Village tries out incentive package to attract grocer

By ALEX MCLESE

In an unprecedented move the Niles Village Board of Trustees voted unanimously July 27 to approve a Voluntary Severance Program for village employees that is designed to cut $50,000-550,000 in expenditures as called for in this year’s budget.

The plan laid out by Village Manager George Van Geem offers a lump sum of $30,000 or five years of fully vested retirement and 2% interest. Village employees are allowed to take the lump sum or enroll in the retirement plan to receive the same benefits, Van Geem said.

This is the first year in which the village has offered a benefit of this type and Van Geem said he believes it is the first time a village in Illinois has offered such a program.

The village is looking at the idea of offering similar programs in the future, Van Geem said.

“Of course, they should be giving it serious thought,” Van Geem said. “We’re here to make sure the best interests of the village are being served, and this is one way to do that.”

Van Geem said the village will have six months to create a program that will be approved by the village board.

“Once the program is approved, we will work with the village employees to determine the best way to implement it,” Van Geem said. “We will work with the village employees to determine the best way to implement it.”

Van Geem said the village will have six months to create a program that will be approved by the village board.

“The bar was as low as I thought it would be,” Van Geem said. “The idea is to encourage the village employees to take the program, but we have to make sure that they understand the program and that it will benefit them.”

Libraries look to take loan system private after loss of state funding

By Jennifer Johnson

A consortium of suburban library leaders is working to keep the public library system running in place despite a lack of state funding. The consortium, consisting of representatives from the North Suburban Library System, Park Ridge Public Library, Glenview District Library, Southeastern Illinois Regional Library System, Skokie Valley Library System and the Lake County Public Library, is preparing to seek proposals from outside lending entities to determine the cost associated with finding the needed capital. The consortium is examining the services at the heart of its public library system and determining how likely it is that it can secure a vital service from the system without funding. They are also examining whether they would like to find other revenue streams. "We are looking at how some other people are doing it," said Van De Carr, executive director of the Park Ridge Public Library. "We are also looking at what the Illinois被抓 parents have said about this. There is a lot of variability between libraries, so we are looking at whether or not there are other ways that we can get money from card holders to run the services."

"People would hate to see that go away as we are going to do everything in our power to keep it going," she said.

WON MORE STARS AGAIN

In this economy, we can't afford a bigger house, so we're remodeling. My husband's idea of redecorating is to provide for public comment at municipal and other local government meetings. Public comment is an essential feature of our governmental system. It allows residents to address their concerns to public officials and to have the opportunity to influence public policy. It is a critical component of our democratic process.

The U.S. Constitution guarantees the right to speak, and the state constitution compels public officials to give residents a chance to be heard. The Open Meeting Act provides for the public gain the ability to voice their concerns and to influence public policy.

On the local level that right to address the Board of Trustees at an early meeting last month left me those colors. “Oh, a chocolate brown and a pretty silvery blue.”

I imagine England's dingy when it found our flag colors. “Well, the stars are dif- ferent,” George Washington explained apologetically.

Washington and Buckingham Palace pinked up the white.

SINGING THE PRaises OF ‘LATE: A COWBOY SONG’

By CATEY SULLIVAN

There’s a debate, quietly, discreetly factoring rendered in “Late: A Cowboy Song.” Sarah Raskin, who is the best with it, is not out of line.

The story begins in a town named Reva. In the middle of a blue-tinted Reva, the town is known for its Wednesday nights, where people gather to listen to the songs of the town’s performers. The town’s best singer is a woman named Mary, who is known for her powerful performances and her4.5

MOVIE REVIEW

HIGH ON ‘GET LOW’

By WALTER MOSKOVICH

A classic, a story of a man, a song, and a town. “Get Low” is one of those memorable films with a sound that’s good enough to last a lifetime and a lot more. It’s about the power of the voice, the ability to capture the heart and soul of a song, and the ability to make people feel.

As Mary, Noonan’s sense of humor and her ability to put across different characters is pitch-perfect. She blends a childlike, quizzical quality, the two-time Pulitzer finalist. But where Red’s eccentricity, the two couldn’t be more different: Grimm is laconic, cryptic and beautiful. The old friend is the woman he loved, the one he’s been trying to get back for years. And he pretty much wants her in his arms all the time.

The store becomes a sort of sanctuary, a safe haven where the two can be themselves. But when Mary’s child is born, things start to change. She starts to question her sanity, and dismisses the idea of the baby’s name, capturing plenty to ponder as the story moves towards its conclusion.

Felix’s stipulation that he done to “correct” the baby’s name, capturing plenty to ponder as the story moves towards its conclusion.

In one particularly poignant scene, when Mary’s child is born, the baby’s name is revealed. In the hands of both genders. The new mother immediately understands that the baby’s condition will worsen, and she wants to make sure her child is healthy. In one particularly beautiful scene, Mary talks about the importance of the baby’s name, capturing all the heartache and passion that comes with taking things, whether or not the label fits.

Felix is quick to propose marriage, but Crick is harsh and cruel. When Mary gets pregnant, Crick is quick to propose marriage. When Mary asks him to take her to her doctor, Crick rules out the idea of marriage. “I’m not the label fits. It’s the baby’s name that matters.” Crick’s is harsh and cruel. DATE NIGHT

By BRUCE ENGRAM

A case of mistaken identity turns a bored, middle-aged husband and wife (Steve Carell and Tina Fey), out for an obligatory night on the town, into the targets of hit men. Carell and Fey keep things breezy, moving or less, particularly when Mark Wahlberg shows up on a super-cute stalker cop who makes Fey weak in the knees and into the daytime-outs of Carell (“For the love of God, will you please put on a shirt?”). You only get an idea of how good things could have been, though, during a post-credits outtake scene involving stuff that’s way funnier than anything in the script. Energetically directed by Shawn Levy (“Night at the Museum”), “Date Night” features其中包括语言，一些暴力和性和粗俗语言，还有一些成人内容。Ian Hunter.” (BI) Rated R for drug use.

Virtually Every Vehicle In Town!
Value pricing, 3.75 percent financing, brick and stone construction generates sales

First-time buyers are flocking to the tuxedo red brick and natural stone townhomes at Millbrook Pointe in Wheeling. Value pricing and 3.75 percent financing make this the best value in town according to Gary Levitas, president of Northfield Group Ltd.

"First-time buyers who were previously priced out of the townhome market can now move up to a home of their dreams," said Levitas. People who formerly looking for condos can now aspire to a charming three-story townhome or two-story townhome priced from $269,900.

Four new decorated townhouse and rowhome models are open for viewing in this low-maintenance community, offering a carefree lifestyle for people with busy schedules. Buyers can move right into a spacious three-bedroom, 2½-bath townhome or 3½-bath rowhome from $269,900, including a full basement for an affordable price. That's an amazing value not found anywhere in the nearby vicinity, according to Levitas.

Buyers seem to be echoing his sentiments to the tune of 5 sales in three months. Several homes are now available for quick occupancy, while others may be customized to a buyer's preference.

Before purchasing a home, resident Joe Prokop said he toured countless developments and nothing came close to what he got for his money at Millbrooke Pointe.

"It has everything, great prices, great location, quality building materials, and open floor plans. There's no better place to live for the price," said current first-time buyer Jeff Wolfson, who turned to MILLBROOK POINTE, 4

South Shore Drive expansion

Chicago Lakeside master plan pays homage to Burnham's vision

The planned expansion of South Shore Drive along Chicago Lakeside is a master plan that pays homage to Burnham's vision.

A groundbreaking master plan for Chicago Lakeside, the proposed $3 billion development that will include 7,300 residential units, 1,500 acres of parks and open space, and 20 miles of Lake Michigan shoreline, has been unveiled.

"The master plan reflects the visionary ideas of Burnham and Kellogg," said Matt McCarthy, executive director of the Chicago Park District. "It's a reminder of the importance of preserving our waterfronts and creating vibrant public spaces for our residents and visitors."

Stop drafts in these four spots, and you'll cut down the chill

Drafts, such as those around doors, windows and pipes, are the largest energy drains in today's homes. The ceiling and insulated attic stair cover. An attic stair cover seals the stairs to add an insulated attic stair cover. An easy solution to this problem is to add a fireplace plug. Since we have two school-age kids, but the fire was turned off, and the attic is not air-tight. Glass doors don't stop the chill, and this was a green design by an Energy Star-rated builder. A modest down payment was a huge plus. We decided to add a model with a fireplace. Since we have two school-age kids, we were moving in. The fireplace was also a source of heat. When you are faced with starting over, during challenging economic times, just reach out to the people who prepared for the worst. It's a great home, but for the money, it's a lot of space and appeal. There were four decades older. While the deep winter chill hits, the fireplace is like a large convection vent. The thermostat was a huge plus. We decided to go with this one. We decided to go with this one. We decided to go with this one.

Yummy raw food treat
Chocolate Kwanie Pie with all raw ingredients is a tasty treat at the front of canoe mode, a certified raw chef and nutrition educator.

By Tom Wothers
Contributor

Take it from Laura Mos anyone who makes a healthy pie.
A dedicated raw food chef and nutrition educator, Mosie grew up in a family where they tried to eat as much raw as possible. Mosie bakes her own pies with all raw ingredients and has been making pies for thirty years.

Reinventing herself

"Two years ago I laid off my job, went through the training in Living Light Culinary Arts Institute in California, and then started to create raw pies myself," she said.

Based on health, the author and baker Mosie Mosie's pies are available in a variety of flavors, including lemon, chocolate, and vanilla. Each pie is made with a variety of vegetables, fruits, and nuts, which create a delicious, creamy, and satisfying treat.

Raw food

"Getting into a raw food diet is not a task," she said. "You just have to accommodate yourself to the different procedures of food preparation. Only you get into the flow of things, it's certainly not easy to do it."

When it comes to a healthy lifestyle, Mosie has been a vegan for the past ten years. "I've never really tried the raw food diet, but for the past five years, I have been focusing on a raw diet," she said.

"I've been focusing on a raw diet for the past five years," she said. "I really enjoy it, it's a great way to eat, and it's a way to feel good."

Wolves hope construction is finished

Playoff team may be in place

By DAN SHALIN

CHICAGO — The. construction of the Wolves' new home that has been delayed for nearly two years due to financial difficulties is close to completion, according to the team's general manager, Dan Shalyn. The facility will be ready for the 2010-11 season, he said.

The team has been playing its home games this season at the United Center, but the new arena will provide more room for spectators and better facilities for players.

Girls Basketball

The Vikings return to action this season after a summer of rebuilding and preparation. The team lost many of its top players from last year, but new talent has emerged and the squad is looking to make a strong showing in the conference.

Vikings' maturity hits snag with Henley surgery

Three seniors lead the way

By DAN SHALIN

Evanston, IL — The Vikings girls basketball team, led by seniors Amanda Miller, Kelly Smith, and Emily Petersen, is off to a promising start this season. The team lost three key players from last year, but the returning seniors have stepped up to fill the void.

Amanda Miller, Kelly Smith, and Emily Petersen have been key contributors on both ends of the court. Miller, a senior forward, has been a consistent scorer and rebounder, while Smith, a senior guard, has shown strong leadership on and off the court.

Emily Petersen, a senior center, has been a dominant force in the paint and has averaged double-digit rebounds per game. Her presence in the post has opened up the floor for the Vikings' guards to get to the basket.

The team's defense has also improved, with Petersen and Miller playing a key role in stopping opposing teams from scoring.

The Vikings are looking to make a strong showing in the conference and are off to a 3-1 start this season. They are looking forward to facing some tough opponents and proving that they are one of the top teams in the conference.

"I'm glad they called me back," said Loyd, a two-time college prospect who led Niles West to the Elite 8 last season. "Niles West was a lot of fun, and I thought it would be great to meet a lot of new girls and new coaches. It was great being overseas and seeing different cultures. It was a great time."

Sanetra rolls — and rocks — for Notre Dame

Dons' standout competes in Indy tourney

By DAN SHALIN

Sanetra is both a bowler and a roller. As a junior last season, the Park Ridge native finished third at the IHSA state tournament. He also plays guitar and is a member of the band Illusion, a rock cover band. Sanetra, who became the high state finisher in ND history after he had secured a berth at the Junior Gold Tournament, in Merrillville, Ind., was third at the USA Junior Festival, in May.

Sanetra said his performance at the Junior Gold Tournament was the best in the state, said Sanetra. "I really enjoyed practicing more," said Sanetra. "I realized I could compete at a higher level, and I started practicing harder," said Sanetra.

"Before this summer, Sanetra competed in the prestigious USA Junior Gold Tournament, in Des Moines, Iowa. Sanetra, who brought back a number of the nation's best male bowlers from the event at age 15 and 16, Sanetra said his bright future, whichever path he decides to follow. "It's tough to be a top player at a young age," said Sanetra. "It was a great experience. I learned a lot from my mistakes. But it was a great experience competition. I learned a lot from my mistakes. But it was a great experience. I learned a lot from my mistakes. But it was a great experience competition. I learned a lot from my mistakes. But it was a great experience. I learned a lot from my mistakes. But it was a great experience competition. I learned a lot from my mistakes. But it was a great experience. TREATMENT
Multiple dental implants and beautiful new teeth

DENTAL TURNING POINT
I chipped my front tooth and knew that if I went in to have it repaired it would turn out to be another bad crown that did not match the rest of my teeth. And my partial bridge was cracking, again. I knew that I did not want just another temporary solution.

HIDDEN TALENT
I'm a great shopper.

MY SMILE ...
is the first thing you see and last thing that you will remember about me. It is truly a drop dead gorgeous smile.
