The Nike Public Library board met on March 19 to decide on a request to remove a book from its collection that allegedly glamorized drug use.

Chicago resident Julie Koenig made a formal request to the board, citing recent events indicating that Nike, the award-winning debut novel by Jai' Alani, might be pulling from its collection that stimulates drug use.

"I don't think the drug use is glamorous at all from the addicts’ point of view," said David B. Morgan, president of the library board, thanked Koenig for bringing up the book, and said that it could get some nice feedback.

The idea was put forth by Board President Dennis O'Donovan, who said it might help the library keep up with the times of knowledgeable parents and librarians.

"It's a fact of life," said Morgan. "We could get some nice feedback in there." The board decided to listen to the book and then make a decision about whether it should be kept on the shelves.

"As parents we should always make our value system on a collection. You can't put a book on the shelves. I feel like it should stay," said Koenig.

The board decided to listen to the book and then make a decision about whether it should be kept on the shelves. The board's next meeting will be on April 16.

"I think given the fiscal constraints... the one to two percent increase in the state budget is a very modest increase," said Oakton President William Stafford. "In 2006 Oakton raised its tuition by 6% and in 2007-08 classes were raised by 7%. Oakton President Margone said that the increase was necessitated by the difficult economic climate and declining revenue from the state of Illinois. Oakton's funding formula is based on the state of Illinois' share, and the school has to raise tuition to meet the costs of operations.

"I think there's a very compelling case for increasing tuition," said Margone. "We're not just increasing tuition for the sake of it. We're doing it to make sure that our students have the best education possible."

"I'm very pleased to announce that the board of trustees at the Illinois Hospital Association has approved the budget for the next fiscal year," saidהוא מנהל מרפאה.

"The (increases are) necessary to ensure that we have the money to continue providing the best possible care to our patients," said the hospital's CEO. "It's important to note that the increases will be spread out over the next three years, starting with a 2% increase in the first year and then increasing by 3% each year thereafter."

Intermittent no-start Corolla may need revised PCM

Q: I own a Corolla and occasionally the engine will not start. When the problem occurs, the engine will start but it will shut off, which is a restart, then the engine will stall and eventually fail to restart anything wrong. What do you think might be causing this?

A: S.G., according to technical service bulletin #102885, a PCM (power control module) could be causing the problem. To check for a stuck PCM, turn off the ignition and disconnect all battery cables. You will need to get the PCM code using a technician scanning tool. If you get the code B1240-01, a new PCM is needed to fix the problem. If you don’t have a scanning tool, you can take the PCM to a dealer’s technician to have it scanned.

The new Honda Accord Coupe can pack a punch. You’ve probably heard of the Accord, but it’s possible you might not know that there are now two models available: the sedan and the coupe. The Accord Coupe is a sporty and agile car, with a powerful 3.5-liter V-6 engine. It’s designed to provide a smooth ride and a comfortable driving experience.

Sending the Accord Coupe to the 2008 engine lineup, Honda has made a few key changes to improve its performance and efficiency. One of the most notable changes is the addition of an all-new, multi-stage, variable valve timing system. This system allows the engine to operate more efficiently at all speeds, providing better fuel economy and improved performance.

The Accord Coupe also features Honda’s Earth Dreams Technology, which includes a new direct-injection system and a variable timing valve system. These advancements help to reduce emissions and increase fuel efficiency, making the Accord Coupe one of the most fuel-efficient cars on the market.

The Accord Coupe is available in a variety of trim levels, each with its own unique features and capabilities. The EX-L trim level is particularly noteworthy, with its advanced technology and comfortable interior. The EX-L trim comes standard with a 6-speed automatic transmission, Bluetooth connectivity, and a navigation system.

Overall, the Honda Accord Coupe is a great choice for anyone looking for a fun and efficient car. Its powerful engine, advanced technology, and comfortable interior make it a standout in its class.

America's best-selling SUV gets a fresh, new look

Ford's compact SUV, the Escape, has been a huge success for the automaker. More than 3.5 million units have been sold since its first introduction for the 2001 model year.

One of the key factors to its success has been the compact SUV's versatility. It can go almost anywhere and has established itself as a stable middle-ground player between the more rugged full-size SUVs and the compact, pointy mini-cars. But if the Escape is small in size, it is anything but small in character.

The Escape is among the most popular vehicles in the compact SUV segment. But as the competition in this segment has stiffened, Ford engineers believed it was time to give the Escape a bold new exterior and a more muscular curb appeal.

The Escape features Ford's first use of a agile grille, higher belt line and the removal of body cladding from the bottom of the doors. Since its introduction for the 2001 model year, the Escape has been the top-selling compact SUV in America.

HIGHLIGHTS:

- At first glance the all-new 2008 Escape, Ford has proven it can raise the bar in this segment.
- The Escape is now available in four trim levels: XLS, XLT and Limited.
- Those choosing the fuel-efficient four-cylinder engine can tow up to 3,500 pounds.
- The XLS is well-equipped and includes color-keyed grille and side mirrors, leather seating and an auto-dimming rearview mirror.
- The XLT adds 16-inch alloy wheels, power steering system, and the overall economy and eliminates the hydraulic accessory drive. This helps improve fuel economy and eliminates the hydraulic noises typical of conventional hydraulic power steering systems.
- The Limited adds keyless entry, fully power accessories and a moon roof.
- Pricing for the 2008 Ford Escape starts at less than $19,000, and climbs to more than $30,000 when fully optioned.

Sun rooms shed light into new developments by Marcy Marr

Chicagoans enjoy four full seasons of weather throughout the year. It can change within a blink of an eye, but that shouldn’t stop you from enjoying the nice days in your new home. One way in which buyers are choosing to enjoy Chicago’s weather from the comfort of their homes is with sunrooms and screened-in porch additions.

Kimball Hill Homes

Buyers wanting to brighten their new homes have made the four-season sunroom one of the most popular options offered by Rolling Meadows-based homebuilder Kimball Hill Homes. The sunroom, which measures more than 200 square feet, is available at each of Kimball Hill Homes’ single-family communities throughout suburban Chicago.

According to the builder, this option is highly desirable because of its versatility. “Buyers have found a wide range of uses for the sunroom, ranging from a sitting room to a fitness area,” said Jack Wexelberg, regional president of Kimball Hill Homes. “With its main level location, just off the family room, and variety of flooring choices, buyers can create a sunroom that fits their lifestyle.”

For example, Wexelberg noted that if a buyer wanted to use the sunroom as a workout area, tile flooring might be a good choice, as it would better withstand the wear and tear of fitness equipment. Alternatively, he said, buyers can select hardwood flooring for a more formal, traditional look if the space will serve as a den or office.

In addition to its versatility, another benefit of the sunroom is the extra sunlight it brings into the home. Other features available from Kimball Hill that add extra sunlight include two-story fireplaces and barrel-vaulted ceilings.

What's your score? Repair credit rating now before it's too late.

The credit crisis has the American Dream of homeownership in a straitjacket for millions of families, experts say.

With 7.9 percent of the nation's home owners in foreclosure or up for sale at the end of 2007, most economists are predicting that homeowners will face financial hurdles.

Even though benchmark 30-year fixed home loans are around 6 percent now, that's the best-case scenario for the bottom of the housing market, said Allen Schwartz, a loan officer with The Hawthorn Woods Country Club in Hawthorn Woods.

"People who are bringing their homes to market will win with a combination of a lower price and more negotiation," Schwartz said.

"It's a buyer's market in all the suburban counties," Schwartz said.

"You can't be lazy about it," Schwartz said. "You have to work for your money."

"The fireplace remains in many American homes as a visually appealing rustic feature. Today, the fireplace has become a multi-functional feature that not only enhances aesthetic appeal, but can also increase a home's resale value. Fireplaces are so popular with today's homebuyers as they are attractive. A fireplace made of wood, for example, can provide a warm and inviting atmosphere, especially during colder months. A fireplace can also serve as a focal point and accentuate various features in a space, such as walls or columns, by creating a central focal point and adding visual interest.

Fireplaces can be designed to fit any style and budget, allowing homeowners to choose from a variety of materials, sizes, and shapes. A simple fireplace with a mantel and a brick or stone surround can add a warm and cozy touch to any room, while a more elaborate fireplace with intricate carvings and decorative elements can make a bold statement in a space.

There are many types of fireplaces available, such as wood-burning, gas-burning, or electric fireplaces. Each type has its own advantages and disadvantages. Wood-burning fireplaces require a chimney and regular maintenance to ensure safe and efficient operation. Gas-burning fireplaces are more convenient, as they do not require a chimney or a flue, but they can be more expensive to operate. Electric fireplaces are the most convenient, as they do not require any installation or maintenance, but they may not provide the same visual impact as wood-burning or gas-burning fireplaces.

When choosing a fireplace for your home, consider factors such as the style of your home, your budget, and your lifestyle. If you enjoy the process of starting and tending a fire, a wood-burning fireplace may be the best choice for you. If you prefer convenience and low maintenance, a gas-burning or electric fireplace may be the way to go. And if you have a limited budget, an electric fireplace may be a more affordable option.

Fireplaces can be a great addition to any home, providing warmth, ambiance, and a sense of comfort. By selecting the right fireplace for your space, you can create a welcoming and stylish environment that will be enjoyed by you and your family for years to come.

Fireplaces heat up more than resale value

By Ellen Pressman

Pioneer Press

From setting a romantic mood to establishing an architectural focal point, a fireplace can make a home feel warmer and more welcoming. Nothing warms a space quite like the glow of a fire, and the sound of crackling flames can be incredibly relaxing.

While fireplaces may not be the most energy-efficient way to heat a home, they do offer a number of benefits. A fireplace can serve as a focal point in a room, drawing attention to its design and creating a cozy atmosphere. It can also provide a sense of warmth and comfort, especially during colder months.

Fireplaces come in a variety of styles and sizes, from simple mantels and surrounds to elaborate mantels with intricate carvings and decorative elements. Whether you prefer a traditional fireplace with a chimney and flue or a modern fireplace that can be vented directly to the outdoors, there is a fireplace design that will suit your taste and your home's architecture.

One of the most popular types of fireplaces is the vent-free or see-through fireplace. These fireplaces do not require a chimney or a flue, making them a great choice for homes with limited space or for those who prefer the convenience of electric or gas-burning fireplaces.

Fireplaces also offer a number of practical benefits. They can increase the value of a home, making them a great investment for homeowners who plan to sell in the future. In addition, fireplaces can provide a source of heat in colder months, helping to keep a home warm and comfortable.

When choosing a fireplace for your home, consider factors such as the style of your home, your budget, and your lifestyle. If you enjoy the process of starting and tending a fire, a wood-burning fireplace may be the best choice for you. If you prefer convenience and low maintenance, a gas-burning or electric fireplace may be the way to go. And if you have a limited budget, an electric fireplace may be a more affordable option.

By choosing a fireplace that suits your style and your home's architecture, you can create a warm and inviting space that will be enjoyed by you and your family for years to come.

Bankrate mortgage update

Here's the latest from sources across the mortgage market:

- Mortgage spread — The spread between short-term interest rates and mortgage rates has narrowed slightly since last week. This week, the spread was 0.25 percentage points, compared to 0.30 points last week. The spread is a key indicator of the likelihood of a rate change by the Federal Reserve.

- Mortgage rates — The 30-year fixed-rate mortgage fell 11 basis points, to 5.39 percent, according to the Bankrate.com national survey of large lenders. A basis point is one-hundredth of a percent. The mortgage rates in this week's survey had an average rate of 5.38 percent and a median rate of 5.39 percent. One year ago, the mortgage index was 6.15 percent; five weeks ago, it was 6.37 percent.

- 30-year fixed-rate mortgage — The 30-year fixed-rate mortgage fell 11 basis points, to 5.46 percent. The 30-year adjustable-rate mortgage (ARM) fell 9 basis points to 2.33 basis points, to 2.91 percent. The 5/1 ARM has risen 72 basis points in two weeks. The benchmark 15-year fixed-rate mortgage fell 17 basis points, to 7.63 percent.

Bankrate's survey is a weekly snapshot of what's happening with rates every Wednesday morning. The weekly trends reflect the overall rate environment that happens in the marketplace. The survey survey was conducted yesterday and today on a loan level basis. It uses the latest data available until Sunday midnight.

"I will ask you this: 'What will you tell me that you need to lock in, you need to lock in,'" says Don Jofe, president of United Mortgage Capital Corp. in Aurora, Illinois. "If you have something that even smells close, like you want to buy it, lock the rate. Do not play this market."

"I tell my clients: 'When I tell you that you need to lock in, lock the rate. Do not play this market,'" says Don Jofe, president of United Mortgage Capital Corp. in Aurora, Illinois. "If you have something that even smells close, like you want to buy it, lock the rate. Do not play this market."

An hour in the dark
We’ve celebrated Earth Day and Earth Hour in April before, but still row up on the horizon, it’s Earth Hour, which is the latest “think green” event on the horizon.

If you’re still in the dark about what Earth Hour is about, you’ve got the right idea. Started a year ago in Australia, it encourages everyone to turn their lights off for an hour at 8 p.m. March 29.

And if that works, the Web site at www.earthhour.org suggests using further the power of the sun and other renewable energy efficient light bulbs, turning off lights when you’re not in the room, and other easy-to-follow tips that will reduce “annual emissions” by 1 percent.

While those are worthy goals, the concept of turning local movie theaters or restaurants or other public places into living blackboards that communicate the event has its drawbacks -- and can make a simple trip to the restroom a dangerous experience. I try to heed to all the thing but suddenly chicken adapted -- so if you’re planning to be out that evening, oil and sand and find out who is complying.

It’s probably the Shabby Man. It’s a problem shared by many. Their home base during this past month, being out of the service means catching up on the schooling he postponed while enlistment is not in the room, and other anti-global warming initiatives

tion is in the preliminary stages of developing a five-year plan that could deliver improvements to its buildings as early as the next school year.

The school board has set a goal to tour Maine South and Maine West, looking at potential improvements to outfit the buildings in a more upward fashion.

The board has not yet visited Maine North, but District 207 Superintendent Dr. Joel Morris said that they aim to see the school in the near future.

"We need to see what improvements can be made to the buildings," Morris said.

The board's goal is to visit the buildings in 2009 in order to get a better understanding of the schools.

"These tours are going to be a great way to see what needs to be done," Morris said.

The board will also visit the building in stages, with the potential for improvements to be included in the budget.

"We will be looking at all the buildings to see what improvements can be made," Morris said.

The board has already identified a few issues that need to be addressed at the buildings.

"We are looking at all the buildings to see what improvements can be made," Morris said.

The board will make a decision on what improvements to make in the next school year.

Devonshire musical promises family fun

By WYNN PEULICH Contributor

Devonshire Playhouse presents the musical April 5-20, with performances at 8 p.m. on Thursdays and Saturdays, 2 p.m. on Sundays, at 4400 Greenwood Ave., Skokie. Tickets are $15-25.

Director Lisa Sedlak reported that this version premiered on TV in HBO, called "ائي Andrews. "Then they turned it into a Broadway production," she said. "There's a lot of emotion in it, a lot of stripping, and it's funny."

Although the leads are played by adults, there are children in the ensemble. "One character a little princess role," Sedlak reported. As the Herald, "she starts of off the shoe and she takes off the glass slipper around and tries it on all the girls in the town. She also has a couple of roles as, in "Barn of Laughs,"

The winners are announced at press time. Students at Story Elementary School students were converted into performance pieces by Barn of Mushrooms for "That's What, Grandma?" at the Wicker Theater, 2222 Central Ave., Wilmette. The Chicago-based company will also reprise favorites from their repertoire of children's stories adapted for the stage by professional actors. Performances are at 11 a.m. Saturdays, April 5-May 9. Tickets are $12. For details, call (847) 464-3891.

Catch some rays Old CDs, marbles and stones will be used to create "Creative Sun-catchers" at a Family Workshop. It's 11 a.m.-1 p.m. Saturday, April 5, at the Brickton Art Center, 801 Central Ave., Wilmette. The cost is $10 for members, $12 for nonmembers. These sun catchers are a great way to add color to your yard at a front porch or backyard. For details, call (847) 832-6601.

Bunny alert Having trouble getting your children to write letters? It will be easier after the "Flat Stanley Romps" 8 a.m.-1 p.m. Friday, March 28, at the Prospect Heights Public Library. The creators of the "flat stanley" project have stories to share, then students can write their own story. For details, call (847) 693-0000.

Lindy hop The last of the Easter Bunny has hopped home but there's one more thing you'll have to wear this year at the "Max and Ruby" Easter Egg Hunt! The Egg Hunt will be held at the Newberry Library, 650 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, March 29-30. For details, call (312) 741-7900.

Director Fava reported that "In Commedia, we love the complexity of relationships. People may appear and disappear. "It is almost the antithesis of the "In My Own Little Corner,"

"In My Own Little Corner" is part of an entire season focused on relationships. The last of the Easter bunny has hopped home but there's one more thing you'll have to wear this year at the "Max and Ruby" Easter Egg Hunt! The Egg Hunt will be held at the Newberry Library, 650 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, March 29-30. For details, call (312) 741-7900.

Fava noted that in all early Commedia work, "Each actor specialized in his or her role, and the role was filled by a nonprofessional, saying what he felt was natural to the character and situation. Fava and his wife wanted to stage "Lust, Lies and Marriage" because of "one object, there's a will. It's a symbol that things and people may appear and disappear. "It is almost the protagonist of this story." The plot includes some complex love relationships.

Destined to be a writer, Dottore wants his daughter to marry Lelio, but she has her eye on the handsome Orsino, who is also loved by Colombina, Orsino, in turn, is pursued by Josephine, a skilled courtesan.

Buongiorno Danilo, who has a long history in Commedia, including playing Commedia roles with the Lyric Opera, plays Pulcinello. Nothing seems to go wrong for Pulcinello in this play. "He falls in love and it doesn't go so well," Szostek reported. "He is given the happiest job, and it doesn't go so well. He hires a minstrel and it doesn't go well. He is, at one point, coaxed into getting into a dispute and playing a trick on another character and that doesn't go so well either."

Eventually, Dottore realizes that Lelio and Isabella are in love, and they are married. "It is a beautiful love story," Szostek said. "It is heartwarming and funny. Simon Pegg, the British comic actor who made a better impression in the zombie-satire action movie parodies "Shaun of the Dead" and "Hot Fuzz" (filming his irresistibly scraggly character Edgar Wright) stars as Dennis, a shadowed no-hoper who loses in a basement flat and works as a security guard in a lingerie store. Five years earlier, Dennis innocently won the love of the beautiful, intelligent and ambitious Libby (Thandie Newton), then is an recording progeny at the studio. New Libby has a new love interest; Rich, handsome, manipulative and apparently well-enough American fund manager, Whiz (Haskell Azaria), who proposes to take Libby and her son back to Chicago with him.

Put-offed, territorially out-of-shape Dennis sees only one way to confront the situation. HOROSCOPE

Predictions for Mar 10-Apr 6

Aries (March 21-April 20) - It's a great conversation with a bunch of like-minded souls. The matter will soon blow over anyway. Meanwhile, channel your high Asian energy into areas with more positive potential.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) - The innovative Taurus finds a creative way to resolve a sensitive domestic problem by mid-week. A fellow colleague returns with an intriguing business suggestion.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) - An unexpected invited estimate from someone you trust could catch you momentarily off guard. But you soon recover your equilibrium and rise to the challenge.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) - The council of four can handle a new project on your own. But advice from someone with experience who appears available only as well-in-time-consuming obstacles.

Leo (July 23-Aug 22) - Waiting for others to make decisions effectively delays your progress. If death could just be the coffee-barista trade and make yourself familiar with what's really inside your soul.

Virgo (August 23-September 22) - Your judgmental side could dominate the week unless you try to keep it in check. Otherwise you risk offending people, including some who are very close.

Libra (September 23-October 22) - Expect more information to come out about that possible career shift. Meanwhile, your leisure time helps others close to you get through a worrisome period.

Scorpio (October 23-November 21) - Despite an occasional setback, workplace pressures should ease in time to reach the week's end. This would be a good time to plan that long-delayed trip.

Sagittarius (November 22-December 21) - The Sagittariuses' unique insight guides you as you check out a questionable situation. Your efforts should prove rewarding for you and your many friends.

Video Game Review

GAME ROOM

VIDEO GAME REVIEWS

Player "terrorist base" matches are a blast. The single-player campaign moves along nicely with an interesting plot, and offers strong, team-based gameplay. The addition of a run function speeds up the plotting progression of the first "Vegas". Finally, the ability to score experience points in the single-player campaign is a big plus. While "Vegas 2" doesn't immediately break the mold, it's a great game nonetheless.

GRAPHICS/STORY

Square Enix is known for its detailed character designs, high production values and some pretty spectacular cut scenes. Graphically, "Rainbow Six: Vegas 2" delivers on all levels. Making good use of the Nintendo Wii's hard ware, in addition to the soundtrack and voice acting, for the most part, exceptional.

MOVIE REVIEW

"Ring of Fate" is a fun game that is well suited to action role-playing fans. However, the ability to earn experience points in the single-player campaign is a big plus. "Rainbow Six: Vegas 2" entraps the mind and is interesting but at times, the screen is used to good effect. The game's quirky magic system is interesting, but at times it can get a bit cumbersome. Overall, "Ring of Fate" is a fun game that is well suited to action role-playing fans. However, the ability to earn experience points in the single-player campaign is a big plus.

Chicago Law Firm Reveals Important Facts You Should Know About Living Trusts

Have you heard about the big controversy going on? People are calling it the “Living Trust Revolution”, and it’s about a subject of paramount importance to almost everyone. Knowing the insider details could mean...

...Saving Thousands of Dollars For You and Your Family!

The people causing the controversy are mainly probate lawyers who are concerned about a recent trend in estate planning. You know what that is, right? It’s not true, they’ll say, and then go on about how things are just fine. But that’s not true. Real estate stories about, that your family has to go through when you die.

What they do in probate court is decide if your will is valid, handle disputes, distribute the assets, and tie up any loose ends. The problem with a will is, it can be incredibly expensive, time consuming, and an unwelcome invasion of privacy. The first thing they do, when your case enters probate court, is make it public record. Every curious neighbor, disgruntled relative, and con artist around is welcome to examine every detail of your finances and what you left to who.

There are a few reasons why they do this. One of them is because a drastically increasing number of people are managing to pass their entire estates, even millions of dollars, to their loved ones with no probate whatsoever. And it’s legal! How are they doing it? Most of them are using a simple document that’s actually been around for centuries. It’s called a Revocable Inter Vivos or Living Trust, and it’s been getting a lot of attention lately.

Here’s How It Works...

When you set up your living trust, you transfer the title of all your assets (stocks, bonds, real estate, etc.) from your name to the name of the trust. You then name yourself as the trustee and beneficiary. That gives you, and you alone, total and complete control of all your assets. You can buy, sell, trade, do whatever you want - just like you do now. Here’s the difference, and the real beauty of it. When you die, there will be no assets left in your name and, therefore, no probate for your family to endure. Whoever you name as your successor trustee will immediately gain control of your assets to distribute them according to your exact instructions - with no waiting, no public record, and no lawyer’s fees!

Sadly, most Americans are led to believe that a simple will is all they need. Yet, a will gives no probate protection whatsoever. A Fate Perhaps Worse Than Death!

However, there’s another, maybe even more important reason to...

Don’t Think It Can’t Happen to You!

In such a situation, before you or your family could even land any of your assets - to take care of your ongoing support - someone would have to be appointed your legal guardian. This is done through a legal process called guardianship which, like probate, can be extremely costly, time-consuming, and emotional to all involved. And after it’s done, scrupulously accurate financial reports must be filed for the rest of your life. The good news is, also like probate, you can completely eliminate the chances of this ever happening to your family by setting up a living trust.

Living trusts are also, by far, the most flexible and powerful estate planning tools known anywhere. Here are a few of the things they can enable you to do: Set up stipulations or age requirements for children to pay at their own discretion. Provide for major expenses as they come up, such as medical bills and tuition. Pay the income of the trust to someone to live on indefinitely. Pay the expenses of a handicapped or disabled person when you may be providing support. Protect grandchildren and children from a previous marriage (who are often squeezed out of wills). And more. Also, since your living trust is “revocable”, you can add to it, delete it, alter it, or terminate it any time you wish.

Don’t Think It Can’t Happen to You!

After Probate: Death Taxes!

For the past few years, we have been bombarded with TV and radio reports and newspaper articles discussing the repeal of the infamous estate or “Death” tax. It wasn’t till that long as the Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2001 was passed, changing some 441 tax laws and making estate planning much more complex and confusing.

The good news is that the amount we can give tax-free increases steadily from $2,000,000 until the year 2010, when we can give away an unlimited amount. But wait! In 2011 the tax goes from 0% to 37% (and up to 55%) of everything over $1 million (the exemption provided in 2002.)

What is “Government Growth? It Has Not Taken Away.” This makes for a lot of confusion that requires the expertise of a professional estate planning attorney to protect your estate.

No other estate planning tool can give you all these advantages. That’s why financial experts, the press, and the public are all talking about living trusts. It’s thanks to only a small number of innovative law firms that the living trust is gaining the popularity it deserves.

The Experience That Matters!

Because living trusts are becoming more popular, many lawyers - and even non-lawyers with some experience - are trying to exploit their benefits. Don’t be fooled! Just because people are lawyers doesn’t mean they have the experience in researching and preparing quality tax and pre-sent sensitive estate plans.

The law firm of Przybylo & Kubiatowski has the experience that matters. They have prepared their own wills and estates. They have prepared and litigated for Illinois residents for many years. The firm is staffed with expe-rienced attorneys, paralegals, and professionals specially trained in the complex areas of probate, trust, and tax law - and they will be there when you need them. Chester M. Przybylo (pronounced pri-bay-lo) is a charter member of the American Academy of Estate Planning Attorneys, a national membership organization of estate planning attorneys. He is also a charter member of the National Network of Estate Planning Attorneys. These two prestigious organizations are dedicated to keeping its members up-to-date on the latest estate planning laws and techniques so they can provide sound legal advice and superb service to their clients.

Mobile exhibit carries stories of Midwest's WWII POWs

"Town" museum named Irving Kohl, of St. Paul, Minn., explains details about World War II prisoners of war from the Midwest's battle and homefront nights, at Skokie, Ill.

Christopher O'Shea, of Niles, explores the museum opened last week at the Niles Public Library.

"It's about time they tell what Americans did to the German-Americans who were imprisoned here and never got compensation for the loss of their property. In all, the museum found that a total of about 11,000 persons of German ancestry were in POW camps during the war, and were often separated from others who served in the regular military. The POWs were often treated worse than those in POW camps elsewhere, they say."

Keilman shared O'Shea's enthusiasm for the exhibit, O'Shea said. "This one is POW's story, and it's going to be a good companion to the German government's story, which is about both topics."

"As a military historian, I've always been interested in the POW camps, and we wanted to spread the word about what happened here," Keilman said. "It's about time they tell what happened here, and I'm glad that someone is carrying on this story."

ALL-AREA BOYS SWIMMING

Record-setting Benedix a diver extraordinaire

By JM EDISON

It was, to say the least, an amazing season for Maine South diver Paul Benedix. Benedix, who became the school’s most decorated athlete ever in his sport, encountered no tragedy and triumphed during the course of the 2007-08 campaign. Last month, Benedix — captain of the 2007-08 Pioneer Press All-Area Boys Swimming team — finished off what had already been a fine season with a stellar performance in the postseason. At the Glenbrook North Sectional on Feb. 16, Benedix piled up 45 points in placing second overall. That point total also set a school record, surpassing the previous mark of 43.01 set by Mike Cecere in 2003.

Then, at the state meet in Champaign, Benedix scored 41 points in taking third place, which turned out to be a 4-1 team’s top hurler, also went 413.55 in the Glenbrook North Sectional Feb. 16.

Benedix qualified for the state meet last year as a senior but had to settle for a fifth-place finish. After the end of the season, he decided to focus on reaching that championship level.

“I know my dad would have been proud of me,” said Benedix, who also is a talented all-arounder on Benedix’s gymnastics team. “He came in all of my meets and it never mattered to him whether I won or lost.”

Benedix qualified for the state meet in the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard backstroke in the course of the season. He placed second overall in the 200 IM and tied for fourth place in the backstroke.

For Maine South swimming head coach Chris Dager, seeing Benedix reach his potential was gratifying.

“Benedix, who will attend the University of Wisconsin and major in business, is currently planning to continue his training and then a teaching career.”

Another boy pitcher in the lineup will be senior Joe Moran. Moran, who plays second base, also is expected to be in major roles for the Demons.

For Maine South, the season was one of triumphs and occasional losses, as they upset the state’s top team in the Maine South Catholic Championship game.

Maine South won its first sectional title in 33 years. The Hawks’ senior qualified for State with a school-record score of 456 in the Glenbrook North Sectional Feb. 16.

Wilson spearheads historic campaign

By JM EDISON

Before this season, it had been a very long time since a Maine East boys basketball team won a regional title.

Thirty-six years, to be exact.

Just to put things in perspective, this would have yet heard the Watertown Washouts, the first "National" meet was about to captivate the viewing public and a young man named Mark Spitz would emerge on the swimming scene.

It was only a decade or so before that Maine East head coach Glen Olson after the stunning win. "I was so happy."

It was indeed a refreshing game for Wilson, who along with several key teammates moved Maine East to a successful campaign. And despite the fact that the Demons lost to Hanover in the Sectional Round, it certainly eliminated the chance for their 14-season streak.

Wilson was clearly the spearhead of Maine East’s effort in 2007-08. He averaged 17 points and six rebounds a game. He also sank 41 percent of his free-throw attempts, connecting on 80 percent of his free-throw attempts.

Maine South senior Ken Salat (20) points 305 points, 171 rebounds and 11 assists during the 2007-08 season. The all- Chicago Catholic selection in 2005-06 and three-year letter-winner was 21 of 29 as four through three.

Dons look to continue winning ways
Will dedicate season to former Notre Dame player

The Don have no last year’s team. Bob Kostuch took over as head coach, with the aim of returning them to their less-than-mediocre years in which they finished in the middle of the pack. ND had piled up plenty of plagues in Kostuch first four seasons, including in East’s Baseball Conference championship.

As they head into the 2008 season, Notre Dame baseball players have plenty of incentive for another successful year. The Don, who have not had a losing season since Bob Kostuch took over as head coach, will be trying to rebound from a mediocre year in which they finished in the middle of the pack. One key player returning to the Notre Dame roster is Joe Moran, who plays second base exception-

"We lost one of our players who would have been a senior this year," Kostuch said. "Steve Loomis decided he wanted to work on a fishing trip with his dad."

"We are going to dedicate our season in his honor," Kostuch said. "We will be wearing his memory through the season and honor other things planned. I am hoping this is an official reward this year."
