Year in Review
announced Economic Development Commission (EDC) was formed by the Village of Morton Grove at the June 14 village board meeting. The new EDC is composed of 10 members, five of whom are the village board members and five are non-village business people who were appointed by the village board. The EDC is under the leadership of Ralph Czerwinski, the village administrator. The EDC’s principal function is to promote the economic development of the village.

The Niles village board honored the owners of the Woodlands Park, a parcel located on Shemier Rd. just north of Hamilton Dr. Parenteau and Parenteau, Inc. wanted to sell the park and use the proceeds to fund improvements elsewhere.

The Board and I have discussed this," said Brayter, "and we feel the Chamber should be going in two different directions. We’re not sure that we’re a good match for each other at this point.

Brayter said that his resignation was like a "friendly break-up," and he hopes that the Chamber will be open-ended.

Chamber Board President Paul Hohlet said that Brayter was a great guy and agreed that the terms of the "break-up" had been handled well.

The Park District is still working on a proposal to sell the park. That sale must be approved by a circuit court judge. A notice must be published in a local newspaper prior to the court hearing so that interested individuals will be able to testify. After the District receives a court order approving the sale, then they can put the property on the market.

The Bugle

Niles Deputy Police Chief Ann Strzelecki was driven to fill the southwest suburban job of police chief by the village board Tuesday, July 27.

The 39-year veteran will replace Gerry Mcohan who has held the post since 1979 and will be stepping down this September. Strzelecki has served as a police officer and a detective, and was promoted to deputy chief in 2000. He is currently in charge of the Police Department's Operations Division.

"I'm looking forward to the challenge," Strzelecki said. "I really love working with the public."

This village is a commitment to choose an internal candidate because the transition would be easier. But it's not just another city choosing a local. Niles Mayor Nick Blair said that Strzelecki was a highly qualified candidate.

"In the years I've been mayor we've always done it this way," said Blair. "If you have a quality candidate, you should go with them and Deen is a quality candidate."

Plane engine explodes, scatter wreckage over Niles

Niles — The left engine of American Airlines Flight 1374 exploded Thursday afternoon as it passed over Niles, scattering wreckage throughout Laskin Park, St. Alchabin Cemetary and in Fountain Park. The flight took off from O'Hare International Airport bound for Philadelphia, 227 people were aboard. About 10 miles outside of the airport, west of Niles, evidence indicated that a bird had been struck by the plane, the plane then hit the tree and then hit the tree. Police recovered the area surrounding the wreckage found small parts of the engine, missing pieces of engine were covered in blood.

"It was right over my head," said Center Hall of Niles. She said the plane went over her home and she saw the smoke and heard three noises when the explosion occurred. "We just heard an explosion sound and then we could see the plane that was up there," she said.

"It happened because her son likes airplanes," O'Grady said. "It was really scary," she said. "I've never seen anything like that. I just ran out the door and went down to the street."

"I'm really scared about this kind of thing because the planes go right over our house," O'Grady said.

One man on board is believed to have been the plane, and a second one is still unaccounted for. The pilot and co-pilot were not involved. The passenger in the plane was not involved.

"I've never seen anything like it," O'Grady said. "It was just a lot of noise."

Niles Police Department said that they would not release any information about the plane or the passengers.

"We're not going to release anything about the passengers," said police spokesman. "We're not going to release anything about the plane or the passengers.

The war in Iraq was launched because Saddam, oil, US relations with oil-export-ers, or not, we'll love the justification for undertaking the war in Iraq. It was the Iraq war instead about what has now been shown to be a new, expanded reservoir in Park Ridge. Surely. Could we have found a better way to motivate Saddam and preserved our standing as a compromise, world-leading power? (not even to mention your supply of oil?) Probably. Watch the war worth your war? Your call.

Our local issue is what we have and what we need for the protection of our drinking water supply. Can there be anything more basic than our lives? our children? our homes? our community? (not even to mention the cost of what the war in Iraq has cost us. the war in Iraq.)

Scanlon to retire, STAakmann will run for village clerk

Mayor Dan Scanlon announced on Monday that he would not seek a third term.

"I'm looking forward to spending some more time with my grandkids," Scanlon said. "I'm especially interested in good hands." He continued: "I'm sure Gary Grove's term as mayor will be a success."

Scanlon has served as mayor for 10 years, making him one of the longest-serving mayors in Morton Grove's history. He said that he was proud of the accomplishments of his administration, which included the repaving of village streets and the construction of a new police station.

"People ask why we won't run again," Scanlon said. "It's a question of whether or not you can ever do your job."

Scanlon's retirement means that there will be a new mayor in Morton Grove for the first time in a decade.

"We're going to spend the first few days of next week tracking down some people," said Scanlon. "I'm sure that we will make some changes in the village."

"We're going to be running with the other candidates," Scanlon said. "But I think it would be better for them to not have her."

A greener view: White pine can be a problem

By Jeff Rugg

I have a line of white pines that act as a natural barrier across the back of my yard and continue through several other yards in my neighborhood. I outsourced our old and dead about 11 to 12 feet tall. I planted about 50 feet apart and have left in the landscape. I have a few that have been dying. Their growth was fine with lots of green color.

A. Think dark thoughts, says the latest study of the disease, done by Ronald Lammert, one of the most prolific researchers on the subject. Although it's not a new problem, it's one that's getting more attention these days due to the increased focus on the environment. White pines are susceptible to this disease, even from very low doses. They are also sensitive to damage, such as wind and drought, which can exacerbate the problem. It's important to take action to prevent the spread of the disease.

White pine weevils kill the leader that the spores can travel for pines. There is some evidence that the spores can travel for years. Meanwhile, the larvae are attacking the new leader. This can spread the disease and leave the top looking like it was trying to grow dead sticks. The tree doesn’t die and tries to repair the new leader, but this process often comes from a branch that was growing to the side, so the central leader begins to die. Prompt pruning of the leader while it has the larvae can nip the problem in the bud. A new leader can be created by cutting off all the side branches in a wheel except one. Then, straighten the one that is left to make the new central leader. When pines growing under the shade of other trees or in rural locations tend to have fewer weed problems.
