Controversy persists over Muslim Community Center

Blase seeks public input on motorized scooters

TRACY YOSHIDA

Mayor Nicholas Blase is interested to know how the community feels about the usage of motor scooters in Niles. Currently, there is no ordinance that specifically regulates the use of motor scooters on the streets and sidewalks of Niles, according to Niles Police Chief Gerald Sheehan. Although there have not been any major injuries or fatal incidents in Niles, there have been incidents in surrounding neighborhoods, including a fatality in Des Plaines.

“I want to find out what the community wants,” said Blase. Sheehan said that in a recent village newsletter Blase encouraged the community to share their thoughts on the issue.

“We’re looking out for the well being of the children,” said Sheehan. “If you drive them carefully they’re okay,” said Blase. “They shouldn’t be riding them on the street,” said Sheehan. “They’re probably only meant for private property.”

Sheehan strongly encourages kids to wear helmets if they are operating these motor scooters. Blase said a lot of towns are banning the use of scooters in certain areas. However, Blase said he did not want to do this until he finds out exactly how the community is feeling about this issue.

Sheehan said that he hears more complaints about kids riding on skateboards in certain areas of Niles opposed to motor scooter complaints.

Clean-up of creeks mitigates flooding in unincorporated Maine Township

WENDY ELLIS

I f you want to save your home, it’s a lot easier to do when you’re not in it.

In the weeks since the water receded, residents have been slowly trying to save their waterlogged belongings. That was the same one year ago. This year is different.

In the past, residents were forced to search for their belongings in the flood waters. Now, they can go back inside and try to save their belongings without fear of further flooding.

This year, the residents have been able to save most of their belongings. They have also been able to clean up their homes and start the process of rebuilding.

The residents are grateful for the efforts of the township and the emergency management agency in preventing further flooding.

The township has built a detention pond to hold the water during heavy rains. The pond has helped to prevent flooding in the area.

The residents are also grateful for the work of the emergency management agency. They have been working around the clock to keep the water out of the basements.

The residents are also grateful for the work of the local businesses. They have been working to clean up and rebuild.

The residents are also grateful for the work of the local schools. They have been working to keep the students safe and to provide them with the resources they need.

Dear SoundOff:

Yes, I too have been following the Village police on its Facebook page and I see that the Village is being treated to a new club to give the police something to subsidize the club to give the police some checks. Most of these club for 55-62 yrs. for couples into the Village and now I understand why we are subsidizing 55-62 yrs. old when they are still working.

Chemotherapy and Exercise

The most important factor when planning chemotherapy treatment is the current state of your health, both physical and mental. Exercise, in particular, can have a significant impact on how you feel and function during treatment. It can help improve mood, reduce fatigue, and enhance your overall sense of well-being. There is growing evidence that regular physical activity can improve treatment outcomes and quality of life for individuals undergoing chemotherapy. Physical activity can also help reduce the side effects of chemotherapy, such as nausea and fatigue. It is important to consult with your healthcare provider before starting any new exercise regimen. A registered dietitian or exercise physiologist can help you develop a safe and effective exercise plan. The key is to find an activity that you enjoy and can continue consistently. Exercise can be tailored to meet individual needs and preferences, and can be adapted to accommodate changes in tolerance and energy levels.

NOTRE DAME FOOTBALL

BY RYAN BISHOP

ased on the performance of Saturday’s Green vs. White scrimmage, the Notre Dame varsity football team should be ready to make some noise in the newly aligned BSCC. Both the offense and defense showed intensity and toughness in a toning session before the first regular season game Friday night at Maroon Catholic. With 6’5 junior Kevin Rodgers, Notre Dame is one of the top teams in the area in defense. The defense displayed a variety of offensive formations, including the option, shotgun, 5-outset and 4-wide receiver sets. These formations will be used in the regular season. The defense faced a lot of pressure in the half-hour scrimmage, stacking the line to stop the run and rushing both quarterbacks to throw the ball. The defense led by safety Ryan Coreoran and Dan Folan is looking to be a solid force as the season progresses.

Coach Mike Hennessey said, “The offense displayed a lot of creativity in the formations, including the option, shotgun, 5-outset and 4-wide receiver sets. These formations will be used in the regular season. The defense faced a lot of pressure in the half-hour scrimmage, stacking the line to stop the run and rushing both quarterbacks to throw the ball. Ogden helps patrons of Niles Library to open up to their animals

ALLEN KALET

Wonder what’s going on when your dog looks at you with those puppy dog eyes? Niles Library patrons may have their own point of view.

Ogden’s system involves the animal owner or caretaker to first understand the animal’s behavior and to then share that information with the animal. Ogden says, “With the study of Massachusetts Institute of Technology researcher who claims that animals think of us as the only species with personalities. Animal communicator Dr. Kim Ogden may have the answers. Ogden’s self-proclaimed animal communicator formed a group of 20 people Tuesday night, August 16 on how owners could communicate with any animal using her step by step method.

“Then you can complete your work,” said Ogden “sometimes you have bad animals say they want their whole life to talk to someone. My system involves the animal owner or caretaker to first understand the animal’s behavior and to then share that information with the animal. The system is simple, easy to use and can be used in the regular routine. The method of telepathy that has the communication leading mental images of what they want in act to do and getting a communication from the animal is the language the communicator speaks. In other words, a ring that may have been used in Greece communicate in English if that is the language used in Greece.”

Speaking with the animals

Ogden invited “Dillon” a 6-year-old Labrador retriever belonging to Don Edsey of Chicago to demonstrate how the system works. With his nose sniffing the air and his tail wagging “Dillon” stepped forward while Ogden introduced him to the animal. “He says he’s happy to be here,” said Ogden.

Then setting their intention of being open and creative, Ogden said the people can develop a theme, easily recognized by a "call" sound. Morton Grove Historical Society schedules River Walk, Sept. 20

The Morton Grove Historical Museum is once again sponsoring its "History on the River" River Walk event. This year, the walk will take place on Saturday, Sept. 20, at 2 p.m. in the park.

Ed Lara, a retired naturalist and entomologist with the Cook Forest Preserves, will discuss the history of the river, the Native Americans that once fished and hunted there, and the processes that have happened to the river over the years. Lara will also offer a question and answer period so the audience can learn about the river.

The walk will not be strenuous, but it is best suited for parents and older siblings.

Another way to anchor pictures is to attach the frame to the wall using the proper number. It's not a silly question, and there is a foolproof way to do it. Mounting the frame is a snap. The frame will stand behind that spot on the wall in various phases, a hollow, a stud, or a shelf. You will need drywall anchors or expansion bolts to secure the frame since the frame can be hollow. This is ideally done by hollowing out the wall behind the frame. The frame can then be screwed to the wall, using the proper number of screws. A drywall anchor is required. No pets are allowed. Bugle website, www.niles.com.

The Morton Grove Historical Society will offer a free family historical walking tour, Sept. 20, at 2 p.m. in the park.

Tax receipts will be issued for recycled equipment for Hinsdale, Hillside, Melrose Park, Oak Brook, Oak Forest, Oak Park, Park Forest, Park Ridge, River Forest, River Grove, Riverside, Schiller Park, Summit, Stone Park, West Chicago, Westchester, Willowbrook, and Woodridge.

SENIOR NEWS LINE

by Malinda Charles

Several years ago, one of my older relatives, a man who lived near New York City and I believe that he was a newspaper editor, told me that he thought that wearing tight neckties might be bad for your health. He said that they could cause glaucoma.

Recent studies have shown that wearing tight neckties might indeed increase your risk of developing glaucoma. Glaucoma is a condition of the eye that causes the pressure inside the eye to build up. This can damage the optic nerve and lead to vision loss.

The risk of developing glaucoma is higher in people who wear tight neckties. This is because the increased pressure caused by tight neckties can put extra strain on the optic nerve, which can lead to vision loss.

The risk of developing glaucoma is also higher in people who wear tight neckties for long periods of time, such as wearing them every day. If you wear tight neckties, you may want to talk to your doctor about the risk of developing glaucoma.

SENIOR NEWS LINE

by Malinda Charles

Several years ago, one of my older relatives, a man who lived near New York City and I believe that he was a newspaper editor, told me that he thought that wearing tight neckties might be bad for your health. He said that they could cause glaucoma.

Recent studies have shown that wearing tight neckties might indeed increase your risk of developing glaucoma. Glaucoma is a condition of the eye that causes the pressure inside the eye to build up. This can damage the optic nerve and lead to vision loss.

The risk of developing glaucoma is higher in people who wear tight neckties. This is because the increased pressure caused by tight neckties can put extra strain on the optic nerve, which can lead to vision loss.

The risk of developing glaucoma is also higher in people who wear tight neckties for long periods of time, such as wearing them every day. If you wear tight neckties, you may want to talk to your doctor about the risk of developing glaucoma.
