Dear Editor:
On August 19 I received a phone call from a resident of Morton Grove concerning an article in the V.F.W. News of The Bugle. The resident, Michelle Senior, noted that there was an article titled, "Driving and Drug Warnings," which was submitted by the Watch City V.F.W. Post #1307 Auxiliary. This article warns about L.S.D. laced Children's Tattoos and gang-members driving around without headlights at night looking to kill unsuspecting motorists. First, I would like to thank Michelle for bringing this article to my attention and not causing a panic among the Community. Secondly I want to stress that The Morton

Grove Police Department, or any Police Department, for that matter, wants you the Citizens to contact us if you hear any rumors about illegal activities before you go to the Newspapers. Give us a chance to confirm a rumor before you pass it off as the truth. It is understood that the persons who report these things mean well in notifying the Public about possible dangers, but it can also cause an unnecessary panic among the Community. Lastly, I want to get right to the heart of the matter. According to Major Chicago Area Law Enforcement Agencies such as the D.E.A., F.B.I., Chicago P. D., Illinois State Police, Cook County Sheriff's Police, and Elgin P.D., these incidents have not happened. In Morton Grove, we have never heard of any of these incidents except in the context of an "Urban Legend." Unfortunately, these rumors keep surfacing and have been surfacing for many years.

Please keep in mind that you should teach your children not to accept anything from strangers and that if you suspect someone to be following you, DON'T GO TO YOUR HOUSE! Go to the nearest Police Station or other place where there are a lot of people. Plan ahead for any eventualities, know where the local Police Departments, Fire Departments, or Hospitals are located and always be aware of your surroundings. If you have any questions, please call me at (847) 470-5233.

Theft

A doctor at the medical office at 241 Golf Mill Center reported that a 45-year-old Joliet woman employed in the office since last May has been stealing prescription forms and using them to obtain prescriptions for herself.

On July 24, the complainant told police she received a phone call from a Joliet drug store attempting to verify a prescription presented by the suspect, which complainant had never written. The complainant confronted the suspect who broke down and admitted she used the prescriptions to get medication illegally.

The complainant did not know how many forms were taken or how many were used by the suspect.

Battery

The 46-year-old manager of an electronics store in the 5700 block of Touhy Avenue reported that a 50-year-old Evanston woman began yelling and pushing the victim's chest with two hands when he attempted to verify the check she wrote for $1,110. The incident occurred at 8:30 p.m. Aug. 21.

The youths exchanged angry words followed by ethnic slurs before the offender jumped on the victim, started choking him and bit him on the left hand.

Police advised both subjects to stay away from each other on the job and at the school both attend. The manager immediately terminated the offender's employment because he started an altercation on company property.

A 14-year-old Chicago youth was approached as he was about to enter a Pace bus and punched in the left side of his face by an unknown youth described as being between 16 and 18 years of age. Disney Institute brings the Keys to Excellence to area

There's a side to the Walt Disney World Resort that most people never see - the business side.

On September 17, business professionals in the Chicagoland area have the opportunity to learn the business practices behind Disney's success through a one-day seminar presented by Disney Institute and sponsored locally by The Management Association of Illinois.

The event will be held at the Hilton Arlington Park, in Arlington Heights, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Since 1986, professionals have learned the "Disney Approach" to business and management through a series of multi-day, executive education programs presented at the Walt Disney World Resort. And now Disney is taking its magic on the road.

The Disney Keys program consists of three components: "Leadership, Disney Style" explores how effective leadership has propelled the world's premier vacation destination for more than a quarter of a century. "Management, Disney Style" provides insight into the elements of selection, training, communication and care that make up the Walt Disney World Resort corporate culture.

Library plans big Harry Potter party

The great Harry Potter Party! A magic time is in store for kids in grade 4 to grade 8 at the Lincolnwood Public Library on Tuesday, September 7 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The imaginative party is based on the best selling books by J.K. Rowling, Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone, about a British boy who finds his fortune attending a school for witchcraft, and Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets, where the young hero finds trouble upon returning to the school.

Harry Potter party-goers will learn some magic tricks and eat Hogwarts Desserts straight out of the books. Kids who come in their magic cape, or bring a Nimbus Two Thousand, an umbrella, or a magic potion ingredient will receive a prize. According to Hogwarts game keeper Hagrid's representatives who are planning the party, no dragon lovers will be available because they sell for the outrageous price of "seventeen Sickles an ounce."

However, the kids will most likely have imaginary access to certain school supplies, found only in Diagon Alley. The Lincolnwood Public Li-brary is located at 4000 W. Pratt Ave., phone (847) 677-5277. Tickets to the party are $3 each and are available now at the front desk. Space is limited. For further details, read the books!

MG Library open Sundays

After Labor Day, the Morton Grove Public Library will be open on Sundays from 1 - 5 p.m.

Don't let summer's bugs bug you - enjoy them

A Cook County forest preserve naturalist will present Wasps, Hornets, and Bees on Sunday, September 5 at 1:30.

At this program you may learn the difference between different types of stinging insects, and how to deal with them if necessary. An even more detailed look at a most special group of insects will be Sweet As Honey, Sunday, Sep-tember 12 at 1:30 p.m., when a naturalist will focus on honey bee ecology and care. Registration is not required for Sunday after-noon programs.

If birds are more your thing than bugs, visit River Trail on Sunday, August 29 for a program on Migrant Birds, beginning at 1:30 p.m. A naturalist will help you understand migration and the differences between residents and migrants, and lead a short walk to see if any new arrivals are on the scene.

For a better chance to actually find migrant birds, join an Early Bird Walk, 7:30 a.m. on Satur-day, September 4. Please register in advance for this free walk, which is suitable for beginners or more advanced birders.

Most River Trail programs are free; a donation for snacks is sug-gested at evening programs. River Trail Nature Center is at 3120 Milwaukee Avenue, Northbrook. Please call (847) 824-8360 for in-formation and registrations. Join us soon.

Harvest of fun fills fall at Walt Disney World Resort

As the calendar counts down to the end of the century, the excitement continues to grow at Walt Disney World Resort with a harvest of special events, new attractions and celebrations cap-ping off the most explosive year of growth in Vacation Kingdom history.

Beginning Oct. 1, 1999 and continuing for 15 months, Epcot will be the focus of the Walt Disney World Millennium Cele-bration with new entertainment, breakthrough technologies, and sights, sounds and tastes from around the globe.

Epcot will come alive each day and night with a global festi-val that echoes the theme "Cele-brate the Future Hand in Hand."

Highlights of the Walt Disney World Millennium Celebration in-clude:

- "Tapestry of Nations": Immer-sing guests in an internation-al pageantry, this evening pro-cession - the spellbinding centerpiece of the nightly Mil-lennium Celebration - features 120 larger-than-life puppets, more than 150 live performers and a symbolic rainbow of brass, chimes, bells and drums.
- "IllumiNations 2000: Re-flections of Earth": A new night-time spectacular above World Showcase Lagoon features water cannons, a spectrum of lasers, giant torch-towers, and more than 2,800 pyrotechnics shells for each show.

- Pin Trading: In the spirit of other world celebrations, guests can trade limited edition, Walt Disney World Millennium Celebration pins with other guests and Walt Disney World cast members.
- Innovations: Breakthrough technologies for the new millennium are showcased from companies such as Motoro-la, Honeywell, IBM and AT&T. In addition to the Walt Disney World Millennium Celebration, the 47-square-mile Vacation Kingdom is brimming with new attractions and a host of special events planned for the autumn months.

Oakton tour highlights the genius of Frank Lloyd Wright

Explore the vision, genius and legacy of a master architect when Oakton's Alliance for Lifelong Learning (ALL) sponsors a tour, Oak Park's Frank Lloyd Wright (SOC E98-Q1), on Saturday, Sept. 18.

The day begins at 8:45 a.m. when you board the bus at the north parking lot of Niles North High School, 9800 Lawler, Skokie. From there you'll travel to Oak Park to visit the home and studio of the famous architect, where he lived and worked during the first 20 years of his career. Next, you'll stop at the Pleasant Home, designed by prominent architect George W. Maher. This 30-room mansion is one of the most distinguished examples of the Prairie School of architecture.

After a delicious lunch at Oak Park's Cucina Paradiso, the tour will continue to the Unity Temple, a National Historic Landmark. Built between 1906-1908, this "little jewel box," as Wright called it, is one of the earliest public buildings constructed of concrete. The tour ends at 3:45 p.m. when the bus returns you to the Niles North parking lot.

Fee for this tour are $67, which includes tuition, expenses, and lunch. For more information about this and future ALL tours, call (847) 982-9888, press #3.

Concord Homes offers affordable options for a 'Million-dollar' look

You're buying a brand new home, and you want it to look like a million bucks—with the emphasis on "look like." A well-designed, well-built home is a start, but options and upgrades are what distinguish your home from all the others. Still, it seems like the more you want to distinguish, the more you have to spend.

In a perfect world, your home reflects your tastes first and your bank account second. That is why Palatine-based Concord Homes offers dozens of designer selections that look like expensive upgrades but are well within reach for the homebuyer on a budget.

"Good taste has little to do with money," says Roger Mankedick, executive vice president of sales and marketing for Concord Homes. "You may be just starting out, or you may be budgeting for other things, like your children's education. That shouldn't mean you have to sacrifice on decor. We did a lot of research and discovered quite a few quality products that are current with today's trends and don't cost a lot of money."

First impressions are important, and your home makes its first impression, quite naturally, at curbside. Concord proves that upgrading a home's exterior doesn't have to be expensive. For example, Cameo, Estate and Designer Series homes offer brick and stone trim packages that are most cost-effective than full masonry exteriors. In addition, they offer optional roof shingles that look like slate, but are really made of fiberglass.

"Today's technology narrows the gap between the energy efficiency of a full masonry home and a sided home. So homebuyers are able to accomplish a similar aesthetic without incurring a huge cost," notes Mankedick.

The foyer is another place for first impressions, and Concord offers ceramic tile or hardwood flooring as standard in the entryway of many of its homes. If sheet goods are standard in the foyer, powder room and kitchen, then upgrading only the foyer to ceramic or hardwood in one way to make a good first impression and save money.

The kitchen is the number one room people want to personalize. It is the focal point of today's homes, the room where people gather, entertain and cook. It is also the room where you can spend a truckload of money in the blink of an eye.

"It's very easy to go overboard in the kitchen," says Mankedick. "Fortunately, manufacturers have shown a lot of creativity by coming up with affordable alternatives to very expensive products. Discovering these products is a lot of fun, both for us and for the buyers who visit our Design Center."

Currently, commercial grade appliances are all in the rage in upscale homes. Even homeowners who rarely cook want their kitchens to have that "restaurant quality" look. However, that doesn't have to involve professional ranges that cost 45,000 or dishwashers that wash your dishes in less than a minute. Concord offers GE appliances that come in a number of finishes, including the professional look of stainless steel.

Appliances and cabinetry that feature a "built-in furniture" look have also become popular—and expensive. However,

Concord offers some reasonable priced options in this area, as well. General Electric also makes special panels that attach to the front of appliances and match kitchen cabinetry. The result is a warm, rich, customized look.

Granite or solid surface countertops are another sign of a custom kitchen. But these surfaces aren't cheap. However, the laminates offered by Concord come in hundreds of styles, many of which look like natural stone or solid surface materials. For buyers who must have the real article, but don't want to spring for the standard 1-1/2" thickness, Concord offers a veneer, solid surface top which is mounted to plywood. This costs considerably less than installing regular solid surface countertops.

Natural stone is considered the ultimate luxury in baths, as well. However, not everyone wants to spend the money for marble, limestone or slate. For these buyers, Concord has a number of ceramic tile selections with a textured finish. The tile looks like it comes directly from an Italian quarry, and is a popular choice for foyers, too.

European bathroom fixtures are another big-ticket upgrade. But Price Pfister, the standard faucet in most Concord Homes, makes a line of fixtures that imitates the European hardware at a lesser cost. In terms of getting the most bang for your buck, Concord recommends upgrading flooring and countertops. Generally, upgrading things like faucet levers and door handles also makes sense, because people perceive quality in things they touch.

If a buyer does have a significant budget for upgrades, Concord recommends adding things that will be more difficult and expensive to add later, such as cabinetry.

Concord homebuyers can explore these options and others at the Concord Homes Design Center in Wheeling, where buyers from all of Concord's suburban communities make selections for their home. The Design Center is staffed by professional Design Consultants who receive ongoing education about new products and trends.

For more information, call Concord Homes at 1-800-CONCORD, or visit on-line at www.concordhomes.com.

Letters To The Editor

'Kudos to the Assessor's Office'

Dear Editor:

In 1989 Cook County taxpayers turned over $4.2 billion in real estate taxes. In 1998 property taxpayers coughed up $7.8 billion in taxes -- an 86% increase in just 10 years! Not to be outdone, the Treasurer's Office has increased the cost of ordering a duplicate copy of your Cook County property tax bill by 90%! Thousands of taxpayers and returned to the County Collector's Office. Thousands more tax bills are mailed to escrow accounts where taxpayers never have the opportunity to examine their tax bills for proof that proper senior and homeowner tax exemptions were granted.

Ask the gas or telephone company for a duplicate copy of your monthly bill and you will not be told it will cost you a dime, let alone $1. At least one taxpayer friendly improvement can be noted this year. Real estate property tax reassessment notices mailed to southwest suburban homeowners have been given a facelift. Proposed reassessment notices now calculate for a homeowner what the estimated tax increase will be. The reassessment proposal also comes with a tax appeal protest form. Remarkable! Kudos to the Cook County Assessor's Office who will not charge a dime for a duplicate request from taxpayers who did not receive their reassessment notices.

Tax payer concerned about Culver School

Dear Editor and District 71 Board Members:

We are concerned about the numerous problems with the new addition, roof is leaking, air conditioning not working, tiles on floors coming off, outside doors rusting, heating system not working in all classrooms. These are a few items we have heard about. We are concerned about hearing in a few years that Culver is falling apart - like we heard about South School! Taxpayers money is being spent, the question is how wisely???????? Did the Board Members oversee the new addition? If they did, why are there so many problems? Does the school have a working maintenance department?

Concerned about the school.

Bicycle and roller blade safety tips

One in four children will need medical attention resulting from accidents. An additional 50,000 will be permanently disabled and this year nearly 10,000 children will die as a result of some type of accident. Even more alarming is the fact that most of these accidents are preventable. In honor of National Childhood Injury Prevention Week (NCIPW), September 1-7, 1999, Holy Family Medical Center's Emergency and Occupational/Outpatient departments offers these safety tips that can help prevent injury, especially when riding a bicycle or roller blading.

- Wear a helmet.
- Wear light colored clothing especially when outside at dusk and night.
- Wear reflective strips on your arms and legs.
- Carefully inspect all equipment for loose or worn parts that are in need of repair before using the bicycle or roller blades each time.
- Encourage the use of knee and elbow pads to prevent scrapes and lacerations when falls occur.
- Never roller blade or bicycle ride on or in congested areas such as shopping areas or playgrounds.
- When riding or roller blading on the street, always obey the rules of the road.
- Carry a first aid kit which should include antiseptic wash pads, bandages and coins for telephone calls that may need to be made.
- Never bicycle ride or roller blade with ear phones on because it impairs hearing of potential danger.
- Make certain that water is available on hot, humid days to help prevent dehydration.
- Consider taking an American Red Cross or local police department sponsored safety course.

By taking these simple steps of bicycle and roller blade safety, you can be assured these activities can be an enjoyable experience with plenty of fun for everyone.

Starting in late August, motorists on Chicago's Lake Shore Drive will see an unusual sight: the northwest corner of The Field Museum will be transformed into a giant harp, complete with 100-foot-long golden strings catching the sunlight.

Earth Harp 1999 (so named because its strings will run between the top of the Museum building and the ground) will be the world's largest stringed instrument and its installation will coincide with the opening of a new Field Museum exhibition, Sounds From the Vaults (see below).

Designed and built by Bill Close, an environmental installation artist, and MASS Ensemble, a Chicago-based performing arts group (of which Close is a member), Earth Harp 1999 is scheduled to be functional on September 1 and will remain in place through September 30. It will be available to be played by the public, free of charge, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., every day. Field Museum staff and MASS Ensemble members will assist people in playing the harp. Sounds from the giant instrument will be heard from as far away as 100 feet.

The strings of Earth Harp 1999 will extend from the northwest corner of The Field Museum down to the building's northwest terrace, a distance of about 100 feet. The instrument will be composed of 32 strings made from special resonating golden brass wire giving it a 12-octave range, including harmonics. From the top of the Museum, the strings will descend into a resonating chamber (sound box) sculpted from wood and metal and measuring about 15 feet in diameter.

MASS Ensemble will perform a series of daytime and sunset performances on and around the harp, accompanied by a cello, flute and percussive instruments. The first performance is scheduled for 8 p.m. September 4, with other dates and times to be announced. During performances, the sound will be amplified with a speaker system and will be heard from a distance of 500 feet. Performances will be free.

Founded in 1994, MASS Ensemble is comprised of musicians, dancers and visual artists who combine their talent to create a sonic and visual performance. The combination of cello, flute, sculptural drums and other invented instruments, along with dance and interactive video, create a colorful and powerful musical experience. Bill Close and MASS Ensemble recently performed at Northwestern University during a visit by First Lady Hillary Clinton.

Sounds From the Vaults is an exhibition that will run from September 4 through March 5, 2000, at The Field Museum. Featuring 50 musical instruments from the Museum's vast collections, Sounds From the Vaults takes visitors on a multimedia journey by bringing these instruments to life through the latest digital technology. Visitors will be able to "play" the instruments by using special touch-pads. The exhibition will combine the sounds of instruments from a range of cultures and different time periods, and create music which has never before been heard! Sounds From the Vaults was developed by The Field Museum and 30/70 Productions.

Beginning Wednesday, September 1 and continuing through Sunday, January 2, 2000, The Field Museum presents The Chicago Bears: 80 Years of Gridiron Legends, a collection of approximately 25 objects illustrating the rich history of the team. On the occasion of their 80th anniversary, the Chicago Bears have opened their vaults and allowed The Field Museum to host the first-ever presentation of Bears memorabilia spanning the entire heritage of this storied franchise.

Few franchises better symbolize their sport than the Chicago Bears and professional football. From Papa Bear Halas to the present day, this is a team rich in tradition and history. With a total of nine World Championships, including a Super Bowl title, the Bears have accumulated quite a legacy and countless pieces of priceless memorabilia to go with it.

Chicago Bears Memorabilia to go on display at The Field Museum

Beginning Wednesday, September 1 and continuing through Sunday, January 2, 2000, The Field Museum presents The Chicago Bears: 80 Years of Gridiron Legends, a collection of approximately 25 objects illustrating the rich history of the team. On the occasion of their 80th anniversary, the Chicago Bears have opened their vaults and allowed The Field Museum to host the first-ever presentation of Bears memorabilia spanning the entire heritage of this storied franchise.

Few franchises better symbolize their sport than the Chicago Bears and professional football. From Papa Bear Halas to the present day, this is a team rich in tradition and history. With a total of nine World Championships, including a Super Bowl title, the Bears have accumulated quite a legacy and countless pieces of priceless memorabilia to go with it.

For the first time, visitors can see the Bears 1963 World Championship Trophy and the 1985 Super Bowl Trophy in all their glory. Also on display is a rare assortment of helmets, jerseys and Super Bowl rings - all owned by the greatest Bears legends from yesterday and today. Even Papa Bear's signature brown fedora hat will be on display in the most complete collection of its kind ever assembled. A special video component of the exhibition presents the team's historical highlights including the most memorable moments in team history - a history that has been an integral part of Chicago's culture for 80 years.

The SCORE 1160 AM Sports Radio, radio sponsor for The Chicago Bears: 80 Years of Gridiron Legends, will host a live broadcast at The Field Museum from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. before every home game in 1999. A different Chicago Bears legend will be on hand during each broadcast to greet fans and talk football. Dinosaur McDonald's and Corner Bakery will be open for visitors who would like to purchase something to eat. Kick-off is at noon at Soldier Field for all Bears home games this season.

Fans that prefer to sleep-in on game day are encouraged to bring their Bears ticket stub and head over to The Field Museum after the game to check out the impressive display. They can avoid the rush to leave the Soldier Field parking lot and receive a special discount. Anyone who brings a 1999 Bears game ticket stub will receive a $1 discount off basic admission to the museum throughout the regular season.

The Field Museum and The Chicago Bears are more than just two of the most publicly recognized institutions in Chicago. There is a symmetry that begins at the core of each, as both organizations have always been committed to providing civic service to the millions of Chicago residents whenever possible. By joining forces to make this memorabilia easily available to the public for the first time in the team's history, The Field Museum and The Chicago Bears are once again underscoring their role as conscientious citizens of the City of Chicago.

Admission. There is no special charge to see The Chicago Bears: 80 Years of Gridiron Legends other than basic Museum admission. Basic admission to the Museum is $7 for adults and $4 for children ages 3-11, students with an ID, and seniors. Basic admission is free on Wednesdays. The Field Museum is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. For general Museum information, call (312) 922-9410 or (312) 665-7009 TDD for the hearing impaired.

The Field Museum is located at 1400 South Lake Shore Drive in Chicago, Illinois, on CTA bus lines #12 and #146, and close to the Roosevelt Road stop of the Metra and South Shore trains. Low-cost parking is available nearby. For more travel information, call The Field Museum at (312) 922-9410. For information on public transportation, call CTA/RTA at (312) 836-7000.

We sat at a picnic table with the Ebinger Drive crowd, a group of Nilesites who've lived here since the early days, long before Golf Mill (1961), The Bugle (1957), Nick Blase (1961), The park district (1954), Niles second bank (there was a bank here in the 1970s) and Niles Library (mid-1950s). We were with the Potrue and Paus Ebingerites as well as the Steinerts from Neva Avenue.

The crowd was a bit segregated. There was row after row of Seniors eating and drinking and having a very laid back birthday party while the very much younger sets were dancing away just north of the diners. We were bouncing up and down shooting pictures of my 10/12 year old grandkids gyrating to the music. It was a weather-perfect night, and sitting under the stars and schmoozing with the neighbors was a great way to celebrate the end of one century in Niles and the beginning of a new one.

Friday night more than 300 people turned out for Niles Code Enforcement Director, Todd Bavaro's retirement party. It was so sticky with love and sweetness you wondered if this guy was being readied for sainthood. Nick Blase and Ginger Troiani and Emil Bertolini and MC David Esposito were among the speakers who spoke so warmly about Todd. Normally at similar parties, the jokes covered the embarrassment of the speakers who wanted to say what a great guy they're honoring but weren't feeling too macho about such expressions. But Friday night the jokes were limited and the outpouring of affection was everywhere. Ginger Troiani, whose past days manifested a bit of a brusque swagger, was mellow and soft-spoken, warm and affectionate. Jim Callero was brief and straight-forward and Nick Blase played it very serious in listing Todd's good works. Emil Bertolini, a man who we don't know, was very funny, with great stage presence. He too ended with "I love you" which was re-touched over and over Friday night.

Todd's kids gave him the evening's greatest gifts. Each one of them (four) spoke lovingly of past years, thanking him for his fatherly discipline and leadership. When his son, Nick, ended his speech with "I love you, Dad," there were many tear-brimmed eyes which looked silently ahead while commiserating with Todd's son.

After dinner there was a stream of dancers at center court. At the end of the evening we peeled off the dance floor and wandered over to Todd's family's tables. When the music became upbeat Todd and his Lovaine, who are great dancers, were in a circle with their three adult daughters synchronizing a little two-shoe tap step in rhythm with the music. After eight bars in stepped a little bit of white fluff, a very pretty ten year old granddaughter, who out-danced all her elders as she picked up the step. You looked at this happy circle of three-generation dancers, syncoptating in perfect step, and you had to wonder if Todd really had achieved a bit of sainthood, at least for one night.

Auto dealer ...

had failed in its attempt to find a grocer to build on the site.

Initial plans called for a grocery and auto dealership to be built on the east side of Waukegan Road extending from the Suburban Motel, 9111 Waukegan, south to Churchill Street.

However, because of the inadequate size of the parcel and the fact that it could not have been positioned facing Waukegan Road, Next was unable to attract a tenant, despite the fact that Next approached all the large grocery chains, according to Village Administrator Larry Arft.

Now that the grocery concept has been eliminated from the plan, Rohrman, originally slated to build his dealership on the south half of the parcel near Churchill street, has committed to building on the north portion of the reconfigured property.

Although the agreement with Rohrman does not include his receiving any TIF funds, officials expect the dealership to generate significant sales-tax revenue.

Arft said he was meeting with Rohrman representatives to come up with a new site plan. Plans call for a showroom, service center and body shop, but precise dimensions have yet to be calculated.

Condemnation proceedings have been started against the Suburban Motel and the Fireside Motel, 9101 Waukegan Road, has already been acquired and razed by the village, along with a three-flat which was located behind it.

The price tag on the Fireside property was $3.5 million, which the village will recoup as developers purchase the properties. Tax-increment revenues will also be used to reimburse the village for its expenditure for the properties.

Arft described the new agreement with Rohrman as "a comfortable fit" and predicted that it would bring the village considerable revenue in the form of increased sales tax.

Arft also welcomed the dealership because it won't present a noise nuisance and won't be open for business on Sundays.

The south end of the parcel currently occupied by a tavern, car-spray feature in the wading pool.

Package "B" of the project shifts to the inner workings of Oriole Pool. It provides for the replacement of the filter system, retrofitting of the water heater and installation of a pump for the new spray feature.

Package "C" moves to the building. The final package allows for the building to be brought up to speed with the Americans with Disabilities Act. The building would require only minor improvements to allow easier access for those with disabilities.

In spite of a grant from the Illinois Department of Natural Resources, financing the improvements could be a bit of a financial stretch. The total budget for the project was $700,000. The lowest of the two companies that placed bids for the project was Schaffges Brothers, with a bid of a bit more than $840,000. The Board and the Manager are considering options to reconcile the difference.

Most agree that it makes good sense to do all the renovation at once, rather than accomplish Package "A" and have to begin tearing up the site again when the time comes to do Package "B". Deferring Packages "B" and "C", however, until the Capital 2000 plan can provide more funds is a valid option.

Balling recommended that the Board avoid deleting any of the proposed parts of the renovation. The Board agreed, indicating that the Park District is committed to completing the project. It is simply a matter of determining how to proceed.

wash and part of the Firesire property, will be left alone for now, Arft said.

Rohrman, which operates a large dealership in Schaumburg, approached the village last April and began negotiations for the site.

A Walgreens drugstore has opened on the former site of the Admiral Oasis motel.

district appealed the decision to reinstate Romanowski.

Lynn Himes, attorney for District 71, said Romanowski was found to be deficient because of problems with classroom management and lesson plans.

Thomas Amato, field service director for the Illinois Federation of Teachers, the teachers union that represented Romanowski, said, "Carol's case was upheld. She expects to be back in the classroom... We expect this will be the end of it."

It's risky when the devil is driving.

However, the same report also shows an $86,596.55 difference between approved NPLD costs and funds requested by Broadway. For instance, Broadway Construction requested $26,717.00 for an item approved by the NPLD for only $4,148.17.

As Broadway has refused to finish post-construction work until being paid, and the NPLD refuses to pay when there is unfinished work, the matter is being reviewed by their lawyers.

Village Attorney Dennis Walsh of Klein, Thorpe, and Jenkins, told the board that costs estimated by Gillan to hire a new general contractor and complete work that Broadway left undone could be deducted from the $86,596.55 in dispute.

"You're entitled to get the cost of expenses plus architect fees reimbursed," said Walsh. Czarniecki told The Bugle that Gillan's $95,425 estimated cost of incomplete work was not the actual amount that the NPLD would deduct from the disputed funds.

Another new project proposes to replace the 33-year-old roof at the library's east wing with a new mechanically fastened roof for an estimated $75,000.

Gillan told the board that the mechanically fastened roof "is a good compromise between cost and performance." Gillan said the new roof has a good track record and would reduce roofing costs by an estimated 15%.

The new roof would also have to be inspected, tested, and guaranteed, a process that will cost approximately $2,400, but the long-term benefit of a guarantee may include increasing the value of the library as a whole.

"It's definitely worth it," said Gillan.

Washington

Field Trip to Maine East

"Oh What a Beautiful Morning" was the thought of Washington School's 5th and 6th grade chorus on April 22, even though the rain was pouring down! The reason: the chorus was on its second field trip of the year to see Maine East High School's dress rehearsal of the famous American musical Oklahoma. The chorus enjoyed the outstanding work of the high school singers, actors, and instrumentalists, not to mention the intricate and beautiful scenery and costumes. This trip gave them inspiration for their own musical, which was presented at Washington School in early May.

K.L.O.W.N. Program

Third grade students at Washington School enjoyed the K.L.O.W.N. program presented by MaineStay Youth and Family Services. The Kids Learning Other Ways Naturally program is about substance abuse prevention.

Clowns came into our classrooms and taught us that alcohol is a drug, and drugs change the way people act; that it's okay to say "no" to friends who ask you to do something you feel isn't right, and there are lots of other ways to feel good without alcohol or drugs. The students really enjoyed this program, and feel confident about choosing wisely and living a healthy lifestyle.

Student Helpers

The 6th grade helpers at Washington School have spent a very busy year doing a variety of jobs around the school. Many of the students assisted teachers in their classrooms during part of their lunch hour, while others worked in the office, helped in the lunchroom and took care of the flag and announcement boards. The students' contributions to the school have been appreciated by everyone.

As a "Thank You" for all their hard work, the students were treated to an afternoon at Wrigley Field.

dustrial education teacher in Oswego, Ill. He held principalships and superintendent positions in several Illinois towns and cities including Rock Island, Geneseo, East Moline, Freeport and nearby Riverside District 96.

Describing his years in Dist. 63 as "a very rewarding experience," Varga added, "This school district has some unique qualities I doubt the taxpayers even know about."

Among those qualities are the over 50 different language backgrounds the students bring to the district, which, Varga said, has declined slightly in the last few years from a high of 57 or 58 different languages spoken in the students' homes.

The varied language and cultural backgrounds of the students presented interesting challenges to the teachers and administrators, Varga said.

The increasingly diverse school population has meant an increasing enrollment, and Varga said he much preferred working with a growing district where programs are expanding and new opportunities are being developed rather than a declining district in which the superintendent is forced to cut staff and programs. Among the achievements of his administration in Dist. 63, Varga highlighted increased communication with teachers, staff and community, upgrades in the computer facilities in the district and the strengthening of the English as a Second Language and bi-lingual curricula.

Varga had praise for his district staff and their dedication to the education of the students of the district.

Varga said he intends to remain actively involved in educational pursuits after retirement. "I've invested far too many years in education just to walk away," he said.

Teaching night classes or consulting may be among his post-retirement endeavors, he said. Other activities will likely include travel and "sitting on the deck reading, catching up with myself, my wife, my children and grandchildren," Varga said.

However, he will not just "sit around and be idle," he said. "There are contributions yet to be made."

Varga said he felt he needed a change of pace, and at age 58, he was ready to find "newer, bigger and better things out there."

Dog bite

A 38-year-old Niles man reported that while cutting grass in his yard in the 7500 block of Monroe around 2:30 p.m. Aug. 22, a black/brown German Shepherd dog owned by a 37-year-old Niles man jumped the fence and bit him in the left buttock and the right upper leg, breaking the skin. The victim refused medical attention.

Burglary

An 18-year-old resident of a home in the 8200 block of Oak entered his home through a north-facing unlocked back door and observed an unknown man with a tattoo on his left forearm and a mushroom hair cut wearing a black tee shirt in the kitchen area. The victim chased the suspect in the house toward the front door. The offender exited through the door and fled the area in an unknown direction. A police check of the area had negative results. The offender apparently entered through the unlocked door. He entered a rear bedroom but left most of the furniture undisturbed. No pillow cases were missing. It was unknown if anything had been removed by the suspect.

A Niles man reported that person(s) unknown used a hard object to damage the front window of his townhouse in the 7000 block of Greenleaf sometime between 2 a.m. and 7 a.m. Aug. 22. Cost to repair the damage was estimated at $250.

Patients should know the perils of abscesses

Patients who have tooth abscesses should see a dentist for treatment immediately, even if there is no pain.

"Many people do not realize that an abscess can spread to another tooth," explains Mary Starsiak, DDS, a general dentist who practices on Chicago's Northwest Side. "They think it just affects one tooth but that's not always true."

A tooth abscess is a collection of pus around an infected tooth. There are two types of tooth abscess: a pus-filled sac at the root of a tooth; and a pus-filled sac between the gum and tooth.

"An abscess at the root usually is caused by severe tooth decay," says Dr. Starsiak. "When decay reaches the inside or pulp of a tooth, which contains the nerves and blood supply, the pulp dies. The infection in the pulp spreads from the tip of the root to the surrounding bone. An abscess at the root also can be caused by injury to a tooth such as a severe blow to

Seminar to focus on Women and Heart Disease

Heart disease is not "for men only." Women, too, must heed its signs and symptoms, especially after menopause.

Learn about the detection and prevention of heart disease when cardiologist Prafanna Sugathan, M.D., presents "Women and Heart Disease" from 5:30-8 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 30, in the Scharfstein Academic Center of Rush North Shore Medical Center, 9600 Gross Point Rd., Skokie.

This seminar is co-sponsored by Oakton Community College's Alliance for Lifelong Learning the jaw. An abscess between a tooth and gum usually forms when bacteria and food become trapped in an area that is hard to clean.

Symptoms of an abscess can include: sensitivity to heat and cold; a lingering ache; throbbing, particularly if it occurs without apparent cause and is unrelated to biting or chewing; pain when biting or chewing; redness and swelling of the gums; discolored tooth; tender glands in the neck; swollen face; a bad taste; foul drainage; and an open, draining sore on the side of the gum.

To diagnose a dental abscess, dentists examine teeth and usually order x-rays to check for any disease. The dentist may use ice or an electric tester to check the health of a tooth. A normal tooth will feel sensitive to the ice or the electrical stimulation but will feel relief when the dentist removes the ice or current. A tooth with an irritated nerve will feel some sensation even when the dentist removes the ice or current. A dead tooth will not feel any sensation at all.

"Dentists usually treat abscesses by first draining the infection, then thoroughly cleaning the area," says Dr. Starsiak. "The dentist then smoothes out the root surfaces of the tooth to promote healing and to help keep the infection from recurring."

An abscess between gum and tooth generally will heal soon after the abscess has been drained and the root surfaces cleaned, though it may recur if the area is not kept clean. "The effects of an abscessed root last as long as it is left untreated," she says. "An infection that spreads from the tip of the root builds up pressure and destroys the surrounding bone. The destruction continues until the pressure is released by root canal therapy, or until the infection destroys enough bone so it can drain usually through a gum boil on the tissue. The body continues to fight the build-up of pus and bacteria."

That's why the signs of abscessed teeth should not be ignored.

Carpal Tunnel Syndrome Explained

by Dr. Robert L. Richart

Carpal Tunnel Syndrome (CTS) is a condition that affects the arm and wrist by compressing the median nerve. The bones of the hand move using muscles located at the forearm. These muscles connect to the bones with attachments called tendons that pass through the wrist at the carpal tunnel. Eight bones that comprise the wrist connect to form an archway with a tough band of connective tissue on the bottom called the carpal ligament. Located inside this space are tendons, arteries, veins and the median nerve.

The median nerve originates in the neck and travels down the arm and through the wrist at the carpal tunnel to supply feeling to the thumb, first and second finger, and inner portion of the ring finger.

In most cases there is a typical sequence indicating the onset of Carpal Tunnel Syndrome. First Stage - Intermittent tingling or pain in the thumb, first and second fingers and the inside half of the ring finger.

Second Stage - Pain and numbness becomes more frequent, especially when moving, using or placing force on your hands.

Third Stage - Pain makes sleeping through the night difficult.

Fourth Stage - Weakness and lack of coordination movement, stiffness and arm pain increase.

Until recently, the majority of treatments for CTS: pain pills, anti-inflammatory drugs, splints, braces, and surgery, were designed to treat the symptoms, but not the cause of the problem. As a result, patients would achieve only temporary relief.

At the Richart Chiropractic Clinic our goal is to treat the cause of the problem, not merely cover up the symptoms. Our treatment program includes chiropractic manipulation, physiotherapy, exercise and nutrition.

A new type of physiotherapy designed specifically for sufferers of CTS is pneumatic traction. Pneumatic traction works by relaxing the muscles and ligaments that are causing compression of the carpal ligament upon the median nerve.

If you feel you may be suffering from CTS or have already been diagnosed, make an appointment to be evaluated at the Richart Chiropractic Clinic. Your complimentary evaluation will include an initial consultation, an examination including chiropractic, orthopedic and neurologic tests and a consultation to discuss the results.

To receive a complimentary examination, please contact Dr. Richart at (847) 827-8686 or meet Dr. Richart at the Niles Centennial Health Fair on Sunday, August 29. Dr. Richart will be conducting CTS screenings between the hours of 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. at the Niles Family Fitness Center, 999 Civic Center Drive, Niles.

Machine Technology Program offered

At a time when skilled machinists are in demand in the machine tool industry, Oakton Community College offers classes to help students attain certification.

Three special Machine Technology Apprenticeship classes are offered this fall. Basic Print Reading and Shop Theory (MTA 102-050, Touch-Tone 2154) is a four-credit class which will help students learn how to read and understand the piece part prints commonly used in the industry today. MTA 102 meets Wednesdays, from 6:30-9:30 p.m., at the Des Plaines campus, 1600 East Golf Road. (This course has been cross-referenced and students who wish to enroll in MTA 102 should register for FME 105-050, Touch-Tone 6448).

Basic Tool and Die Construction and Design I (MTA 205-050, Touch-Tone 2564) is a four-credit introductory class to the field of tool and die and mold design. It also acts as a survey of basic mold-making theory. MTA 205 meets Mondays from 6:30-10:05 p.m. at the Des Plaines campus.

The Oakton Machine Technology Program is approved by the Department of Labor, Bureau of Apprenticeship, and is staffed with Journeyman Tradespersons as instructors.

For further information about classes, schedules and registration, contact the Math and Technologies Division at (847) 635-1688.

How Market Day was started

Market Day was started by Trudi Temple from Hinsdale. She was looking for something other than a "bake sale" to earn money for her children's school. She started by having a Produce Sale instead, including apples which became the company symbol. This grew and grew into the current multi-state, multiple food program known today.

The Market Day program at St. John Brebeuf just completed its 11th year. In those years it has earned well over $120,000 for the school. These monies have gone to the general operating fund so as to help keep tuition costs as low as possible while keeping quality high. Occasionally we can purchase special items such as the small refrigerator for the science lab. We also have contests and award prizes to winning classrooms or customers.

Beyond the monetary benefits, through our volunteers and the friendships found when families of all age groups come together for a single purpose. A commitment to quality education based on the spirit of working hand-in-hand keeps our volunteers & customers coming back each month.

Washington

Medieval Times

The Washington School Sixth Grade Team experienced, first hand, life in medieval times. Upon entering the castle, the students were greeted by knights and royalty. As the students feasted on chicken (no eating utensils!), they watched the knights compete in games of skill, including horseback jousting matches.

This trip was the follow-up to a social studies unit. The students participated in a fundraiser to pay for the trip.

Washington School is one of six schools in East Maine School District 63, and is located at 2710 Golf Road, Glenview, IL 60025. Phone (847) 965-4780. The District serves students in communities of Des Plaines, Morton Grove, Niles, Glenview and Park Ridge.

Area residents receive academic honors

The following local residents were recently named to the summer dean's list at Ball State University. Students and their hometowns: Des Plaines: Elizabeth Kessler, Niles: Janis Vaca.

Advanced Die Design and Engineering I (MTA 207-050, Touch-Tone 2567) is a four-credit class that provides a discussion and review of progressive dies, compound dies, press set-up procedures and design techniques. MTA 207 meets Thursdays from 6:30-10:05 p.m. at the Des Plaines campus.

Basic AutoCAD (CAD 116) is also being offered. Three sections of this three-credit class are available. CAD 116 provides students with a hands on introduction to AutoCAD and SMARTCAM. It is designed to introduce the MTA student to the computer age.

The Oakton Machine Technology Program is approved by the Department of Labor, Bureau of Apprenticeship, and is staffed with Journeyman Tradespersons as instructors.

For further information about classes, schedules and registration, contact the Math and Technologies Division at (847) 635-1688.

Alliance against cargo theft

M.S. Carriers, a coast-to-coast irregular-route carrier, announced an unprecedented alliance against cargo theft. Recently, a load of freight that MS Carriers was hauling for a major national retailer was stolen in Manning, South Carolina. Together, M.S. Carriers and the national retailer are offering a $25,000 reward for the recovery of the load of freight. Mike Reaves, Senior Vice President/Driver Services for MS Carriers, explains, "We are tired of cargo theft. We request other shippers and carriers to join in our efforts to take a proactive stand against this growing problem."

Anyone who can furnish information on the recovery of the freight or the arrest and conviction of the criminal(s), please call MS Carriers' Cargo Theft Line at 1-888-781-5166.
