Drugstore may begin Milwaukee development

Village consultants to study 5-mile corridor

Chicago-based Mega Group currently owns the corner parcel at Milwaukee and Touhy in Niles and has recently closed on the property occupied by the Econo Motel, raising hopes that the developer may bring in a national drugstore like a CVS.

According to Niles' Community Development Director, Chuck Ostman, there were plans to build an Osco drugstore on the gravel lot on the southeast corner of Milwaukee and Touhy about a year and a half ago.

"Osco still has a lease on the property, but it expired last month," said Ostman.

The Econo Motel, just south of the intersection of Milwaukee and Touhy, was recently purchased by the Mega Group which hopes to redevelop the property along with the gravel lot to the north.

Wireless judgement may cost Morton Grove $12K, Park Ridge $15K

Niles settled with cellular provider over a year ago

Cook County Circuit Judge Patrick McKinnon ruled last month that fees charged by municipalities to PrimeCo Personal Communications, which has since become U.S. Cellular, were illegal, a ruling that could cost Morton Grove $12,371 and Park Ridge up to $15,826.

The suit was brought against the municipalities by PrimeCo after a 1998 law by the Illinois General Assembly allowed them to assess infrastructure maintenance fees against the wireless phone companies. PrimeCo representatives held that since their signals moved through the air and not telephone lines, such a fee was not applicable.

243 municipalities banded together to oppose the PrimeCo suit, including Morton Grove and Park Ridge. Niles agreed with PrimeCo and settled their case back in 2003, paying $14,437. According to Village Attorney Joe Amunzio, it could have been up to three times as much if they had proceeded with the case.

"We thought they had a reasonable argument," Amunzio said. "That's why we settled."

OTB proposal off the table, for now

In a letter to Morton Grove officials last week, Menard's asked that it's request for a special use permit for a off-track betting (OTB) facility be removed from the agenda of the Monday, Feb. 14 board meeting.

Village Administrator Ralph Czerwinski said that the letter asked for the removal of the two Plan Commission cases that would have allowed the construction and operation of the OTB but not the case for the expansion of their store or for the subdivision of the western outlet at Lehigh and Oakton that was the site designated for the OTB.

No one at Inter-Track Partners, the company that would operate the OTB, could be reached.

MG Fire Department nets federal grant

The Morton Grove Fire Department has been informed that it will receive approximately $150,000 in federal grant funds. The money will be used to purchase specialized fire protection equipment, commonly known as "a Grant." The department was awarded the grant as part of the Federal Fire Prevention and Control Program administered by the Department of Treasury. The funds are made available to the Morton Grove Fire Department through the initiative of the Illinois Fire Service Institute, a non-profit organization that administers the federal grant program. The grant will be used to purchase specialized firefighting equipment, including a Medium Duty Rescue Truck, which is designed to assist in rescue operations.

Construction Underway

Construction is underway on the abutments for two new bridges in the Niles Park District. The project, which is scheduled to be completed by the end of the year, is expected to improve the safety and accessibility of the bridges. The abutments are being constructed to meet the latest standards for traffic safety and durability. The project is being managed by the Niles Park District and is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

Frooth bilis to residents incorrect

A message from the Village of Morton Grove

The quarterly provisions which were recently received by Morton Grove residents did not reflect the availability of the five percent discount for a quarterly payment. Great also failed to include a modest increase in the Solid Waste Management (SWM) fee. When filing into account the $0.95 per month increase in the SWM fee, the new monthly fee for solid waste collection is now $52.84, or $634.08 annually. With the application of the five percent prepaid discount, the annual fee is reduced to $48.38. Residents are encouraged to take advantage of the five percent prepaid discount, which has been negotiated for Morton Grove residents.

How do you get a 210 pound potbelly pig back into its cage? Show him the food and he'll follow you anywhere. Food is the answer to just about every dilemma for Trayf, the potbelly porker that has been making his home at the Morton Grove Animal Hospital for the past dozen years. Trayf, which is Yiddish for "non-kosher," was bought by Veterinarian Dr. Roberta Drell about a dozen years ago from people who said he would only grow to about 40 lbs. Trayf has surprised everyone!

The animal hospital's regular clients know Trayf well. Drell has been making his home at the hospital's Restroom instead of his cage, but he's not hard to find. From time to time he's gotten out of the box. Bus get too close to him and he will gladly and without guilt, relieve you of it. "He can have a bagel down in 10 seconds. He even peels and eats bananas."

Trayf loves a good back scratch, and although he has no pig friends, he likes just about everybody else who comes through the door including Dr. Drell's 3 dogs and 2 cats. A couple of times he's gotten out of his cage, but he's not hard to find. Aside from being quite large, just follow the food trail. People who said he would only grow to about a dozen years ago from people who said he would only grow to about 40 lbs. Trayf has surprised everyone!

The hospital staff is guessing Trayf may have a bagel down in 10 seconds. He even peels and eats bananas. Trayf's just about to celebrate his 14th birthday, chances are he'll be around for a long time to come.
Traffic violation leads to drug bust
A bit of poor acting and a Morton Grove police officer who didn't believe it, led to a 27-year-old Winnetka man being charged with three drug related offenses late Friday night in Glenview.

According to police, a Morton Grove police officer noticed the man’s car speeding westbound in the 7000 block of Dempster shortly before midnight. After a short chase, the police officer slowed the man’s car down and pulled it over.

In the report, the officer said he could see the couple in the car fumbling their items and acting very upset.

The officer said when he approached the car the driver, Ryan C. Andre of Wilmette, told him his girlfriend in the passenger seat was in pain and was bleeding. The officer offered to call for an ambulance but the couple refused saying they preferred to go to the hospital themselves. The officer said that when the couple arrived at the hospital, they seemed to be less concerned about the woman’s pain or bleeding. It was at this point the officer noticed the smell of marijuana coming from the car.

Police said Andre could not produce a valid driver’s license, but did have a copy of his Illinois identification card.

The police officer said after running Andre’s information he discovered Andre’s license was suspended and he placed him in custody for the form of the paint on his Gucci hand bag.

While searching Andre police found $1,811 in cash, his Gucci hand bag and a pocket and a package of rolling papers.

The 28-year-old passenger, who told police she was in pain and bleeding, was asked to exit the car. She told police she was the owner of the car and she consented to have it searched. Police said they found a drug bag in the trunk containing two white plastic grocery bags with one of the bags containing two clear bags of what appeared to be a mushroom, and the other bag containing six clear bags of what appeared to be marijuana. Police also found a syringe sticking out of the bag, which the passenger compartment produced a “shunt” in the police. Police said the lady substances tested positive for marihuana and the mushrooms tested positive for LSD.

Police said the woman told them she did not know Andre and she was dealing marihuana and she occasionally accompanied him. Police said at the station Andre admitted the drugs belonged to him.

Andre was charged with one count of possession of a stolen vehicle, possession of a controlled substance, unlawful possession of a controlled substance and unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

His female passenger, a 28-year-old Winnetka woman, was released without being charged. Andre also was also cited for his driving offenses. Andre appeared in court Feb. 4 for a bond hearing.

Armed Robbery
Golf Mill

An elderly Chinese woman told police she was the victim of an armed robbery outside of the J.C. Penney store at Golf Mill about 10:11 p.m. The woman said a man pulled a gun on the sidewalk just outside of the store and demanded her money. She handed over what he asked for and asked him not to harm her. The woman told police she felt “I’ve got a gun, give me what’s yours pocket.” The robber ran off with $2,000 cash and a CTA pass. The woman was not injured.

Voice of the people Morton Grove's push to build an OTB parlor

In Service to the Community

February 10, 2005

It seems ironic to me how the OTB fought hard to allow an election in Iraq, yet the citicommunity.

Village Trustees can vote as early as February 14 to approve the OTB permit.

Morton Grove residents who attended the 1st Public Hearing on February 9th, is being asked to consider the referendum.

Variety is the spice of investments

In Swedroe's central portfolio, 60 percent of the money is invested in large-cap stocks, as measured by the Standard & Poor's 500 Index, and the remaining 40 percent is invested in bonds that are tied to the Lehman Government/Credit Bond Index, which is a popular index for the overall fixed-income market. During a period from 1975 to 2005, this simple portfolio produced an annual return of 12.3 percent. An initial investment of $1,000 would have grown to nearly $21,000 in 1980. Now let's see what would have happened if small-cap stocks and foreign stocks had been included in the mix. Every portion of the new portfolio would be divided this way: 15 percent small-cap stocks, 15 percent foreign stocks, and 70 percent large-cap stocks. While the same time period, this diversified portfolio's performance jumped to 15.4 percent, but there's what's equally impressive. Adding small-cap and foreign stocks, which are often more volatile, increased the portfolio's standard deviation dropped to 16.4 percent. A 20 percent investment in this portfolio would have grown to $5,793, while, in the most volatile portfolio, which included profusion of small stocks, then multiplied by 12.8 percent. This means more funds would have needed to be invested in small-cap and foreign stocks, which are inherently more volatile, which in turn would have produced an additional return in exchange for the higher risk. The standard deviation was kept, but each stock category now represented 30 percent of the portfolio. The stock portfolio was divided among large-cap, mid-cap, and small-cap stocks. Large-cap stocks, accounting for 40 percent of the portfolio, were invested in large-cap stocks. Mid-cap stocks, making up 30 percent of the portfolio, were invested in mid-cap stocks. The small-cap portfolio is invested in small-cap stocks. Index funds, which are essentially passively managed mutual funds, which are tied to the performance of a specific index, such as the S&P 500. They are ideal for diversifying a portfolio, as they are not actively managed, which means fees are typically lower. In this instance, the S&P 500 index fund would have grown to $5,576.

Maximize your after-tax returns

To calculate the potential tax savings from investments, all gains should be considered for your investment portfolio. In tax-efficient investing, the focus is not on what you buy but what you are able to keep. The objective is to produce the best after-tax returns. Small mutual funds placed in investments outside of IRAs, 401(k)s and other tax-deferred accounts.

Another misconception is that tax-efficient investing is for everyone. For a realistic tax-efficient investing, however, for one, believe that you should avoid buying the stocks of companies that pay dividends, which will be taxed on you. To avoid this, Swedroe says investors should never sell their holdings, merely switching between index funds to get capital gains. Because taxes are paid on the capital gains at the time of sale, it is best to hold the investments for the long term and receive the capital gains at the end of the year. The selling decision can be very difficult, particularly if you have a sizable concentrated capital gain. Instead, sell for a modest, tax-efficient investment strategy to make sense, but the gains should be minimal but not none.
Shermer Park sale in the air

Jewish Federation still considering options

BY ANDREW SCHNEIDER

The possibility that Shermer Park will be sold to the Cook County Forest Preserve District for $11 million still is under consideration by the Jewish Federation of Northern Illinois. Michael Blase and the board of trustees of the federation for the group continue to negotiate with Park District officials in hopes of either negotiating a sale or valuing the property differently than the $11 million.

NASA District officials decided to sell the architecturally unique park last year after the group in a joint venture with the Cook County Forest Preserve District and the Jewish Federation of Northern Illinois had decided to purchase the park for $11 million. The three parties then were unable to work out a deal to purchase the park.

According to the agreement, one of the federation's top priorities is to sell the property to the Jewish Federation of Northern Illinois. The federation president represents the Illinois Supreme Court, land-use issues, the Illinois Supreme Court, land-use issues, and the Park District are in a court.

Justice Robert McGoldrick, a member of the Illinois Supreme Court, said that no appeal would be considered on the issue of the property being sold. The court has noted that appeals to the Illinois Supreme Court of land-use issues or the Park District are now in the Illinois Supreme Court.

The stake was much higher, according to a federation official, than the $11 million.

In his ruling, McGoldrick said that since interest would begin to accumulate after 30 days, he would refuse to charge the fees either. But McGoldrick said that the federation is not the only one that could be affected by a sale or sale of the property. He added that, Morton Grove had been used for many years.

Robert McGoldrick said that, if no appeal is filed, the court will have to hear the case. The court has noted that appeals to the Illinois Supreme Court of land-use issues or the Park District are now in the Illinois Supreme Court.

 property,” Ottman said Monday. “They really control the property.” The Mega Group, which already owns the 330 South and Franklin retail plazas in Niles, is working through the village to redevelop the property on Milwaukee Avenue, where the current office uses of CIVI Center, Ltd and Schoenborn Bros. are located. The activity was encouraging because village consultants were just at the beginning stages of a Milwaukee Corridor study that would look at the current uses of corridor and find ways to improve traffic.

“The timing is good,” Ottman said. However, while a draft study could be ready within six months, notice on the panel is beyond estimate because of the One-Stop group of firms, mostly small. Ottman said Schoenborn Bros. and CIVI have discussions with village officials about the possibility of adapting the CIVI Center building for commercial uses and would be beginning the planning process in Niles. The study would focus on a five-mile stretch of Milwaukee from the Niles-Chicago border to Golf Rd. Goals for the study are to find ways to improve traffic, transit, the corridor’s aesthetic, public and private sectors and find solutions to road closures.

The CIVI Center has done a great deal of planning of the Chicago-Metro area and said the village board last month that they were looking for the Milwaukee Avenue office space. They have had a chance to study large portions of the road both in Chicago and beyond Niles.

“This is a great challenge for us,” said CIVI spokesman Leslie Paskin at last month’s meeting with the board. "Most of the land was still developed 50 years ago," Paskin said. The CIVI Center is coordinating with village officials about rezoning and annexing buildings along the corridor as well as creating streetscapes. KLOA’s Tim Doran said there were encouraging signs. “The market is already slowly building,” he said.

The study, partially financed by a $100,000 grant from the Regional Tourism Authority (RTA) to look at ways to improve the bus transit along the corridor, may eventually mean more buses.

The Milwaukee Corridor has been a political topic for the last five years, according to Whitaker. In 2007, they had a chance to study large portions of the road both in Chicago and beyond Niles.

“The situation is evolving,” he said. “It’s a great challenge for us,” said CIVI spokesman Leslie Paskin at last month’s meeting with the board. "Most of the land was still developed 50 years ago," Paskin said. The Milwaukee Corridor, with retail and residential on the west side of the corridor, is a natural fit for an expanded mode of transportation, Whitaker said. A concept plan for the Milwaukee Greenway Corridor was submitted to the village council Tuesday, Jan. 16.

Safeguards Against Domestic Violence

If you're convicted of domestic violence, you can't own a gun.

For the past several years, one-third of all female murder victims were killed by their intimate partners. In 59% of these cases, the murder weapon was a gun. That's why it is so important to enforce these laws. If you have been convicted of domestic violence, you are prohibited from owning a firearm. If you have questions about the federal firearms laws, you can call 1-800-ATF-GUNS. If you know someone who is being abused, report it to the police. Prisons will not hold people who have been convicted of domestic violence, or subject to a domestic violence restraining order. If you're convicted of domestic violence, you will not be able to own a gun.

Bring the elements of nature into your home

Bring the elements of nature into your home, replacing solid doors with French-style ones can provide the same effect.

For example, John-Werner-Autors formulated Divided-Doors doors come in a variety of configurations, allowing you to choose how much light enters a room. Here are three tips to help you choose your French doors:

1. Increase the amount of natural light:
   - Windows are a key component in providing natural light. They not only let in light but also create a sense of openness.
   - Sheers or privacy glass can be used to control the amount of light entering a room.

2. Enhance the aesthetic appeal:
   - Fiberglass, wood, or metal French doors can be designed to complement your home's architectural style.
   - Custom sizing can be used to fit specific window configurations.

3. Create a welcoming entryway:
   - Wine racks, bookshelves, and plants can be integrated into the design to create a welcoming and inviting entryway.

In conclusion, incorporating natural elements into your home can enhance its beauty and functionality. Whether it's natural light, plants, or materials, they can all work together to create a harmonious and inviting space.

"Balanced" building design essential to fire safety

In 1998, fire engineers at Oregon State University released a study showing that a home built with concrete masonry construction to tourists. "On the same day that the home was destroyed,
the National Concrete Masonry Association announced that the tourists had escaped unharmed, their wood frame home was destroyed
without them escaping
unharmed, their wood
frame home was destroyed.

Insurance companies are aware of this risk and according to the American Insurance Association, the use of concrete masonry
contributes to saving innocent lives.

The best way to prevent a fire is to prevent it from happening. This can be accomplished by making sure that a home is fire rated. This means that the interior and exterior of the building are rated for fire resistance.

To be prepared for any potential fire threat, it is important to have smoke detectors installed in your home. Smoke detectors are considered "active" fire protection systems and are required by law in most areas.

Smoke detectors are designed to detect smoke, heat, and gas and alert you to the presence of a fire.

Warranties play important role in home repairs

Warranties play an important role in home repairs.

The warranty that your product comes with is very important to consider. When making a decision about whether to buy a product, always check the warranty information. If you have a problem with any product, contact the retailer or manufacturer as soon as possible. Trying to fix the product yourself could cancel your right under the warranty.

Don't keep the home fires burning

Homeowners can take a few simple steps to reduce the risk of home fires. According to the National Fire Protection Association, the top three causes of home fires are cooking, smoking, and heating.

Smoke detectors and sprinklers are considered "active" fire protection systems. By using these systems, you can help prevent a fire from starting and spreading.

It is important to regularly check your smoke detectors and clean them if necessary. This will help ensure that they are working properly and will provide an early warning in case of a fire.

In addition to smoke detectors, it is important to have a fire alarm in your home. Fire alarms are designed to sound an alarm in case of a fire, so that you and your family can safely evacuate.
