EXPANSION intended to attract Korean tourists

By TONY BECIC

A controversial plan to expand Assi Plaza into a Korean family-oriented destination got a green light from the Niles Village Board, despite the months-long opposition of residents who live near the site.

The board on July 22 voted 6-4 to permit a special use permit for the expansion with trustees Eun Seok Kim and Leopoldo Galvan voting "no"—a rare occurrence on a board that normally votes unanimously.

"This project is just too large for this site,"n said Kim. "I think it’s going to be a nightmare.

Leopoldo Galvan said the village had visited the development because the developer, Michael Kim, did not provide trustees with the final plans for the site. Other trustees said they were in favor of the project because it would generate revenue and be brought by Kim's efforts to revitalize the community.

Assi Plaza is bordered by Milwaukee Avenue, Dempster Street, Buffalo Road and Washington Street. It is home to a Korean grocery store, several retailers, and a few restaurants.

Kim has proposed an $80 million expansion on the site that would include a 400-room hotel, a 14,000 square-foot Korean family spa, a 10,000 square-foot retail building, a seven-star parking structure, and an indoor sports hall.

The majority of village trustees said the development would be open to everyone and even plans to link it with the train station.

"It’s not just for the Korean community," he said. "Everyone will be welcome.

Trustee Jot LeVera said he was favor of the project and that the length of Kim went to please the village and the village. Leopoldo Galvan was in agreement.

"I’ve never seen a developer like the developer," he said. "We need to attract good people and we need to attract good businesses to the area"

Niles outages among worst in '06

By TONY BERTUCCI

According to a map distributed to Niles residents last month, an area of Niles and the northwest corner of Chicago was considered part of the worst 1 percent of ComEd's northeast operating area circuits in 2006. In Niles, the area of interest included the southeast corner of Niles and parts ofimage.

This is the second installment in a two-part series. Almost two-thirds of a total of 33,000 cases handled by the Illinois Commerce Commission were dismissed by the Illinois Commerce Commission. The list is compiled every year by the Illinois Commerce Commission. The ICC is trying to keep up with the demand. "There will be more than enough parking," he said.

But Sherwin Thiel, a Washington Street resident and Democrat, said the development was "just too big, it's overwhelming. It won't be safe for the children who have to walk in the project. You're going to see a lot of signage around the neighborhood. We can't live with this."
Delinquent taxes? Catch up with payments by Aug. 1

Some 40,000 Cook County property owners owe about $327 million in delinquent taxes. They should pay by Aug. 1 to avoid further financial penalties and having their names posted at the Annual Tax Sale beginning later in August, Cook County Treasurer Maria Pappas said.

This year’s Annual Tax Sale for delinquent homeowners in Cook County will be conducted online July 18-20, which means it will only take four days instead of the 50 business days required in the past. Property owners will have an additional week in which to avoid their delinquent taxes being sold.

Pappas and those who pay before Aug. 1 will avoid having their delinquent taxes lifted once more, an increase of 15 percent. Those taxes later purchased at the Tax Sale would have to pay more to have their taxes turned back and could lose their property if they fail to re-pay.

Property owners can see if they owe for the Year 2000 by having their 14-digit Property Index Numbers and visiting Pappas’ Web site at www.cookcountytreasurer.com or calling (312) 444-4000.

Property owners are paid by certified check, cashier’s check or money order, and all in person. No personal, company or cashier’s checks will be accepted. Payments can be made by mail or in person at any Cook Class Branch location throughout Chicago or, at the Cook County Treasurer’s Office, 50 N. Clark St., Suite 311, Chicago, IL 60602, in person or by mail.

The sale will be conducted from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Aug. 2-5, on a Web site of Realizationmen.com. Special rules in the area of 30 suburban townships will be offered first, followed by Chicago’s eight townships, according to the following schedule:

- August 2: Bannockburn, Berryville, Beevon, Braywood, Cats, Crown, Delavan, Genoa, Grove, Hampton, Hinsdale, Hanover, New Chicago, Maine, New Trier, Nilos, Northfield, Norridge, Park, Orland, Prospect, Plain

Dear Reader: You may remember last month I wrote about AA Vacations' policy to refund a full amount on cancellations from July 15 to August 15, 2010. Since then, I've had the opportunity to receive a full refund on a recent trip to Disney World. I called AA Vacations at (800) 627-7000 and was put through to a representative who told me that the package included Disney's online parking permits. I told him that the package didn't mention explicitly that the parking permits were included.

He said that we could add it for an additional $10. I told him no. We then agreed with her that the second book should be shipped to our Chicago home to be signed and autographed by the author. We then agreed on a $100 payment, which was confirmed by email. The author's signature will be added to the book.

The sweet spell of a successful magician

BY AMYNA PETITZI

You may think your eyes are deceiving you when you see a magic trick. Magician Jeff Bibik will tell how magicians have managed to fool the audience since "Magic in the Olden Days," 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday, Aug. 4, at Skokie Theatre, 6400 N. Lincoln Ave., Skokie.

This family program is free but reservations are required.

Bibik won't give away any secrets, he said. "I tell about the principle behind the secrets, and teach a couple of tricks." Bibik chose his profession when he was in the third grade. "A magician came to our school and picked me out of the audience," he related. "He held this little handkerchief. He showed it on both sides, but his little handkerchief. He said, 'Reach your hand into your pocket and pull out a little handkerchief.'"

The setting has been transported to a sandy beach in Ocean and influenced British bands like the Bayes. The event is rock 'n' roll. And then the rhythm and blues combined into a rockabilly sound. "It's a mix of different music styles, and we try to make it as diverse as possible," Bibik said.

The band is called "The Neverly Brothers," which also includes a keyboard player, a drummer, and a bass player. The group has been performing together for about a year and a half now. "We started playing together in high school," Bibik said. "We were inspired by the clothes, but mostly by the hair styles," he said.

Bibik filled in gaps of pop music history

The Neverly Brothers perform tonight at the Sun-Times Music Room, 306 Prospect Ave. Rudolf will show his students how they can create their own. Cost is $16 at the door. (630) 836-5353.

The group is made up of three members: brothers Zach and Ryan, and their friend Jordan. "The idea started when we were in college," Jordan said. "We wanted to create a band that would bridge the gap between different music genres, like rockabilly and country, and bring them together in a unique way."

The Neverly Brothers believe in the power of music to connect people from different backgrounds. "We have never had a single instance of a show where we were not able to bring people together," Zach said. "People from all walks of life come to our shows, and I have never seen such a diverse crowd."

Documentary. Written and directed by Butch R好不好 (GardenGateWay.com) for the world of rock'n'roll. That's the story of Veronica Franco, a 19th-century Venetian courtesan and poet, who has world premiere of "Dangerous Beauty" at the Mupil. Barley Theater on Northwestern University's Evanston campus.

This real woman, whose story was told in the book by Steven Frank, cowriter of Leaves and Ladders (1999), is the subject of a new musical titled "Dangerous Beauty." The musical is being developed by the American Music Theater Project, a coalition of Northwestern University's School of Music and the Barlow School of the Arts.

Saul Rosen makes the cover of Dealer Magazine

While many northern Illinois/northern Wisconsin dealers may not see the July issue of Dealer Magazine, a monthly trade journal that goes to the heads of the industry, a few can. Saul Rosen, dealer and president of Rosen Motors Group—editor by his first name—is one of them.

That's because generations of former residents have grown up hearing the famous Rosen Motors Group jingle, seeing the iconic Rosen Motors Group logo and buying cars from one of seven dealerships in Illinois and Wisconsin.

The honor to be featured by Dealer Magazine because the story is more about our organization and hard-working teams at Rosen Motors Group.

I'm honored to be featured by Dealer Magazine because the story is more about our organization and hard-working teams at Rosen Motors Group than it is about me, Saul Rosen said. "It's a family run business since two of my nephews manage dealerships and my other managers don't last very long to retire the beginning. This group of dealerships in the U.S. is among the top automotive dealer groups in the U.S. and that really says something," Rosen said. "I'm blessed to have the team that I do. Toyota raises Prius price for 2009

NEW YORK — Toyota Motor Corp. said late Friday it is raising the U.S. suggested retail price of its Prius hybrid by $500 for the 2009 model.

The new price is a 2.2 percent increase over the current models.

“Almost everything is made out of petrolcuni,” he said. “Rubber, plastic, transportation [costs], glass, things like that.”

Bill Kwong, spokesman for Toyota Motor Sales USA Inc., said prices will range from $22,000 for the standard Prius to $24,270 for the growing cost of commodities is the main reason behind the increase in the cost of vehicles, he added.

We try to absorb the costs by making things more efficient and saving where we can, but we also don’t want to cheat the consumers who sought more fuel-efficient cars. The Japanese automaker sold

22,000 Priuss in the first half of 2008, down about 3 percent from sales of 22.000 Priuss in the same period a year earlier. The gas-electric hybrid gets a combined 46 miles per

91,440 Priuss in the first half of 2008, down about 3 percent from

miles per gallon, according to Environmental Protection Agency estimates.

Toyota also announced new prices for a dozen other Toyota and

Looking at the 2009 Jaguar XF, you know this is a car that Ford Motor Co. didn’t make a mistake promoting it. In fact, it’s been promoted as a premium luxury car, and with good reason. With a push-button start, it’s standard on all XF models, and the test vehicle’s a premium luxury car.

The XF is one of the automaker’s favorite among the hundred or so vehicles on its list of standards. In fact, it was so well-equipped the media vehicle didn’t even add any options. It almost was.

The base model for the l0E is the luxury version. The overall interior sings with clear and crisp sound system and heated-and-cooled front seats. The iPod integration to its list of standards. In fact, it was so well-equipped the media vehicle didn’t even add any options. It almost was.

The rear-wheel-drive XF, which replaces the 850, is a bit more trendy. And if this is the design Jaguar is going for, I think it’s very possible to see from a luxury brand, it has pretty much everything you want standard. The iPod integration to its list of standards. The base engine averages 16 miles per gallon in city and 24 miles per gallon on the highway. The supercharged engine drops to city/highway ratings of 12/25. During my time in the test XF, the mileage dropped to an average of 23 miles per gallon.

I’m the youngest child in a family of five, I’m the one that the floor hump could lot more comfy. If that floor hump could be removed, the mileage dropped to an average of 25 miles per gallon. When I added in more evenly mixed city/highway driving, the mileage dropped to an average of 22 miles per gallon.

The XF is a two-passenger vehicle that is first out of five passenges comfortably. As the passengers’ is a family of five, it was easy for all of us to travel the back seats. It was in the middle position and I was the other one. The XF is a two-passenger vehicle that is first out of five passenges comfortably. While various manufacturers are playing with packaging, the XF is one of the first to offer a true five-passenger vehicle. It has a true five-passenger vehicle. It has a true five-passenger vehicle.

Looking at the 2009 Jaguar XF, you know this is a car that Ford Motor Co. didn’t make a mistake promoting it. In fact, it’s been promoted as a premium luxury car, and with good reason. With a push-button start, it’s standard on all XF models, and the test vehicle’s a premium luxury car.

The overall interior sings with clear and crisp sound system and heated-and-cooled front seats. The iPod integration to its list of standards. In fact, it was so well-equipped the media vehicle didn’t even add any options. It almost was.

The base engine averages 16 miles per gallon in city and 24 miles per gallon on the highway. The supercharged engine drops to city/highway ratings of 12/25. During my time in the test XF, the mileage dropped to an average of 23 miles per gallon.

I’m the youngest child in a family of five, I’m the one that the floor hump could lot more comfy. If that floor hump could be removed, the mileage dropped to an average of 25 miles per gallon. When I added in more evenly mixed city/highway driving, the mileage dropped to an average of 22 miles per gallon.

The XF is a two-passenger vehicle that is first out of five passenges comfortably. As the passengers’ is a family of five, it was easy for all of us to travel the back seats. It was in the middle position and I was the other one. The XF is a two-passenger vehicle that is first out of five passenges comfortably. As the passengers’ is a family of five, it was easy for all of us to travel the back seats. It was in the middle position and I was the other one.

While various manufacturers are playing with packaging, the XF is one of the first to offer a true five-passenger vehicle. It has a true five-passenger vehicle. It has a true five-passenger vehicle.

Will tomorrow’s housing market be stronger than it was in the gloomy ’80s?

According to the Chicago Sun-Times, the housing market in the Chicago area is currently experiencing a renaissance, with home prices rising and inventory levels declining. The article notes that the current housing market is being driven by a combination of factors, including low interest rates, strong job growth, and a recovering economy.

The article highlights the Hummel Group, a real estate developer in the Chicago area, which has been instrumental in the recent housing resurgence. The Hummel Group has developed several successful projects, including Edge Condominiums, a development located in the heart of the Loop.

The article also provides insights into the current housing market, including the increasing popularity of condominiums and the growing interest in luxury properties. It notes that the luxury market is particularly strong, with a growing number of buyers looking for high-end properties with unique features.

Overall, the article paints a positive picture of the Chicago housing market, with strong demand and a bright outlook for the future. It suggests that the current conditions are likely to continue, making now a good time for homebuyers to enter the market.
Marla and Gus Ponce are not your classic move-up buyers. Yes, the both picked a new community for this criterion, they sought a new community for their lifestyle. But, they had a large size of KLM Builders’ newest community, Thousand Oaks, a community of 73 semi-custom homes in Spring Grove, they started investigating regularly so that they could claim their preferred home site for their family of four.

“With all our children moved out, it’s just the two of us now. So this time, we wanted to choose a new home that reflected our current lifestyle,” said Gus, who first heard about KLM Builders 10 years ago from co-workers. “They were talking about the large size of KLM Builders’ home sites and the quality of their new construction. So we decided to visit their models at the Preserve in Spring Grove and take closer look. We were sold. KLM built us a wonderful new home in that community and they were a pleasure to work with,” he said.

More recently, when the Ponces heard that KLM was also planning to develop Thousand Oaks, a community of 73 semi-custom homes in Spring Grove, they started investigating regularly so that they could claim their preferred home site for their family of four.

“We visited Thousand Oaks and fell in love with the large size of KLM Builders’ newest community, Thousand Oaks, from KLM Builders, Inc. It was what we were looking for,” said Maria. “It had everything we wanted in a community, including a beautiful setting, a great location, and numerous of outdoor activities. A lot of our friends, who have long ago flown the coop, are now empty nesters who have children and grandchildren who live nearby, so we wanted to be sure everything met our needs and preferences.”

The couple chose the Vill II design, a 3,000-square-foot new home in the Preserve at Thousand Oaks development, located on Winn Rd. Sales hours: 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday. Call (860) 757-0101 or visit our website at: www.klmbuildersinc.com.

Buyers find Thousand Oaks even better second time around

The couple’s favorite room in their new home is the all-season sunroom, which features extrawide windows on all four walls that reveal a beautiful view of Mother Nature outside—plus ample skylights that let a lot of sunlight in.

“In fact, every window in the house offers a wonderful view. We love it in the bedroom and there’s a beautiful view of our backyard in the living room,” said Gus, who is looking forward to getting settled in and enjoying the view from his bedroom. “We were at home enjoying the view of our property, and we were pleased with our home site’s location. We’ve got plenty of trees on our property, and we’re a two-minute walk to the nature center on the other side, and we’ve been able to walk to the school and Richmond Burton Community High School.”

Seniors compete at 27th annual Olympics

By Jim EDISON

There was plenty of excitement about the Olympics this past week in Park Ridge and the surrounding communities, but had nothing to do with the world attention being focused on China and the start of the upcoming Games in Beijing.

The buzz around the town this past week was the ongoing Senior Olympics, which sponsored each July by Illinois Park and Recreation Association and hosted by the Park Ridge Senior Center, the game event was headquarterd at Maine East High School. And once again, the city has staged the Senior Olympics begun back in 1981, Teresa Grodsky who seems that every year back in 1981, Teresa Grodsky, a trip to China. I always going, swimming and track and field, basketball free throw, tennis and third in the year's Olympics. "As far as this year (at the Olympics), I already know that I'm going to do another couple of medals, I'm second in doubles tennis and third in the third annual three.

Prosperi also scored a solo home run in the first inning. Prosperi was hit by a pitch and advanced to third on an error and a bases loaded single by Megan Henry. Henry of Morton Grove was the only starter for the Slammers' defense turned an errorless performance this year. "Basketball (free throws and softball) were constrain, but softball (both recreational and competitive) were big."

Another thing we've seen in the past is that we've not done, out the best back in Maine East. And for Grodsky to come to see the players in the parade, "I've gotten older, in town. And it's tough to compete with the tall guys."

Another athlete, a top female tennis teacher and coach, Bob Vormittag, 73, was in action in several events. A Dev Pinnon resident, Vormittag practiced sports at both Maine East and Skokie Northshore,

Clarence Hiltunen, 72, of Skokie and the start of the upcoming Games in Beijing. "This is going to be very nice to see the people in parts of the six-county Senior Olympics."

First baseman Claire Prosperi of Northbrook was the game winner, hitting a, seventh-inning double, after Sophie Caynor of Skokie had led off and advanced to second on a groundout from the Slammers' first batter of the inning. Prosperi added the Slammers' first run when Barry Pfefferman of Nile drove the ball into the right-center field gap, scoring to make it 2-1.
