Village declines fifth sister city at this time

BY TONY BERTUCA

While the Niles Village Board praised friendly relations with its newest sister city, Limanowa, Greece; Leixlip, Ireland; and others, Blase said Niles was being approached by Namwon, South Korea, for sisterhood.

"They are very aggressive," he said. "I've already had three letters from them. But Blase was unsure if now is the best time to take on another sister city.

"I don't know if we should be jumping so aggressively with another country right at the moment," he said.

Blase acknowledged a great deal of Korean investment had been made in the village in recent years, including several supermarkets and restaurants.

"As much business has come in, we don't have an Asian population for the next census in 2010," he said.

Assistant Village Manager Steve Vinnhaus said the next census in 2010 would give a better indication of Niles' Asian population.

"I'm very hesitant at this time because we do not have an Asian population in the village of any size at this time, I don't even see doing anything in 2009."
Two hurt in townhouse blaze Monday

Two residents, a man and a woman, were taken to Advocate Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge for observation after they suffered smoke inhalation.

"The fire was quick and the tenants were quick to get out," Dobrowski said. "However, the fire was contained and didn't spread to the other connected units."

Parade kicks off Fourth of July activities

The Niles Fourth of July parade will kick off at 8:30 a.m. Monday morning on Greenman Heights Park and continue throughout the morning.

"Post-parade entertainment at the park will begin at 8:30 a.m. and will include a wide variety of food and drink vendors, entertainment on the Ashton Plaza stage, and a water activity area," Dobrowski said.

The Niles Fourth of July parade is presented in conjunction with the premiere of the television series "Hollywood Lane" on the Ashton Plaza.

"Hollywood Lane" is made up of a "Hollywood Lane" celling mural at the Ashton Plaza, a "Hollywood Lane" celling mural at the Ashton Plaza, and a "Hollywood Lane" celling mural at the Ashton Plaza.

The 4-ply-foot ceiling tiles have been skillfully transformed into art works by Chovanec, who has been a part-time painter for more than 15 years, and Meersmann, who turns the tiles into nose ring earrings by acrylic painting.

Thinking ‘green’ award plants 100 trees in India

A green of 100 trees is being planted in honor of Advocate Lutheran General Hospital by local families determined to save their homes and way of life in Tamil Nadu, India, country counterbalanced by devastating deforestation and global warming.

"The trees will be planted in appreciation of Lutheran General’s commitment to re-creating the operational im-

Painting project opens new skills for stroke victim

When he suffered a stroke 20 years ago, he was told he would never walk again. But, through art, Bob Meersmann has been able to walk again.

"I have always used art as a tool to work with people, and it is a wonderful example of how a person can really boost," Meersmann said.

Initially hesitant to try painting - right-handed before his stroke, he had to learn to write with his left hand - Meersmann continues to work with people, and has been able to create art that is beautiful.

"It wasn't long before the paintings had come to us," she said. "We were told she was going to be sent to a nursing home so she could raise enough money to see art masterpieces in a nursing home."

At the same time, Meersmann began working with people, and has been able to create art that is beautiful.

"It's an exciting time when we put a new piece up, because everybody from the building comes over to look," Meersmann said.

North Maine Fire Protection District firefighters collect equipment at the scene of a blaze about 8 a.m. Monday at 8924 Robin Drive in unincorporated Des Plaines.

Flames were first reported coming from the back of the frame- and- townhouse around 8924 Robin Drive about 7:30 a.m. and North Maine Fire Chief Richard Dobrowski said the fire was quick and the tenants were quick to get out.

"The fire was knocked quickly once the firefighters arrived, but the townhouse was pretty much destroyed and is inhabitable," Dobrowski said.

"I have always used art as a tool to work with people, and it is a wonderful example of how a person can really boost," Meersmann said.

Flag portraits capture Maine East's diversity

Maine East was diverse, but I wasn't sure how diverse until I started the project. Today, Maine
East goes to 40 different lan-spend a language other than English at home.

Former student Casey Guzman, now 20, shared with the United States flag, "It was a great proj-did not include in the book — his portrait with the United States flag was cut out. I think of those people now." Guzman said that he later gave

WE SAY

Celebrate wisely for fireworks, 4th

Of all the national holidays, July 4 is the one on which Americans are most encouraged to celebrate. It remains on the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776 by a congress of the 13 colonies, which had determined to sever ties with England. It took annually writing the American Declaration for there to be a reason to celebrate. The nation which resulted, the United States, would become a symbol to inspire other cultures to form their own democracies. And Independence Day, July 4, became the day to symbolize the founding of the new nation.

Someplace along the way, perhaps inspired by the unbridled future "wanton" not plain, the bombs bursting in air from "The Star-Spangled Banner" firework added into the traditional celebrations. They proved to be a dangerous and explosive addition.

Many states, including Illinois, no longer allow fireworks to be sold or used or even to be in the possession of ordinary citizens. Public displays are strictly regulated, requiring multiple levels of beams, and are only considered when there is enough space to keep the fireworks safely away from buildings, people and trees. A tiny flaring spark can set places and people and pets on fire.

Some communities have banned even more restrictions, adding local ordinances to prohibit open storage, a potential source of fire, especially when held too close to other people or items that will burn.

With all these restrictions in place, why do so many families in our local communities do that? They can stop around the law and shut off their own fireworks displays. They choose from almost any two-lane street on July 4, and possibly a couple of extra nights that week, and nature to the honky-tongue in its whistling from the black, pop over the neighbor's house into your yard. It's worse near parks, where often the offending displays have been brought by hawks from their own homes to where who didn't want to do it on his blood.

What concerns do we as our children's next generation of Americans, if we condone or participate in illegal displays? Consider the authority who can't breathe when the fire goes too badly pulled on their head. Consider the water men still coping with post-warms when respirators all over trigger respiratory ailments — and we have three generations of same now, non smokers who can be acceptable. Consider the children and the pets who get scared by the noise. Consider the innocent bystanders who suffer serious burns and sometimes major injuries because someone at a party where who didn't want to do it on his blood.

Censorship is a hand over humanity's mouth. And that hand is not so lacking because it is there with the best of intentions.

I was reminded of this when I read about the Wilmette Park District's B- notified — to say the least — fact to control performance of the musical "Ragtime" because it contains racist language. Before "Ragtime" was a musical, it was a novel by E. L. Doctorow and a movie. The novel won the National Book Critics Circle Award for Fiction and was named by Time Magazine as one of the 100 best English language novels written from 1850 to 2000. The film was nominated for eight Oscares, two Image awards from the NAACP, one Golden Globe, one Grammy, one Los Angeles Film Critics award and one Writers Guild of America award. The musical was on Broadway for two years, won nominated for 12 Tony awards and in 2009 the Kennedy Center for "Censorship is a hand over humanity's mouth."

Supercrash, Detritus, learned out, dropping off a hangover on a pork bend. Really mapped by the whole superhero hang. Wishing the world would go easy and spare him alone. Not much chance that's going to happen.

Then the great idea of the heart of 'Hancock,' which starts strong,被评为 great things, and then disappoints. Badly if you're looking for a good-time movie over the Fourth of July weekend, it might not be a complete waste of time to check out this Will Smith action comedy, because the bad guys, but he also causes significant collateral damage. When he's hit or he's stuck at a railway crossing just before it's hit by a speeding train, he Neville the team because he doesn't bother to stop off the tracks himself. When he gets up-north with track full of armed robbers, he shovels their vehicle off the tracks by a slingshot — and just leaves it there for somebody else to deal with.

When you name a hero, you grey while by picking it up by the tail and toss- ing it back in the ocean, he knocks over a surfboard.

Magician splits in two at Prairie View

By MYRNA PETLICKI

Last week's headline was a fish story, but this week's is about splitting in two. And the split isn't just any old split—it's a magical one. "Imagine a magician taking off stage, then reappearing as two people," read one newspaper caption. "That's the kind of thing you expect to see in a circus, but it's real at Prairie View this week." People gathered to witness the incredible illusion of a magician splitting in two. "It's a sensation," said one attendee. "I've never seen anything like it before." The performance was seamless, with the magician disappearing and reappearing as two people, much to the amazement of the audience. "It's really something," said another spectator. "I've been to circuses, but this is the first time I've seen a magician split in two." The performance was followed by a Q&A session, where the magician explained the techniques and tricks behind the illusion. "It's all about misdirection," he said. "The audience never knows what's coming next." The performance was a huge success, with people lining up to get their photos taken with the magician. "It was the most amazing thing I've ever seen," said one child. "I want to be a magician when I grow up." The performance at Prairie View was just the beginning of a month-long celebration of magic and illusion. With performances every day, there's sure to be something for everyone. "Whether you're a magic fan or just want to be entertained," said one organizer. "This is the place to be." So mark your calendars and don't miss out on this magical experience. "It's a sensation," said one attendee. "I've never seen anything like it before."
The problem, basically, is that Hancock doesn’t deserve it. He doesn’t have a life. He doesn’t have a job. He doesn’t have a girlfriend. He doesn’t have a place to live. He doesn’t have a car. Harper professor earns raves for "Trenchmouth Taggart"

H. Glenn Taylor, a professor of English at Harper College, has received critical acclaim for his latest work, "Trenchmouth Taggart." The novel, set in the 1930s, follows the life of a young man named Trench, who grows up in a small West Virginia town and later becomes a successful writer and musician.

Taylor, who was born in western Pennsylvania and grew up in West Virginia, said he was inspired to write the novel by his own experiences growing up in a rural community.

"I was always interested in the history of my own family," Taylor said. "I wanted to capture the essence of that time and place, and how it affected the people who lived there."

The novel has been praised for its vivid portrayal of rural life in the 1930s, as well as its depiction of the musical and literary arts of the time. Taylor has also been lauded for his skillful use of language and his ability to create a sense of place.

"Trenchmouth Taggart" has received numerous positive reviews, and has been named a "Notable Book of the Year" by several publications. It has also been nominated for several literary awards, including the Pulitzer Prize.

"I'm really happy with how the novel has been received," Taylor said. "It's been a very rewarding experience to see people enjoy the story and the characters."
The lighthouse at Ughthouse Covo at Shadow Lake, Braidwood, stands guard over the main lake, where residents find water recreation an integral part of living in this townhome and single-family home community. Shadow Lakes is one of many in the Chicago region offering residents a vacation-at-home lifestyle.

Chicagoland may be a brief vacation spot to conference attendees, visiting family, and reverse snowbirds who get tired of all that Southern sun and want to feel the seasons change. But to those who live and work here, it has traditionally been just "home," Sure, we have natural and man-made assets ... the Chicago Lakefront, Lake Michigan, the Illinois River, beaches, parks, preserves, trails, museums, etc., but those are generally incorporated into daily living and, well, taken for granted.

Not any more. A number of builders have elevated those assets to prime vacation-at-home features. In Ottawa, for example, Heritage Harbor offers a full-time residential community with a large marina that offers instant access to the Illinois River. In LaPorte, Ind., there is Outlook Cove on 600-acre Pine Lake, a nature lover's paradise. Shadow Lakes in Braidwood is a 600-acre natural resort community surrounded by 240 acres of lakes, sand beaches, nature areas and trails. There's Harbor Isle Resort, a condominium and marina community in St. Joseph, Mich., where the St. Joseph River meets Lake Michigan.

Concerns over affordability and energy prices move some to shop for smaller new homes. Read Don DeBat, Page 4.

Download special offers for area attractions and restaurants, and get the latest information on Lake County festivals, farmers markets, performances, parades and more at SummerSpaces.com.

Plus Register to Win a Summer Getaway! Win a $1,000 Gurnee Mills shopping spree, 4 passes for Six Flags Great America and a 2-night stay at the new KeyLime Cove Water Resort.
From scenic beauty to exciting family fun, Lake County offers so much to see and do. World-class shopping, premier entertainment, and diverse dining options make Lake County a great place for a "staycation" — a wonderful at-home vacation! Save gas and time while exploring one of the Midwest's premier vacation destinations.

Offering more than 75 inland lakes and miles of beautiful Lake Michigan shoreline, Lake County, lives up to its name. Famous for its pristine wide open spaces and natural beauty, the region features more than 25,000 acres of award-winning forest preserves with walking and biking trails. Spend an evening outdoors enjoying a performance under the stars at Ravinia Festival. Savor regional culture and flavor at the annual Lake County Fair. Delight in the Chicago Botanic Garden's floral displays and fragrant grounds.

Get wet in Six Flags' massive Hurricane Harbor water park and take a ride through Gotham City on the new Dark Knight coaster. Watch rare Lipizzan stallions perform at Tempel Farms. Browse the interactive hands-on exhibit at the Lake County Discovery Museum. Spend family time at Lambs Farm. See the multi-million dollar automobile collection, including 40 Hollywood cars and authentic military displays at Volo Auto Museum.

Who knew spending time at home could be so much fun? We encourage you to spend time this summer visiting the natural spaces and fun places of Lake County.

Wally's World

Wally's Cocktail
Would you like absolutely spectacular flowers in containers and in your planting beds? Tend your plants to Wally's cocktail for growing success! Water your plants well the day before fertilizing. Mix these 3 components together per instructions for 1 gallon. Feed your containers once a week, your flower beds every 2½ weeks. Spray the mixture over the plants (They'll absorb it through their tissues, make sure to get the undersides of the leaves or pour it into the soil).

Seeing is believing! Select two of the same plants and give one a good dose of the cocktail, use your normal water-soluble fertilizer on the other test plant. Once you've tried Wally's Cocktail, you'll be amazed at the results! Many of our customers have won gardening awards by using this magic brew!

1. Miracle Gro Bloom Booster Flower Food 15-30-15 – 1 tablespoon per gallon. Bloom Booster: This has a rich amount of phosphorous which aids in root development, flowering and acts as a buffer during drops in temperature. www.miracle-gro.com

2. Monty’s Joy Juice 8-16-8 – 1/2 teaspoon per gallon. Monty’s supplies and enables other nutrients to become available to the plant promoting stronger and more productive growth. Monty’s Joy Juice contains a unique processed humic substance which prevents burning and is a soil conditioner. www.montysjoyjuice.com

3. SuperThrive – 1/4 teaspoon per gallon. Unique combination of 50 vitamins and hormones produced by the Vitamin Institute. The bios utilis in this product are processed immediately by the plants. MEGABUS MINIBUS

Road to savings begins with bus company that wings it

The 60-city bus is half full, mostly with young people. The bars are open and the bathrooms are basic (although the sink doesn't work). Better yet, the price is right: $1 round trip, making this ingenius bus a steal for a seat on the road around the Midwest this summer.

The $10 nonstop Megabus is cheap because it keeps it simple. The blue and orange buses look like they are on an even greater mission. Right down to the cheney staffed with the service desk on the back of the bus. Megabus.com — it is technically utf8 — is a subsidiary of Coach USA, a 51-killed Stagecoach Group company.

Megabus is popular because you can get a one-way ticket for as little as $10, depending on when you buy it. The earlier you book, the cheaper the ticket. My $16 round-trip fare was booked three weeks in advance. It was booked three weeks in advance.

Regular Megabus riders point out that the folks at Union Station don't have no business relationship with Megabus and cannot provide assistance unless patronizing Chicago Union Station establishments. Please wait outdoors for your bus. This is your final stop.

""""TRANSITIONS""

BY KAREN ROBERTS

WEDNESDAY, JULY 2, 2008

Carnival plans weekly tours from Chicago to Rockaway, N.J. and Atlantic City.

Mackinac Island, July 25-27, complete at the 1927 Versailles Ballroom. Performances include 15 acts. Parades, live music and events throughout the weekend. Festival information at 888-AXP-0082 or www.carnival.com.

While driving through Michigan last summer, I decided to stop at Mackinac Island. It was a great decision as I was able to enjoy the beauty of the island while visiting the festival. The island is surrounded by water and offers a beautiful view of the surrounding landscapes.

Mackinac Island is a popular destination for vacationers, offering various activities including hiking, cycling, and exploring historic sites. The festival is a major attraction, with performances and events taking place throughout the weekend. The Versailles Ballroom is the main venue for the festival, and it has a beautiful French design and décor.

The festival is a great way to experience the local culture and enjoy live music and performances. The island provides a peaceful and relaxing atmosphere, making it an ideal destination for a weekend getaway.

If you're planning a trip to Mackinac Island, I would definitely recommend checking out the festival. It's a fun and enjoyable experience that you won't want to miss.
How to make it up to your wife

Ritz-Carlton runs a private plane in Bahamas called Abaco Club

BY MIRIAM TULL

IT's 1972 and alma's sulky. Donny Osmond has hit No. 1 with "Selling My Love," a ditty about a guy who will do anything to get his girl back. It's only made it to No. 1 because his ex broke up with him a year ago, and a year is too long to be without you, alma.

But Donny doesn't have to worry about being without his girl anymore, because he's now with a new woman, Pia Zadora, who's just as blonde and beautiful as Alma was. And don't you worry, Pia has a thing for men who can sail, and Donny doesn't.

With the new girl in his life, Donny is feeling good, and he wants to show her how much she means to him. So he decides to take her on a romantic getaway to the Bahamas, where they can spend their days on the beach and their nights in a luxurious hotel room with a breathtaking view of the ocean.

But before they can leave, Donny has to make it up to Alma. He knows that she's still in love with him, and he wants to win her back. So he sets out to prove to her that he's still the man who will do anything for her.

The first step is to buy her a private plane, so that she can feel like a princess when she flies in. Donny knows that Alma loves to fly, and he wants to show her how much he cares by making the trip as comfortable as possible.

But the real test will be when they land at the Abaco Club, where the hotel has been waiting for them with open arms. Donny has arranged for a private jet to pick them up from the airport, and he's even had the hotel staff prepare a special dinner for them.

Donny knows that Alma will be overwhelmed by the gesture, and he hopes that it will be enough to win her back. But he knows that he has to keep the gesture going if he wants to keep her.

So Donny sets out to make it up to Alma, and he knows that he'll have to do it in style. He knows that he has to show her that he can be as浪漫 as Donny Osmond, and that he can be as much of a man as Donny Osmond.

And so, with a smile, he tells Alma that he's bought her a private plane and a private jet to get her there. Alma grins and says, "Donny, you're the best." And Donny knows that he's won her back, and that he can be as romantic as Donny Osmond, if he wants to be.
Tourist boom may be a bust for giant statues

CHILE Record number of visitors threatens to harm Easter Island icons

BY JEFREY FRIEDRICH

Easter Island has only 4,000 souls living on an island that's home to nearly 500 giant stone statues called Moais. But Easter Island is a bedroom community for tourists, and the number of visitors to the island is growing faster than the population.

Some Moais, which were carved from volcanic rock and range in height from 5 to 90 feet, have disappeared completely. Other Moais have been restored, but it's been too costly to repair all of them. Over the years, tourists have broken pieces off Moais and defaced the statues with graffiti and moss. Erosion has taken its toll on the eroding tourist boom.

Tourists began arriving en masse in the early 1900s, but Easter Island's hierarchy, the chilco National Tourism Service, didn't get organized until the 1980s. By the 1990s, tourism had increased to the point where it was putting a strain on the island's resources.

Now the island has 12,000 rooms, and 120,000 tourists visit each year. In fact, tourism accounts for 20% of the island's income. But there's still a lot to see on the island, said Judy, the number of tourists is out of control.

Tourists are also 7,000 wild goats, which are more exposed to the elements than the Moais. Nearly 500 carvings called Moais, of which only about 50 are of humans, have been restored.

There's no understanding of Moais and their purpose. Some historians think that the statues were used to honor the dead and that the Moais were used as funeral markers. Others think that the statues were used to honor the living and that the Moais were used as protection against enemies. But the truth is that Moais have been restored and protecting against enemies.

Get hooked

Grilling fish is a culinary art that's worth mastering.

BY VERAEMIE HINK

If you're stuck in that rut of same old fish, you've missed the boat. The secret to great grilling lies in a secret sauce.

A long marinade isn't necessary. But, cole slaw creates a bed for the fish, and topping it with the sauce adds flavor.

A nice, even medium heat is key. You want to achieve the right temperature without burning the fish.

The only way to get the best flavor is to let the fish rest for 5-10 minutes after cooking.

Chef Don Dupin prepares Wild King Salmon with a Northwest Berry Sauce and Blue Cheese Mashed Potatoes.

Wild King Salmon with Northwest Berry Sauce served with Blue Cheese Mashed Potatoes

1 1/2 lb, wild berries
4 C white wine
1/4 C heavy cream
1/4 C water
1-2 t honey
Jack Daniel's Tennessee whiskey

Heat the berries in a sauce pan with 1/4 cup water and simmer on low heat until the berries are syrupy and have thickened slightly.

While the berries are cooking, place the white wine, the berries, shallots, peppercorns, and heavy cream in a food processor. Process until the cream is smooth.

Pour the mixture into a saucepan and simmer until the berries reach a consistency of corn syrup.

Once the berries are cooked, pour over the salmon and serve with mashed potatoes.

McDonald & Schmidt's Northwest Berry
1/2 C vinegar, must be berries
1 C wine, must be berries
1/2 C water
1 t honey
2-3 t Jack Daniel's Tennessee whiskey

Mix vinegar, wine, water, honey, and Jack Daniel's in a saucepan. Bring to a boil.

Plunge the horseradish into a hot pot of water until it is cooked through.

Once the horseradish is cooked, strain the sauce into a blender.

When the sauce is cool, puree with the horseradish until smooth.

Mix in the horseradish with the cream and serve as a spread for the fish.

Tomoloni hopes to make quick impact

Former Niles West star in Red Sox farm system

By DENNIS MAHONEY

Tomoloni hopes to get plenty of work. He came into the game with a 3.90 ERA, having allowed nine runs in his last two outings. He gave up three runs in 2 2/3 innings before leaving the game with a 9.00 ERA.

Sullivans’s strong effort completes sweep

By DAR CUNNINGHAM

If only Kevin Sullivan had more life in his arm, he might have added a couple more innings to his record of accomplishments in high school baseball.

The Lakeside Cardinals took a perfect game into the fifth inning, then lost 15-11 in the sixth. Sullivan, who had two hits and a walk, appeared to be scoring on a hit. Sullivan would not have been the only one, though. Sullivan hit the ball hard, though not hard enough to get a base hit.

Tomoloni, who pumped his fist and said “Hey, billy baby” after the last out, has been making an impact. He might have added a little more confidence to his repertoire, but the changeup has been a bit too tough for hitters to figure out.

To advance on the Boston system, I hope to do a good job of getting ahead of hitters so I can use all of my pitches. My fastball is my best pitch, but I have a couple of secondary pitches, but they’re still adjusting to hitting with wooden bats.

Evanston’s Tommy Palmer started his career well, but has struggled in recent weeks. He’s been hit hard, allowing 13 runs in his last three starts, including a 9.00 ERA in his last outing.

Palmer has been inconsistent, giving up five runs in the first inning before settling down to allow just one more in the second.

In the seventh inning, Palmer gave up two runs, but had a strong outing, striking out seven in seven innings.

Sullivan hit a double in the fourth inning, but was out at second base on a squeeze play. Sullivan has been a key part of the team this season, batting .300 with 10 home runs and 10 doubles.

The Cardinals have a good mix of power and contact hitters, with Sullivan leading the way. He’s hitting .320 with five home runs and 14 doubles.

Sullivan is a left-handed hitter who has hit well against left-handed pitchers. He’s also a good baserunner, stealing 11 bases in 12 attempts.

The Cardinals’ strong offense has been a key to their success. They’ve scored 14 runs in their last three games, including a 10-run win over Evanston.

“I’m not a big fan of the split-finger, but if it works for me, I’ll keep using it,” Sullivan said.
