Traveling Vietnam Wall Visits Rose Hill

BY WENDY ELLIS

A finger moves slowly along the shiny black surface, across the rows, down the columns, searching for that special name that will bring to mind a long lost face. A brother, a father, a son, a friend. The scene is repeated almost every weekend across the country, wherever the traveling replica of the National Vietnam War Memorial makes its stop. That Traveling Vietnam Wall stood at Rosehill Cemetery in Chicago from Friday, Aug. 8 to Sunday, Aug. 10, as hundreds of residents from the city as well as the north and northwest suburbs came to pay tribute to the men and women who died in Vietnam.

The faux granite wall stands 8 feet high and 240 feet long, three quarters the size of the real Memorial in Washington, D.C. The names of over 58,000 Americans are etched into its surface, just as they are in Washington. 11,000 Illinois

Friendsip forged over books at the Morton Grove Library

BY WENDY ELLIS

To many youngsters, summertime means swimming, baseball, and picnics in the park. When that last school bell rings in June, books are often put aside and bicycles come out of storage. Library Summer reading programs are available to young people who like to read, but what about those just beginning to see the magic between the covers of a book? For young readers just reaching that gap between learning to read and reading to learn, a summer without books can be a big setback.

The Morton Grove Public Library found a solution to that summer slowdown by offering a new program called Book Buddies, pairing up young first and second grade readers with older, teenaged library volunteers. Each week, for half an hour, the two buddies meet in the library basement and read together. Morton Grove mother Mary Ann Rohn says for her two oldest children it has been a wonderful experience.

"There's something really special about it, but I haven't put my finger on it," says Rohn. "For the first time they realize reading is a super serious step in life, like learning to swim." Rohn says her family put specific time aside for Book Buddies, just like swimming lessons and going to camp. For 8 year old Jamie and her 6 year old brother Thomas, the reading program has made all the difference.

"When school ended last June, Jamie's teacher said she was exactly 50-50 in reading," said Mary Ann Rohn. "Her teacher said the best thing she could do was read, read, read." And that's exactly what she did. Sitting with a stack of books in front of her, Jamie reads fluently to her Buddy of the day, David Jacob. David, heading to high school next year, said his parents wanted him to get involved in the community, and volunteering at the library was his choice. David is one of 28 teenage volunteers at the Morton Grove Library, although not all of them are Book Buddies.

6 year old Thomas spent most of his summer reading with David, and after only his first session, Mary Ann saw the light go on. "That night he brought books home, and for the first time he could read on his own." Mary Ann says her children think of their buddies as their own special reading teachers. When Jamie's Buddy came to her lesson dressed in a Sari, the 8 year old thought it was especially for her.

12 year old Allison Nettlin, a student at Gemini Jr. High said her summer book buddy was a little reluctant at first, but now is a lot more confident in reading. Although the library gives the older kids guidelines, mostly the librarians remind them they are there to listen to the younger kids read, to help with a hard word, to give them positive encouragement. "We know the basics," said Allison. "But we build our own way of working with them."

The weekly sessions are coming to an end as school is about to begin again in Morton Grove. But the library is hoping to attract more teen volunteers and bring more beginning readers in to share time with them on a once a month basis this winter.

Remembering John Heinen

BY WENDY ELLIS

The sound of Trumpet Fanfare announced to the tiny Niles resident, John F. Heinen, that his veterans' service was over. The 91-year-old's final call was the peal of the last trumpet as the bugler performed his duty. John was always a man of tradition and respect for the military. When he was called by the bugler, he stood proudly and saluted the flag. His service was always marked by respect and honor. John was a true patriot, a man who never forgot the sacrifices of those who came before him. He was a Vietnam War veteran, proudly serving his country in the Army. In his final days, he was surrounded by family and friends, all paying their respects. He was laid to rest in the Maryhill Cemetery, surrounded by the love and support of his family and the community. His legacy lives on in the memories of those who knew him. He was truly a hero to all who knew him.

North Shore Financial continues growth over five years of service to communities

BY JULIE MURPHY

North Shore Financial Services has quickly established itself as a financial powerhouse on the north side. Under the leadership of President Jeffrey J. Miller and CEO Joel J. Weitz, the company has grown dramatically over the past five years, becoming a leading player in the financial services landscape.

Miller credits the company’s growth to a combination of strong leadership, a commitment to customer service, and a focus on innovation.

"We have always been committed to providing our clients with the best possible experience," Miller said. "We've invested heavily in technology to make banking easier and more convenient for our customers."

North Shore Financial Services has also been involved in the community, sponsoring events and organizations to support its neighbors.

"We believe in giving back to the communities we serve," said Weitz. "Through our community involvement, we are able to make a positive impact on the lives of our neighbors."
Local stars shine at Niles All-Star Tournament

BY BRENDAN DIAMOND

The stars are shining this month in the northern suburbs. Niles’ baseball teams continued to bring home hardware to Rosemont. All of the Niles teams are in the top four (in their respective tournaments).

A few favorites that were expected to do well have done so. In Rosemont, the four teams that were considered the best records participate in a single-elimination playoff. Kaylee, 12, was among the top players for the team.

Garrett is the son of Vice President of financial services, Inc. and Rosemont Mayor. He is working on a report to the Governor’s council for the upcoming legislative session. The report will be presented to the Governor’s office in March.

The task force will be led by a non-voting member, who will serve as advisory, and will coordinate agencies, councils, and elected officials. The report will be presented to the Governor’s office in March.

Each league has its own way of selecting its players, explains Kansas, 12. "In our league, we have a tryout, but in others, kids can be on a team all season, but they might play two games." He claims, "In a Rosemont league, everybody plays everyone else, all the kids get a chance."

Above, Anthony Stanta of Niles connects for a base hit in the top of the third inning to lead off the scoring in their playoff game against the Gompers Park players. The Niles North squad, along with down-town Rosemont, and out on the square, are taking the lead over the season.

The Game Remains

There are a few key series of games to keep an eye on. The one where Niles is considered a top team was a big game. In addition, there are several other games that will show the U.S. title game and the championship game since 1963.

Niles Park District halts Express hockey league

BY ANDREA SAVAVNO

A recent meeting of the Park District Board, unani-mosly voted to end the 20-year Niles Rangers Express hockey league program. To move on, the Rangers sent a consistent and competitive team.

"We want to continue doing what we have been doing and be competitive in the league," said Park District Program Director of Youth Sports and Recreation. "This was the best decision for the kids. The league was started in 1982 and we've been doing it ever since."

While the decision was tough, the Niles Rangers Express hockey league will continue. The Express will move to the Niles Park District House Program for the upcoming season.

"We're looking to the future and the existing program will be in place," said Park District Director of Youth Sports and Recreation. "We want to continue to offer the best possible program for the kids."

Niles Police dogs show off crime-fighting skills

BY BRENDAN DIAMOND

The Niles Police Department wants to show the dogs last week. And that’s a good thing.

The Niles Youth Police Academy, made up of 7th-10th graders in Niles, witnessed the Department’s canine unit Wednesday, Aug. 6.

“The Youth Police Academy, like the Citizen’s Police Academy, gives kids insight of how the police department operates,” said Deputy Chief Charlie Giovannelli. “It’s very general; the curriculum isn’t too sophisticated, since it’s geared toward a younger audience.”

But the curriculum isn’t that simplistic. The canine officers, Noah and Max, are the unit’s dogs. “We’ve had Noah, who’s a golden labrador, for several years,” Giovannelli continues. “Max, the German Shepherd, is new.”

The dogs were trained in Indiana, where an academy for canine officers trains dogs for many different units, including those in both the suburbs and Chicago. “The Niles dogs receive the same training as the rest of the state,” Giovannelli says. “They were trained to ‘sniff out’ apprehenders in ‘suspected law-breakers, drugs, and_seen on
