No surprise that the real estate company with the most Firsts is the one that lasts.

The first real estate brokerage. Groundbreakers in interactive marketing. Pioneers for equal housing. And the list goes on. Are we more proud of our history of innovation, or our unparalleled longevity?

Truth is, they go hand in hand.
Students sink their teeth into 'Little Shop of Horrors'

By PATRICK BUTLER

"Little Shop of Horrors," opening July 23 at St. Patrick High School, 5900 W. Belmont, will mark the final production at the institution under the leadership of Department Chair Geoffrey Arndt.

"I'm a little surprised," Arndt said, "because I thought the writing was done a year ago, but it was turned in only a week ago, so we had to make some edits to it."

The school administration has been very supportive, said Arndt, reminding how they let the students have a say in all things in a very transparent manner.

Still, Arndt said he's incentivized in seeing how far he can push the project, as the show will be the last production at St. Patrick for the foreseeable future.

"This is the last chance," Arndt said. "The school is going to be a big problem for us, but it's also an opportunity."

"We're going to be able to do some things that we couldn't do before," Arndt said. "And we're going to do some things that we couldn't do before."
Cops nab man suspected of being ‘Double Dip Bandit’

By JENNIFER JOHNSON

A Chicago police officer said Thursday that a suspect, believed to be the so-called “Double Dip Bandit,” was arrested after officers followed him on a bicycle, stopping him when they believed he was engaged in a robbery.

The suspect, 45-year-old J. Riley, was arrested in a July 22 robbery at a Jewel-Osco in the 5000 block of North Lake Shore Drive.

Riley was taken into custody when he tried to cross Lake Shore Drive near Oak Street.

Police said Riley was the person who robbed a Jewel-Osco at 5000 N. Lake Shore Drive on July 22.

According to the police, Riley entered the store and approached a cashier, demanding money.

The cashier complied, and Riley fled on bicycle.

Police said they followed Riley from the store and stopped him near Lake Shore Drive and Oak Street.

Riley was charged with armed robbery and theft.

The investigation is ongoing.

Learning the life aquatic

Children and adults alike engage in interactive learning experiences at the Shedd Aquarium. The aquarium offers various programs and exhibits designed to educate visitors about marine life and conservation efforts. Through hands-on activities and dynamic presentations, visitors can explore the world's oceans and gain a deeper understanding of the importance of aquatic ecosystems. Whether it's observing live animals, participating in feeding sessions, or learning about the conservation of sea life, the Shedd Aquarium provides an engaging and informative experience for all ages.
Producer seeing stars after ‘Twilight’ sequel soundtrack score

By JENNIFER JOHNSON

The latest Blm in the "Twilight" series is on the horizon, and the film's music is already generating excitement. Producers of the film, Edward Cullen and the entire cast, are working hard to bring the story to life on the big screen. The soundtrack is expected to feature some of the biggest names in the music industry, including a brand new single from "The Killers" which has been confirmed. The single, titled "I Think We're Alone Now," is set to be released in the coming weeks and is already generating anticipation among fans of the series. The film is directed by Bill Condon and is set to hit theaters in late 2010.

Food drive, reception Saturday to help pantry

By NADIA HAYES

Despite tough economic times and methods to government funding have been reduced, the Glenview Township pantry's shelves are emptier than usual.

"As many items as possible, a food drive will be held at the Jewish Oasis, 844 W. Shook Blvd, in Niles, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The first pantry to try to revamp the pantry is the Taiwanese Township.

The pantry is so empty that it's difficult to list all the items on the shelves.

Other states, Missouri and Illinois, have asked for the local community's help in refilling the shelves with food.

Skilled caregivers, an elegant decor, delicious and nutritious meals, engaging activities, personal attention in a community of friends - that's what you'll find at The Abington of Glenview. One daughter chose The Abington for her mother because they're all kind - they come to help the local community.

"With the 90-year-old woman who's been living in the community a better place," the resident said.

"Social activity has always been a major part of our family."

"Temple Jude Magrath welcomes the entire community to the event."

"If you're just being told the patient's condition is don't worry, you should be able to help the patient, you should be able to help the patient."

"To volunteer for the event, contact the directors of The Abington at (847) 729-0000 or (847) 729-1352."

Have your cake and eat it, too.

Our residents don't have to choose between skilled nursing and luxury accommodations.

Offices from Niles Village and Family Service agree that the agency's new 20-person waiting list is a sign of improved efficiency, and the Abington of Glenview is helping.

"We're seeing an improvement in the quality of care we're providing."

The exhibit shows U.S. history through Polish records.

By ALEX MCCLEMORE

As the number of Polish Americans in Chicagoland swelled, Poland and the United States have always had a special relationship. These interests in another perspective, from this perspective, reveal Poland and the United States from before the Poles viewed the United States, the display shows viewer the special diplomatic relations that exist between the two nations.

Poland regained its autonomy in 1795 after three partitions by Prussia, Austria, and Russia. The Exhibition of the Republic of Poland, 1754-1919, presents documents, photographs, and periodicals from Poland.

One of the early panels includes a letter from Poland. When the Americans were still ruled by their rulers, on March 4th, Polish, Polish-British, and Polish-American interest are noted in the exhibition.

The Polish American community in Chicago is noted for its contributions to Polish American life.

ST. PAUL OF THE CROSS SCHOOL

Green Initiative gives new voice to meaningful environment for students

St. Paul of the Cross School’s environmental initiatives provide students with an opportunity to not only participate in hands-on activities, but also to learn about the importance of environmental conservation and take action to protect the planet.

The school has implemented several green initiatives over the years, including the creation of a recycling program, the installation of solar panels, and the use of eco-friendly cleaning products. These efforts have helped the school reduce its carbon footprint and become more sustainable.

Moreover, the school’s environmental initiatives have helped to raise awareness among students about the urgent need to protect the planet and take action to address climate change. Through these initiatives, students have learned about the importance of conservation, and have been encouraged to make positive changes in their daily lives.

The school’s commitment to environmental sustainability is reflected in its Green Initiative, which is designed to educate and engage students in the importance of environmental conservation. The initiative includes a variety of activities, such as classroom discussions, guest lectures, and field trips to local nature reserves.

Overall, St. Paul of the Cross School’s Green Initiative is an important step towards creating a more sustainable future, and it is inspiring to see the school’s students taking an active role in protecting the planet.

Picnic celebrates end of school year

The Mary, Seat of Wisdom school picnic was held June 6. A weeklong all-day event celebrating the end of the school year, it was held near the park until noon, where they enjoyed various inflatables, a face paint, popcorn and a dunk tank.

Then they went back to the gym with the disc jockey and enjoyed several inflatables, the dunk tank, and games.

Enrollment in the grade school at the Mary, Seat of Wisdom, 4626 N. Vincennes Ave., increased this year. Thus, the kindergarten picnic was moved to the park. Mary of the Assumption kindergarten students, from St. Rita of Cascia, 9225 S. Pulaski Rd., took part in the picnic.

Purchased an Electrolux washer and dryer from Sears, the rebate people mailed out a $600 American Express card, which you could use for laundry detergent and dryer sheets. As for the rebates people never heard of the appliances multiple times, nor did they know the appliance had been sold. You told the Picler family that the appliance was going to be shipped directly to them, but as it would have fit, the computer never knew if you were trying to claim the rebates for appliances that you didn’t have. The rebate people went through all of the submissions and tried to eliminate the duplication, but were under Cindy and others under “Yamalis,” which is, of course, undelivered everywhere. They finally approved the $500 and $100 rebates on the washer and dryer and laundry detergent and mailed out a $800 American Express paid card but—more bad luck—it never arrived in the mail. After we contacted Sears, the rebate people were able to determine that the card was never sent, as they deactivated it and sent out two new cards. You just resubmitted them.

As for the $800 washer rebate, our Sears manager who informed us that the lost was for $93.79 for the dishwasher. If I had known I would have such a good one, I would have bought it. No, it’s not a dishwasher, but — more bad luck — it was still delivered. I’m sure Sears will replace it.

Running the 1945 World War I veterans who were still alive the next couple of weeks. However, I was also told that my rebate for the dishwasher was rejected because I did not have a refrigerator, which you were trying to claim despite the fact that you had a built-in refrigerator. Sears, the rebate people and I tried to eliminate the confusion and tried to eliminate the confusion. They finally approved the $500 and $100 rebates on the washer and dryer and laundry detergent and mailed out a $800 American Express paid card but—more bad luck—it never arrived in the mail. After we contacted Sears, the rebate people were able to determine that the card was never sent, as they deactivated it and sent out two new cards. You just resubmitted them.

As for the $800 washer rebate, our Sears manager who informed us that the lost was for $93.79 for the dishwasher. If I had known I would have such a good one, I would have bought it. No, it’s not a dishwasher, but — more bad luck — it was still delivered. I’m sure Sears will replace it.

Two rebates were from Sears, the rebate people mailed out a $600 American Express card, which you could use for laundry detergent and dryer sheets. As for the rebates people never heard of the appliances multiple times, nor did they know the appliance had been sold. You told the Picler family that the appliance was going to be shipped directly to them, but as it would have fit, the computer never knew if you were trying to claim the rebates for appliances that you didn’t have. The rebate people went through all of the submissions and tried to eliminate the duplication, but were under Cindy and others under “Yamalis,” which is, of course, undelivered everywhere. Lead paint law adds renovation to removal

JULIE MORSE

REalty Notes

Do you own a home built before 1978? Did you worry about your attention. New Environmental Protection Agency rules allow new homeowners to change the way homes are maintained and deal with lead paint.

According to the EPA, people who manage rental properties, school districts, day care centers, day care centers, and other buildings that house children ages six and younger must inform tenants before renovation begins.

Children six and younger are more at risk for lead poisoning, particularly during renovation. The EPA estimates that children who live in homes with lead paint are at a greater risk for lead poisoning.

EPA guidelines require that children who have been exposed to lead be monitored for a year after the renovation.

Holy needs a home, not just love. Holly is not a stray but has been struggling. Holly needs a family willing to take her out of her "protection" and open to offering her a loving home. Holly might not make it an "instant" dog, but she is definitely ready to be the other half of your family. She has patience with a capital "P."

To adopt Holly, you can visit the shelter at 1516 W. 31st. Some of her favorite things to do include going on long walks, being around other animals, and giving lots of kisses. Holly loves to cuddle and snuggle up with her family. She is crate-trained and house-trained, and she is up-to-date on her vaccinations. If you're looking for a loving companion, Holly is the perfect fit. She is also a great candidate for adoption as a therapy dog.

Contact the shelter at 1516 W. 31st for more information, or visit their website at www.adoptapet.com. Be sure to visit Holly and see her in person to determine if she is the right fit for your family. Holly is friendly and affectionate with both humans and other animals, and she loves to play and explore her surroundings. She is a very loving and social dog who would make a great addition to any family.

Contact the shelter for more information and adoption assistance. Holly is a friendly, loving dog who needs a family to call her own. If you're interested in adopting Holly, please visit the shelter at 1516 W. 31st or contact them to make an appointment to meet her. Holly will be waiting for her forever family.
Legion gets help from around CSL

By DOUG SULLIVAN

BASEBALL — Mike South expects to see a return to normalcy in 2011 and two of the key components of the 2011 Legion get help from around the CSL.

Last year, South played a key role in leading the Legion to a CSL title.

Through the years, South has been a leader on and off the field.

“His presence was missed,” South said.

This year, South has been one of the mainstays of the Legion lineup.

With three runs scored and a triple on Friday, South had three hits, including a triple and a double.

“His presence was missed,” South said.

He led the Legion in doubles with 15 and scored eight runs.

Konflos clinging to major-league dreams

Niles West grad back from elbow surgery

By DAH SHAPI

BASEBALL - Niles West coach George Konflos said he didn't actually think about getting back to the mound after having surgery last summer - he focused on reaching the major leagues.

Konflos, 22, was a top pitching prospect in the New York Yankees organization, and on the cusp of reaching Major League Baseball. That was before he had to undergo a significant elbow surgery.

"During the spring, I definitely pictured myself pitching in the major leagues," said Konflos, a 2004 Joliet Catholic High School graduate.

Konflos' arm was an issue before he was even drafted. He went undrafted in 2002 as a high school junior, but Konflos said he let his arm cast heal on its own.

"We held off on casting it and let the bone heal naturally," Konflos said. "I've been through spring training, so my arm is still solid. It's the right arm and I'm hitting 90 or 91 mph. But they really want me to hit 95 mph."

Konflos had surgery after the season, but he's certainly close. And he feels good.

"I'm still missing a couple ticks (on the radar gun) on the fastball. But they say it takes a little time to get back to full strength. The ligament is in place. I'm hitting 90 or 91 mph pretty consistently. I've hit three or four ticks more than that. I'm back to normal velocity when I'm healthy before the surgery."

"As far as health, when I'm pitching it feels awesome and completely normal. I feel like a little kid, but that's normal because I had kids in my own family."
